JOURNAL
OF THE
STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,

At a regular session thereof, began and holden in pursuance of law, at the State House, in the city of Jackson, in the county of Hinds, on Monday, the 7th day of January, Anno Domini, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, the seventy-third year of the Independence of the United States of America, and of the sovereignty of the State of Mississippi, the thirty-third.

MONDAY, JANUARY 7, 1850.

BE IT REMEMBERED, that on this day, at the place above named, being the time and place designated by law, for the assemblage of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, the members elect, of the House of Representatives convened in the Representative Hall, at 12 o'clock M., and were called to order by Mr. Metcalf, the member elect from the county of Scott, and on his motion, Mr. C. L. Thomas of Marshall county, was called to the chair; and on his further motion, Mr. James M. Chiles was appointed to act as assistant to Mr. E. P. Russell, acting Clerk, for the purpose of organizing the House.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the House proceeded to the election of Speaker.

The Chair appointed as tellers, Messrs. Wall and Neill.

Mr. Talbert nominated the Hon. John J. McRae of Clarke.

There being no other nomination made, on motion of Mr. Hinds, the Hon. John J. McRae was elected speaker of the House of Representatives by acclamation, and was conducted to the chair by Messrs. Lynch of Rankin, and Noble of Smith, and delivered an address expressive of his thanks for the high honor conferred upon him, took the oath of office, prescribed by the constitution.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the House proceeded to the election of Clerk, Messrs. Wall and Neill appointed tellers.

Mr. Suratt nominated E. P. Russell, of Hinds.

Mr. Nabors nominated E. A. Brougher, of Tippah.

Upon counting the votes, it appeared that Mr. Russell received 68 votes ; and Mr. Brougher 15 ; blank 2.

Mr. Russell having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared duly and constitutionally elected Clerk of the House of Representatives, took the oath of office, and entered upon the discharge of its duties.

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the House proceeded to the election of Door-keeper. Same tellers.

Mr. Talbert nominated Pollard Mullins, of Lawrence.

Mr. Hinds nominated Mr. Messenger, of Itawamba.

Mr. White nominated Mr. Young, of Hinds.

Mr. Barton nominated Mr. Yancey, of Marshall.

Mr. Lynch nominated Mr. H. R. McDonald, of Hinds.

Mr. Cassidy nominated Mr. G. W. Matthews, of Hinds.

Mr. Crews nominated Mr. Cross, of Newton.

Mr. Catchings nominated Mr. G. W. Johnson, of Hinds.

Upon counting the votes, it appeared that Mr. Mullins received 18 votes ; Mr. Messenger 8 ; Mr. Johnston 2 ; Mr. Yancey 26 ; Mr. McDonald 8 ; Mr. Matthews 5 ; Mr. Cross 15 ; Mr. Young 4.

No candidate having received a majority of the votes cast, the House proceeded to a second balloting, the names of Mr. Messenger, Mr. Johnston and Mr. Young having been withdrawn.

Upon counting the votes, it appeared that Mr. Mullins received 21 ; Mr. Yancey 42 ; Mr. McDonald 5 ; Mr. Matthews 1 ; Mr. Cross 17.

No candidate having received a majority of the votes cast, the House proceeded to a third balloting.

Upon counting the votes, it appeared that Mr. Mullins received 19; Mr. Yancey 54; Mr. McDonald 1; Mr. Cross 11.

Mr. Yancey having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared to be duly and constitutionally elected Door-keeper, took the oath of office, and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, of Marshall,

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House, be instructed to inform the Senate, that the House of Representatives had met, formed a quorum, elected the Hon. John J. McRae Speaker, E. P. Russell Clerk, and Bolivar Yancey Door-keeper; and are now ready to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr. Nash,

Resolved, That the rules adopted for the government of this House at the last session, be adopted for the government of this House; and each member be furnished with a copy of the same.

The following message was received from the Senate:

Mr. SPEAKER: I am instructed by the Senate, to inform the House of Representatives, that they have met, formed a quorum, and have elected the Hon. Dabney Lipscomb President, J. A. Orr Secretary, and are now ready to proceed to business.

Mr. Catchings offered the following joint resolution:

Resolved, the Senate concurring, That the two Houses will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at 11 o'clock, on to-morrow morning, for the purpose of electing a Sergeant-at-Arms.

On motion of Mr. Stewart, the rule, requiring joint resolutions to lie one day on the table was dispensed with, and the resolution adopted forthwith.

Mr. Thomas, of Yazoo, offered the following joint resolution:

Resolved, the Senate concurring, That a committee of five, on the part of the House, and —, on the part of the Senate, be appointed to wait on His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses had organized, and are now ready to receive any communication he may wish to make.

On his motion, the rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table, was dispensed with, and the resolution adopted forthwith.

The Chair appointed on the part of the House, Messrs. Thomas, of Yazoo, Barry, Noble, Baker, of Hinds, and Henry.

On motion of Mr. Talbert,

Resolved, That the Door-keeper be required to furnish seats within the bar of the House, for such editors of newspapers, and reporters thereof, as may desire to report the proceedings of this House during its setting.

On motion of Mr. Lynch,

Resolved, That the Door-keeper be authorised to employ an assistant, to assist him in the performance of his duties to this House.

Mr. Wall offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, the Senate concurring, That the joint rules adopted for the government of the two Houses, at the last session, be adopted at the present session.

On his further motion, the rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table, was dispensed with, and the resolution adopted forthwith.

Mr. Metcalf moved that the House adjourn until Wednesday morning, 10 o'clock, which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Hinds the House adjourned until to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Farrar, from the county of Adams, presented himself to the Chair and took the oath of office.

On motion of Mr. Baker,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to prepare for publication, with the rules of the House and joint rules, an index to the same ; and that the Clerk be instructed to have 200 copies printed for the use of the members.

The Chair appointed as said committee, Messrs. Baker, of Hinds, Thomas, of Marshall, and Lynch.

Mr. Catchings offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, the Senate concurring, That the two Houses will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives to day at 11 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a Public Printer and Librarian and Keeper of the Capitol.

On his further motion, the rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table, was dispensed with ; and the resolution adopted forthwith.

The following message was received from the Senate :

Mr. SPEAKER : I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives, that they have concurred in the resolutions adopted by the House to elect a Sergeant-at-Arms, at 11 o'clock, the 8th inst.

On motion of Mr. Marble,

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House be instructed to invite the resident and visiting Ministers of the Gospel, to attend and hold morning prayer here during the session, at the regular hours of meeting.

On motion of Mr. Hinds,

Resolved, That the compensation of the assistant Door-keeper of the House shall not exceed one dollar and fifty cents per day.

The following message was received from the Senate :

Mr. SPEAKER: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives, that they have concurred in the following resolutions adopted by the House of Representatives, to-wit:

That the joint rules adopted for the government of the two Houses, at the last session, be adopted at the present session.

Resolved; That a committee of five on the part of the House, and — on the part of the Senate, be appointed to wait on his Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses have organised, and are now ready to receive any communication from him, he may think proper to make.

The Senate have appointed on their part: Messrs. Greer, Hodges and Kennedy.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the House took a recess of fifteen minutes, to prepare the Hall for the reception of the Senate.

Mr. Thomas, of Yazoo, from a joint select committee, made the following report:

Mr. SPEAKER: The joint select committee, appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses have organised, have performed that duty, and have instructed me to report that his Excellency will communicate a message in writing, in half an hour.

The following message was received from the Governor by his Private Secretary, Wm. Gibbons:

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR.

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

Permit me, upon your assemblage, in obedience to the requirements of the constitution, to express, in the form of legislation, the will of your constituents, to offer you my hearty congratulations. Since your last meeting, with the exception of cholera, which has merely touched the western margin of our State, an unusual degree of health has been enjoyed. No great calamity has fallen on our people. The records of our courts, and the diminished number of felons in our prisons, indicate a high and improving state of morality; and although less propitious seasons than usual, and low prices for our staple, have diminished the pecuniary rewards of our industry, yet no extensive embarrassment exists. Our citizens are mostly free from debt; our storehouses abound with plenty; and, under the benign influence of our institutions, and the guidance of a beneficent Providence, our march is onward and upward towards prosperity and happiness. Our acknowledgments are due to Him who has showered His blessings upon us in such rich profusion.

The reports of the Auditor and Treasurer show a prosperous and improving condition of our finances. The Auditor's Report, for 1848, shows that the assessments of that year (inclusive of $674 10, of insolvencies of the former year collected,) amounted to $502,800 85. This includes damages on delinquent tax payers and on defaulting tax collectors, amounting to $1,611 80, and $100,050 assessed against the United States Bank of Pennsylvania, or their trustees, the Commercial and Railroad Bank of Vicksburg, and the Bank of Vicksburg—little of which has been collected, on account of judicial questions arising upon the assessments.

From this assessment there had been collected and paid into the treasury, up to the 1st day of January, 1849, $343,082 39. After deducting from the whole assessment the credits allowed for insolvencies, commissions for collecting, taxes on lands sold to the State, erroneous assessments, execution of deeds for the lands, and $21,965 15 of taxes, the collection of which was enjoined, there remained $102,332 68 of said assessment uncollected, chiefly from the banks above mentioned.

During 1848 there were also collected, from the taxes due for former years, $23,384 39; making the whole sum collected from the ordinary sources of revenue $366,466 78. There were also collected, on account of the Two per cent. Fund, Literary Fund, Town Lot Fund, Seminary Fund, Chickasaw School Fund, Sinking Fund, and Internal Improvement Fund, the sum of $34,620 21; which, added to the collections made of the general revenue, show an entire collection of.....	$401,086	99

The total expenditures of the year were.....	344,717	18

Which shows the excess of receipts over the expenditures to have been..... 56,369 81

A large portion of the above expenditures, however, were extraordinary. The receipts from the ordinary sources of revenue, as stated above, were..... $366,466 78

And the ordinary expenses were only..... 237,458 32

Showing an excess of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures of..... 129,008 46

The Treasurer's Report shows that, on the first day of January, 1849, there was in the treasury, of general revenue funds, the sum of..... $188,174 28

And on the 1st of January, 1848, or twelve months before..... 114,741 10 $\frac{3}{4}$

Showing an increase in the general revenue in the treasury, in one year, of..... 73,433 17 $\frac{3}{4}$

But we have seen, from the Auditor's Report, that the excess of the receipts of the general revenue, over the ordinary expenditures, was..... $129,008 46

If, from this, we subtract the increase, as shown by the Treasurer's Report..... 73,433 17 $\frac{1}{4}$

We have the amount paid out, in discharge of former liabilities,..... 55,575 28 $\frac{3}{4}$

The amount of the Two and Three per cent. Funds, as shown by the Treasurer's Report, on 1st of January, 1848, was $213,020 77

And on 1st of January, 1849..... 131,833 27

Showing a diminution of those funds of..... 81,187 50

From a statement furnished by the Auditor, the entire assessments for the year 1849, inclusive of damages, and insolvencies of the former year collected, amount to the sum of..... $442,757 24

And the amount collected of this assessment and paid into the treasury was..... 358,617 52

Leaving a balance credited to the collectors, except $737 01 unsettled, of..... 84,139 72

But of this sum $49,046 49 is enjoined from collection.

When we consider the large assessment of that year, and that only $731 01, exclusive of the sum just mentioned as enjoined, remains unpaid, too much praise cannot be bestowed on the vigilance of the Auditor, and on the fidelity of the tax collectors.

The total receipts into the treasury for the year 1849, from all sources, were..... $437,018 44

And the total expenditures were, with and without warrant from the Auditor..... 317,428 86 $\frac{1}{4}$

Showing an excess of receipts of..... 119,589 57 $\frac{3}{4}$

But the above expenditures include a large extraordinary expenditure, on account of the Two per cent. Fund, expended on the Southern Railroad; the funded debt, and bonds and coupons of the State, amounting to $177,022 02½; and also $449 54, paid out on unfunded warrants of the Auditor, issued prior to 1849.

The amount received from ordinary sources of revenue, during the year 1849, was..... $358,617 52
And the ordinary current expenses were..... 139,957 30

Showing an excess of general revenue over the ordinary expenses of the State of..... 218,660 22

The balance in the treasury on the 1st of January inst., as per a statement made by the Treasurer, is..... $438,667 12

But of this amount the following sums belong to the Trust Funds, viz :

To the Two per cent. Fund.....	$ 4,854 78
To the Three per cent. Fund.....	24,896 09
To the Seminary Fund.....	79,077 77½
To the Sinking Fund.....	75,022 22½

Leaving, applicable to the current expenses of the government.....	$254,816 25
--	--------------------

The total amount received of the Sinking Fund is..	$147,915 32½
--	---------------------

Of this sum there has been applied to the redemption of bonds and coupons.....	72,893 10
--	-----------

Leaving a balance, applicable to the payment of the bonds, of.....	$75,022,22½
--	--------------------

The total amount of the Internal Improvement Fund is.....	$22,156 28
---	-------------

But the State is entitled to a credit for her expenditures in locating the land, &c., of.....	16,663 45
---	-----------

Showing a nett amount due that fund of only.....	$5,492 83
--	------------------

The whole amount of the Chickasaw School Fund is	$4,513 30½
--	-------------------

But the State has incurred an expense, in locating the School Lands, of.....	8,474 14
--	----------

Which shows a balance due the State from said Fund of.....	$3,960 83½
--	-------------------

It will be seen from the report of the State Commissioner, herewith transmitted, that there yet remains of the Sinking Fund, to be collected, including interest, the sum of $705,845 26. Of the Seminary Fund there are available judgments to the amount of $11,000, and two thousand acres of land, valued at $16,000; making, in all, uncollected, which is available, about $27,000.

The balance to be collected on the Town Lot Fund consists of good judgments, which will be collected in a few months, amounting to about $9,000, and an unpaid balance on several lots, on which bills are pending to enforce the State's lien, amounting to about $8,000 more.

The amount collected and paid into the treasury by the Commissioner of the above funds is $33,335 85; and he has received, by compromises, three thousand five hundred acres of land, valued at three dollars per acre, amounting to $10,500; making, in all, collected and secured, $43,835 85.

I recommend the passage of a law authorizing the commissioner to sell the residue of the lands belonging to the Seminary Fund, under the direction or sanction of the Governor and Attorney General, as in cases already provided in regard to the Sinking Fund.

The amount expended by me, of the Executive Contingent Fund, during the year 1848, was $3,107 52, and by Governor Brown, $173 00; making a total of. $3,280 52
And the amount expended by me, during 1849, was. 2,125 41

Amounting, in all, to. $5,405 93
Which is less, by $2,594 07, than the standing annual appropriations.

The amount drawn and expended on the regular annual appropriation to the State Library, during the last two years, was $211 87, by my predecessor, and $295 50 by myself, amounting, together, to $507 37. And the amount drawn and expended, during the same period, on account of the Contingent Fund of the State Library, was $148 98.

The amount expended by me of the appropriation to defray the expenses of the Mississippi Battalion, was $996 60.

From a statement furnished by the Secretary of State, herewith presented, it will be seen that, under the act of the last session providing for the sale of the five hundred thousand acres of land donated to the State by the general government, there have been sold 4,900 23-100 acres; 2,070 03-100 acres of which were sold to pre-emptors, at $2 50 per acre, and the residue, 2,830 20-100 acres, to others, at $6 00 per acre—amounting, in the aggregate, to the sum of $22,156 28. Of this sum there were received, in specie, $2,764 48; in bonds of the State, sold for the purpose of taking stock in the Planters' Bank, $12,886 60; and in coupons, for interest on said bonds, $6,505 00.

The very short crops of our great staple, for the two last years; the extremely low price of the same; the unprecedented overflow of the Mississippi river, and the prevalence of the cholera, with the inducements to emigration presented by our immense territories westward, have all conspired to limit the amount of sales of these lands. It will be seen that, of the proceeds of the sales made at $6 00 per acre, there were only $7 70 paid in specie. This fact indicates that, but for the provision authorizing the reception of bonds and coupons in payment, little, if any, of these lands would have been sold. These were at a discount of about thirty per cent.; causing the lands which sold at $6 00 per acre to cost the purchasers only about $4 20 per acre. Assuming that these lands sold as readily at $6 00 per acre, payable in bonds, as they would have sold at $4 20 in specie, the State is gainer by the reception of bonds $1 80 per acre. There are 495,099 77-100 acres yet to be sold; and if, upon the minimum price of the government, we estimate a gain in the same ratio, by selling for bonds, the gain to the Internal Improvement Fund will be $185,663 41. But by a careful and judicious policy in the sales, I think it probable these lands will sell at an average cash value of $2 00 per acre. A gain of 30 per cent., by taking bonds at this price, would amount to $297,059 56. Thus our Internal Improvement Fund would be increased near $300,000, which would be a clear profit over a cash sale of the lands; because precisely the same amount of our bonds would be paid by the operation, and the check to accruing interest on the same, at six per cent. per annum, would be a further gain of about $18,000 per annum. A further advantage, arising from this policy is, that the sum thus saved to the State will be expended among ourselves, in constructing roads, clearing out our rivers, constructing levees, &c.; which, by the increasing facilities afforded to traveling and commerce, the diminished expense of transporting our produce to market, and the consequent improvement in the value of our property, will probably double or treble the amount.

I am aware that it is still insisted, by some, that the reception of the bonds, in payment for the lands, is a diversion of the fund from the purposes of the grant. After the most respectful attention to all I have heard urged in support of this position, I have not been able to perceive how, taking into our possession these bonds, and placing them to the debit of the State, as cash due the Internal Improvement Fund, is a diversion of the fund in its application. It is not in the reception, but in the application of the fund, that a diversion, contrary to the purposes of the grant, may be made. Were the proceeds of the land received in cash, they would be placed to the debit of the State as cash; and we might refuse to pay this out in constructing works of internal improvement, or we might apply it to something else, precisely as it is supposed we might do if we receive and charge the bonds as cash. If the amount received, whether in bonds or cash, be applied to anything else than internal improvement, it will be a diversion of the fund; but if that amount be expended in cash, as required by the donor, then there will be no diversion. Suppose we have one million of specie received for revenue, and we also receive one million in specie for the lands; if, in the expenditure, we should happen to use the million received for revenue, instead of that received for the lands, in constructing works of internal improvement, and the million received for the lands in our ordinary expenditures, would this be a diversion of the fund from the purposes of the grant? So, if the bonds are cash to us, or its equivalent, which they certainly are, if we owe them, can it be a diversion, when we pay out the same amount in cash, in conformity with the trust reposed in us by Congress? The federal government, our own State, and, it is believed, every State in the Union, and every civilized nation on the globe, have acted upon the same principle, in all periods of their existence. The cases are too numerous and well known to require recital; and yet the wisdom of ages has never discovered that such a policy was in bad faith, or a diversion of the funds, until it has been discovered in Mississippi.

It has been insisted that the wisest policy would be to reduce the price of the lands, at once, to $1 25 per acre. It is urged that such a policy would insure a speedy sale, and that the increased revenue, arising from the lands and the population that would settle upon them, would more than equal the amount that will be realized by selling them at a higher rate. This may all be true; but this policy is liable to a serious objection. These lands are committed to us in trust—the donor retaining an interest in the application of the proceeds. As trustees, it is our duty so to manage the trust as to promote, to the greatest possible extent, the interest of the grantor. The taxes to be collected would not belong to the Internal Improvement Fund, but to the general revenue, to be disbursed in the ordinary expenditures of the government. The amount thus lost to the Internal Improvement Fund, by low sales, although reimbursed by taxes, being placed to the credit of the general revenue, would be equivalent to a diversion of that sum from the Internal Improvement Fund, and clearly a violation of the trust reposed in us. If these lands were absolutely our own, so that we could consult our own interest exclusively in the disposition of them, then the policy of selling them at low prices, so as to insure a speedy settlement and cultivation of them, would meet with my cordial approval. I believe, however, that not only the interests of the State, but of the United States, will be best promoted by a graduation of the price of these lands; and I recommend such gradual reduction, from time to time, as in your wisdom may be proper, with a due regard to all the interests involved, giving pre-emption rights to actual settlers at the graduated price.

Owing to conflicting claims of pre-emptors, a large portion of the locations heretofore made have been rejected, producing a deficit of about 20,000 acres. I have appointed commissioners to locate other lands to make up this deficit, who are now performing the duty assigned them; and, from information received, it is hoped the work will soon be accomplished.

Of the Chickasaw School Lands, only 984 88-100 acres have been disposed of by a lease of ninety-nine years, as provided for by the act of the last session of the legislature. The proceeds of the lease amount to $4,513 30½. Three of the tracts are leased, under a special provision for that purpose, at $2 50 per acre; and four other tracts—the residue disposed of—at $6 00 per acre. Had the law authorized the lease of these lands, and the sale of the State's lands by smaller subdivisions than quarter sections, a much larger quantity might have been disposed of; and I recommend such amendment of the law as, at least, to permit fractional sections to be offered separately.

Extensive depredations have been, and still are, committing on the valuable timber of the State's and Chickasaw School Lands. I have endeavored to suppress these lawless acts, by despatching agents to the scene of depredations, but their efforts have been attended with but little success. The destruction of the timber is still going on, and the agents have been set at defiance. In some instances they have been notified that their safety depended upon speedily leaving the place. The law, as it now exists, is found wholly insufficient to protect the interests of the State in that quarter; and I recommend that the Executive be authorized to appoint one or more agents of the State, to remain on the ground, and that severe penalties be annexed to convictions for the commission of these offences.

If the policy of continuing to receive bonds and coupons, in payment for the lands granted to the State for purposes of internal improvement, should meet your approbation, a considerable portion of the surplus revenue now in the treasury, in anticipation of the proceeds of these lands, may, I think, be safely applied to works of that character, as contemplated in the donation. The clearing of our rivers from snags, logs, and hanging timber, and the construction of a levee on the Mississippi river for the reclamation and protection of the lands of the State, and of our citizens, I think, demand the speedy and earnest attention of the legislature. The most equitable scheme, in my judgment, for effecting the latter improvement, is a tax upon the lands of the river counties, founded on assessments of the lands of the State, as well as of those belonging to individuals, by which the State and the citizens interested shall mutually bear their respective portions of the expense.

The annual report of the Commissioners of the Southern Railroad has not yet been received. I am advised, however, that the road will be completed to Brandon, a distance of fourteen and a half miles, in a few weeks. So soon as this report is received it will be presented to the legislature.

Should you determine to commence a system of internal improvement, it will, I think, be indispensable to a judicious expenditure in its prosecution, to authorize the immediate appointment of a Board of Internal Improvement, and a State Engineer, with one or more assistants, to make surveys and estimates of such works as may be authorized, preparatory to the application of the funds to be expended in their construction, and to superintend the same during their progress.

The important results and extensive benefits derived from geological surveys in several States, and the discoveries made in the vicinity of this city by a geological society formed a few months since, have strongly impressed my mind with the importance of a Geological Survey of this State. In Alabama, a survey has commenced, under the patronage of the University of the State; and, although the work is barely commenced, large mines of bituminous coal, of excellent quality; quarries of beautifully variegated marble, supposed to be inexhaustible; extensive beds of iron ore, and several other valuable minerals, have been discovered. Similar results have attended a survey of Tennessee; and the almost incalculable advantages derived from geological surveys of Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and other States, are well known. The geological society of this place, notwithstanding its limited knowledge of the science of geology, the short period since its formation, and the limited investigations which it has made, has, nevertheless discovered, in the immediate vicinity, vast beds of marl, possessing highly fertilizing properties, and also extensive mines of gypsum, known as plaster of Paris, of the purest quality. Its value as a plaster for buildings, and as a superior fertilizing agent, when applied to exhausted soils, is well known. While we have, at great expense, been importing this article from the eastern States, we had, it is believed, an inexhaustible supply of the same article at home. Extensive mines of iron, ochre of the best quality, and an earth supposed to be porcelain, have been discovered in the northern portions of the State. The importance of developing our resources, and of promoting the interests of science, demands, as I think, the favorable consideration of the legislature; and the prosperous state of our finances indicate this as a propitious period for commencing a work that promises incalculable advantages to the State.

The great cause of Education should, as it doubtless will, receive due consideration by the legislature. I herewith transmit the report of the Secretary of State, who is, ex-officio General School Commissioner, to which I invite your particular attention. It will be perceived that the results of the common school system adopted by the legislature of 1846, if not a total failure, has fallen far short of the expectations of its friends. It is apparent that a more efficient system must be adopted, or the permanent interests of education must languish. It is generally admitted, in this country, that intelligence and virtue form the foundation on which alone we can rely for the support and perpetuity of our free institutions. Our government, being the exercise of the popular will, to preserve it from anarchy and destruction, it must be guided and controlled by an enlightened public opinion. In this country, every freeman is politically equal, and, so far as the elective franchise is concerned in the administration of the government, equally shares the power and responsibilities of controlling the destinies of his country. So long, therefore, as the masses are ignorant or vicious, our institutions are in danger. But while the want of intelligence in the masses subjects us to danger, by an unwise exercise of the right of suffrage, all experience shows that liberty is equally exposed to peril by ambitious and corrupt men, who, by means of their education, have obtained an undue influence over the ignorant multitude. It follows that a general system of education, embracing all the children of the country, having for its object not only their instruction in literature and the sciences, but the inculcation of the principles of a pure morality, are essential to the preservation of our rights and liberty. In this view of the subject, every citizen is interested in the education not only of his own family, but in that of all the children of the State. The children of the poor, as well as the rich, the uneducated, as well as those who have enjoyed the lights of science, will soon be the sovereigns of this country, and the arbiters of its destiny. Every citizen, therefore, as he regards the welfare of his country, as he desires the perpetuity of our invaluable institutions, and the elevation of the human race in all that is valuable in knowledge and exalted in virtue, should cheerfully submit to such contributions for these laudable objects as may be required by wise and equitable legislation. If we intend to perform our duty to ourselves, to our country, and to posterity, we must abandon a half-way, temporizing policy; and I recommend, as in my judgment the wisest policy, after ascertaining what available resources we possess, to supply any deficit that may be required to carry out a general system of common school education, by a tax upon the persons and property of all the citizens of the State.

I have no official report, showing the condition and prospects of the State University, but am advised that its success, so far, is such as to inspire the hope that it will be an object of just pride to our citizens, and merit the fostering care of the legislature.

By the existing law, widows are allowed a dower in the real estate of their deceased husbands, and one year's support from the effects of their personal estate. This beneficent provision, in the case of insolvent estates, protects the helpless widow and orphans from absolute penury; but, if the wife die first, upon the death of the insolvent husband, the law makes no provision for the orphans out of the estate. The creditors may strip them of everything, and turn them over to the cold charities of the world. I recommend the passage of a law reserving a portion of the estates of decedents for the support and education of their orphan children.

The Surveyor General's Office, at Jackson, being abolished, by an order of the Department at Washington, I directed the books and papers of the office to be deposited with the Secretary of State.

I recommend the passage of a law designating some officer to take charge of them, whose certificates may be received in evidence in suits, where such evidence may be required.

I recommend the repeal of that portion of the revenue law which authorizes the sale of lands to individuals for the taxes due on them. The tendency of this policy, I apprehend, is to unsettle the titles to real estate, to produce endless litigation, and to prevent immigration to, and settlement in, the State. In lieu thereof, I suggest that all lands on which the taxes shall not have been paid by a given day in each year, shall be forfeited to the State; and duplicate lists of the same, containing an accurate description of the legal subdivisions of the land, shall be made by the tax collectors, one of which shall be deposited in the office of the clerk of probates of the respective counties, to be by him recorded, and the other furnished the Auditor of Public Accounts, to be in like manner recorded by him. That said lands be redeemable within five years, by payment of the taxes for which they were sold, inclusive of expenses, and all subsequent accruing taxes to the day of redemption, with fifty per cent. damages thereon as a penalty for the failure to pay the taxes; and, in the event of the lands not being redeemed within the time specified, the title to the same shall then vest absolutely in the State—to be devoted to the purposes of education, or internal improvement, or such other objects as, in the wisdom of the legislature, may be deemed most expedient.

I herewith transmit the annual reports of the Superintendent and Inspectors of the Penitentiary; from which it will be seen that the institution has yielded a profit to the State, during the past year, of $3,688 23—$3,092 85 of which have been paid into the treasury. The nett gain reported for the preceding year was $1,408 84. The experiment of manufacturing linseys and cotton goods, by the convicts, has been eminently successful, and beyond the anticipations of the most sanguine advocates of the measure. The engine, however, is too small to furnish sufficient power to propel the machinery as it should be done, and, as no doubt any longer exists as to the wisdom of the policy of manufacturing goods in our State Prison, I recommend an appropriation sufficient to increase the power of the engine, and enlarge the establishment.

The act of the last session appropriating the amount of the Sinking Fund to the debit of the State on the books of the treasury, to the payment of the bonds and coupons of the State issued to take stock in the Planters' Bank, has been wholly inoperative, on account of its prohibiting the payment of the coupons, unless attached to the bonds when presented for payment. The first $500,000 of bonds had no coupons attached to them—the payment of interest being provided for on the face of the bonds; and the coupons now due, I am advised, have all been cut from the bonds by the holders.

I herewith transmit the eloquent report of the Commissioners for the erection of the Lunatic Asylum, to which I invite your special attention ; and recommend such appropriations for the completion of the building as may appear necessary, from the facts and suggestions contained in said report.

I herewith submit, for your consideration, resolutions of the legislatures of several States of the Union, and also the proceedings of a convention of the citizens of Mississippi, and other documents, on the subject of slavery. So much has been said and written on this subject that I should submit these documents without further remark, were it not that the momentous character of the question, involving as it does the peace and stability of the Union, and the personal rights and safety of the people of the slave States, seems to demand of me, as one of the official organs of the people of Mississippi, an expression of their opinions on this subject. So long as the attempt to interfere with our domestic institutions was confined to a few enthusiasts, we felt but little alarm ; but now, when a mighty political combination, embracing one-half of the Union, is formed, avowedly for the purpose of restraining us in the exercise and enjoyment of our constitutional rights ; when, regardless of constitutional obligations, they show a fixed determination to trample upon their plighted faith and the guaranties of the compact of Union ; the direct tendency of which is to degrade us from the condition of equals to that of vassals, and not only to rob us of a participation in the benefits of the common property of all the States, but to cripple, and finally destroy, our rights of property in the States themselves, it is time to arouse to a sense of our danger, and exert all our energies to stop the progress of this conspiracy against our peace and safety, which, like a mighty flood, threatens to spread ruin and desolation in its course.

It is difficult to reconcile the conduct of the non-slaveholding States, in reference to this question, with the assumption that they are guided by a knowledge of the principles on which our government was founded, a regard for their constitutional obligations, or by a lofty patriotism. No proposition, to my mind, is more clear, than that the Wilmot Proviso and its kindred measures are without even the shadow of constitutional authority on the part of Congress ; and that a more impolitic, unjust, and iniquitous measure was never presented for the consideration of any legislative body. Nothing but an unchastened thirst for power, forgetful of moral and constitutional obligation—a wild fanaticism, uncontrolled by reason, or an utter ignorance of the principles of our government, it appears to me, could induce any man, or set of men, to seriously entertain measures so monstrous.

The Federal Government is not a sovereignty, but the common agent of a confederacy of sovereignties ; and the constitutional compact between these contains the grants and limitations of its authority. The correctness of this position will not be denied. It follows that Congress can exercise no powers but such as are expressly granted in the constitution, or such as are essential, as incidents, to the carrying into effect expressed grants. Does the constitution anywhere grant to Congress the power to interfere with, or destroy the private rights to property, in slaves, or in anything else which a citizen of the United States may lawfully possess? The exercise of such a power is not only without authority, but it is foreign to, and opposed to the purposes for which the Federal Government was created. It was not formed to destroy the rights of the people, as recognized by the municipal laws of their respective States, but its province is to attend to the general interests of all the States, and "to provide for the common defence, and the general welfare of the United States." Do the words "common defence," mean the protection of our lives, only, and not of our property also? Will it be contended, that while Congress is bound to protect the citizen, it is at liberty to destroy his property, or his right to hold and enjoy it? Does not the obligation to, "provide for the common defence," extend to the property of our citizens, as well as to their persons? The answer to these questions must be in the affirmative. Congress, therefore, has power, and is bound to protect, but has no power to destroy property, or the rights to property. The obligation to protect is wholly irreconcilable with the exercise of a power to destroy our property.

But to what extent does this obligation to defend, or protect the rights of the United States, or the people thereof, reach? Doubtless, to all cases beyond the jurisdiction of the municipal power or authority of the respective States, and wherever our citizens, or their property, may rightfully go. They may rightfully go with their property on the high seas, for this is the common right of the people of all nations, and they may rightfully go to the territories of the United States, for the territories are the common property of all the States. The possession of one legal right, cannot destroy another legal right. The citizens of the North and South are equal in rights, so far as those rights appertain to the co-estate of the United States; and as Congress has no right to interfere with, or control the rights existing under the municipal laws of any State, if a citizen of the non-slaveholding States can settle in the territories, with the legal property which he possessed under the laws of his State, then, a citizen of the slave States may settle there also with the legal property which he possesses under the laws of his State. If he cannot, then, the possession of one legal right, under the laws of a slave State, destroys another legal right secured by the laws of the United States, and, therefore, the people of the United States are not equal in rights—a position which, I apprehend, few will have the boldness to maintain.

That Congress has no right to interfere with the rights of property in slaves, may, I think, be shown by another consideration. Slavery existed prior to, and independent of the constitution. It was not created by the constitution, nor is it dependent upon it for its continuance. It would legally survive the destruction of both the constitution and the Union. It was a vested right before the existence of the constitution, and by a universally acknowledged principle of law, no subsequent act of legislation can destroy a pre-existing, vested right. A sovereign State would not be permitted by its judiciary to commit such an outrage. If the sovereign States of this Union, cannot destroy by legislation, a pre-existing right, how can their mere agent do that which its creator cannot do?

Recent developments, however, have convinced my mind, that the passage of the Wilmot Proviso is not seriously intended. A show of such intention may be continued for a time, to intimidate slaveholders from removing to the territories, until another measure, effecting the same object, can be consummated. I allude to the late movements in California, in holding a convention, and framing a constitution, embracing the Wilmot Proviso in its provisions. From a careful attention to this movement, from its inception to its consummation, I am convinced that it is a scheme to avoid the responsibility of openly meeting the question, by the direct passage of the Wilmot Proviso by Congress. In my judgment, this scheme is more abhorrent to the South than an open and direct adoption of the Proviso, for to fraud and injustice, it adds the crimes of hypocrisy and deceit. It was doubtless believed that the slave States stood committed to the proposition, that "the people of a territory in the formation of a constitution and State government, have the right, under the general principles of the constitution, to determine their own domestic policy," and it was supposed, that if the people of California should hold a convention and adopt a constitution, even if it should contain the Wilmot Proviso, the South would be estopped from an objection to its reception into the Union, by the above admission. Should they complain, it could be replied, "you have admitted the right of California 'to determine its own domestic policy,' and therefore, you must submit to the exercise, on their part, of an admitted right." Accordingly, the first step taken in the prosecution of this scheme, was the Proclamation of General Riley, declaring Mexican law, for the time being, the law of the land, and assuming the station of civil governor to execute those laws—laws prohibiting the introduction of African slavery, disfranchising one half of the Union, and rightful owners of the territory, of the right to settle there with their property; and continuing peon slavery—laws establishing the Catholic religion, and prohibiting all other forms of worship—laws, in many respects, wholly antagonistic in their character to the laws and constitution of the United States, who are its rightful sovereigns!

The next step of this executor of Mexican law, was to issue a proclamation for an election to hold a convention for the purpose of framing a constitution for a State government, preparatory to admission into the Union. A pretended election was held, where a few citizens of the United States, resident in California, and a mixed multitude, composed of transient adventurers, Mexicans,

Chilians, Europeans, Sandwich Islanders, Chinese, &c., &c., without regard to naturalization, fixed residence, or any other legal qualification, were permitted to vote; and lest some of the delegates elected, should fail to attend the convention, General Riley authorized the appointment of supernumerary members to fill the places of absent members—a procedure wholly unknown to law, or the practice, it is believed, of any civilized people on the face of the earth! The convention is held, and the scheme is consummated by a constitution with the Wilmot Proviso as one of its provisions; and, to crown the whole, now, the Executive of the United States deprecates the “agitation of sectional questions,” alluding, as all know, to the Wilmot Proviso, and earnestly recommends this anomalous constitution—this offspring of a ridiculous farce, to “THE FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION OF CONGRESS!” But it seems a fundamental part of the proposition to which it was supposed we stood committed, in the great anxiety to consummate this scheme, was entirely overlooked. The proposition admits the right of the people of a territory in framing a constitution, “under the general principles of the constitution, to determine their own domestic policy.”

The sovereignty of the country had, by the late treaty with Mexico, passed from Mexico to the United States; and no people, whether in California or elsewhere, without first obtaining permission from Congress, had the right to assume sovereignty over the territory. But the people of California have not only, without the consent of Congress, assumed sovereignty over the territory of which they had possession, but over a vast country, wholly uninhabited, except by a few scattered savages, thereby attempting to forever prevent the rightful sovereigns, or at least, the slave States, from ever occupying the country purchased by their blood and treasure! Was this according to the “general principles of the constitution”? Was it according to the general principles of the constitution, for General Riley—a military officer only, to assume the office of civil governor of California—an office not created by Congress, and which the President has no power to create, and under Mexican law, order a convention, the object of which, was to deprive the United States of their sovereignty, and to disfranchise one half of those States from the enjoyment of a constitutional right? Was it according to the general principles of the constitution to hold an election without legal officers to conduct it and make returns, where persons of all nations, whether citizens or not, naturalized or not, should vote away, not only our sovereignty, but the inestimable rights of American citizens? And was it according to the general principles of the constitution for delegates thus elected, composed, as the proceedings of the convention show, of persons not naturalized by the laws of the United States, to dictate a government to citizens of the United States, and one, robbing eight millions of those citizens of the right of entering upon, and enjoying their own property? And yet, this is the outrage that is earnestly recommended to the favorable consideration of Congress!!! Are you, I ask, and through you, I ask my fellow-citizens, are you prepared to submit to such an outrage? I know you are not, and that you are resolved to resist it by every means in your power, and to the last extremity.

At the formation of the confederation, about three-fourths of the territory of the Union belonged to the present slave States. In the spirit of conciliation, and for the sake of peace, we consented to a deprivation of our rights, first by the ordinance of 1787, in reference to the northwestern Territory, and secondly, by submission to the Missouri Compromise. Here, we supposed, that the spirit of aggression would stop, and that we might rest quietly, south of the line agreed on by that compromise. But in this, we are disappointed. This fell spirit now demands our exclusion from every foot of territory belonging to the Union. It is a universally admitted principle, that when one of the parties to a compact, without the consent of the other, disregards, and violates that compact, the other ceases to be bound to the performance of the obligations into which he entered in its formation. The non-slaveholding States have refused to abide by the terms of the Missouri Compromise, and the slave States are therefore absolved from the observance of the stipulations into which they entered, and should, at once, fall back on their original constitutional rights, by which they held an equal right with all the citizens of the United States, to remove to, and settle with their property in any of the territories of the United States. We have learned by bitter experience, the consequences of compromising our rights. Instead of peace, it only invites renewed aggression. Not only are we denied a settlement in the present free States with our property, (a right we have never refused to our Northern brethren, who wish to settle among us,) but we cannot travel through their territories without danger of being robbed of our slave property. These are the results of our concessions; and since their infidelity to their engagements has released us from even any honorable obligation to abide by these compromises, I maintain that duty to ourselves, requires that we never again consent to any restriction to the extension of our southern institutions, from any portion of the territories of the Union.

Unless we come to this determination and maintain it with unyielding firmness, I am convinced that the days of this glorious Union are numbered. The spirit of fanaticism and aggression will never be stayed by compromises; but it will continue its work of destruction, until the sacred ties which have heretofore bound us together in one great and glorious brotherhood, shall be rent asunder—our present peaceful land shall be drenched in blood, and the glorious temple of human liberty, reared by our Fathers, and consecrated by their blood, shall tumble into ruins, exposed to the jeers and taunts of the minions of despotism.

In the event of the adoption of the Wilmot Proviso by Congress or the admission of California into the Union by virtue of her late pretended constitution, the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, or the prohibition of the commerce in slaves between the States, I recommend that the Governor be authorized to order an election of delegates from all the counties in the State, to a convention, to take into consideration the mode and measures of redress, and to adopt such measures for our future security as the crisis may demand.

During the past year a company of men, about three hundred in number, assembled on our gulf coast, at a place called Round Island, within the jurisdiction of the State of Mississippi. What led to their assemblage, or the object of that assemblage, was not known; but it was suspected by the naval officers of the United States then commanding in the gulf that they meditated an expedition against Cuba, or against some power with which the United States were at peace. Although these men were unarmed, and displayed no military organization, yet Lieutenant Totten and Commander Randolph, acting, as they alledged, under instructions from the government at Washington, issued each a proclamation, in which opprobrious epithets were applied to these men, and in which they were notified that they would not be allowed to leave the island, except to disperse, and that, until such dispersion, all supplies should be cut off. Several vessels on our coast, belonging to our citizens, were ordered, under peril of being fired upon, not to leave their position; and our coast was strictly blockaded, for several weeks, to the great injury and annoyance of our citizens. Now, whether these men on Round Island were or were not the just objects of the suspicions of those naval officers, I know not, nor is it material to the subject before us to know. The constitution of Mississippi provides that "No person shall be accused, arrested or detained, except in cases ascertained by law, and according to the form which the same has prescribed; and no person shall be punished, except in virtue of a law established and promulgated prior to the offence, and legally applied." "Nor can he be deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by due course of law." It also provides that "the military shall, in all cases, and at all times, be in strict subordination to the civil power." The same provisions exist, substantially, in the federal constitution. All these provisions were most flagrantly violated by these naval officers, by the arrest, detention and deprivation of the liberty of our citizens, within the civil jurisdiction of Mississippi, without oath or affirmation of any person, and without due course of law. Our coast was kept, for weeks, in a state of blockade, and our citizens deprived of the exercise of the rights of freemen, in a time of profound peace, by martial law, and in total disregard of the civil authorities of the State. If these lawless acts are to become a precedent to govern us in future, whenever a citizen may be so unfortunate as to fall under the suspicion of a military officer, in defiance of his right to the protection thrown around him by the civil laws of his country, he may be arrested, deprived of his liberty, and injured in his property, by the mandate of a military officer. Esteeming this an outrage upon our rights, and an insult to the sovereignty of Mississippi, but wishing to avoid any collision with the government of the United States, I addressed a respectful note to the Secretary of the Navy, (a copy of which is herewith submitted,) enclosing copies of the proclamations of Messrs. Totten and Randolph, and requesting a copy of the instructions under which they acted. To this communication I received, in reply, his note, declining a compliance with my request, and giving me no information on the subject. I submit these facts to your consideration, that, upon mature deliberation, you may adopt such measures in relation thereto as may be deemed expedient. I however suggest the propriety of instructing our Representatives and requesting our Senators in Congress to institute an inquiry into this transaction, by resolution or otherwise, as they may deem most proper.

The effects of the Militia Law of the last session is the complete destruction of our military organization in the State. Officers have, in many instances, resigned, and it is found impossible to fill vacancies by elections. Under these circumstances I called together the Major Generals of the State, for the purpose of devising ways and means to effect a military organization. The result of this effort is herewith presented, in the accompanying report of Major General Duffield, to which I invite your particular attention.

The administration of justice in our Circuit Courts is, in my opinion, greatly impeded, and rendered litigious and burdensome, by adhering to the common law, or English forms of actions, pleadings and practice. The constitution provides "that all courts shall be open; and every person, for an injury in his lands, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial, or delay." This invaluable provision of the constitution is rendered abortive by the complex and intricate system of pleadings now pursued in the Circuit Courts. By reference to the voluminous and rapidly accumulating reports of the decisions of our High Court of Errors and Appeals, it will be seen that a large proportion of the litigation in that court has arisen upon technical points of law growing out of the deficient forms of actions, and the pleadings applicable thereto, without any reference to the real merits of the controversy between the parties.

I therefore recommend that the existing forms of actions and pleadings in civil suits in the Circuit Courts be abolished, and that hereafter all suits shall be instituted by petition, and plead to by an answer, after the manner of pleadings now in use in the Chancery Court. This will enable the petitioner to state his cause of action in a plain and intelligible manner.

I recommend the institution of the blind, located in this city, to the favorable consideration of the legislature. The appropriation heretofore made is found insufficient to sustain the establishment ; and, as it is known that we have many unfortunate beings in our State who are blind, deprived of the means of instruction so admirably adapted to their condition by this institution, the cause of humanity, suffering under this deplorable visitation, demands that a further appropriation, under the influence of an enlarged and enlightened benevolence, should be made to build up and sustain this institution.

So far as my extreme feeble health would permit, I have thus, with much deference to your superior wisdom, submitted to your consideration most of the matters of interest, in reference to the object of your assemblage, that have presented themselves to my mind ; and, being now about to retire from public life, I beg leave to tender to you, and, through you, to our common constituents, my grateful thanks for the many evidences of their kindness and partiality towards me—humbly beseeching an all-wise and gracious Creator to direct your counsels by wisdom, and to take the interests of our beloved State into His high and holy keeping.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, January 7, 1850.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
JACKSON, January 11, 1850.

Hon. JOHN J. McRAE, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—Herewith I have the honor to hand you my Report of the Receipts and Disbursements of the Public Moneys from the 1st day of January, A. D. 1848, to the 31st day of December, A. D. 1849, both inclusive, to be laid before the Legislature.

I am, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. T. SWANN,
Auditor of Public Accounts.

ACCOMPANYING DOCUMENTS.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
JACKSON, January 11, 1850.

To the Legislature of the State of Mississippi :

In obedience to law (Code of Mississippi, Sec. 5, p. 393,) I have the honor to submit the following report of the receipts and expenditures of the public moneys, from the 1st day of January to the 31st December, 1848, inclusive, and from the 1st day of January to the 31st day of December, 1849, inclusive.

Document A, herewith transmitted, exhibiting the assessment of lands for the fiscal years 1848 and 1849, together with document B, exhibiting the assessment of persons and personal property for the year 1848, will show the total assessments of the State for 1848, according to the assessors' returns, to be . . . . . $437,243 83

The assessment of land, above referred to, and document C, herewith transmitted, containing the assessments of persons and personal property for the fiscal year 1849, will show the total assessments for 1849, according to the assessors' returns, to be (assuming that the returns from Claiborne, Copiah and Marion, from which, as yet, no proper returns have been received, to be the same as in 1848,) . . . . . 422,460 95

The total revenue means of the State, for the fiscal year 1847, as charged to the collectors in settlement at this office, (the details of which will appear in document D, herewith transmitted,) were as follows, viz :

|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Assessment returns for the year 1847,                       | $377,228 32 |
| Additional returns . . . . .                                | 123,286 63   |
| Insolvencies collected . . . . .                            | 674 10       |
| 25 per cent. damages on delinquent tax payers . . . . .     | 1,430 89     |
| 30 per cent. damages on delinquent tax collectors . . . . . | 180 91       |
|                                                             | <hr/>        |
|                                                             | 502,800 85   |

Showing total credits to the treasury of..... 344,717 18

And an excess of receipts, over disbursements, of.. $56,369 81

Of the disbursements above detailed, $19,950, part of the disbursements on account of the Seminary Fund, $81,187 50, on account of the Two per cent. Fund, and $12,000, on account of the Code of Mississippi, are not ordinary heads of expenditure ; nor is the sum of $1,200, received on account of the Two per cent. Fund, an ordinary head of receipts. Deducting these sums from the receipts and expenditures, respectively, we have the true excess of receipts over expenditures, in the year 1848, $168,307 31.

During the year 1848 a receipt warrant for $11,023 51 was issued, on account of the town Lot Fund, in favor of the Attorney General, payable in certain notes of the late Mississippi Union Bank, received by him of D. Shelton, Esquire, pursuant to a judgment of the circuit court of Hinds county, which yet remains in the hands of that gentleman, in consequence of a doubt in the mind of the treasurer as to his authority to receive said notes. It was issued by me at the request of the Attorney General, and to comply with the intent of “An act for the relief of David Shelton,” approved February 4, 1841. The excess in amount over that mentioned in the act is the interest accrued. This amount, therefore, will not appear in the Treasury Report. A receipt warrant in favor of Thomas H. Marble, late a tax collector of Jefferson county, for $930, on account of the State tax of said county, payable in the notes of the Mississippi Railroad Company, was paid into the treasury in said notes on the 19th June, 1848 ; but, having been issued on the 28th June, 1843, it does not appear in the foregoing account of receipts.

The total revenue means of the State, for the fiscal year 1848, as charged to the collectors in settlement during the year 1849, (the details of which will appear in document E, herewith transmitted,) were as follows, viz :

Showing a difference, in this year, of..... $78,647 44

From this it would appear that the State had sustained a loss upon the sum of $814,493 28, assessed means of two fiscal years, equal to $111,682 42, but there is reason to believe that the amounts of $71,002 64, suspended on injunctions in behalf of the banks, and $15,995 95, allowed on account of State deeds for lands struck off to the State at tax sales, and for taxes on the same afterwards, in the two years, will be ultimately realized on these assessments. The realization of the amount absorbed in the allowances for State deeds would be materially hastened by a reduction of the damages imposed by law on the redemption of the lands so sold. Even if not redeemed, the lands are worth much more than their cost; as, under the existing law, a tax collector's deed is prima facie evidence of good title, impeachable only for fraud or neglect in the officer. Care has been taken to see that the deeds executed in 1848 and 1849 should conform to the law.

On a review of the settlements of the collectors, during the years 1848 and 1849, it will be perceived that they have been unusually prompt and full. I have not felt authorized by law to allow any delay, or to omit charging damages in any case of delinquency. Of the principal revenue of the year 1847, due 1st May, 1848, only six hundred and forty-six dollars and forty-three cents remains due and unsettled. This amount was stolen from the collector of Newton county, under circumstances which have induced me, with the assent of his excellency the Governor, to withhold a suit for the amount until the collector can present his petition for relief to your body. Though it may not be expedient to relieve him from the debt, it is yet a fair case for the clemency of the legislature, in extending him time, and remitting the damages, upon satisfactory guaranties of payment. The other small balances due on that year consist of thirty per cent. damages charged against collectors who did not pay exactly at the time required by law, but discharged the whole principal in a short time after. One of them has confessed a judgment for the amount so due from him. Having made full payment, within a short time after it was due, they design petitioning your body for a remission of the damages; and, in order to enable them to do so, I have been authorized by his excellency the Governor to withhold a further prosecution of them until the pleasure of the legislature on this subject can be made known. The same remarks, with slight exceptions, will apply to the small balances due on the tax of 1848.

I beg leave again, in this place, to renew the recommendation made to the last legislature, to grant the Auditor of Public Accounts the power to omit the charge of damages against the collectors, upon the written opinion of the Governor and Attorney General being filed, stating that the delay was not wilful or avoidable by the collector. No discretion, however, in the premises ought to be allowed the Auditor.

An ineffectual effort has been made to realize the taxes due from the banking incorporations of the State, according to the requisitions of "An act to enable the tax collectors more efficiently to collect the revenue of this State," approved February 25th, 1848; but, in every instance, except that of the Northern Bank of Mississippi, the State has been enjoined, or is otherwise prevented from collecting, and suits are now pending, or necessary, to enforce collections.

Where the charters of the banks have been vacated by judicial proceedings on quo warranto, the assessors have been instructed that, after that event, there is no longer any tax to be assessed on "capital stock," as such. But, inasmuch as the moneys paid in on capital stock have been loaned to individuals by these corporations, the assessors, conformably with the advice of the Attorney General, have been directed to assess to the trustees, or the assignees of such corporations, all their property, real and personal, and the assets representing their "money loaned at interest," &c. which have come to their hands, in virtue of their trusts. These assessments have been made, but, in most instances, have been set aside by the boards of police, or the collection enjoined in chancery, on the petitions of the trustees. The right of the boards of police to reduce or set aside these assessments being denied, the collectors have not been absolutely credited, in their settlements, with the amounts so allowed them by the boards, but they have been entered on their accounts as "taxes enjoined," or "suspended assessments," in order that the legal questions involved in the various police orders and injunctions in chancery may be fully determined by the courts, before a final settlement of their revenue accounts. Pursuant to my directions, in this connection, a heavy assessment was returned by the collector of Warren county, in 1848, for arrearages due by the late United States Bank of Pennsylvania, or their trustees, on large loans made by it, several years since, to the Commercial and Railroad Bank of Vicksburg. A small portion of this loan was assessed in 1841, and an injunction obtained by that bank against the collection of the tax, which has been pending since, until last January term of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, when, by its decree, the right of the State to the tax was affirmed. Another injunction, on some new ground, has been since obtained by the agent of the trustees. The assessment made embraces the arrearages on their loan to that bank. It is believed that the State will ultimately recover the whole of this tax, including the damages imposed by law for failure to pay the same when due. The amount of principal due from this bank, including the tax of 1848, and without that of 1849, is $25,932 00.

The arrearages of taxes on stock, and on the assessments for 1848 of the loans by the banks whose charters have been forfeited, as far as I have been able to collect them, from sources somewhat imperfect, amount to the sum of $225,518 98, exclusive of damages, and are as follows, to wit :

And shewing the total stated, without damages..... $225,518 98

The remedy for the collection of the taxes on capital stock, provided by the above recited act, may not extend to the taxes assessed on their loans. A provision to enforce the collection of these assessments in the same manner is necessary, in the event of their being sustained by the courts, to which the trustees and assignees have resorted in opposition to the claims of the State. A remedy is also needful, to prevent these officers from settling and discharging these claims, to the prejudice of the State, until the injunctions obtained by them, are decided. I am informed that many notes, &c., advertised by the collectors for sale, for the arrears of taxes due, have been so settled by the trustees with the debtors, while the injunctions are yet pending and undecided. The trustees of the two banks at Natchez, hereinbefore mentioned have been enjoined, on bills filed by the late Attorney General, from further distribution of their assets, until the claims of the State against them, can be heard and adjudicated. The same procedure ought to be directed against all the trustees of the forfeited banks; and the officers of such as are not forfeited, but are contesting the demands of the State for taxes. A vigorous prosecution of these claims, with the aid of the necessary legal enactments to enforce collections, will result, it is believed, in the ultimate collection of the greater portion of the arrearages stated. For a clear and satisfactory statement of the grounds of controversy between the State and the several banks referred to, I beg leave to refer your body to a communication on this subject, herewith transmitted, marked, Document H., from the late Attorney General.

It is proper also, to observe that some provision is necessary to secure the service of competent counsel in such of these causes, as originate in the District Chancery Court; neither the Attorney General nor District Attornies, are required by law, to attend these courts.

It is my duty also to state, as well in relation to the taxes due on the loans of the banks, whose charters have been annulled, as to those due from non-residents having loans outstanding, and due, within this State, that the provisions of the present law are very inadequate to secure a full assessment and collection of them. It is often difficult for the assessor to obtain a full disclosure of the loans made in the State by non-residents. They may not choose to appoint an agent to render the officer this account, and the loan is consequently, not assessed. Neither is any provision to be found in our revenue law, by which property of a money lender, situated in a different county, from that which the loan is assessed, can be made liable to satisfaction of such assessment. At present, an assessment can only be certified from one county to another, in case of a removal of the person assessed from a county, after the assessment is made. The property of a non-resident, in the case supposed, could not be reached at all under the present law.

Directions have been given to the assessors to assess the sales of slaves as merchandize, (since the act of 1846, restoring that trade,) by persons travelling with them from point to point, offering them for sale; as "merchandize, sold by transient vendors." It is contended by some, that a citizen, who is a trader, is not subject to the tax on "transient vendors," though he may carry his merchandize from place to place. Various other expedients have been also resorted to, to avoid the difference of the rate of taxation on slaves as such, and when sold by transient traders as merchandize.— Large numbers are sold, and the sellers are not assessed with the sales. The assessments were directed after a consultation with the Attorney General. A suit was instituted by a vendor, in the Circuit Court of Itawamba, against the collector, for an amount he had paid on one of these assessments, and judgment was rendered for the amount against him last spring. In consequence of this judgment, the assessment on which the judgment was founded, together with another, paid to the assesor, and yet in his hands, but charged to the collector, amounting in all, to $254 19, is yet standing against the collector on my books. He has taken the cause to the High Court, in which I have requested the Attorney General to appear for the plaintiff in error, as on its decision, depends the right of the State to the tax in question. No suit, of course, has yet been brought against the collector for it, as I thought it expedient to await the decision of the High Court in the case made.

The "Act to provide for the sale of lands purchased by the State at tax sales," approved March 4, 1848, required me to furnish the Sheriff of each county in the State, a list of all lands and town lots remaining unredeemed, of those sold to the State for taxes, to be sold by the Sheriffs, and accounted for, as other moneys received for taxes. The deeds remaining in this office, were examined by me separately, and compared with the entries on the file books of the office of those redeemed, and lists of such as so appeared unredeemed, were forwarded conformably to the law, duplicates of which were retained on a record book, made for the purpose. Many of the lists were not forwarded in time for the advertisement required by the act to be made before the fall terms of the courts, so that some of the sales were not made till the spring of the last year. The third section of the act secured the owners the right of redemption until the sale; and as the previous law required the lands redeemed to be erased from the deed executed to the State, on redemption, the deeds were also delivered to the Sheriffs, except from the two counties of Tippah and Winston, which have not been taken away by the Sheriffs. The lists have been accounted for with a few exceptions, unnecessary to be here enumerated. Commissions at three per cent. were allowed the Sheriffs on the amount received by them. In a few counties, some tracts offered, were not sold for want of bidders, and the lands yet remain subject to redemption in the hands of the Sheriffs. These tracts, however, are very few.

The sale of several large tracts in Washington and Sunflower, was enjoined by the Hon. George Poindexter, but the suit is yet undecided.

*The whole cost of these sales to the State, prior to the year 1848, inclusive of the amounts allowed in years subsequent to the sales, for taxes due the State and counties upon them, for acknowledgment and registration of deeds, and for printer's fees, as far as I can collect it from reports to the Legislature, previous to that period, was..... $77,210 40

The amount allowed for taxes, on them in 1848, was..... 4,963 30

Making their total cost, including allowances on them..... $82,173 70

The amount realized on redemption, previous to 1st of May, 1848, was.... 23,839 28

To which is to be added the proceeds of the lists forwarded the sheriffs, amounting to..... 8,914 83

32,754 11

The difference between these receipts and the first cost and allowances as stated, is..... $49,419 59 which is the loss of the State on the sales previous to the year 1848.

It will be seen that the prices at which they were sold were merely nominal, and that very few were redeemed. This resulted from the fact, that the titles of the State, under all the earlier sales for taxes, were extremely doubtful; and from the further consideration that the act of 1848 restricted the right of redemption, and made the sale without reserve.

The law still continues in force, requiring the collectors to convey to the State all delinquent lands, on which no one will bid the taxes and costs due. A number of tracts, amounting to about three hundred and ninety-six thousand six hundred and eighty-two acres, and three hundred and eighty-four town lots, have been struck off to the State, in 1848 and 1849, of which a particular account is contained in Document I, herewith transmitted.

There are now on file, about eleven hundred and thirty-eight deeds, made to the State in 1848, and twelve hundred and thirty made in 1849; the former of which must be recorded under the present law in 1850, and the latter in 1851, which will cost the State near four thousand dollars. It is respectfully submitted, whether this expenditure may not be safely and profitably avoided, by an enactment, requiring the Auditor of Public Accounts to furnish, annually, to the probate clerks, lists of such lands sold to the State, as have remained two years without redemption, and substituting the registry of this list on a file-book of the clerk of probate, for the registration of so large a number of deeds. The heavy allowance of two dollars for each deed of the collectors, may also be well avoided, by dispensing with the execution of any deed by the collector, and requiring that officer annually to furnish sworn lists, in duplicate, of such lands as are not sold for want of any person bidding the taxes and costs, with a statement of the taxes and costs due, one of which should be recorded in the clerk's office, and the other filed in this office. These lists, when recorded, may safely be substituted for deeds, as evidence of the title of the State. Much the greater portion of the allowances to the collectors on this account, is for the mere execution and acknowledgment of the deeds.

Indeed, a great annoyance to tax-payers would result from an act to dispense with sales of lands for taxes due on them altogether, and forfeiting all lands directly to the State for non-payment of the tax on the first Monday in April, as required by law. The right of redemption from the State, at a low rate of interest on the taxes due, should of course be reserved, and this would ensure their redemption. Infinite embarrassment of titles by tax sales, heretofore experienced, especially by non-residents, would thus also be avoided in future. The redemption should be directly from the State through this office; and the accounts of the Auditor on this head should be subjected to the examination of the Treasurer, or some other officer of the State, monthly.

In connection with this subject, it is proper that I should inform the Legislature, that since the last adjournment, I have charged to my predecessor the sum of $2,736 50, which appears to have been received by him on account of redemption of lands, more than appears to have been paid by him to the Treasury. The debit against him is predicated upon his official entries on the file-books, and other papers in the office. He declined payment of the amount so charged to him, on a claim of certain set-offs for extra services, alleged to have been performed by him during his several official terms, which I had no authority of law to allow as credits to his account. A suit is pending in the circuit court of Hinds county on this account, together with another in the chancery court, instituted by him against the State; in which I am informed by the late Attorney General, the amount due has been secured by Col. Matthews, in the event of a decree against him.

As it falls within the duties required of me by law, in this report, I beg leave to suggest to your honorable body, some difficulties resulting from imperfections in the present revenue law.

There are two distinct provisions as to the return of the assessment-rolls to this office; one requires the copy to be deposited in this office by the assessor, and the other a copy to be forwarded by the clerk of the probate court. The result is, that frequently, both copies are sent. But, under the provisions of the law, if neither should be sent, it might be not only difficult to fix the responsibility for the neglect, but a greater difficulty would be felt in making the proper revenue charges to the accounts of the collector.

There is no direct authority given the Auditor, to direct a suit against an assessor for failing to deliver his returns at the required time. The present law is indefinite, as to the extent of the power given to the boards of police, in correcting an assessment-roll.

The power ought not to extend beyond a given day, nor its exercise allowed after the roll has been corrected and sent to this office, and made the foundation of a charge to the collector. The assessor, and such witnesses as he may suggest, ought to be summoned to attend at the court held for settlement of appeals against his assessments; otherwise, the State is not represented before the board. The assessment-roll ought to be made final, after the time assigned for hearing and determining appeals.

The reason for requiring a valuation and assessment of the vacant and untaxable lands in the State, having ceased, there is no necessity for this to be repeated in every biennial assessment. The assessors receive no compensation for this labor, and it constitutes nearly half the matter of every land-roll. The rolls are returned, in many instances, in such large and inconvenient shape, that there is no place in which they can be carefully deposited in the office. Their preservation seems to be of sufficient importance to authorize the State to incur the expense of furnishing the assessors the books or rolls, of uniform size and form, which are to be returned to this office. The cost would not probably exceed five hundred dollars.

It is also suggested, that real property is now sufficiently stable in value, in the State, to justify dispensing with assessments of land at such short periods. An assessment of land might well be allowed to continue four or six years, with suitable provisions requiring intermediate returns of all new entries or purchases.

There is no necessity for, but rather a confusion resulting from, requiring the assessor to set down on the roll the name of the owner or first purchaser of land. At any rate, a mistake as to the true owner on the part of the assessor, ought not to be allowed to vitiate his assessment. It is hardly to be presumed that they can be accurately informed on this point, especially in case of disputes regarding the title.

Immediately after the adjournment of the Legislature, in March, 1848, the requirements of the second, third, and fourth sections of an act, authorizing, "Certain alterations in the offices of Auditor and Treasurer," were complied with, by the erection of the counters and desks directed. The drawers in this office were, also, painted and numbered as required.

As far as the intervals of current business have allowed, I have endeavored to arrange all the old papers of the office in proper drawers, separately, with an index to the same. The first section of the act has been complied with, by the introduction of an "Individual Journal and Ledger." The check it provides against duplicate allowances of the same claims is nearly complete. But the labor needed for these books, is much greater than contemplated by the Legislature. The book-keeping of the office has been nearly or quite doubled. With the aid of the accounts, as stated at this desk, I am enabled to present, in tabular form, in Documents F and G, herewith transmitted, a statement of the disbursements, by warrant on claims originating in each several county, from the first day of May, A. D., 1848, when the books were opened, to the first day of May, 1849; and from the first day of May, 1849, to the 31st December, 1849. By a comparison to these tables, compiled with care, the Legislature will discover the amounts paid on each several head of public service in the counties, and may ascertain also, from these, in connection with the revenue settlements in Documents D and E, the comparative income and expenditure on account of each county.

In the course of the past fourteen months, the accounts of clerks and returning officers of the Presidential election have amounted to near nineteen hundred in number, on the Individual Journal. This will occur every fourth year. The accounts of grand jurors and bailiffs, during each year, will average, on the books, near two thousand entries. There is no necessity for the separate certificates of grand jurors and bailiffs to be entered on the books of this office, or for them to remain unpaid until they can apply separately for their dues at the seat of government. These parties suffer a considerable inconvenience from the delay of payment under the present system. It would be much more just and convenient for them, if the circuit courts should be required to cause their accounts, for attendance at each term, to be made up, and an order entered on the minutes, for the amount in favor of the sheriffs or clerks, requiring him to pay the jurors and bailiffs immediately on receipt of the money by him from the Treasury. Such an arrangement would materially reduce a large volume of accounts, which now encumber the books of the office, without any benefit to the State; and at the same time enable those who serve as jurors and bailiffs, to realize their pay at once, without abatement.

An account is herewith transmitted, marked Document K, showing the expenditure of the Auditor's contingent fund, during the years 1848 and 1849, in detail, as required by the statute creating that fund.

I have endeavored, with the aid of the Hon. Jefferson Davis, to procure from the United States Treasury, the amount paid out by the State, under the act approved March 4, 1848, "for the relief of the officers and privates of company I, of the Marshall guards, of the first regiment Mississippi rifles," as required by the act. Payment of the money, so advanced by the State, has been refused by the Government at Washington, for reasons stated in the opinion of the Treasury officer and Secretary of War, herewith transmitted, marked Document L. I will observe, that the evidence required, as preliminary to the allowance, is not in possession of the State.

On the 17th day of July, 1848, I issued my warrant, No. 250, for ninety-seven dollars and fifty cents, to Nicholas Messenger, of Wilkinson county, upon a certificate in his favor, as a witness in a protracted State trial, running through several years, from the clerk of the circuit court of that county, for that amount. On subsequent examination, I found that the certificate was issued for an excess of thirty-two dollars and fifty cents, the clerk having overlooked an enactment in 1826, reducing the compensation to State witnesses. This act is omitted in the chapter on Evidence, in the Digest then in use, to which I resorted on examination of the claim, but was found in another chapter; on subsequent examination.

The error on my part, arose from the defect in that Digest. It was ascertained, after the warrant had been transferred, and the witness, though requested, has failed to refund the excess. I submit the case to the Legislature, under the circumstances, and will myself refund it, if it be the pleasure of your body.

In obedience to the act of July, 1843, I submit the following estimate of the receipts to be anticipated, and of the expenditures required, in the years 1850 and 1851.

Exhibiting an estimate of expenditures, in the ensuing two years, of ..... $363,333 33

Which, deducted from the nett receipts anticipated, will give, in the two years, an excess of receipts amounting to ..... $360,388 57

These estimates are liable to be varied by so many contingencies, that they should be received with great caution. In the nature of the case, they must be uncertain. Considerable receipts may accrue from the sources confided to the State Commissioner, of which I am, of course, unable to form any estimate.

Should my suggestions in relation to the execution and registry of deeds for lands struck off to the State, for taxes, and to the extension of the terms, for which assessments of real estate shall stand after 1850, meet with the favor of the Legislative body, the allowances for State deeds, tax on State lands, and commissions for assessing, will be much reduced, and the nett receipts proportionably greater.

While engaged in arranging and filing the papers found loose in the office, in the summer of 1848, I found an Auditor's pay warrant, No. 3,536, payable to William M. Brown, or bearer, for thirty dollars, on the Legislative department, dated 15th January, 1844, which is genuine, enveloped in a paper, on which is the following endorsement, without signature:—" $30. to the credit of W. J. Waller, of Virginia, subject to the order of R. Cook, Esqr., Lexington, Miss., to redeem his land." I have not felt authorized to deliver this warrant to any person, without some direction from the Legislature, though I incline to the opinion that it was received by my predecessor, from an agent of Mr. Waller, and was probably mislaid by him.

Regular monthly statements of receipts, at the Treasury, have been received at this office, during the two years, 1848 and 1849, and are on file. They exhibit the receipts according to the charges against the Treasury, on my books, except the warrant on account of the Town Lot Fund, hereinbefore adverted to.

My books and accounts are ready for examination, by your committee. In advance of such examination, the strict scrutiny with which they have been reviewed by myself, warrants me in this communication in bearing testimony to the untiring industry, as well as the fulness and accuracy with which they have been kept, by those whose services I have been so fortunate as to secure at both the desks.

If the foregoing report should seem prolix, I trust it may be excused, on the ground of my anxiety, to present to the representatives of the people, full information on all the interests embraced in the department of the public service committed to my charge.

I have the honor to remain,

Most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. T. SWANN,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, JACKSON, }
Dec. 19, 1849. }

Hon. JOHN D. FREEMAN,
Jackson,

Dear Sir :—I am desirous to present to the Legislature a brief statement of points, made by the several banks, in their suits now pending, in which you have appeared, so that additional Legislation, if necessary, may be adapted to them.

You will be able to do this in a much more concise and satisfactory form, than my limited knowledge of the pleadings will enable me to do. If you can furnish me a note to accompany my biennial report, before the 25th inst., you will very much oblige.

Your obed't serv't,

GEO. T. SWANN,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

JACKSON, Dec., 20, 1849.

Hon. GEO. T. SWANN,
Auditor, etc.,

Dear Sir :—Your letter of Dec. 19th has been received, and contents noted.

Elijah Peale, trustee of the Agricultural Bank of Natchez, has enjoined the collection of the taxes assessed against that bank, upon the ground that the board of police, of Adams county, has remitted the taxes so assessed. It appears that the officers of the bank, after the several assessments were made, represented to the board of police, that the capital stock of the bank was not at par in the stock market, and the board of police, on this account, remitted the amount of tax now claimed by the State. The charter of the bank authorized a tax of twenty-five per cent. on the one hundred dollars of capital stock paid in, and the revenue law required this to be assessed and collected. There is no law authorizing the capital stock of this bank to be taxed at its par value in the stock market; and the act of the board of police in remitting these taxes was, in my opinion, void.

William Robertson, trustee of the Commercial Bank of Natchez, has enjoined the collection of the taxes assessed against that bank, for the same reasons as above stated, and I regard them as equally fallacious.

Person & Marye have enjoined the collection of the taxes assessed against the Bank of Port Gibson, upon the same grounds as those above stated, and they further charge that the assets of the bank were assigned to them in the year, A. D., 1843, before the taxes were levied, and that therefore, the assets of the late bank are not liable for the tax. By statute of this State, the State lien for taxes is superior to all other encumbrances.

The Grand Gulf Bank is in a situation similar to that of the Bank of Port Gibson.

Freeland and Murdock, assignees of the Commercial Bank of Rodney, set up a similar defence to the collection of the taxes assessed against that bank.

In the case of the Commercial Bank of Vicksburg, the taxes have not been remitted by the board of police, but the bill for injunction sets up the same defence; and further, that by the charter of the bank, a tax of only twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars paid in, can be levied—that the State has levied this amount for her State tax, and the same amount has been levied for county tax, which is charged to be unlawful. If this be true, it would not defeat the State tax.

The trustees of the Commercial Bank of Manchester, deny the validity of the assessment, and charges that all lawful taxes have been paid.

The assets of the Bank of Mississippi were seized, under a decree of the chancery court, and placed in the hands of Charles A. Lacoste, a receiver for the benefit of creditors, before the taxes were assessed, and he refuses to pay the same for want of authority, until the chancellor shall so direct. Lacoste resides at Natchez, and has assets of the bank in his hands, to the amount of two hundred thousand dollars, or thereabouts.

John Bacon, and others, trustees of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania, have enjoined the collection of $29,104, assessed against the bank for State and county taxes, on money loaned within this State by said bank, to the Commercial and Railroad Bank of Vicksburg. They do not deny the loan of the money, but insist that the United States Bank of Pennsylvania is not liable to a tax on money loaned within the State by the terms of the revenue law, authorizing a tax on money loaned. There is no exception in favor of that bank, and it is difficult to perceive why the agents of that bank should be permitted to loan its capital and take mortgages on valuable property here, without paying the tax which our own citizens pay.

The questions of the power of the boards of police, to remit the assessments of taxes, against the Natchez banks, are now before the high court on appeal from the vice-chancery court at Natchez.

Yours, respectfully,

JOHN D. FREEMAN.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Third Auditor's Office, August 3, 1848.

Hon. WM. L. MARCY,
Secretary of War:

SIR—I have the honor, herewith, respectfully to submit for your decision, under the act of the 2d June, 1848, the following claim of the State of Mississippi, for three hundred and eighty-three dollars, advanced to Captain J. H. R. Taylor, and expended by him in the transportation of his company of Mississippi Volunteers, by act of the legislature of said State, approved 4th March, 1848, referred to this office for settlement by the Second Auditor on the 26th ult., viz:

The STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,

1848—March 4. To Capt. JAMES H. R. TAYLOR, Dr.

For this amount, expended by him for the transportation of the "Marshall Guards" to the place of rendezvous, called Company I, of the First Regiment of Mississippi Rifles, as per act of the Legislature of said State approved March 4, 1848, entitled "An act for the relief of the officers and privates of Company 'I,' of the Marshall Guards, of the First Regiment of Mississippi Rifles:

Three hundred and eighty-three dollars, ($383 00)—"June 17th, 1848, received of the Auditor of Public Accounts his warrant, No. 199, on the State Treasurer, for three hundred and eighty-three dollars, which is in full of the provision made by the above recited act, approved March 4, 1848.

JAMES H. R. TAYLOR.

Late of the Marshall Guards,

By J. C. ANDERSON, Attorney in fact."

A power of attorney, executed by said Capt. J. H. R. Taylor, to J. C. Anderson, of Jackson, to receive and receipt for the above amount charged the State, acknowledged before G. Waite, clerk of the probate court of Marshall county, is annexed to the above, which, with the receipt, is certified to be a correct copy of the original, on file in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, by George T. Swann, said Auditor, under his official seal; and also the certificate of Richard Griffith, State Treasurer, that the warrant, No. 199, had been paid at the treasury of the said State.

Accompanying the claim is a certified copy of an act of the Legislature of said State, approved March 4, 1848, entitled "An act for the relief of the officers and privates of Company 'I,' of the Marshall Guards, of the First Regiment of Mississippi Rifles;" the first section of which provides that the sum of $383 be appropriated and paid to Capt Taylor, and his receipt for the same shall be filed, as a voucher to said Auditor, showing the amount expended by said Capt. Taylor for the transportation of the Marshall Guards to the place of rendezvous.

Section two of the act provides that the receipt for the money above mentioned shall have the effect of relinquishing to the State the claim of said company on the United States for arrearages of pay, and directs the Auditor of Public Accounts to receive the amount due the said company from the United States.

With the said act is a power of attorney from George T. Swann, Auditor as aforesaid, to the Hon Jefferson Davis, of the United States Senate, authorizing him to receive the amount so found due.

The above account is presented in the form of a copy of the original voucher, which is retained in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts of said State. I think that the original claim and voucher should be furnished.

On the 19th of June last certain claims, of a similar nature with the above, was reported upon by me for your decision, under the act of the 2d June, 1848; upon which, on the 3d of July last, you decided as follows, viz:

"Bills of particulars, containing dates and rates of charge, ought to be furnished.

"It is not sufficient to show that a gross amount was expended, still less that sums were given to individuals to expend, without evidence that it was expended."

I am of the opinion that the above claim, under this decision, should be suspended from allowance until an account be furnished showing the application of the money; the different points between which the transportation was furnished; by whom furnished; the number of men charged for, and rate per man; the dates when furnished, with receipts for the money paid in each case; as well as evidence that the persons for whom the transportation was furnished were mustered and received into the service of the United States, and that the transportation was prior to the said muster.

This evidence is deemed necessary to guard against the presentation of claims by the individuals furnishing the transportation charged for above, and to enable you to judge if "the supplies and services were necessary and proper for the use of said troops," as required by the act aforesaid. The papers forming the claim are herewith transmitted.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, (Signed) PETER HAGNER, Auditor.

"The absence of the originals presents but one difficulty, which might be disregarded; there is a greater one. The State of Mississippi pays Capt. Taylor for having paid the expenses of transporting certain Mississippi volunteers to rendezvous. It is not shown who actually performed the service of transporting the volunteers, nor that they were ever paid by Capt. Taylor. If the persons who actually transported the volunteers should present their claims for that service, we should have no defence whatever against it. In fact, it might be paid without being identified as the claim said to have been paid by Capt. Taylor.

The United States are liable, in the first place, to those who actually performed the service, and liable to them for a reasonable compensation for the service. Before the State of Mississippi can be paid, she must show that she has paid those who held the claim against the United States, and that the claim was a reasonable one. As to these points there is no evidence. It is not shown that Capt. Taylor ever has paid a cent.

"August 21, '48. (Signed) W. L. MARCY."

OFFICE OF THE STATE TREASURER, }
JACKSON, Miss., Jan'y. 15, 1850. }

Hon. John J. McRae,

Speaker of the House of Representatives :

Sir—Herewith accompanying, I have the honor, through you, to submit to the honorable, the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, the biennial Report of the State Treasurer, from the 1st day of January, 1848, to the 31st of December, 1849, inclusive.

I remain, most respectfully, your ob't. serv't.

R'D. GRIFFITH,
State Treasurer.

REPORT.

STATE TREASURY OFFICE, }
JACKSON, Jan'y, 12, 1850. }

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of Mississippi :

In obedience to the requirements of law, I have the honor herewith to submit a detailed biennial report of the receipts and disbursements, at the State Treasury, from the 1st day of January, 1848, to the 31st day of December, 1849, inclusive—exhibiting a balance in the Treasury, on the 1st day of January, 1850, of four hundred and thirty-eight thousand six hundred and sixty seven dollars and twelve cents, including the following trust funds, with their amounts, viz :

Seminary Fund.....	$79,077 77½
Sinking Fund.....	75,022 22½
Three per cent. Fund.....	24,896 09
Two per cent. Fund.....	4,854 78
State Tax and other Funds.....	254,816 25
	$438,667 12

These “Two and Three per cent. Funds” consisted chiefly of U. States Treasury Notes, bearing interest for one year ; some at 6 per cent. and the remainder at 5 2–5 per cent. per annum ; this interest has not all been calculated—is not, except as the money is disbursed ; was not all included in my receipt to my predecessor, and is not embraced in the above balances : hence these Funds are considerably more in reality, than the above statement makes them appear.

On the 1st day of January, 1848, the total balance in the State Treasury, was three hundred and twenty-seven thousand seven hundred and sixty-two dollars and eighteen cents, in Funds as follows :

Two and Three per cent. Funds.....	$213,020 77
State tax Funds, &c.....	114,741 41
	$327,762 18

The disbursements at the Treasury, during the year 1848, amounted to the sum of three hundred and ninety-eight thousand seven hundred and forty-eight dollars and eleven cents, and was for the following purposes, viz :

Total disbursements, ... $317,428 87

Excess of receipts during the year 1849 is 119,589 57

Add balance in Treasury January 1st, 1849, ... 319,077 55

And we have the sum of $438,667 12

as a balance in the Treasury January 1st, 1850, as first stated.

Monthly exhibits, in the form of tabular statements, of the receipts and disbursements at the State Treasury, during the past two years, may be seen on file in the office.

From the foregoing exhibit, it will be seen that while the fiscal receipts at the Treasury, during the year 1848, were very large, the disbursements for the same time were extraordinary. This arose in part, from the passage of an act by the last Legislature, authorizing the State Treasurer to pay all our State warrants issued prior to the 1st day of January, 1841, whether the same be funded or unfunded: consequently old State liabilities in the form of warrants, came in very rapidly, and were paid on presentation; and thus the greater amount of the outstanding funded debt was liquidated. But the heaviest disbursement was on account of the large payments out of the "Two per cent. fund," made to the Commissioners of the Southern Rail Road, in accordance with the provisions of "an act to extend the Rail Road eastwardly beyond Jackson."

To some extent, the same remarks will apply to the receipts and disbursements during 1849, as may be seen on reference to the foregoing statement, notwithstanding, the receipts are much greater and the disbursements much less than they were the preceding year.

The Auditor reports the total debit against the Treasury department during the year 1848, to be.....$401,086 99
whereas the foregoing exhibit gives the receipts at.....390,993 48 and thus making a difference in the two reports of $10,093 51.

In explanation of this apparent discrepancy between the two reports, it is necessary to remark, that receipt warrant No. 106, issued November 29th, 1848, in favor of the then Attorney General for $11,023 51, on account of the "town lot fund," payable in Mississippi Union Bank notes, by virtue of "an act for the relief of David Shelton," approved February 4, 1841, I declined receiving, not feeling authorized to take such money, as provided for in said act; hence that amount does not appear in my report of receipts at the Treasury. And receipt warrant No. 90, issued on the 28th day of January, 1843, in favor of Thomas H. Marble, late tax collector of Jefferson county, for $930 00, on account of the State tax of said county, for the year 1838, payable in notes of the Mississippi Rail Road Company, was received into the Treasury June 19th, 1848; and consequently does not appear among the present Auditor's issue of receipt warrants. By adding the former amount to, and deducting the latter from my report of receipts during that year, the two reports of receipts into the Treasury will precisely balance.

The above last named amount of $930 00, in notes of the Mississippi Rail Road Company, was unavailable funds, as before referred to in this report. This amount with $62,985 00 more, (Post notes bearing interest of the same bank received by me of the late Treasurer,) by and with the advice and consent of the late Attorney General, was placed in the hands of L. V. Dixon, Esq., Commissioner in Chancery in the case of the Attorney General in behalf of the State against the Mississippi Rail Road Company; upon which amount a dividend is expected soon to be awarded.

Reports from the Auditor made monthly to the Treasurer, and filed in this office, show the disbursements to have been $344,717 18 for 1848; that is, the total amount of pay warrants issued during that year. Of that amount of issues $339,425 51 was paid at the Treasury during the year, leaving a balance of $5,291 67 unredeemed of that year's issue, on the first of January, 1849. But the total disbursements at the Treasury during that year, amounted to $398,748 11, being $59,322 60 more than the disbursements on account of the issue of pay warrants for 1848. The "Funded Debt," made payable without the Auditor's warrant, consumed $34,436 55½ of that amount; and $12,090 00 was in the bonds and coupons of the Planters' Bank, sold on account of the State of Mississippi, and made receivable by the State Commissioner for debts due the "Sinking fund;" the residue amounting to $12,796 04½ was disbursed in taking up pay warrants of the issues of previous years.

The monthly reports from the Auditor during 1849, show the total amount of pay warrants issued that year, to be $270,823 38; whereas the total amount redeemed at the Treasury, of these warrants was $265,642 64, leaving $5,180 74 of them still outstanding on the 1st of January, 1850. But it will be seen that the total disbursements of 1849 amounted to $317,428 37, being $51,786 23 more than was paid on account of pay warrants issued during that year. The Planters' Bank bonds and coupons consumed $42,636 00 of that amount; disbursed for pay warrants of previous years $5,630 29; and the remainder, amounting to $3,519 94, was expended towards liquidating the unredeemed "Funded Debt."

During the present year, it is supposed the expenditures and disbursements for the ordinary expenses of State Government and other purposes, cannot prove as heavy as they were during either of the two preceding years, inasmuch as there is less of "Funded Debt" outstanding, and fewer of the Auditor's pay warrants unredeemed.

From an examination of the "Disbursement Books," and the "Statement Book of Funded Debt," in the Treasury office—the only reliable sources from which evidence can be obtained of old warrants still unpaid—the total amount of the "Funded Debt" unredeemed is estimated at $10,163 29, including interest, calculated to the 28th of February, 1848, when it ceased to accrue; and the outstanding pay warrants, of former years issues, amount to $21,256 35, as exhibited by said books, on the 1st day of January, 1850.

Most probably the precise amount of the State's liabilities on State warrants unredeemed, of both funded and unfunded, cannot be accurately ascertained. Many are of long standing—running more than ten years back; some may have been taken up and not entered upon the books referred to; and it is fair to presume that a considerable amount has been lost or destroyed, and will never be presented at the Treasury for payment.

Specific information, relative to any particular fund will be cheerfully and promptly furnished whenever called for, so far as the data in this office will enable.

All of which is most respectfully submitted by your obedient serv't, RICHARD GRIFFITH, State Treasurer.

REPORT

OF THE STATE COMMISSIONER.

JACKSON, Jan. 1st, 1850.

*To His Excellency J. W. Matthews,
Governor of the State of Mississippi:*

In obedience to the requisitions of the act appointing a State Commissioner, and the several acts amendatory thereto, I have the honor to submit the following report :

SINKING FUND.

Since the 7th of March, 1848, the day I entered upon the duties of this office, there has been paid into the State Treasury on account of the Sinking Fund, thirty-two thousand nine hundred and sixty-four dollars in bonds and coupons of the Planters' Bank. There is, also, a further sum of three hundred dollars, in coupons, in my hands, which were received by me as per agreement of my predecessor, from Mr. Dougherty of Hinds county. A question as to amount of interest due from Dougherty to the Sinking Fund had arisen, and the matter had been referred to A. Hutchinson, Esq., for arbitrament. These coupons had been cut from a bond paid into the treasury, and were placed in the hands of a third person, subject to the arbitration. Since then, the case has been decided in favor of the Fund, and the coupons paid over to me. The Treasurer cannot receive them, being prohibited by the act of 4th of March, 1848, from receiving any coupon unless it is actually cut by himself from the bond. I would respectfully suggest that the Legislature so amend this act as to provide for this and similar cases. There are other coupons which have been tendered me, which have been cut from the bond, when the same was paid into the treasury, which ought to be received.

Suits have been commenced both in the Chancery and Circuit courts for all debts which were believed could be collected, and from which I am advised a much larger amount will be realized than in any former year.

Soon after my appointment, I visited the counties of Carroll, Yalobusha, Tallahatchie, Coahoma, Bolivar and Copiah, to ascertain the condition and quality of the lands purchased for the Sinking Fund by my predecessor, large amounts of which I found had been transferred to bona fide purchasers, more than four years before the date of the judgment under which the State acquired them. I have procured, at great trouble and expense to myself, transcripts of all adverse titles, and from Washington city a transcript showing the name of the original patentee for each tract. The result of these investigations convinced me that the State's title thus acquired was, at least, to a large portion of said land, worthless. Viewing the matter in this light, I have, with the approbation of the Governor and Attorney General, agreed upon the terms of a compromise with R. J. Walker, Esq., (from whom most of the lands were obtained,) by which he is to pay to the Sinking Fund the amount originally borrowed, both for himself and as security of E. G. Howell, amounting in the whole to fifteen thousand five hundred dollars. This arrangement, it is believed, will meet the approbation of the Legislature. Other compromises have been effected with parties notoriously insolvent, by which about three thousand five hundred acres of land of fair quality and undisputed title has been acquired, worth about ten thousand dollars.

The whole amount due the Sinking Fund, principal and interest, up to the 1st of January, 1850, is seven hundred and five thousand eight hundred and forty-five dollars and twenty-six cents. A very large proportion is desperate, and can only be arranged by liberal compromises.

SEMINARY FUND.

The available balance of the Seminary Fund consists in good judgments to the amount of about eleven thousand five hundred dollars, in progress of collection. About two thousand acres of land, say worth about eighteen thousand dollars, and rents now due, and which will be paid in a few days, of seven hundred and sixty dollars, and rents to fall due, nine hundred and sixty dollars, making thirty-one thousand two hundred and twenty dollars; (this is exclusive of over six thousand dollars enjoined in my hands by Geo. Work,) all of which is good, and will be collected as soon as the tardy course of the law will permit. Amount paid into the treasury on this Fund, three hundred and seventy-one dollars and eighty-five cents.

TOWN LOT FUND.

It is impossible to state with any degree of accuracy, what amount is yet due and outstanding on account of the Town Lot Fund, as bills in Chancery are pending to enforce the lien of the State for balances due on certain lots; the amount that will be realised is therefore uncertain. I have two judgments, amounting in the aggregate to about nine thousand dollars, which were to have been paid in time to include in this report, but have not; they will be paid during this winter, as the parties are perfectly solvent. I would estimate the probable amount yet due and available to this fund, to be about sixteen or seventeen thousand dollars.

By reference to the accompanying statement of accounts marked "A," it will be seen that the whole amount collected by me from all sources, is thirty-six thousand five hundred and thirty-four dollars and thirty-six cents; whole amount paid into the treasury, is thirty-three thousand three hundred and thirty-five dollars and eighty-five cents; and amount paid out for costs, attorneys' fees, taxes and salary, four thousand three hundred forty-six dollars and seventy-two cents; making total and of credits, thirty-seven thousand six hundred and eighty-three dollars and eleven cents.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

SAML. MATTHEWS,
State Commissioner.

NOTE—Since the date of the foregoing report, I have received and paid into the treasury, on account of the Sinking Fund, three thousand one hundred and thirty dollars, and received about one thousand seven hundred dollars in drafts, &c., on New Orleans, the proceeds of which have not been realised.

PENITENTIARY REPORT.

MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY,
Clerk's Office, Dec. 13, 1849.

*To his Excellency, Joseph W. Matthews,
Governor of the State of Mississippi:*

SIR: The statutory law makes it the duty of the Superintendent and Physician to make their annual reports to the Board of Inspectors, on the second Monday in December, and further requires, that the Inspectors make a full statement of the transactions of the institution for the year, to the Governor, on the same day; thus it will be seen that the law requires an impossibility. The labors of my office have continued to increase from year to year, and the annual reports and accounts at this time, being of much greater length than usual, it has been out of my power to present them to your Excellency at an earlier day.

The statements required by law to be sworn to, have been prepared and filed in the Auditor's office.

I have the honor to be, with high regard,
Your obedient servant,
D. N. BARROWS, Clerk.

INSPECTORS' OFFICE, MISS. PENITENTIARY,
Jackson, Dec. 10, 1849.

*To his Excellency, Joseph W. Matthews,
Governor of the State of Mississippi:*

SIR: With the close of our fiscal year, it again becomes our duty to report to you the present state of the prison. We the more cheerfully comply with this requisition, inasmuch as we are justified in stating, that the institution is in a good and rapidly improving condition. Accompanying this, you will receive the reports of the Superintendent and Physician, together with such documents and tabular statements prepared by the Clerk, as are necessary to furnish you, specifically, the operations of the past year, and to which your attention is most respectfully invited. These being so full, it will only be necessary for us barely to touch upon most of the points presented.

In relation to the manufacture of coarse cotton and woollen goods, to profit, by the convicts, we would say, it no longer remains an experiment. While in the minds of many, the introduction of this kind of labor into the prison with success, was regarded as problematical; and while the operations of one year left little doubt on the minds of your board, of ultimate success, the past year has most satisfactorily and clearly proven to all, that the experiment has eminently succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine anticipations; and we do not now hesitate to recommend and urge the necessary provision to direct the labor of all the convicts in the prison to this department, except a few, such as are necessary to be retained in the shops.

Although serious obstacles have interposed during the past year in the manufactory, in the limited amount of machinery, and the great need of increased power to drive even what we now have, yet, the profits of this department show to decided advantage, when contrasted with the earnings of the other branches of labor.

The ready sales, for cash, of osnaburgs, cotton yarns, &c., and the steadily increasing demand, far beyond the ability to supply, prove clearly, that it would be politic and wise in the Legislature, to appropriate an amount sufficient, at least, to double the present stock of machinery, and for the purchase of suitable power to drive it.

There remains no doubt in the minds of your board, if this course were adopted, but that the Penitentiary would, in a reasonable time, pay back into the treasury, the full amount of the appropriation, and thenceforward become tributary to the State, instead of an expense as heretofore.

In our last report, we alluded to the bill which passed both branches of the Legislature, unanimously, appropriating one thousand dollars for the purchase of machinery, and providing for the erection of a house for the Superintendent, but which, by some means, was overlooked, and failed to receive the signatures of the proper officers. We would beg respectfully to call your attention to our remarks in that report, adding simply, that both were imperiously demanded; and as the bill contemplated both, it was deemed advisable to carry out the whole provisions of the law.

That portion of the main building occupied by the Superintendent as a residence, but originally intended for a hospital for the sick convicts, was required for that purpose, during the prevalence of a disease of an epidemic character, which broke out among the convicts in the month of July of last year.

It was the opinion of the Physician, that unless provision was made for them in large and airy rooms, the disease would not only terminate fatally with a large number of the sick, but that the contagion would spread throughout the whole prison.

Since our last report, the board have been informed, that in the original plan of the building, it was not designed by the architect, and those directing the construction, that this portion of it should be occupied as a residence, and for some time past we have had serious doubts as to the propriety of appropriating it to this use.

This formed another urgent reason for the erection of a dwelling for the Superintendent, as suitable accommodations within the walls, could only be had by the Superintendent vacating the rooms so occupied by him.

Again ; in order to render the previous investments in machinery profitable, it became absolutely necessary to add at least the amount appropriated in the bill alluded to. It will be seen, however, by reference to the Superintendent's report, that we have greatly exceeded the amount, in this particular, (because of expediency and necessity) besides erecting a suitable residence for the Superintendent, out of the means of the Penitentiary, and without additional drafts upon the treasury ; and we feel assured that the results which the purchase of machinery show, and the addition of valuable and necessary property to the State, will meet the hearty approval of your Excellency and the Legislature.

Regarding the suggestion of the Superintendent in relation to the appointment of a salesman, as a very important one, without further argument, we respectfully commend it to your attention. We will express the same sentiment in regard to the construction of at least ten large cells for the purposes designed, and if thought necessary, could add many strong and cogent arguments in favor of such an arrangement. Your Excellency is doubtless aware of the experience of other and older prisons on this subject, which experience corresponds with ours, and we therefore leave the matter, thus barely alluding to it.

In relation to the re-establishment of the office of Chaplain, or "Moral Instructor," as recommended by the Superintendent, we cannot refrain from saying a few words.

The legitimate object of punishment, is the prevention of crime; and surely no means will so well accomplish this end, as the moral reformation of the delinquent. Among the inmates of our prison, is found almost every variety of character and degree of criminality, from the comparatively innocent youth, detected, perhaps, in his first transgression of the law, to the depraved wretch who has grown gray in the ways of wickedness. Among these, there are doubtless some for whom even the most benevolent can have but little hope ; yet, on the other hand, there are many, who have not advanced so far in the ways of transgression, as to be beyond the reach of moral influence. We think the religious and moral instruction of our State prisoners, is a matter which has, perhaps, been too much overlooked by the State. Though these unfortunate beings have forfeited their rights as members of society, still, they have claims upon their fellow beings, the force of which must be felt by every wise statesman, and every intelligent philanthropist, who will reflect a moment on the subject.

Not alone does humanity require that the stern punishment which justice inflicts upon transgressors, should be mingled with the mild teachings of moral instruction; the interests of society also require it; for, very soon many of these delinquents, having suffered their appointed punishment, will be turned loose upon the world, perhaps again to prey upon society; for if chastisement prove not salutary, it will most assuredly have the contrary effect. We would therefore concur with the Superintendent in recommending the re-establishment of the Chaplain's office, and the appointment of a suitable person to fill it, whose duty shall be to labor at all times, by every means in his power, for the moral improvement of the prisoners. And in connection with this, we would not lose sight of the procurement of a suitable library for the use of the convicts. We think the means proposed would indeed be productive of happy results.

The well attested experience of other and older prisons in our country, is that the labors of this office, independent of its influence upon future character, tends greatly to promote subordination and obedience to the rules of the prison; and we do esteem it especially the duty of the State to provide for the moral well being of those who are so directly under her charge: and we doubt not that every intelligent statesman will admit the truth and force of our remarks.

We therefore sincerely trust that every means which a well directed spirit of humanity can devise, may be used to induce our unfortunate fellow beings, who have been guilty of a violation of the law, to return to the paths of rectitude and honor.

Before closing this subject, your board would unite with the Superintendent in expressions of gratitude to the clergy of Jackson, who have so kindly ministered to the moral and spiritual wants of the prisoners.

By reference to the Physician's report, it will be seen that general good health has prevailed among the prisoners during the past year. This is attributable to the faithfulness and skill with which he has discharged his duty, by promptly arresting disease in its incipency, and the scrupulous cleanliness observed by the Superintendent in the cells and prison grounds. The removal of decayed timbers from the cells on the ground floor, and the substitution of brick floors; the periodic whitewashing kept up during the past year, together with comfortable clothing and great care in the provision of wholesome and substantial food, have all, no doubt, contributed much to the health of the prison.

In conclusion, we cannot but express our most hearty and entire approbation of the course pursued by the Superintendent during his administration, and our unwavering confidence in his qualifications and ability to fill the onerous duties of his office.

The laborious duties of the Clerk's office have been conducted with skill and ability by Mr. D. N. Barrows. The neatness and accuracy of the books and accounts under his charge command our highest admiration.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. CARPENTER,	} Inspectors.
CHARLES SCOTT,
G. C. SMITH,

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, MISS. PENITENTIARY,
December 1st, 1849.

To the Board of Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary :

GENTLEMEN: The time has again arrived, when it becomes my duty to present to you my annual report as Superintendent of the State Penitentiary, showing in detail the condition of this department of the State Government.

We have great reason to express our unfeigned gratitude to our kind Benefactor for the unexampled health we have enjoyed during the past year. Whilst other communities and other prisons have been severely scourged with disease and death, we have enjoyed almost uninterrupted health since our last report.

We have but one death to record during the past year, and that was an old man, nearly seventy years of age, whose constitution was broken down before he came here as a prisoner.

During the past year the prisoners have conducted themselves well, generally speaking. They have been obedient and respectful to their officers and the rules of the institution. We have had but few cases calling for severe punishment, a simple reprimand generally being sufficient to correct any neglect of duty, or violation of the rules of the prison.

Whilst this is the general character of the prisoners, yet we have a small number, that require a different mode of treatment; and in this connection, and for the special benefit of such, I would recommend the erection of ten large cells of sufficient size to admit of one man to labor in each cell. Any one can readily imagine that among such a large number of criminals, there will be some who are turbulent, hard to control and disposed to excite acts of rebellion and insubordination; such characters should never be allowed to have intercourse with the other prisoners, or the privilege of the yard. Solitary confinement and appropriate punishment, when necessary to enforce labor, would be the proper disposition to make of such cases. As our code of discipline for the government of the prison now stands, it is altogether inadequate to maintain good order from such prisoners, and a ready obedience by them to the rules and regulations of the prison.

I would recommend the re-establishment of the Chaplain's office. Reformation is one of the prominent objects of Penitentiary punishment. The forlorn condition of the prisoner seems to invite advice and wholesome counsel. Shut out from family and friends, and all the allurements and temptations of the world, and closely confined in prison, it seems to me that the labors of a wise, faithful and godly man, would be the most probable way by which that reformation could be effected; many of them are emphatically "sick and in prison, and truly need the consolations which the administrations of a devotedly pious gospel minister affords; he should be a man who could and would devote much of his time during the week, and the whole of the Sabbath to their religious instruction.

There should be a well selected library provided for the use of the prison; we have been entirely dependent upon a few benevolent individuals and religious societies for all the reading matter and religious instruction that has been furnished during my term of office; and we are under many lasting obligations to the clergy of the city of Jackson for the very kind attention they have given the prison. This, however, does not remove the obligation which rests upon the State to make provision for the moral instruction of the prisoners. The Penitentiary is a State institution, and upon the State the responsibility rests, and by the State, provision should be made for their religious instruction. Whilst it is a place of punishment, it is nevertheless the duty of a christian people to alleviate the sufferings and elevate the mental condition of their unfortunate fellow beings.

The experiment of manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods by convict labor, has been fairly tested during the past year, and I am fully satisfied that it is the most profitable employment that they can be engaged in, as may be seen by reference to the tables showing the results of the different branches of business carried on in the Penitentiary

Though we have had to contend with many difficulties in the manufacturing department, yet it shows, a much larger profit than any other business, according to the number of hands employed. The total cash receipts this year have increased $6,120 68 over the cash receipts of last year; the most of this increase may be attributed to the cotton and wool manufacturing business. One of the great advantages of this business is, the ready sale we find, and the increasing demand for our linseys, osnaburgs and cotton yarns. I would, therefore, respectfully suggest that a sufficient amount of machinery be purchased to give employment to all the convicts, together with an engine of sufficient power. The engine we now have is too small for our purposes. Our operations this year have been cramped and affected at least twenty per cent. for the want of an engine of sufficient power.

We have a large amount of manufactured articles on hand, which have been accumulating for years before I took charge of the institution, and which are depreciating in value every year. I would urge the propriety of selling all such articles at public auction, and appropriating the proceeds to the purchase of machinery, which can be actively employed and rendered profitable ; but as it now stands, those articles are becoming less valuable every year.

I would respectfully suggest, that an office of Salesman be created, and an officer appointed, whose duty it shall be to take an account of all raw materials brought into the institution ; take an account of all articles manufactured for sale, enter them in an invoice book, when made and received by him for sale, and when any of such articles shall be sold, he shall issue his receipt warrant to the Superintendent to receive the amount of such sale. The Superintendent shall acknowledge the receipt of said amount to the salesman, and at the monthly settlements of the Superintendent with the Inspectors, the invoice book and the receipt warrants in the hands of the Superintendent shall be the data of such settlements.

I would also respectfully suggest, that two commissioners be appointed, whose duty it shall be, associated with the Superintendent, to value all the work done by the convicts for the State ; estimate all the repairs and improvements made for the State ; take an inventory of all the manufactured articles on hand, and all the stock in raw material, and make a true return upon oath that they have well and truly performed the duty of their office.

My reasons for this are : First, that the proper authorities and the public may know precisely the condition of the institution ; and secondly, to prevent any misrepresentation from going abroad unjustly to the prejudice of its officers. Under the present arrangement, for want of some such definite and authoritative decision, independent of the Superintendent, many unfounded reports have gained currency.

For example, it has been brought to my notice that such reports as the following were abroad, viz : "That the Superintendent and other officers have it in their power to so arrange their reports as to show that the Penitentiary was a source of profit to the State, when in fact it was a burden, and losing large amounts. Again : that the Penitentiary has been in the habit of charging double rates for all work done for the State, and adding in the same proportion to the value of all manufactured articles and raw material on hand as rendered in the inventory. The force of these recommendations seem obvious, and founded in justice to the officers of the institution, as well as good policy towards the State. It is of the highest importance to the State, that her interests should be protected from imposition by laws adequate for that purpose ; and it is but just, that her faithful public servants should be placed in a position upon her public records to shield them from the rash and malicious imputations of the suspicious and malevolent ; whilst it is equally important that the State should have adequate means of easily and promptly holding an unfaithful or delinquent public officer to a rigid accountability.

Public confidence is one main element of success in all branches of government, and to ensure this, the organic relations of each branch must not only be right in itself and correctly administered, but its connection with other branches of the system must be such as to express its true character and administration, and to hold it in due obedience and control.

Such a system of checks and balances lies at the foundation of our system, and of all correctly administered systems of government, and I feel that I cannot too earnestly press the adoption of the measures above set forth, or some similar in character to them.

Much of the dissatisfaction and misunderstanding in regard to the Penitentiary grows out of the want of a proper system of accounts between her and the treasury of the State. A single transaction will suffice to illustrate : Last year we drew ten thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine 50-100 dollars from the treasury ; this stands as a charge on the treasurer's books against us, while we have no credit for $2729 99-100 paid for new machinery ; four thousand dollars worth of brick made for the Lunatic Asylum, and four thousand dollars worth of material and work in a house built for the Superintendent, and sundry charges for repairs and improvements on the State prison, the property of the State ; thus exhibiting the Penitentiary a charge upon the books of the treasurer to a large amount, without the credit of a cent !—though upon correct principles of accounting, the State would be indebted to the Penitentiary to a very considerable amount ; for it is very plain, that if the State had large and expensive public improvements done by others, she would pay the money from her treasury ; and it is equally plain, if the convicts were not at work for the State, they would be at work for individuals, for which the cash would be received.

We made nine hundred thousand brick for the Lunatic Asylum during the last summer ; our operations in brick making were very much interrupted by the unusual quantity of rain that fell in the months of May, June and July.

It will appear by reference to the tables of this report, that a large number of prisoners have been pardoned by the Governor during the past year ; a very large majority of these pardons have been granted only one or two days before the expiration of their sentence ; this has been done on account of the good conduct of the prisoner for the purpose of re-instating him to the privileges of citizenship, the officers of the institution entertaining strong hopes in all such cases, of reformation.

Mr. Barrows, our faithful and efficient Clerk, and Dr. Langley, our Physician, have been so long connected with the institution, and have been so frequently and favorably alluded to in the reports of other Superintendents, that I presume I can say nothing on the present occasion which will add to the high opinion already so generally entertained of them.

In my last report, I called your attention to the unsafe condition of the main Penitentiary building. I would urge the necessity of immediately attending to that part of the building which is so badly broken.

The absolute necessity of a good fire engine belonging to the prison is so evident, that it will certainly command your attention in your recommendations to the Governor.

In reviewing the history of this institution for the last two years, during the most of which time the present Board of Inspectors have been the advisory body, I am exceedingly gratified that it is in my power to say to you gentlemen, that the institution is in a highly prosperous condition, and much of that prosperity may be attributed to the faithful manner in which you have discharged your duties as Inspectors. It is known to you that we have had many difficulties to contend with during the past year, and whilst they have required the exercise of sound discretion, they have all been disposed of without serious detriment to the institution.

JOSEPH MOSELEY, Superintendent.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

JACKSON, Dec. 10, 1849.

To the Board of Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary :

Gentlemen—The health of the prisoners has been generally good throughout the year. No epidemic has prevailed among them, and the number of acute cases has been comparatively few and easily managed. There are at this time, a few chronic cases under treatment; with this exception, the prison is entirely free from disease.

It is but justice to the Superintendent to say, I attribute this immunity from disease, in a great degree, to the attention which he has given to the personal cleanliness of the prisoners; to the wholesome and well prepared food with which they have been supplied, and to the zeal and faithfulness with which he has carried out such sanatory regulations as I felt it my duty, from time to time, to suggest.

Only one death has occurred in the prison during the year. The subject was an old man, who had long been laboring under chronic diarrhoea, and who having indulged in some impropriety in diet, was seized a short time after with cholera morbus, of which he died in a few hours.

It is a matter worthy of note, that whilst there has been, in the last twelve months, an unusual fatality amongst the citizens of Jackson, but one death has occurred in the prison during a period of more than seventeen months. It is doubtful, I think, whether any prison in the Union, inhabited by a like number of persons, can present as clean a bill of mortality, extending over the same period of time.

Very respectfully,

WM. S. LANGLEY.

GENERAL STATEMENT of the Convicts in the Mississippi Penitentiary, November 30, 1849.

REPORT.

To His Excellency, Joseph W. Matthews,

Governor of the State of Mississippi :

In obedience to an act of the Legislature, approved 4th March, 1848, entitled "an act to establish a Lunatic Asylum in the State of Mississippi," the undersigned, Commissioners appointed in pursuance of said act, proceeded to the discharge of their duties, by the selection and procurement of a suitable place for the erection of a Lunatic Asylum, about one and a half miles north of the city of Jackson, combining, as they believe, more advantages for the purposes intended, than any other spot that could have been selected within a reasonable distance of the Capitol. The experience of the last fifty years has demonstrated that Hospitals for the insane, when intended as curative establishments, should be located in situations combining the advantages of health, retirement, as far as is practicable, from the excitements connected with business; and with sufficient space for gardens and grounds in which the unfortunate inmates may be as seldom reminded as possible, of the restraints necessary to be imposed upon them, and may find that healthful exercise and pleasurable recreation which are considered necessary in all well regulated institutions of this character for the comfort of the patients, and the restoration of their mental faculties. Having examined, with much care, the locations of the principal Insane Hospitals in the United States, under the superintendence of the most eminent medical men, who have given their whole lives to the study and practice of this particular branch of their profession, the Commissioners proceeded to dispose of lot No. 6 north, in the city of Jackson, which was donated by the Legislature for this purpose, and in lieu thereof, purchased one hundred and forty acres of land, situated as before described, and admirably adapted to the purposes intended, upon which they have proceeded to erect the Asylum. The proceeds of lot No. 6, which, after proper notice, was sold to the highest bidder at public sale, amounted to the sum of seven hundred dollars, and the land purchased in lieu thereof, amounted to the sum of seventeen hundred and fifty dollars, which was paid, and the title properly secured to the State. The plans and estimates of the building furnished by the Architect, as well as the progress made in the erection of the same, will be found in the statement herewith appended, marked A, as well as the estimates made by the Architect for the sum that will be necessary to complete it, according to its original design. To this must be added the sum of ——— dollars, for the purchase of furniture, fixtures and ordinary appliances for the safe keeping and comfortable accommodations of its inmates, after which, it is believed, that it will not be incumbent on the State to make any further appropriation for the support and maintenance of the Institution. The various descriptions of work, necessary in the erection of the building, were let out to the lowest bidder, security being taken in all cases for the faithful performance of the contract, which contracts are herewith appended, marked B and C, and are believed to be as reasonable as any that have been made for similar work in this part of the State; and the sums of money drawn from the Treasury under the act before referred to, as well as the manner in which they have been appropriated, will be found in statement D, herewith annexed.

The undersigned would here close this report, and leave to the enlightened humanity of the Legislature the pleasing duty of making the necessary appropriations for the safety and relief of this most unfortunate class of their fellow-citizens, whose appeals for assistance are made in the eloquence of suffering and silence, but for the misrepresentations that have gone abroad, and the false impressions that have been created upon this subject by the ignorant or designing.

When the attention of the undersigned was first called to this subject by their appointment to act as Commissioners, they felt it to be their duty to lay the foundation of such a structure as would be in some degree commensurate with the necessities of the people of the State, and in accordance with the spirit of liberality which dictated to the Legislature the necessity of making some provision for the safe keeping and restoration of the insane, within its borders.

To have completed and furnished a building ready for the reception of patients, with the means appropriated by the Legislature, would have been an utter waste of the fund appropriated; it would neither have met the expectations of the people, have been compatible with the dignity of the State, or at all compared with other public improvements dictated by the correct taste, and public spirit of the peoples' representatives. The insane in the State of Mississippi, according to the census of 1840, amounted 198, and when it is remembered that great delicacy exists upon this subject, and a strong disinclination on the part of friends and relatives to report a "loved one" as falling within this class, we may safely estimate that at least one-half the number were overlooked. The proportion of the insane in the United States, as compared to the whole population, amounts to 1 in 997, which, in a population estimated now to amount to at least 450,000, would make at least 450 in the State of Missisissippi; and when it is remembered that the history of the world has proven that insanity exists to a much greater extent, in all countries where speculation exists, where fortunes are suddenly acquired, and suddenly lost, where commercial enterprise, and a constant strain upon the mind in the acquisition of money, tend to impair or break asunder the cords that bind up the human intellect, we may fairly set down our own State as being entitled to rather more than her fair proportion in this mournful ratio. From a memorial recently presented to the Legislature of the State of Alabama, (by one who has taken much pains to obtain correct information upon this subject; one who has spent a life time in visiting Prisons, Alms-houses and Asylums, and whose memory will be consecrated in the hearts of the American people for all time to come, for efforts unparalleled in behalf of this unfortunate class of society,) we learn that the insane in that State, amount to 600, and making the proper allowance for the difference of population, we may safely estimate the number of the insane in our own State at 500. Many of these unfortunate beings have been sent to other States, where the enlightened humanity of the Legislators has made provision for such sufferers. Many have returned from these Hospitals entirely cured, and been thereby restored to their friends and society. Many, (from the crowded state of foreign Hospitals,) have been denied admission and were forced to return, and having been deprived of the restorative treatment which a well conducted Hospital only affords until their disease assumed a chronic form, they have been doomed to pass the residue of their lives under the dark cloud in which disease and misfortune have enveloped them. Some are wandering through the country, from the inability of their friends to restrain them—endangering the safety of individuals and neighborhoods—others are subjected to such restraints as family and friends impose—some, in the hands of unfeeling strangers, are familiar with the chain and ring, the stern rebuke, and not unfrequently the lash, while many others are the inmates of Prisons, and the associates of Felons, breathing the poisoned odors of the dungeon, and denied the blessings of any other light than the struggling rays that wander through iron grates, and this not for crime committed, or even meditated, but for the misfortune of being insane.

To provide for this class of unfortunate beings; to bring within the reach of curative means all such as might be restored by proper medical treatment, united to kind and sympathising attentions, and to provide a safe and comfortable retreat for the incurables, where the residue of their lives might be passed in a way to prevent them from injuring themselves, or others; and as free from personal restraints as would be consistent with a due regard for their safety, seemed to be the object of the Legislature, influenced by the dictates of an expansive charity, and in accordance with the benevolent enterprise of the age. While, in every free country,

Legislative interposition is demanded, taxes imposed, and large sums appropriated, in order to enlighten the human mind by the establishment of schools, colleges and academies, in which the minds of the rising generation are trained to knowledge and virtue, and the means of education are placed within the reach of all; which it has become the boast of our State, that by our system of free schools we are training up the infant minds of the country to become the safe depositories of our free institutions; and while an enlightened constituency cheerfully submit to the imposition of taxes for this purpose, shall it be said that a large class of our population, who, under the heavy hand of affliction, or the reverses of fortune, have been deprived of their reason, shall be denied the blessings of restoration to society and usefulness, and be doomed to remain tenants of the dark Prison house of insanity, bereft of that consciousness which endears man to his existence, and forever cut off from the hopes of this world or the world to come; or shall the poor maniac, deprived of friends to watch over and guard him, wandering in destitution and want, find no public sympathy to provide him a better home than the county jail, and no better treatment than that which falls to the lot of felons? Religion, humanity, public spirit and State pride alike forbid it.

It has been, comparatively speaking, but a few years since the subject of insanity, and the peculiar treatment necessary for the restoration of reason, has engaged the public attention, and received from the hands of Religion, Philosophy and Scientific Analysis, a remedial treatment, commensurate with its necessities. The insane were everywhere considered as an outcast species, upon whom the anger of Deity had set the black mark of reprobation, and whose existence was not only deplored, but only tolerated by claims to humanity, too urgent to be wholly disregarded. The simple and harmless monomaniac with his disordered fancies, who, by proper medical treatment, united to the soothing appliances of friendship, might have been speedily restored to the full exercise of his mental faculties, was left to the vagaries of his own bewildered imagination until the disease became chronic in its character, and the light of reason wholly extinguished; and having, as it was then thought, become a fit subject, he was consigned to the rags and filth of the Almshouse, committed to the care of some drivelling crone, herself insane, and there, without friends or sympathy, cut off from the world and lost to hope, they were destined to pass the long and dreamless night of insanity. If, however, their better condition in life admitted of it, they were sent to the mad-house, where every species of bodily restraint was imposed upon them, where chains and dungeons were considered as the only means of security, and the whip the only instrument to procure submission; and there shut out from the world in gloom, in darkness and in filth, were those unfortunate wretches doomed to wear out the remainder of their lives, forgotten and uncared for by the world, suffering for the want of medical assistance, and, above all, for the soothing consolations of friendship.

France, always first in testing the results of philosophical investigation, gave the powers of her mighty intellects to the great work, and amidst the fires of her first revolution sent forth the great Pinel to demonstrate to the world, that insanity was not an incurable disease, and that retirement, kindness, sympathy and an absence from exciting causes were the sure assistants to medical treatment in restoring man to the image of his maker. This great Philosopher, armed with the public authority, and attended by one of its most distinguished functionaries, visited the mad-house near Paris, and at once commenced the work of liberation. The keepers fled in alarm, and even Coulton quailed, while Pinel toiled in drawing bolts, and knocking off chains, until at the expiration of a few hours, he was surrounded by fifty-three furious maniacs, that had long been the terror of their keepers, and the subjects of the most rigid and barbarous prison discipline, and in this crowd was found one who had been confined to one staple for forty years, and in the time, had destroyed one or more of his keepers. So far from doing Pinel an injury, they hailed him as their deliverer, and under the influence of his kind treatment, most of them were soon restored to health, to reason, and to society.

England at once took up the subject, and by the union of individual enterprise, and parliamentary enactment, magnificent Hospitals for the treatment of the insane were established in various parts of the kingdom. This subject has received increased attention at the hands of succeeding parliaments, until at the cost of many millions of pounds sterling, an insane Hospital under the charge of accomplished medical superintendents has been established in every county; and so much attention has been given to remedial treatment of the insane under the fostering care of the government, that it has been satisfactorily established that at least 80 per cent. of all the cases of recent occurrence that are submitted to Hospital treatment are speedily restored. Under the influence of this curative system, some of the most distinguished members of parliament, eminent Divines, and literary savans, have been brought back from their temporary aberrations, and again become the lights and ornaments of the age. An eminent medical superintendent of an institution of this character in Massachusetts, a few years ago, visited most of the insane Hospitals in Europe, and upon his return, testified to the increasing attention which this subject is engrossing on the other side of the Atlantic; as well as to the good order, systematic arrangement, humanity, and freedom from personal restraints, that characterise the management of these institutions.

Nor have the people of the United States been regardless of the claims of 22,000 lunatics, scattered over the whole country, and appealing to their sympathies in every form that suffering humanity can urge for assistance and relief. Most of the States of the Union have been in advance of us in demonstrating their regard for this unfortunate class of their fellow creatures by making some provision for their wants. And notwithstanding the provision made in almost every State for the safety and recovery of the insane by the erection of Hospitals, these institutions are so crowded with applicants for admittance, that so far from being able to accommodate the unfortunates of other States, they have been compelled, in many instances, to erect new Hospitals for the accommodation of their own citizens. New York, at a cost to the State of more than a million and a half of dollars, has erected and supported two, institutions capable of accommodating about one thousand patients. The city of New York has established a large Hospital for the insane poor of the city, at an enormous expense, and sufficient to provide for the wants of about six hundred. Besides these, there are two large Hospitals established by individual enterprise for the exclusive accommodation and treatment of the insane. And yet with these great facilities, New York is not yet provided with the means of properly caring for her insane population, and in a few years will doubtless build up another State Hospital for the insane, that will rival, if not surpass, her splendid "Bloomington Asylum," now the ornament of the city and the pride of the State.

Massachusetts has established her "McLean Asylum" at the cost of $250,000, and her Worcester Hospital for the insane at the cost of $155,000, besides private Hospitals of the same character; and all of these, under the superintendence of some of the most eminent medical men of the age, are dispensing the blessings annually to thousands.

Pennsylvania, for many years, had two Institutions of this character, but finding them insufficient to accommodate the whole of this class of her population, and influenced by the eminent success of Doctor Kirkbride in his treatment of the insane and his eloquent appeals in their behalf, has recently, at the cost of $325,000, established the "Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane," at the head of which, is placed that eminent medical Philanthropist, a monument alike of the Legislative wisdom of the State, as well as of the genius, philanthropy, and medical attainments of its present distinguished superintendent.

Virginia, as early as 1769, established a Lunatic Asylum at Williamsburg, but finding this insufficient to meet the wants of her population, has within the last few years, at the cost of $106,000, established another at Staunton, both of which are supported by annual appropriations made by the Legislature.

New Jersey has recently erected a Lunatic Hospital, at the cost of $153,000; Kentucky has two, and Tennessee has very recently appropriated $40,000, with which to commence the erection of a second Hospital of this character; while Maryland, Ohio, the Carolinas, Georgia, Louisiana, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and almost every other State in the Union, have made large and liberal appropriations, in order to meet the wants of this class of their population, whose claims are now being recognised by every civilised government on earth.

In view of these facts, so grateful to the feelings of the good and humane in every part of the world, may we not exclaim in the language of Dr. Bell, one of the most eminent and eloquent medical men of the age, that "in casting our eye over the great field of benevolence in which institutions for the benefit of the insane are engaged, the project is truly noble and encouraging. In our own land, new Institutions are arising, in which liberality, zeal and intelligence are combined, and emulously striving to surpass those already established in the wisdom of their provisions and the amount of their facilities; while those which have been long established are anxious to make continued progress, and to add to their means the experience of all countries. An enlightened humanity is providing proper care for the rejected insane of the lowest rank, in the intellectual and social scale; the personal exertions, and sacrifices of philanthropists of both sexes are felt in new impulses of private benevolence, and new enactments of Legislatures. The diminution of the deep-rooted, morbid prejudices respecting insanity, and of the unsound views of its nature which formerly prevailed, and its recognition as a physical malady involved in neither mystery or disgrace, mark this better era. Last, and perhaps not least, among the propitious circumstances attending the insane in our land, are the friendly co-operation and honorable confidence amongst those called to the direction of our public Institutions, manifested in their free communications with each other."

"In other countries, a new and energetic spirit seems to be awakened, which will not rest until ancient abuses are done away. In Great Britain, the aroused attention of the Imperial Parliament to this subject; the wise and thorough inspection exercised by the great commission of lunacy; the efforts to do away with personal restraints, and as a necessary concomitant, to elevate the class of those entrusted with the immediate care of the insane; the growing—perhaps decisive manifestations of an intelligent public sentiment against committing those bereft of reason into the hands of uninspected and interested private individuals, are all worthy of being observed as presages of a better day for the insane of that country, and furnishing poor communities with means of avoiding the wrongs and difficulties, which appear for ages to have surrounded that unfortunate class.

"Whilst so much has been done and is doing for the cause, the relief and the protection of the insane, may it not be hoped that the still more important subject of the prevention of the disease, may awaken more attention than appears yet to have been awarded to it? that a more careful and philosophical cultivation of the intellect, the moral powers and the affections, may guard the constitutionally predisposed, from those ill balanced conditions of mind, and mis-proportions of character, which so often precede positive alienation? and that the education of the feelings, the temper, and self-control of the young, may be so directed that physical disorder shall not so often find the reason ready for overthrow.”

Since the above was written, much has been done to test the efficacy of remedial treatment, not only in arresting the progress of insanity, but in restoring the patient permanently to the possession of his faculties, and it has been too clearly demonstrated to admit of any doubt whatever, that the treatment received in well regulated hospitals for the insane, is eminently curative in its character, and while it secures the individual from injuries inflicted upon himself, it gradually weans him away from his disordered fancies, and once more restores to him the empire of reason. The very worst cases of mania, if submitted to hospital treatment at an early stage of the disease, almost invariably give way to the remedies used, and the patient is sent back to the bosom of his family, again fitted to fill, and perhaps to adorn the station allotted to him in life, whereas a delay in seeking the proper remedies, or the excitement consequent upon a transportation to the hospital of a distant State, invariably aggravate the symptoms of the disease, and most generally leave the patient beyond the reach of recovery.

Impressed with these views, the commissioners believed that an asylum for the insane should not only be established under the authority, and by the patronage of the State, but that in its location and erection, it should be adapted to the wants, and just expectations of the people of Mississippi. The design of the building was adopted after a careful examination into the plans and recent improvements introduced into some of the principal hospitals of recent construction, and when the same shall have been completed according to its design, it will not be sufficiently extensive to accommodate more than one-half of the insane in this State, nor cost (as it is believed) one-half as much as any similar State institution in the Union. To have erected it upon a more extensive scale, would not, in the opinion of the commissioners, have been consistent with that due regard to economy which they felt it to be their duty to keep constantly in view, and to have curtailed it of its fair proportions, and to have omitted those appliances so absolutely essential to the safety and recovery of the afflicted, would neither have comported with the dignity of a State institution or have met the spirit of humanity, or just expectations of the Legislature that made the appropriation. Liberal allowances are made by all christian nations for the erection of hospitals where the poor and afflicted may find proper nourishment and medical assistance, and shall it be said in this enlightened age, that five hundred human beings afflicted with the worst of all human maladies (the loss of reason) shall hold up their hands and implore the Legislature in vain for protection and relief? It would be a libel upon the people's representatives to suppose this to be possible.

By an examination of the plan and estimates of the architect, herewith submitted, it will be seen that the sum of thousand dollars will yet have to be appropriated by the Legislature in order to complete the building according to design, and this might be made in two annual appropriations, giving the largest sum for the present year, in order to meet the heaviest expenditures which will accrue from the purchase of materials essential in the present condition of the building. By an appropriation of a less sum than this, the completion of the building, and the benefits intended to be conferred by it, must be procrastinated to some far distant day. To deny an appropriation, would be equivalent to an abandonment of the enterprise, and result in the loss of the materials already purchased, and the labor heretofore bestowed upon it; but if this is to be the final result, sound policy would dictate that it should be done now and further expenses saved to the State. But the commissioners will not permit themselves to believe for a moment, that such a state of feeling, or such contracted views could possibly exist in the minds of the representatives of the enlightened and highly intelligent people of Mississippi. Nor do they conceive it to be their duty to knock at the door of the Legislature and humbly implore relief for this suffering class of their fellow-citizens, when they remember with pride, that it is the character and temper of the times, for legislatures to seek for cases of suffering humanity, and by some general and adequate provision, bring relief to the distressed. Neither will it be considered necessary to enforce upon an assembly of educated, humane and liberal minded men, the necessity of making provision for those unhappy and destitute beings who, by a wise, though inscrutable dispensation of Providence, have been made subject to this awful calamity, and whose sufferings and helpless condition demand that they should receive an unusual share of sympathy. Nor need we remind the Legislature in the eloquent language of Lord Ashley, that while to-day they are sitting in deliberation as a set of reasoning men, to-morrow they may be as helpless as those poor creatures whose cause we are pleading. A fever, a sudden reverse, the loss of a dear friend, the loss of fortune, any one of these may in an instant reduce them to the level; their minds may become a wreck, and they remain a sad but salutary lesson of the frail tenure by which we hold all that which is most dear to us.

To the Commissioners for the State Lunatic Asylum :

GENTLEMEN: Herewith I hand you a report containing the information "requested," of the situation and progress of the different contracts on the Lunatic Asylum, previous to your reporting to the Legislature.

The contract for digging the foundations and cellar was made 7th November, A. D. 1848, with J. Spengler; was to have been completed by the 25th day of December, A. D. 1848, but owing to very rainy weather, it was not completed for some time afterwards; consequently, the brick contractors, Messrs. Parker, were unable to commence the brick work as soon as was intended; but as soon thereafter as the weather was favorable, they commenced and prosecuted their contract with vigor, as long as they had brick; and have been in readiness to finish their contract by the time named therein, viz: 1st December, A. D., 1849; but owing to an unusual season for brick making, this last summer, the Penitentiary was unable to furnish the brick in time for the bricklayers to complete their contract by the time required in said contract. A part of the brick were made, but not burned, in consequence of which, Messrs. Parker were compelled to take most of their hands from the building, and had to find employment for them at other places until the brick were ready. However, there was a portion of brick at the brick-yard and at the building, at the time Parkers were absent from the work with their hands, but they were not such brick as were fit to lay in the foundations of a heavy building, consequently I instructed Mr. Parker not to use them, nor any other than well burned brick, until the work was clearly above the surface of the ground; and in fact there ought to be no salmon brick used unless it were in the upper story; because salmon brick used when there is any disposition towards a settlement in any building, will split through fifty feet of plumb wall; and hard brick used with good cement, will generally overrule settlements, and each of the commissioners have had this pretty clearly demonstrated to them about Jackson.

The brick work has progressed far enough to be ready for one tier of joists, and I suppose there is about eight hundred thousand brick laid, (probably a little more) as I have not made an accurate measurement in consequence of the walls not being at any regular level, but as soon as the building is leveled all around, say ready for the joists, I will make a definite measurement. So far as it has progressed, it is creditable to the Messrs. Parker, and according to contract.

The iron furnished by G. W. Langley & Co., has not been yet used, and I preferred to leave it in their possession until the time it was to be used on the building, as the commissioners had no special agent to take charge of it until wanted, which will be at the level of the joists.

The carpenters' work of two tier of joists and two tier of window frames, which was contracted for by N. G. Grant, has been progressing. One tier of window frames for the cellar, has been placed upon the building, and the centre tier of joists upon the wings. I believe all the balance of the lumber to complete Mr. Grant's present contract is at the building, but as there was some detention about the brick, Mr. Grant does not finish his work faster than is necessary to keep out of the brick layers' way, although he has given no detention to the progress of the building in any way, and is ready, I believe, to complete his contract as fast as the building progresses to permit him.

Should the State prosecute this work to its completion, it will take two millions of brick to complete the present plans adopted by the commissioners; and I can say to the commissioners the contracts that they have made are as low as can possibly be made, and the work done is of the most substantial character.

If the building continues to progress, one of the first things necessarily wanted, will be cast iron registers of different sizes for the opening and shutting of the warming and ventilating flues, as they ought to be built into the walls as the walls go up.

I also hand you the plans of the building, for your use or that of the Legislature.

If the commissioners ask the Legislature for an appropriation to complete the building begun, it will take fifty thousand dollars, to complete them.

Respectfully submitted:

WM. GIBBONS,
Architect for Lunatic Asylum.

[EXHIBIT B.]

This contract made and entered into this day, between A. G. Grant of the party of the first part, W. S. Langley, H. Hilzheim and Wm. Morris, commissioners of the State of Mississippi, of the party of the second part, to-wit: The party of the first part agrees to do all the work that is required in the annexed specifications, for carpenters' work in building a Lunatic Asylum for the State of Mississippi, as well as finding all the lumber and hauling, together with nails, &c., &c., that the specifications required to fully complete the same in accordance with the aforesaid specifications, and to the satisfaction of the architect of the Asylum. For, and in consideration of which, the party of the second part, agrees to pay, or cause to be paid, to the party of the first part, the prices as are particularly set forth in the party of the first part's bid, which bid is herewith attached, and made a part of this contract. The payments to be made as is set forth in the specifications, upon a certificate from the person superintending the building.

The party of the first part agrees to have all the carpenters' work and lumber ready without delay to the brick layer, or upon delays, he, the party of the first part agrees to forfeit five dollars for each day the brick layers are detained forfeiture, commencing after the second day's delay, and the party of the first part being notified by the brick layer, that such carpenters' work is detaining the progress of building. In testimony whereof, the parties have hereunto set their names and affixed their seals the 28th day of July, A. D., 1849.

[EXHIBIT C.]

This contract made and entered into this day between C. A. & H. G. O. Parker, of the party of the first part, and W. S. Langley, W. R. Gist, W. Morris and H. Hilzheim, (commissioners of the State of Mississippi,) of the party of the second part, to wit :

The party of the first part agrees to do all the labor required in laying one million five hundred thousand bricks, (more or less,) as the party of the second part may require, in building a Lunatic Asylum about two miles from Jackson, for the State of Mississippi. The party of the first part further agrees to find all said lime, water, scaffolding and the hauling of every material connected with laying the brick, as well as making all scaffolds, &c., and to do all the work according to the plans and specifications, together with the instructions of the architect. For, and in consideration of which, the party of the second part, agrees to pay, or cause to be paid, to the party of the first part, the sum of four dollars and ten cents per thousand, for the full compensation thereof; the manner and system of measurement to be adopted as is particularly set forth in the specifications marked A, accompanying this contract, which specifications are herewith attached and made part of this contract. It is understood by the parties of the first and second part, that the brick layers carry up and set all the lintels in the building, and for his compensation, the lintels to be measured as solid brick work, but not the openings. The brick work to be commenced immediately the cellar for the building is dug, and to be prosecuted with vigor until the contract is completed, which is to be completed and the walls covered up by the 1st day of December, A. D., 1849, or in failure thereof, the party of the first part agrees to forfeit ten dollars for each day the work is in operation to complete the contract, to the party of the second part as liquidated damages for the non-compliance with their contract; whatever amount of days the party of the first part may be detained by the carpenter, the same number of days is to be allowed to the party of the first part, after the 1st day of December, A. D., 1849, upon the forfeiture of ten dollars a day is to take effect. And it is to be understood that when the amount of one million five hundred thousand brick, more or less, are laid, this contract for brick work to be at an end, payments to be made as is set forth in the specifications. Witness whereof we the parties have set our names and affixed our seals, this 29th day of January, A. D. 1849.

REPORT.

SOUTHERN RAILROAD OFFICE, }
Brandon, Jan. 1, 1850. }

His Excellency JOSEPH W. MATTHEWS,

Governor of the State of Mississippi :

In compliance with the provisions of the "Act to extend the railroad eastwardly beyond Jackson," approved Feb. 24th, 1848, and the provisions of the various acts therein adopted, the Commissioners of the Southern Railroad, appointed in pursuance thereof, submit to your Excellency the following report, to be by you communicated to the Legislature of said State.

On the 16th June last, at the request of your Excellency, a report was made, for publication, of the total amount of money received from the two per cent, fund, up to that date; and, also of the condition and progress of the work up to that time, and to which reference is now made. But, agreeably to your request, and in order to make a more connected and detailed report of all matters, to the present time, it is deemed advisable to include herein, a full report of all proceedings of the present Board, from their organization up to this date.

The Board met and was organized on the 4th day of March, 1848; and in April, 1848, an engineering corps, under the direction of C. W. Banks, Esq., as chief engineer, was organized for the purpose of making a survey of the proposed line of the road from Brandon, eastwardly, to the dividing ridge, between the waters of Pearl river and Chickasawha, in the direction of Montgomery, in Alabama; and a route was surveyed for the distance of twenty-five miles in that direction, and running near the dividing line between Scott and Smith counties, which was found to be very favorable to the extension of the road eastwardly.

The operations of this corps were very greatly retarded, by the protracted inclemency of the weather, in May and June, 1848; and chiefly in consequence thereof, and also from the fact, that a portion of the engineering corps was required to superintend operations on the line between Jackson and Brandon, it was dissolved about the 1st July, 1848 — and, as the condition of the means then at the disposal of the Board were insufficient to place any portion of the line surveyed east of Brandon, under contract, or to place any portion of the negro force at work thereon, no final location of any part of the line was then made.

On the 28th March, 1849, a preliminary examination, by the engineer, was directed to be made, of a route eastwardly, communicating with the valley of Pilahatchie creek; and from thence, to or near its source; and thence, in a direction as near as practicable, to Montgomery in Alabama, for the purpose of ascertaining the comparative merits of the two proposed routes, and make a final location of a portion of the one which, on such examination, was deemed most eligible. This survey and examination was never completed, and no portion of either route has ever been finally located.

By a resolution of the Board, Aug. 1st., 1849, the engineer was directed to locate immediately, the road ten miles east of Brandon, and without assigning any satisfactory reason, he failed to comply with the order of the Board; and at its next meeting, September 3d, tendered his resignation. The Board used every exertion to obtain a competent engineer for such service, but did not succeed in procuring one until about the first of December last. An engineering corps is now organized, with directions to make an examination and survey of the proposed line, communicating with the valley of Pilahatchee creek, and from the head waters of said creek, through Scott county, towards the Alabama line, approximating as nearly as may be deemed advisable to the line run by J. H. Tracy, State engineer in 1843, but making such deviations therefrom, either particularly or generally, as might be found expedient; and in connection with such survey, to obtain all the information which can be done by an examination and reconnoissance of the country east of the terminus of the line run by C. W. Banks in 1848, with reference to continuance of the same eastwardly, on the proposed route to the Alabama line. This survey will be conducted with all practicable expedition; and as soon as completed, the results will be reported to the Governor, and if possible, during the present session of the Legislature.

The two routes proposed above, are believed to be the only practicable ones, and for the purpose of obtaining the necessary information, to decide on the comparative merits of each, a preliminary survey is indispensable. The probable cost of construction of the whole line, together with its probable value, as an investment, will be more fully mentioned hereafter.

The annexed balance-sheet exhibits the total amount of money received, up to this date, from the two per cent. fund, and exchange account, (being the premium on United States Treasury Notes,) and the different heads of expenditures of the same with the balance now on hand:

D. O. WILLIAMS, President.
W. C. HARPER, Secretary.

January 4th, 1850,

Under the head of negro account, is included alone the amounts expended in the purchase of eighty-four slaves; under the provisions of the 5th section of the act of 1848; and under the head of negro expense, is included all expenditures made on account of the slaves, for clothing, maintenance, superintendence, tools, and materials necessary for their employment; and also the expenses of all stock connected with their operations, the estimated value of which operations, when completed, to be placed to credit of negro expense account. This will satisfactorily account for the apparently large amount included under that head of expenditure.

In April, 1848, Messrs. B. G. Weir, as chairman, and James E. Watts, as associate, were appointed a committee of the Board, for the purchase of slaves, under the 5th section of the act of 1848, and the sum of $70,000 appropriated for that purpose, out of the two per cent. fund in the State Treasury. Of this amount, the sum of $42,000 only was drawn by Messrs. Weir and Watts, from the State Treasury; and the sum of $18,089 69 was received by B. G. Weir, in Washington City, on account of the balance due the State, for the two and three per cent. funds, under the resolutions of the Board of Commissioners, at a called meeting, on the 20th of April, 1848, and the order of your Excellency, in accordance therewith, for that purpose.

Of the amount drawn at Washington City, the sum of $5,039 83, belonged to the two per cent. fund, and $13,049 86 to the three per cent. fund; and which last amount has been paid to the three per cent. fund, out of the two per cent. fund in the State Treasury. The total amount received by Messrs. Weir and Watts, as above stated, was $60,089 69, to which they have added the sum of $685 12, premium on United States Treasury Notes, making in all the sum of $60,774 81.

By a resolution of instructions to Messrs. Weir and Watts, they were required, among other things, to "make monthly reports to the Secretary of the Board, of their progress and prospects in the purchase of slaves, and to require similar reports from their assistants." And as soon as the purchases were completed, they were required to make a detailed report of their proceedings, jointly and severally showing the number, names, ages, and costs of the slaves and the expenses incurred by them and their assistants, in buying, supporting, and conveying them to Brandon, in this State. This commission, for the purchase of slaves, was closed by order of the Board of Commissioners, on the 26th of July, 1848, and Mr. Watts returned home in the month of September following, and B. G. Weir was directed to remain at the North for the purpose of making a contract for the purchase of railroad iron. He returned home about the first of November, 1848, and was then called upon for a report of their proceedings, under the commission for the purchase of slaves; he having, as chairman of the committee, retained in his hands, all the books, papers, and accounts in connection therewith. He promised to make a report, and to render his account at the next meeting of the Board, in December. . At that meeting he failed to attend, and shortly after left the State, and remained absent until in February, 1849. In the mean time, all efforts to obtain a settlement of his accounts proved unavailing.

There were no means of coercing a settlement of this account, as all the books, papers, vouchers, (except the bills of sale for the negroes,) were never delivered to the Board of Commissioners, until presented in connection with an account rendered by him in behalf of himself and Mr. Watts, to a meeting of the Board, on the 7th of May last.

B. G. Weir left the State on the 30th of March last, and had not returned at the date of the last report, to-wit., on the 15th of June last. This account, as furnished by him, is on its face, manifestly incorrect, and in some of the principal items, for the purchase of slaves, inconsistent with the vouchers upon which it purports to be based.

The following summary of an examination and re-statement of this account, made by order of the Board, and by them received and agreed to on the 11th of June last, will exhibit to your Excellency, the disposition of the above amount of $60,774 81, as made by Messrs. Weir and Watts :

From the foregoing, it appears that Benjamin G. Weir and James E. Watts were in arrears, at the date of last report, in the sum of $5,679 45, on account of the amount received by them for the purchase of slaves ; and the Board of Commissioners instructed the Secretary to report the fact to your Excellency, which was accordingly done. He was also instructed to inform you, in justice to James E. Watts, that it appeared from the memorandum of a settlement between Messrs. Weir and Watts, returned by B. G. Weir with the account furnished, and other vouchers endorsed in the hand-writing of B. G. Weir—"Weir and Watts' settlement and vouchers, March, 1849,"—that there remained in the hands of James E. Watts, the sum of $1,330 40, of which Mr. Watts had paid over previous to former report, the sum of $330, leaving, according to this memorandum of settlement, only the sum of $1,000 40 in his hands, subjected to a deduction for his claim for services as agent for five months.

B. G. Weir remained absent from the State until about the 25th November last, and every exertion within the power of the Board, to obtain a settlement of the balance due on his account, has been made, before and since his return, but have hitherto proved unsuccessful ; and the fact is again reported to your Excellency, for such executive action as you may deem proper.

No further settlement between Messrs. Weir and Watts, than the memorandum above referred to, has ever been reported to the Board, or any further explanation thereof made, and it being a matter exclusively to be settled between them, no action of the Board, in reference thereto has been had.

Since the date of the report of the 16th of June, 1849, James E. Watts has paid over the sum of $600 40, being in full of the balance then declared against him, agreeably to the memorandum of settlement between him and B. G. Weir, after deducting the sum of $400, which was allowed him as compensation for his services as agent for five months.

Three of the negroes purchased, have proved diseased and worthless, and one of them died about one month after his arrival, evidently from the effect of chronic disease ; but the board expect to recover their value on the warranty of the vendors, who are believed to be solvent, and suits are now being prosecuted against them for that purpose. One has been killed whilst runaway, by a citizen of Rankin county, acting, as he supposed, in necessary self defence ; and in view of all the circumstances of the case, it was not deemed advisable to attempt the recovery of his value. Six more of the negroes are considered unsuitable for the service of the road.

Very little trouble or difficulty, has occurred in their management, and much less than was apprehended ; and under the excellent treatment of the general superintendent, S. J. Denson, they have suffered very little from acclimation, and have remained unsually healthy. No accident has occurred to any of them, in the operations of the road, which, it is believed, will materially injure their value ; and there has been a very decided improvement in their value and condition since their arrival and location on the road.

In July, 1848, a contract for the purchase of three miles of Railroad iron from the Vicksburg and Jackson Railroad, of the same quality and pattern of that in use on that road, was made at the sum of sixty dollars per ton, delivered in Jackson; of this amount, only a quantity sufficient to lay about $2\frac{3}{8}$ miles, was delivered.

On the 23d of September, 1848, a contract for 755 tons of Railroad iron, estimated for twelve miles of very nearly the same size and pattern, with the requisite number of cast iron chains, splicing plates and spikes was closed by Benjamin G. Weir, as agent of the board, with Messrs. A. & G. Ralston, & Co., of Philadelphia, to be shipped from England or Wales ; of this amount, about 341 tons of rails, with the fastenings, were received, the remainder as per invoice, 415 tons having been lost by shipwreck in January last ; of which, we received intelligence early in March last. No pecuniary loss has, or can result, from the loss of this cargo, as it was fully insured by our agents on their own account ; and only to be paid for on its arrival in New Orleans. The only inconvenience resulting, has been an unavoidable delay in placing any part of the road in operation. The iron and fastenings received, have proved highly satisfactory being well made and of good materials. The cost of this Railroad iron, including prime cost, insurance, duty, freight, agency, &c., when delivered in Jackson, was about $60 per ton.

To supply this loss by shipwreck, a contract was closed on 2nd April last, for the purchase of 500 tons of Railroad iron, with Messrs. Stark, Day, Stauffer, & Co., of New Orleans, of the same size, quality and pattern of that received from Messrs. A. & G. Ralston, & Co., with the requisite number of cast iron chains, plates and spikes, which, with the amount previously purchased and received, will make about $15\frac{1}{2}$ miles. Under the terms of this contract, an advance of \$20,000 was made in cash, to be invested in sterling exchange, and which was done at the very favorable average rate of 6 6-10 per cent. premium, being a saving of 2 4-10 per cent. assuming 9 per cent., besides securing a more favorable price by ready cash purchase. This iron was placed under contract on 12th of May last, at the then favorable price of £5 17s. 6d. which, at 6 6-10 per cent., sterling exchange, would equal \$27 83 per ton, and it was expected that we would have received it by 15th of August, or at 1st September last, in Vicksburg; but owing to the prevalence of the cholera, in England and the very limited demand for shipping at New Orleans, on account in the unusual lateness of the cotton season, an unexpected delay of the shipment of the iron from Newport, in Wales occurred, and the vessel chartered for that purpose was not cleared until the 14th of September last. A period later than under ordinary circumstances, the iron should have been received in Vicksburg. The prices at which this cargo of iron has been purchased and delivered per ton, has fully corresponded with our most favorable expectations.

The total cost per ton, (of 2240 lbs,) delivered under this contract upon the line of the road, where it is required to be laid down, is as follows:

Prime cost, £5. 17s. 6d. at 6-10 per cent. sterling exchange	$27 83
Inspection in England, 1s. per ton.....	24
Freight, £1 primage, 5 per cent. at $4 80 per £1.....	5 04
Insurance 2 per cent. on $29 90-100.....	59
Duty 30 per cent. on $29 13-100, Custom house value...	8 70
Three per cent commission on 42 40-100 to Stark, Day, Stauffer & Co., being total cost on shipboard in New Orleans.....	1 26
Transportation from New Orleans to the Depot in Vicksburg	6 00
River insurance on \$50, $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.....	25
Freight from Vicksburg to point required on road, being one-half the ordinary rate of tolls.....	3 91
	$53 82

Total cost of 1 ton of iron rails delivered on the road, at the point to be laid down, being a saving of more than 10 per cent. on former contract.

This cargo of iron only arrived in New Orleans, on the 7th of November last, from delays before mentioned, and has been laid down on the road as fast as it could be delivered from the Depot in Vicksburg.

The former bridge over Pearl river, was found on examination, to be wholly unsafe and insufficient, and it was removed and a new one erected in its place, at a cost of $5392 33-100, which has proved entirely satisfactory, and is in plan and construction, believed to be entirely safe, permanent and reliable. The balance due upon the contract for the erection of the former bridge had been withheld from the contractor by the Commissioners of the Jackson and Brandon Railroad and Bridge Company, and the matters in controversy between them had been submitted to arbitration upon which an award was made in favor of the contractor, and the present board were compelled to pay the sum of $1049 79-100 in satisfaction of the award.

A suitable and convenient depot, 30 by 100 feet has been erected at Jackson, at an entire cost of $1642 84-100 exclusive of the turntable, side track &c., which are charged to Jackson depot account.

A small portion of the road had been previously laid with flat bar iron, which being considered unsafe and objectionable in many respects, it was taken up and the present rail adopted. We have now on hand about 115 tons of this flat bar iron, for which, under the contract between the Jackson and Brandon Railroad and Bridge Company and S. B. Newman, Receiver in Chancery, in the case of the State of Mississippi, vs. Mississippi Railroad Company, we were compelled to pay the sum of $5218 29-100 which constitutes the principle item charged against said company. This iron is now offered for sale and is not included in stock account, and when sold, the proceeds will be properly entered as a credit to the account of the Jackson and Brandon Railroad and Bridge Company.

The following plan of construction of the road has been adopted: Transverse mud sills, 7 feet in length, of post-oak or white oak, and hewed to a thickness of 8 inches on the opposite sides, and facing at least 10 inches at the smaller end, are laid in the ground at distances of 9 feet at right angles to the line of the road. Upon these longitudinal mud sills 18 feet in length, also hewed to a thickness of 8 inches and facing at least 10 inches at the smaller end, are laid parallel with the centre line of the road on each side, so as to joint directly on the transverse sills; upon these are laid transversely at a distance of 3 feet a part, sawed white-oak cross-ties 7 feet in length and 4 inches thick, except the one in the centre of the rail, which is used for the reception of the cast iron chains. A cast iron chain 1 inch thick and weighing $9\frac{1}{4}$ lbs. is placed in the centre cross tie and is made to fasten securely in a notch 1 inch square, cut out of the lower web on each side of the centre of the rail; upon this is placed a T. rail weighing 40 lbs. to the yard, and securely fastened by 16 wrought iron spikes, 4 being used in each chain and four in each splicing plate at the junction of the rails, and 2 in each remaining cross-tie. The following approximate estimate, furnished by C. W. Bancks, esq., will exhibit more specifically the cost of constructing 1 mile of track, according to the above plan :

Estimated expense of one mile of Railway track exclusive of grading.

586 hewn oak foundation sills 8 by 12 inches, 18 feet long, at 1 15.....	$673 90
586 hewn oak foundation sills 7 feet long, at 45c.....	263 70
1172 sawed oak cross ties 4 by 6 inches, 7 feet long.....	16,408 ft.
293 sawed oak cross ties 4 by 8 inches, 7 feet long.....	5,169 ft.
293 sawed oak cross ties 3 by 8 inches, 7 feet long.....	4,102 ft.
Board measure at $17 50.....	25,979 ft. —454 63
586 cast iron chains, weighing $9\frac{1}{4}$ lbs; each 5,420 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. at 5c.....	271 02
586 wrought splicing plates weighing $2\frac{1}{4}$ lbs. each, 1,318 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. at 10c.....	131 85

586 bars railway iron, weighing $64\frac{1}{2}$ tons, at \$60 per ton,	\$3,870 00
9376 wrought iron spikes weighing 10 oz. each, 5,860 lbs., at 10c.	586 00
Transporting materials.....	75 00
Laying 1 mile foundation sides.....	460 00
Laying 1 mile cross ties and iron track.....	280 00

The foregoing approximate estimate has been found by experience to be in some respects too low, and in others too high—depending, however, so far as the timber for superstructure is concerned, on the distance transported, and the supply of the proper kinds; but which, owing to the scarcity, and the distance to be hauled, has, for much the greater quantity used on the road, cost at least 20 per cent. above the estimate—it being necessary to haul a large portion of it more than two miles; whilst for the cost of plate and spikes a deduction of at least four cents per pound would be proper, and for laying superstructure, $40 per mile. A track constructed with such materials, on the above plan, by which all the timbers used can be covered with earth, it is believed will last for fifteen years, and can be kept in repair at a trifling expense, until it becomes necessary to renew it.

To those who may object to the supposed extravagance of the original construction, we have only to say, that true economy consists in doing thoroughly, at first, whatever it may be necessary to do in the end. To every practical mind it is evident that repairs and alterations cost more than double the additional cost of proper construction in the first instance. Such has invariably been the experience in regard to the construction of cheap railroads throughout the United States, though they generally cost nearly as much as good ones; and we are entirely willing to abide the result to prove the correctness of our conclusions. The grading has been completed for the distance of 14 1-6 miles, and the wooden superstructure laid for a distance of $13\frac{1}{2}$ miles, the necessary culverts put in, and 796 lineal feet of trestle work erected. The iron rails have been laid down for about $10\frac{1}{2}$ miles, and are now being laid as fast as they can be delivered on the line of the road, being at the rate of about one mile per week. The plan upon which the road has been thus far constructed, under the direction of the former chief engineer, the Board believe far more expensive, both in original construction, as well as more expensive to keep in repair, than the construction simply by ballasting and cross-timbers of sufficient size, without the use of the ordinary mud-sills and cross-ties; which latter plan the Board have determined to adopt.

We expect to have completed and in operation, in about three weeks, $13\frac{1}{2}$ miles of road, approaching a point within three-quarters of a mile of Brandon, where a convenient temporary depot has been erected. As soon as this portion of the road is completed, the whole of the negro force will be employed on the line beyond, except such portion as may be required in necessary repairs of the road in operation, or hired for depot service. The slaves owned by the road have been chiefly employed in making excavations and embankments on the line of the road west of Brandon, and in furnishing timber for the superstructure, and laying it down; and in erecting the necessary trestle work on that portion of the line.

A brief recapitulation of the disposition of the funds received may be made.

Which may be considered the amount actually expended in the construction of $13\frac{1}{2}$ miles of road, (leaving a surplus of two miles of railroad iron,) being at the rate of \$8,649 30 per mile, including all expenditures for graduation, superstructure, bringing railroad iron, and the erection of the depots at Jackson and Brandon, &c.; which is a much larger amount than it should have cost, under the direction of an experienced and qualified engineer. Upon the organization of the Board they employed C. W. Bancks as chief engineer, who came well recommended. They entrusted him with the direction of the road, and such other matters as are usually entrusted to a chief engineer, and gave to him their full confidence, until repeated failures to do his duty, extravagant and wasteful contracts, and an unwarrantable indifference in carrying out the orders of the Board, and total inattention to a proper superintendence of the work under his charge, determined the Board to dispense with his services, and his resignation was accepted on the 3d day of September last.

The chief obstacle on the line of the road between Jackson and Brandon, is the hill upon which Brandon is situated—the cut being, at the summit, $44\frac{1}{4}$ feet, and the extreme length of the cut being $19\frac{1}{2}$ chains; and the total elevation to be overcome, by means of excavation and embankment and grade, being 152 feet in $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles. The cut is about half finished, and is expected to be fully completed in about four months. The operations by the negroes have been greatly retarded by the extreme inclemency of the weather from the 1st of November; 1848, until about 1st September, 1849.

A twelve ton locomotive, of the best quality and construction, and combining the latest improvements, has been purchased at a prime cost, exclusive of freight, insurance, &c., of $6,930, and has now been put in running order. By a mistake in the construction of the width, it was necessary to procure a new set of wheels, but which were furnished by the contractor without any loss to us. 1 first class 8-wheel passenger car; 1 negro or baggage car; 1 hand car; 8 freight box 8-wheel cars, and 4 freight stake cars, have been purchased, which, together with the engine, and all expenses of freight, insurance, &c., have cost the aggregate sum of $21,732 02. All the cars purchased are of the best quality and construction; but, in the opinion of the Board, the cost was entirely too much for the present service of the road. A resolution was passed on the 10th day of November, 1848, vesting the engineer with full power to purchase suitable passenger and burden cars for the road. He unwisely purchased more burden cars than were needed, and made a most extravagant and injudicious outlay for passenger cars.

A contract has been entered into with the Vicksburg and Jackson Railroad, to run the Southern Railroad for a period of twelve months from the time it is completed, to the temporary depot near Brandon—they to have the use of the cars and engine, as above specified, to be returned in good order, ordinary wear and tear excepted, at the termination of the agreement; and the earnings of the road to be equally divided between the parties, and paid over monthly to the Secretary of the Board.

Statement marked "B" exhibits the amount and cost of stock now on hand, including negroes, horses, wagons, carts, &c., and also locomotives, cars, and the total cost of the same.

The total amount of premium received on the United States Treasury Notes is \$6,114 50, as appears in exchange account, and \$1,284, as appears in note to balance sheet, 4th January, 1850; of which the sum of \$685 12 was received by Messrs. Weir & Watts, in Washington City, as above stated, and \$3,309 98 received by the Secretary in New Orleans, by sale of \$32,250, at $6\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. premium, and \$12,950 at $8\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. premium, being a portion of the amount appropriated for the purchase of railroad iron. The remainder has been realized, at different times, and at various rates of premium, by sales made to or by the agency of William Morris, Esq., of Jackson, and which was the highest that could be realized, without incurring the risk of transmission by mail, and expense and risk of agencies abroad. The last sale was closed on 4th January, inst., before this report was handed over—as will appear by note at the foot of the balance sheet—at 8 per cent. premium.

In concluding our report, we cannot forbear calling the attention of your excellency to the necessity of such measures as will insure the completion of the road, at an early day, to the Alabama line, through which State it will doubtless be continued to Montgomery, thus uniting the Mississippi river, at Vicksburg, with the Atlantic seaports, and forming an uninterrupted line of railroad communication to the eastern boundary of our Union. Omitting all patriotic and national considerations, such as the rapid transportation of the mail and troops, or the reasons which, in the present aspect of our political affairs, render a rapid communication between States bound together by peculiar domestic institutions, of great, if not vital importance, and placing the question purely on the ground of pecuniary interest, there are abundant reasons why this road should be speedily built, and every constitutional and proper aid afforded by the State. From unquestionable authority we learn that, in our own State, the value of real estate, in counties using railroad facilities, rose 1170 per cent.; the number of slaves 378 per cent., and the amount of State tax 358 per cent.; while in four counties not using the railroad, the value of real estate rose only 129 per cent., the number of slaves 29 per cent., and the amount of State tax 52 per cent. Other evidences of the influence of railroads on the wealth and business of the country can be furnished, but, as measures are believed to be in progress, in other quarters, to present these facts to the legislature, they are omitted here. The line of the proposed railroad is highly favorable, the distance less than one hundred miles, and, from former surveys, and the best calculations that can be made, the estimates vary from $10,800 per mile to $12,200 per mile, making the total cost of the road to the Alabama line from $1,080,000 to $1,200,000.

Assurances have been given by some of the most intelligent and influential representatives of the State, of their exertions to appropriate to this work at least 100,000 acres of the State lands, worth about $300,000; and it is confidently believed that Congress will at its present session, donate alternate sections of the public lands on the route, worth, probably, half a million of dollars. Some plan devised by which the present force on the road can be employed until said lands can be made available, will insure the completion of this great work.

Any additional information desired by your excellency, in relation to the affairs of the road, will be at all times promptly given; and an examination of the books, accounts, vouchers, and all proceedings of the Board by your excellency, or any citizen of the State, is respectfully invited.

By order of the Board:

D. O. WILLIAMS, President.

W. C. HARPER, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI.

To the Legislature of the State of Mississippi:

In accordance with the law, which requires the Trustees of the University of this State, "to report to each regular session of your honorable body, a detailed statement of the fiscal condition of the University, and the manner and purposes for which they have expended its funds," the undersigned beg leave to make the following:

R E P O R T.

Up to the 31st December, 1849, the Trustees have drawn from the State Treasury the sum of $50,000, as authorized by the act of 1846; and the farther sum of $15,701 2½, the amount of the accruing interest on the university fund, in the State Treasury, together with the standing semi-annual appropriation of $3,113 37½, down to the 1st July, 1849, as authorized by the act of 1848, making an aggregate of $68,814 62½. This sum has been expended in the following manner: The Board proceeded, with the assistance of a competent architect, Capt. Wm. Nicholl, immediately after the appropriation for the erection of buildings was made, in 1846, to carry the law into effect. They have erected the principal building, sixty by ninety feet, three stories high, of brick, with a portico in front, resting on six columns, of the Corinthian order, finished in a plain, neat and substantial manner. It contains spacious and airy halls, and nine large rooms, well adapted to college purposes.

They have also built two dormitories, three stories high, each containing thirty-six rooms, of capacity to accommodate two students, making one hundred and forty-four in all. They have also erected four houses for professors, so united, however, by double walls, as to constitute but two buildings. Each building contains twelve rooms, with the requisite out-houses attached.

They stand upon a semi-circular area, occupy a space of several acres, in a grove of lofty forest trees, and present a beautiful and imposing front, as they are approached from the east.

In the rear of the main building, some fifty steps, there is a capacious steward's hall, fitted up for the accommodation of the students. The houses and gardens of the professors, and the hall of the steward have been handsomely enclosed. The buildings are all of brick, of unpretending exterior, but of neat, substantial, and durable structure. These, with the necessary wells for water, some incidental repairs, and bills for printing various advertisements, have cost the sum of $53,345.03, all of which has been paid. The whole constitutes, in my mind, a just monument to the liberality which founded them, to the good taste of the architect who executed them, and to the prudent, judicious, and economical expenditure of public money, by the executive committee, upon whom mainly devolved the duty of their superintendence.

The farther sum of $9,508 07, has been expended in the salaries of professors, of the architect, treasurer of the Board of Trustees, and expenses of transporting funds from Jackson. The expenses, also, of most of the members of the Board of Trustees, have been paid, at the rate of two dollars per day for every twenty miles travel, and at the same rate whilst in attendance upon the Board. When all this is deducted, it leaves a balance on hand of $2,847 92½.

The buildings were completed in October, 1848, and the institution went into operation on the 1st Monday in November, 1848. The faculty consists of a president, with a salary of $2,000 per annum, who is also professor of mental and moral philosophy, rhetoric, logic, and political economy; of a professor of mathematics and astronomy; of a professor of chemistry, natural philosophy, and geology; and a professor of ancient and modern languages. Each of the professors receive a salary of $1,500 per annum. The students pay thirty dollars per session of ten months, as a tuition fee, which also goes to the professors; but by a resolution of the Board of Trustees, each senatorial district in the State is entitled to send one student, without any charge for tuition.

The salaries of the professors are paid semi-annually, in January and July. A purchase of books has been made in one of the eastern cities, to the amount of $500, as the commencement of a library; also, from the trustees of the State library, of the judicial reports and code of the State, to the amount of ninety dollars, which are as much as our limited finances would allow. The books have been received; but those from the East have not been paid for, on account of the difficulty of procuring exchange; those from the State have not been paid for, because of a reason, which it is hoped, will readily suggest itself to your honorable body. This constitutes the only outstanding liability of the fund.

The annual income of the institution is $10,949 09, and arises from the interest on the Seminary Fund in the State treasury, and the semi-annual appropriation made by the act of 1848. Out of this amount various incidental expenses for repairs, farther improvements, and other contingencies, besides the salaries of the professors, have to be paid. When all these are deducted, not more than $2,500 will probably remain per annum. This constitutes the only fund under our control for the purchase of a library, and the varied apparatus necessary to the successful conduct of a literary and scientific institution of a high order.

It gives us great pleasure to state that, owing to the vigilance and integrity of our treasurer, we do not believe a single cent of the fund has been lost or misapplied. It may be proper to add that the instalment due on the 1st of the present month is not included in this report.

The Faculty of the University is believed to possess a very elevated degree of merit. In scholastic attainments, in experience as professors, in moral and intellectual worth, they stand in the front rank of their profession. At the close of the last session the students evinced a very high degree of proficiency in their various studies, and their examination called forth from the trustees then present a testimonial, which was placed upon their records, to the learning and fidelity of the professors, and to the diligence of the students. There are now sixty-five students, and we have received from the President the most gratifying assurances of their correct moral deportment, of their studious habits, progress in study, and general good conduct.

In conclusion permit us, with all earnestness and sincerity, to recommend this institution, endowed by the munificence of the general government, and placed under your guardianship and supervision, to your most favorable consideration.

REPORT THE TRUSTEES OF THE INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi :

The undersigned, trustees of the "Chapin Institute," established for the instruction of the Blind, respectfully submit to your honorable body, the following report, containing a brief statement of their official acts, and the present condition of the institution :

Under the provisions of the act of incorporation, the trustees were clothed with authority to purchase or erect suitable buildings for the institution, and do all other acts necessary to put it into successful operation. The funds appropriated proved too limited to answer the benevolent design of the Legislature, or to render the enterprise commensurate with the wants of that unfortunate class of our population, whose moral and intellectual welfare demands the enlightened consideration of the government.

The sum of two thousand and five hundred dollars was appropriated for the year 1848. The difficulty of organizing such an institution, with so small an appropriation, became apparent. Suitable buildings were to be provided, and competent teachers employed. The Rev. James Champlain, through whose active instrumentality the claims of the Blind were presented to the favorable consideration of the Legislature, had bargained for a lot of ground, containing about two acres, and situated in a pleasant but retired part of the city. The buildings were suitable and convenient. The sum appropriated for the year 1848, we were advised, was intended to cover the price of said lot ; and the trustees, believing that the terms of purchase were fair and reasonable, deemed it their duty to confirm the bargain, which they did. We have not been able to pay all of the purchase money, and defray the necessary expenses of the establishment. There is a balance of nine hundred dollars still due, and we would beg leave to recommend an appropriation to pay it.

We are well satisfied that the annual appropriation is too small an endowment to meet the expectations of the public, or to provide for the education of the Blind in our State. We have been compelled, reluctantly, to exclude many applicants from the benefits of the institution. The number of charity pupils have been necessarily limited, although there are large numbers of Blind persons.

within our borders, who are, doubtless, in a state of moral and intellectual darkness.

We refer your honorable body to the accompanying reports of the Treasurer and Principal of the Institute. The report of the Treasurer exhibits the financial condition of the institution, or an exact statement of the moneys received and disbursed. The report of the Principal, the Rev. Philip Lane, challenges your particular attention. It embodies much valuable information, and, emanating from one who received his instruction in a similar institution, it evinces a capacity benignly developed by the process of a peculiar education. His report contains an eloquent appeal to the liberality of the public, and we doubt not that it will meet a generous response in the acts of your honorable body.

We would most respectfully urge that the institution should be liberally endowed, to enable the trustees to place it upon a permanent basis. Females have, hitherto, been excluded from the benefits of the institution, and must continue to be excluded, unless we can employ a matron to superintend them. The present fund is altogether insufficient, and we therefore ask an appropriation which will be ample to carry out the benevolent enterprise into which the State has embarked.

We deem it important, if an appropriation is made, that the Legislature should authorize the trustees to draw on the treasury at the beginning of every quarter, in order that they may more readily meet and provide for contingencies.

CHAS. SCOTT, }
GEO. FEARN, } Trustees.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE MISSISSIPPI INSTITUTE FOR THE INSTRUCTION OF THE BLIND.

Gentlemen :—In conformity to the custom observed in all similar establishments, it becomes my duty to report to you the condition, past and present, of this institution. From the first moment of its existence, until this, it has been silently, but certainly, working out good.

Under the existing law, the school opened with two pupils, on the 3d day of April, 1848. For three months its affairs were conducted by Mr. Champlain, to whose zealous exertions it is mainly indebted for its existence. On July 1st, Mr. Champlain suspended the operation of the institution, and left the State; and in the succeeding September, he resigned his situation as Principal of the institution. By an act of your Board, on the 1st of October, 1848, I was appointed to fill the vacancy thus occasioned; and, in the early part of November following, the school was reopened, with two pupils. Within two months after, the number was increased to five. This number has not been allowed to augment. Several applications have been rejected, and females excluded, in consequence of the limited means of the institution.

By an act of your Board, the sum of forty dollars was fixed as the maximum appropriation to defray the current monthly expenses of the institution. This sum, meagre as it is, has, by the most rigid economy, been made fully to meet the monthly demands. Nothing like luxury has been permitted, and most comforts have been dispensed with. The house furniture is plain, to a fault, and the table has been furnished with nothing but articles of prime necessity. I have drawn all the monthly appropriations from July 1st, 1848, to January 1st, 1850. The whole amount of money that I have received for current expenses has been six hundred and sixty-three dollars, and the whole amount paid out, six hundred and fifty-four dollars and forty cents—leaving the sum of eight dollars and sixty cents in possession, subject to your order.

From the reopening of the school, until this moment, it has been in regular, constant operation. The pupils have been taught reading, geography, grammar and arithmetic, in all of which they have made a degree of progress highly creditable to themselves, and greatly encouraging to their friends. During the past year, the advancement of the pupils has been greatly retarded for want of necessary books. To supply this deficiency, much of the instruction has been oral; and if, upon examination, it should be found that the progress of the pupils has not been as great as the public had a right to expect, the defect must be attributed to the absence of the necessary school apparatus, rather than the want of capacity in the pupils themselves, or to any fault in method of instruction.

As the mode of instructing the blind is far from being generally understood, I shall here briefly explain it.

Some one of the ancient philosophers was wont to describe man as an animal, having two hands—believing that his superiority over the brute was mainly attributable to this circumstance. Although I am not disposed to adopt the definition of the philosopher, yet it must be acknowledged that to the Blind, especially, the hand is of incalculable advantage. With them the hand performs the most important offices. The eye is, as it were, transferred to the ends of the fingers; and the books employed in their instruction must be adapted to this kind of light. To this end, a method of embossing has been introduced; the letters being stamped on one side, stand out in relief on the other. In this way, books, maps, and mathematical figures are prepared, and the ideas they are designed to convey are as readily transmitted to the mind of the blind, through the sense of touch, as to those of the seeing, through the sense of sight.

Should the Legislature, at its next session, take any measures for the enlargement and continuance of this institution, several additional necessary expenses must be incurred. A complete apparatus, to be employed in school instruction, should be purchased; such as books, slates, types, maps, globes, &c., &c. Females must be admitted, and a suitable person employed to discharge the duties of matron and governess. Several repairs will be needed, and the erection of a small additional building is indispensable. Should the existence of this institution be prolonged, I recommend that such mechanical branches as are usually taught in other and similar establishments, be introduced, at the earliest possible moment; such as the manufacture of willow baskets, mattresses, mats, bead baskets, &c., &c. Although the erection of such a department, in this institution, would be somewhat expensive; and although, in the beginning, something must be allowed for the awkwardness of the workmen, and for the waste of material, yet I doubt not that, in a short time, the proceeds of the sales of manufactured articles would defray its expenses, and perhaps yield a surplus that might be applied to its enlargement, or to other purposes. But, whether this should be so or not, no institution for the Blind is complete without a manufacturing department.

Should this institution continue, I further recommend that music be introduced as a branch of instruction. To the cultivation of music the Blind are peculiarly adapted; the acuteness of the ear, and the power of the voice, being augmented by the loss of sight. This increase of strength in the auditory and vocal organs is, however, entirely attributable to increased exercise. Beside the great physical and moral benefit that would be conferred upon the pupils by furnishing them with mechanical and musical instruction, the knowledge they would thus acquire might, in after life, be made adjuvant to their own support. I further recommend that the salaries of the Principal, and others that may be employed, be fixed at such a sum as will render their situation comfortable and respectable. The miserable pittance that the Principal has hitherto received is scarcely equal to the compensation usually given to grocery clerks. This is a great fault, and a great injustice; for why should he whose business it is to enoble feeling, elevate thought, and shape aright the immortal mind, be less liberally rewarded than the man who works upon the perishable materials of wood and iron, or than he who sells food or raiment to supply the physical necessities of others? In order to accomplish what has been here recommended, the sum of five thousand dollars per annum will be required; and I respectfully suggest, that in the bill that may be presented to the Legislature, this amount be inserted as the minimum appropriation that ought to be made for the benefit of this institution.

In consequence of the small number of pupils that we have hitherto had, it may be supposed that the scheme in which we are engaged, is useless and impracticable; but a brief reference to the original condition of all similar institutions will, I think, be sufficient to silence all objections and dissipate all doubt.

The institution for the blind, in New York, for three years, did not number more than ten pupils; that in Boston, for a similar period, did not contain more than eight; that in Ohio, for two years of its existence, contained but four pupils; in Kentucky, there were for some time but five, and, in Philadelphia, one. All these are now large and flourishing establishments. Thus, the argument of numbers, instead of against us, renders our chances for permanency and prosperity decidedly favorable.

As a brief account of the origin of institutions for the instruction of the Blind may be somewhat interesting to those unacquainted with the subject, I shall here insert an extract from an article which I recently published.

“The civilized world is indebted to a heathen country for the origin of institutions for the blind. The first establishment of this nature, of which we have any account, was in Japan. In this country, says the Father Charles Voix, academies were established at the public charge, in which the blind are taught, not only to cultivate their memories, but frame into verses what they have learned, and to adorn, with all the beauties of poetry and music, the finest points of history. To them is confided the charge of keeping the records of the most important events; such as the history of great men, the annals of the empire, ancient titles of families, &c. Their knowledge is handed down to posterity by a sort of tradition, the correctness of which is never disputed. They have their general and subordinate officers; enjoy a high degree of consideration; and are, perhaps, the only persons among this people whose lives are wholly devoted to literature. Verily, Christendom, with all its boasted civilization, in the great work of humane reform, is very far in the rear of heathen Japan. In 1774 public attention in Europe was directed to the instruction of the blind, by Valentine Haüy, brother of the celebrated Abbe Haüy. Through his exertions, an institution for the blind was established in Paris, and, within a short time after, similar institutions were erected in almost every country in Europe. In 1829 the attention of the people of the United States was directed to the subject of educating the blind, by a few benevolent gentlemen in the city of Boston. These men, in the same year, applied to the legislature of Massachusetts, in behalf of the blind; and that body, with an enlightened liberality, immediately appropriated the sum of six thousand dollars per annum. Since that time, there have been, including this, seven other institutions established in the United States, most of which are in a flourishing condition.”

Such is the peculiar character of the misfortune of the blind, and so close is their confinement at their houses, or in alms-houses, that they are but rarely exposed to public gaze. Their number hitherto has, therefore, been supposed exceedingly small; but a careful examination has shown it to be surprisingly great, there being scarcely a town or village without one or more of this unfortunate class.

In an address published some years since by the trustees of the New England Institution for the Blind, it was stated to have been ascertained that, in Middle Europe, there is one blind person to every seven hundred inhabitants; in Zurich, and some of the Austrian provinces, one to seven hundred and forty-five; farther north, between the 50th and 70th degrees of north latitude, they bear a smaller proportion—there being, in Denmark, Sweden and Norway, about one blind person to every one thousand inhabitants. In the United States, owing to a combination of countervailing causes, this calamity is more rare; yet the number of the blind is lamentably large—their proportion to the seeing being about one to two thousand inhabitants. The census of Mississippi, for 1840, reports but forty-six blind persons for this State. This is, unquestionably, an error; but similar inaccuracies are of frequent occurrence in all the States. To refer to but a single instance: The census of 1830 returned but forty-six blind persons for the city of New York; but, after more thorough examination, the number was found to be ninety—showing in the returns, an error of forty-four.

From this, and like data, I hesitate not to charge the last census of Mississippi with inaccuracy. The present white population of this State is probably three hundred and seventy-five thousand. Admitting the correctness of the above mentioned proportion, and deduct seventy-five thousand for transient inhabitants, we have one hundred and fifty as the number of blind now in this State. Surely, a number sufficient to command public attention!

But, whatever the number of the blind may here be, it is certain that that number is rapidly increasing; for congenital and accidental misfortune keeps pace with the numerical advance of the population. The capacity of the blind for receiving an intellectual and mechanical education, is in no degree inferior to that possessed by those who see; nor is their ability to practice what they may learn a whit less—there being, with the exception of painting and anatomy, no path in science, literature, or the arts, that has not been successfully trodden by them.

The notion concerning the incapacity of the blind, so current among those who see, proceeds from a narrow and groundless prejudice; and the chief difficulties which the blind have to encounter, arise not so much from want of sight, as from the discouraging treatment they receive from others. The blind child is told, by his relatives at home, and by all others with whom he may meet, that he cannot see, and, therefore, can do nothing. This is daily, and even hourly, repeated, until such a degree of discouragement is produced that the attempt to do anything is considered hopeless, and consequently never made.

Thus the unfortunate individual, as he advances in life, tortured by the humiliating idea of his own utter uselessness, becomes, beyond description, miserable ; being made at once burdensome to others and intolerable to himself. But this knowledge of his own worthlessness, false and destructive as it is, is all that he can ever acquire in the school of popular ignorance and popular prejudice. Men often bewail the oppression exercised by European despots upon their subjects ; but the oppression practiced, by the seeing upon the blind, is far more criminal in its character, and far more terrible in its consequences. In the former case, the individual is deprived of a few rights, and the physical man trammelled, while the mind is left comparatively free ; but, in the latter, the physical and mental energies are crushed by the repeated and annihilating blows of a monstrous discouragement.

Society deprives the blind of all rights, and casts them, both body and soul, into outer darkness, where there is, indeed, “weeping, wailing, and gnashing of teeth.”

To check this system of barbarous oppression, and to avert the dreadful consequences it may produce, are the objects which an institution for the blind proposes to accomplish. Through the instrumentality of such an establishment, a comparatively helpless and degraded class of beings may be elevated to usefulness and respectability, and placed where they have an indisputable right to be—on a level with their fellows.

In conclusion, permit me to say to you, gentlemen of the Board, that you, as trustees of this institution, are the guardians of its interests. Fidelity to the obligations you have thus assumed, requires that whatever influence you possess should be exerted for the extension and permanent security of those interests. Afflicted humanity implores that whatever power your social position may hold should be exercised for its relief. Christianity, advancing civilization, and all else that is elevating, demands that you should do something for the furtherance of this most generous reform.

Should this report meet the eye of any member of the legislature, I trust he will ponder well upon what has been said ; and that in him may be awakened a generous sympathy for those who are from the cheerful ways of men cut off, and for the book of knowledge fair, presented with an universal blank of nature’s works expunged and razed.

GEORGE FEARN, Treasurer.

REPORT OF THE VACCINE AGENT,

FOR THE YEARS 1848 AND 1849.

To His Excellency,

JOS. W. MATTHEWS, Governor, &c.:

SIR:—In conformity to law, I beg leave, herewith, to submit to you this, my second report, as Agent of the Vaccine Depot, established in this city by act of the Legislature, approved 16th February, 1846.

During the years 1848 and '49 there have been, at different periods, various cases of Small Pox, or Varioloid, introduced into the State, causing, for a time, much anxiety and alarm in the public mind.

In the months of January and February, 1848, in several of the counties bordering on the Mississippi and Yazoo rivers, small pox was introduced by steamboat travel, and, in some instances, before its nature was fully revealed, or the patients, insulated from the community, it was reproduced in some of our citizens. In the summer of 1848 one case occurred in this county, in a young man, recently from New Orleans; but, by strict care, I believe that the disease was not communicated to any of his attendants.

During the winter and spring of 1849, I have been advised by letters, from Natchez to Bolivar, on the Mississippi river, and on various points of the Yazoo river, of the existence of Small Pox. The disease also made its appearance in Kemper county, in May last.

From the foregoing facts, it may be truly inferred that the applications for vaccine matter have been numerous—so much so, indeed, that from 1st January last to 20th March, I could not fill all the orders sent me as promptly as wished; and, although I kept on hand, during the whole of this period, patients under the influence of the vaccine disease, from whom I was gathering the matter every few days, yet some of the applications were necessarily postponed for want of matter; and I find, by reference to my Register, that it was not till 24th of March that all applications were supplied. Since that period I have had an excess of matter over the supply of all applications.

I herewith exhibit the directions with which I accompanied the packages of matter distributed, and also the form of the circular letter, which the law requires the agent to send to each county in the State, semi-annually. This mode of giving information of the agency, and its duties, by addressing one or two, or a dozen letters, to private individuals in each county, once or twice a year, I have found very inefficient ; and I trust that the legislature will remedy this defect, by authorizing the agent to give publicity to this subject in at least five or six newspapers of the most extensive circulation in different parts of the State ; for I am well assured, from nearly four years' experience, that the more fully and widely the agency is known, the more it will be appreciated and relied on, and the more numerous and steady will be the applications for it, from all parts of the State. I have found no difficulty, for the last two years, in obtaining suitable patients for vaccination, from whom an adequate amount of virus could be obtained for distribution ; and it has only been when a crowd of applications has come on me, almost at the same time, from an apprehension of danger, that I have been unable promptly to supply them.

The number of patients vaccinated by me, from 1st January, 1848, to the present date, (7th of December, 1849,) is one hundred and forty-three. The number of packages of matter distributed, during the same time, is one hundred and eighty-one. The number of persons vaccinated, in 1846 and 1847, was one hundred and two. The number of packages of matter distributed, in the same years, was seventy. In 1846 and 1847 I distributed many packages of matter where no application was made. In 1848 and 1849 I mostly restricted the distribution to applicants, and yet the increase of distribution of the last two years, over that of the two preceding, stands as one hundred and eighty-one to seventy.

I herewith exhibit a list of persons to whom the matter has been distributed during the last four years. Should the Legislature determine to continue the agency, after an examination of what it has been able to accomplish in the last two years, I trust that a committee will be raised, as was done by the last legislature, to examine the subject more in detail, with such information as the agent may be able to lay before them.

All of which is respectfully submitted :

E. PICKETT, M. D.,
Vaccine Agent of Mississippi.

JACKSON, December 7, 1849.

VACCINATION—MODE OF OPERATING.

With the point of a clean, sharp lancet, needle, or common pen-knife, I puncture or scratch very slightly the skin, until I see distinctly the appearance of blood. If the wound should bleed too freely to permit the matter to remain in contact with it, I wipe off the blood, and wait a few minutes, till it ceases to appear, when the matter is applied with the point of the operating instrument. I usually vaccinate the left arm, about midway between the elbow and shoulder. I select this arm because it is least used.

Preparation of the Scab.—The hardest and darkest part of the scab should be selected and crushed to a powder on any hard, smooth surface, (I use two small glass plates for this purpose,) to which add a drop of water, which will soon change the powdered scab to a thick, milky fluid. The application of this fluid to the wound, and keeping it in contact with it till it dries, completes the operation. When the fresh lymph from the pustule is used, it should be taken about the ninth day, or, when the pustule is well filled, from a slight puncture near the margin, made with the point of a needle or sharp lancet, the clear lymph which exudes from the puncture will be found more certain in its effects than the scab; but I would not recommend a frequent resort to the pustule to obtain the lymph, for this might interrupt its regular course, and modify, to some extent, its influence upon the system.

Subjects for Vaccination.—Unless there be a necessity, arising from an apprehension of small pox, I would not usually vaccinate a child under a year old; after this age all should be submitted to the operation. Cutaneous diseases, chronic or recent ulcers, especially if they at all affect the general system, forbid vaccination. Children in delicate health and of irritable temperament should not be vaccinated, unless there be a strong necessity for it; for in such patients extensive erysipelatous inflammation may supervene, or the genuine vaccine disease may not be formed; in either case no protection will result to the vaccinated, from the operation, and it should be postponed till health is restored. That the vaccine disease may be fully developed—that it may run its course regularly, without interruption—the health of the patient should be good at the time of vaccination, and the condition of the skin as perfect as possible.

Appearance of the Genuine Vaccine Pustule.—On the fourth or fifth day after vaccination a small red pimple makes its appearance at the point where the matter was inserted, the slight wound having entirely healed. On the second and third days, after the vaccine inflammation has been distinctly formed, this pimple gradually assumes the character of a vesicle, elevated above the surrounding skin, round or slightly oval in form, of a light pink red, almost semi-transparent in the circumference, and distinctly depressed in the centre. About the ninth day, usually, the vaccine pustule is perfectly formed and filled with lymph, the centre remaining depressed; and around it, varying from one to two inches in extent, the skin becomes inflamed, and of a deep scarlet color. If the pustule be now pierced with a needle or lancet, a transparent, clear fluid will be found to exude from it, which is the genuine vaccine virus. About the tenth or eleventh day the depressed centre begins to assume a darker hue, and, the pustule subsiding, this hue is extended slowly over the whole surface, where the transparent lymph is changed into the vaccine scab, of a deep mahogany color, usually about the size of a five cent piece.

Symptoms of the Genuine Vaccine Pustule.—The local symptoms are, itching during the forming stage, pain in the maturing or matured stage, and soreness afterwards. About the seventh or eighth day the patient has more or less febrile symptoms, attended with enlargement and soreness of the glands in the armpit. These febrile symptoms are usually so slight as to require little attention, and frequently escape observation or complaint; and, again, they are decided, well marked, and require attention. I have seen the patient with quick pulse, hot skin, flushed cheek, headache, sick stomach and furred tongue—though such cases are rare.

Treatment.—The vaccine pustule requires no local treatment—all that is necessary is to preserve it from pressure and friction, so that it may not be ruptured. If, however, considerable inflammation supervene, which should be regarded as an accidental, rather than as a necessary result of the operation, sugar of lead water and poultices may be used to advantage. For the febrile excitement, a dose of castor oil, quietude, and abstinence from excitants, are all that will be necessary.

Difference between the True and the Spurious Pustule.—The true vaccine pustule never appears till the end of the third or beginning of the fourth day after vaccination; the spurious always before, and with considerable inflammation. The true is marked with regular defined margin, and flat, indented surface: the spurious, with irregular margin and elevated surface. The true is first a vesicle, then a pustule; the spurious is never a vesicle, but runs at once into suppuration. The true is never fully matured until from the ninth to the tenth day; the spurious is generally well by that time. The true leaves a regular, well defined scar, with pitted surface; the spurious an irregular scar, with smooth surface.

And, Finally—It is recommended, earnestly, that every patient be submitted to the examination of a careful physician, or of some one well informed as to the appearance and progress of the vaccine disease; for it is not every pustule produced by the genuine virus that is genuine, and, to enable the physician to decide on its character with confidence, he should see it during its forming, maturing and declining stages—that is, about the fourth or fifth, eighth or ninth, and eleventh or twelfth days.

Of course the Faculty will perceive that the foregoing detail is not given for their instruction, but for that of those who will assume the responsibility of vaccination, without competent knowledge to conduct it.

E. PICKETT, M. D.,
Vaccine Agent for Mississippi.

JACKSON, MISS., January 25, 1847.

CIRCULAR—DUTIES OF THE AGENT.

1. To procure and keep for distribution, fresh and genuine vaccine virus.
2. To distribute it, on application, to any citizen of the State.
3. To correspond with those who may wish it, giving such information as may be sought.
4. To vaccinate all who may apply for that purpose.
5. To keep a register of those vaccinated.
6. To report the Governor; and,

Lastly—To send circulars of the Agency, and duties of the Agent, to every county in the State, every six months.

E. PICKETT, M. D.,
Vaccine Agent for Mississippi.

A correct copy from the Register :

E. PICKETT, M. F.,
Vaccine Agent for Mississippi,

To His Excellency, JOSEPH W. MATTHEWS,
Governor of the State of Mississippi :

SIR :—The undersigned. Secretary of State of the State of Mississippi, and ex officio General School Commissioner, has the honor to to submit the second biennial report of the condition of the common schools of the respective counties herein designated, under the operation of the school laws approved March 5th, 1846, and March 4th, 1848.

In my last official communication returns were embodied from one-fourth of the counties of the State ; and I have to regret that, either from inefficiency or inattention of the Boards of Commissioners and County Superintendents, I am now only able to report, in a meagre and unsatisfactory manner, the condition of the common schools in eleven counties.

It will also be observed that, in my former report, information was communicated from several counties, from which no official returns have since been received.

The board of commissioners for the county of Clarke, in September, 1848, reported an insufficient fund to sustain more than one teacher in the county, and, under the act of 1846, consent to impose a special tax could not be obtained.

No school had been established in the county up to that period, in consequence of a misapprehension of the provisions of the act of 4th March, 1848, amendatory to the act of 1846. They reported, on account of the sale of the 16th section, $325 14, including a note for $43 18, sued on. Received from licenses, $786 51. In the aggregate, $1,165 51, loaned at eight per centum, and well secured. On the 4th June last, they further report that, in consequence of the deficiency of the school fund, no school had as yet been established, but express the hope that they will soon succeed in doing so. They have $1,515 77 loaned at interest, and well secured, excepting the sum of $43 18, which is considered doubtful.

The board of commissioners for the county of Chickasaw represent, on the 1st June, ultimo, that there was in their county treasury, to the credit of the Common School Fund, $548 69; that nothing had been expended; that there are, in the county, one hundred and sixty-eight children who are deemed proper beneficiaries of said fund.

The board had determined to pay one dollar per month, for a term not exceeding five months, within the year 1849, for each of such children as might be duly sent to, and taught in, any common school in the county—payment to be made at the end of the year.

The board further represent that a decree of forfeiture had been obtained against individuals, upon which the District Attorney had collected five hundred dollars, but had not then paid the same, or any part thereof, over to the county treasury. No sixteenth section fund had ever been created in the county.

The Superintendent of Public Schools for the county of Hinds, on the 13th September, 1848, transmitted to this Department the assessors' report of the number of children between the ages provided by law, as follows:

In township 3, range 1, 2, 3 and 4 West,.....	305
In township 4, range " " "	427
In township 5, range " " "	443
In township 6, range " " "	398
In township 7, range " " "	247
In township 8, range 3 and 4 West,.....	24
In township 3, range 1 East.....	5
In township 4, range 1 "	3
In township 5, range 1 "	428
In township 6, range 1 "	83
In township 6, range 2 "	11
In township 13, N., range 5 West.....	54
In township 14, " " 5 "	90
In township 15, " " 5 "	22
Total.....	2,540

As per report just received, the aggregate amount of the Common School Fund in Hinds county is four thousand eight hundred and seventy-six dollars and thirty-four cents, exclusive of commissioners' salary, etc.

The amount derived from twenty-five per cent. tax is four thousand six hundred and seventy dollars and thirty-four cents; finer, etc., two hundred and thirty dollars ; licenses, nine hundred dollars.

In the month of April last, it is stated, there were twenty-five hundred and forty children in said county, between the ages prescribed by law. Forty-seven common schools had been established, embracing thirteen hundred and sixty pupils, including therein attendants upon the Jackson Free School. There were eleven private schools, numbering two hundred and sixty-four scholars. The Sixteenth Section Fund yields an annual revenue of forty-five hundred dollars. The average salary paid to teachers is estimated at forty dollars per month.

The superintendent of the county of Holmes makes returns of the enumeration of children, without specifying the age (and hence I have not classified them) of the aggregate number of sixteen hundred and eight.

The condition of the School Fund in Jones county was reported to be, June 5th, 1848, as follows: Amount of notes arising from the sale of the sixteenth sections, $1,175; from tavern license, $75, and interest, $140, making a sum total of $1,390 90. They had received, on account of principal and interest, from sundry persons, $105 73; paid and loaned out, $105 18. They further state, on the 4th June, ult., there had been received $40 31, and $40 loaned out. No schools have been established in the county, and no other report received therefrom.

It appears from the return of the assessor for Jefferson county, dated September 1st, 1848, that there were, between the ages provided by law, free white children in said county as follows:

In township 8, range 1 and 2 West.....	25
In township 9, range 1 "	10
In township 10, range 1 "	38
In township 8, range 1, 2, 3 & 4 E.....	249
In township 9, range " " "	159
In township 10, range " " "	73

Total..... 554

The late superintendent of common schools for said county, on the 20th October, ult., reports that the poorest townships in said county distribute to every child within their limits the sum of three dollars and sixty-six cents, and the richest, the sum of twenty-five to thirty dollars.

In May, 1848, a special tax of ten per centum of the State tax was imposed, from which they derived a revenue of $1009 36. The aggregate amount of the School Fund, in April last, inclusive of the special tax accruing from licenses, etc., amounted to the sum of $1,699 36. After deducting superintendent's salary, and commissions of other officers, there remained $1086 44 to be distributed among the townships entitled to the same. A scale of distribution was adopted in appropriating the fund to the respective townships, in order to equalize the benefits thereof proportionably to their several number of children—establishing, as their minimum, the township having the poorest sixteenth section fund, and applying, for the benefit of each child, an amount equal to that derived from the sixteenth section fund. Provided the sixteenth sections were all available, he estimates a tax of twenty-five per centum would equalize nearly one-half of the townships in the county. A tax of fifty-five per centum would give each child, in twelve townships, the sum of $16, and the sum of $4 from each parent or guardian, added to this amount, would enable each child to attend school eight months in the year.

The board have divided townships, when necessary, into two equal parts, and established two schools therein, having the requisite number of pupils in each part. In some instances they have retained a portion of a township as one district, and the other portion has been added to the part of an adjoining township; of the two a second district was formed. Children residing at the extreme limits of a township were permitted, with the consent of the trustees concerned, to pass over and attend school in adjoining townships. In pursuance to this plan ten or twelve schools were established, averaging twenty-five scholars each.

A report from Lawrence county, dated 31st October, 1848, purporting to be an assessment return, was received at this Department, from which it appears there are eleven hundred and eighty-one children in the county; but, as their ages are not specified, in pursuance to law, it is deemed unnecessary to classify them. The superintendent for said county, in November, 1848, states that trustee elections were held in eighteen townships, and (with one or two exceptions) there are not, in the remaining townships, a sufficient number of persons willing and capable to serve. Three schools had been established, under the act of 1848, and others would have been, provided the people had been informed of the advantages of the law. The total number of children attending school was estimated at one hundred and fifty. He estimates that the county school fund, including the twenty-five per centum of the State tax, will defray about one-half of the expenses of the schools.

In his second annual report, made in November last, he gives information of the organization of ten schools, and speaks encouragingly of the future prospect.

The school commissioners for Lauderdale county, by a recent report, represent that there are five schools in successful operation, and one hundred and fifty-six pupils in attendance thereon. The amount of general school fund is stated to be $1,731 26, $481 76 of which is in the county treasury, and $1,249 50 loaned on interest, and secured. There has been paid to teachers, during the past year, out of the sixteenth section and general school funds, six hundred and forty dollars. In one township there is a school fund of $785 95, $56 89 of which is in the county treasury, and the balance on interest, and secured. One-half of the amount of the salaries of the respective teachers is paid from the School Fund, and one moiety by individuals.

The board of school commissioners for Pike county, in December, 1848, reported five schools in successful operation, in the month of June preceding, and the number gradually increasing. They further state the aggregate number of days of tuition, between the 7th September, 1847, and 3d June, 1848, to have been as follows :

Scholars under 10 years of age.....	3,146
Scholars from 10 to 15 years of age.....	4,891
Scholars from 15 to 20 years of age.....	2,591
Scholars from 20 to 25 years of age.....	523
Scholars 25 years of age, and upwards.....	207
Total.....	11,358

They have expended for their tuition from two and one-third to five cents per day—the balance being paid by parents and guardians. The amount of permanent funds of the several townships was reported to have been $3,806, all of which is loaned, on good security. The amount of the Education Fund is stated to have been $10 26. In June, 1849, the board gave information of six schools in operation, at which there had been, during six months, seven thousand five hundred and eighty-four days' attendance of the different scholars. There had been paid five cents per day, for three hundred and thirty-six days' tuition, and one cent per day for nine hundred and eighty days—the balance having been paid by parents and guardians. Eighteen teachers had been licensed, and mostly employed. The amount of permanent funds belonging to the several townships was $3,886 52, $9 22 of which was in cash, and the balance in notes, with good security. The Education Fund amounted to $54 24.

The superintendent of public schools in the county of Wilkinson made a report, on the 10th September, 1848, from which it appears that boards of trustees were duly elected in all the townships but two. They were afterwards filled as the law directs. By reference to the assessors' returns it is shown there were, between the ages specified in the law, nine hundred and thirty-six children. Of this number it was supposed that about six hundred would avail themselves of the benefit of the free schools. It was thought, by a careful distribution of the fund arising from the highest tax, (fifty per cent.,) allowed in the law, that the children might be educated, “with a very small demand on the parents.” The township funds vary very much in amount, from $20 per annum, to $800, or from $300 to $22,000 capital. “There are but two townships in the county able to pay all school bills, without charge to the general fund or the parents." There are five townships, having from one-half to two-thirds of what will be required. "These will never draw anything from the county fund, as the average of distribution will never reach their present income; besides the fact that these townships are wealthy." There are nineteen townships in the county, and two fractional. Finally, to meet the educational demands of these, at least twenty-five schools will be required. A variety of obstacles had prevented the organization of more than four schools, under the provisions of the law. Eighteen teachers had applied for examination, and been licensed.

The superintendent again reports, under date of the 21st November, ult., the present condition of common schools in Wilkinson county. Five hundred and sixty-one children have attended the township schools during the past year. There are nine hundred and thirty-six children in the county of lawful age. One hundred of these have attended private schools. This leaves some three hundred children who have not had the benefit of instruction during any part of the year. Reasons are assigned for this destitution, and suggestions made as to some modifications of the law, which, in the main, is considered wise and salutary.

A tabular statement accompanies this communication, specifying the number of children in each township; number at school in each township; number at school; number to and from another township; time, and branches taught in the school; amount of capital in each township, and amount of income; amount per child; cost of houses and tuition, and amount paid, per child, by the county, are all given in detail.

The school commissioner of Yazoo county, in December, 1848, furnished a tabular statement, from which it appears that there were, in the aggregate, eight hundred and nine children in the county—four hundred and thirty-three attending school. Seventeen teachers were employed, who were paid $2,385 out of the Sixteenth Section Fund, $628 out of the School Fund, and the balance by individuals. In the month of March last they further report the aggregate number of children to have been one thousand and seventy-three; four hundred and twenty-nine of this number were at school. They employed seventeen teachers, who were paid from the Sixteenth Section Fund $1,570, and $553 out of the School Fund, and the balance by individuals.

Your commissioner has thus, in pursuance to law, given a summary of all the returns on file in this Department from the School Commissioners and Superintendents.

My predecessor in office prepared suitable blanks to be filled up by the school commissioners, and distributed them as required by law—not one of which has been returned to this office; and, in the absence of uniformity of returns, great difficulty is experienced in presenting such facts as are desirable to a complete understanding of this great enterprise.

It is worthy of remark that, in several counties, great emphasis is placed upon the fact of their inability to procure competent teachers. This is assigned as a chief cause of their destitution of schools. "Ireland, Scotland, Canada, New England, New York, and the Western States, furnish nearly all of our teachers." It is, unfortunately, too true—"Very few native teachers are employed, from the fact of their incompetency." This melancholy truth is observed by men of intelligence throughout the State, and is considered one of the greatest obstacles to a successful establishment of any general system of education. We are at a loss which the most to condemn, an entire state of ignorance, or an erroneous and false tutelage of our youth.

The pedagogue who implants upon the tender mind habits at war with the true principles of science, does a lasting injury to society, and deserves the reprobation of mankind. This important consideration, so obviously true, renders it our highest duty, in perfecting a system of education which is to enure to the benefit of the present and future generations, to look well to the character and qualifications of those to whom we confide the instruction of our children.

Men are often employed to instruct our youth, entirely void of all literary qualifications, destitute of sound moral principle, and entirely unfit for their stations. We must overlook their foreign accent and stupid vulgarity, or be entirely deprived of school privileges. The only conceivable corrective is in the establishment of schools, whence teachers of the right sort may be procured, bringing the proper credentials as to character and literary qualifications. Various systems have been resorted to, in other States, to obtain this end, and it appears to be conceded that academies and colleges, in their discipline and instruction, are not well calculated for the instruction of teachers.

Your commissioner respectfully suggests for your consideration the paramount importance of establishing one or more schools of a Normal character, having for their object not only the implanting of mere positive instruction, but a mode of discipline peculiarly adapted to the wants and training of teachers. The objects, course and branches of instruction of a Normal school may be briefly defined thus: Candidates for admission as pupils into the school, are examined in orthography, definition of words, reading, English grammar, history of the United States, geography, arithmetic and penmanship. Their average of scholarship must be such as to entitle them to admission, after a most thorough examination in these branches. The mode of instruction and discipline are peculiarly adapted to the training of teachers. It is not only necessary that the pupil should acquire knowledge, but they must give evidence of their ability to communicate it to others. "In the Normal school the pupil must spend time in recitation that would be unnecessary in ordinary schools; they are not only required to recite a lesson, but to illustrate it, as they would in teaching the same subject. One essential element in carrying out the object of the school, is the admission of pupils of proper dispositions and habits, with sufficient literary attainments to render it unnecessary to devote much time to their instruction in the elementary branches, except with reference to teaching them.

Lectures should be given on school government, and instruction, by lectures and recitations, in natural philosophy, chemistry and physiology. "In arranging the course of instruction," (remarks an able author,) "the aim is to restrict it chiefly to such branches or subjects as are essential to a complete fulfilment of the duties of a teacher, under whatever circumstances he may be placed; and not only in the instruction, but in every relation the pupil holds to a school, his future destinations as a teacher is kept prominently in view." The purpose of the school being particularly to develop the talents of the pupils as instructors, after a prescribed course of instruction, on any topic is indicated by the principal, the recitations are left to be carried on by the pupils themselves.

"The method of instruction is founded upon strictly inductive principles, always proceeding from the known to the unknown." In pursuing this course, much time is required, and the patience and skill of the teacher are subjected to the severest test; while mere routine teaching, or simply imparting positive instruction, so generally practiced, because attended with less labor, is carefully avoided. In the application of the first method, the mind, being necessarily the active agent in obtaining knowledge, is unfolded; while in the latter, by its being the passive recipient, it is liable to be overburdened, and the memory only improved. If the positive knowledge acquired by the inductive method is ever lost, the habit of thinking remains, and the reasoning powers are developed and disciplined." Thought and reason are fully developed, and principles are substituted for arbitrary rules.

The following branches of instruction have been adopted in some institutions of this character:

Lectures on the principles of education, embracing mental, moral and physical education; instruction in school government, and teaching the elementary branches, and practice in teaching. In the department of mathematics, elementary arithmetic, and instruction in higher arithmetic, and algebra and elementary astronomy. In the department of grammar, English grammar, and instruction in etymology, rhetoric, and elements of composition. In reading and history, instruction in English literature and the art of reading, geography and history of the United States of America, history of England, and general history of the world. Instruction in writing, drawing and music may also be added.

Your attention is invited to the "Act to provide for and establish schools in the counties of Hinds, Holmes, Tunica, Jefferson, Wilkinson, Lawrence and Amite," and particularly to the 17th and 18th sections thereof.

The minimum number of scholars, in order to make a complete district, is twenty. The trustees cannot draw the funds from the county treasury without the full complement of scholars. From the sparseness of population, and other causes, in many instances the objects of the law will be defeated, unless modified to some extent. If the number was reduced, or made subject to the discretion of the trustees and superintendent, the number of schools would be increased.

As there has been a want of uniformity in the legislation of the State upon the subject of common schools, it would be an endless task to refer to the numerous appeals made for modifications of the laws on this subject. It has occurred to the undersigned that the cause of education would be greatly conserved throughout the State, should the legislature, in its wisdom, provide by law for the appointment of one or more State Superintendents, who should have a supervisory care of the educational wants of the State, and devote their exclusive time and energy to the establishment of schools and the perfection of a general educational system, adapted to our population and institutions. If the right sort of talents were enlisted in this behalf, great good might be effected.

In conclusion, your commissioner indulges the pleasing hope that the patriotic design of extending educational privileges to each child in the State may speedily be accomplished, and thereby elevate the standard of morals, and secure the blessings of civil and religious liberty to the remotest posterity.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully your very obedient servant

SAMUEL STAMPS,

Secretary of State,

and ex officio General School Commissioner.

JACKSON, December 26, 1849.

REPORT

Of Superintendents of Common Schools in Hinds County.

HON. SAMUEL STAMPS,

Secretary of State :

SIR: I have the honor herewith to submit my report on schools, and school funds in Hinds county.

Very respectfully,

A. NEWTON,

Superintendent Com. Schools Hinds County.

Nov. 1849.

TO THE HON. SAMUEL STAMPS,

Secretary of State :

SIR: The undersigned, Superintendent of Common Schools for Hinds county, in compliance with section twelve, of the school law, approved March 4, 1848, respectfully submits the following report, containing facts, suggestions, estimates, and such proposed modifications of the existing law, as experience would seem to demand, together with an exhibit, showing the number of free white children, between the ages of six and twenty, in the county, and in each township, as per assessor's returns, Sept. 1848; the number of common schools, and the number of scholars attending them, during the year ending May, 1848; the number of private schools in the county, and the pupils attending them; the township or 16th section fund in each township; the amount of common school fund appropriated to each township, etc.

1. DIFFICULTIES ENCOUNTERED IN PUTTING THE SYSTEM INTO OPERATION.

The law of 1848, proposed to introduce and establish a system of means for the education of "all free white children," entirely new and untried. Difficulties were to be expected, in starting and establishing such a system. Among these, may be mentioned, as the most prominent, a general apprehension or suspicion in the minds of our people that the law would not be permanent.

The objection has been urged, as an excuse for inaction on the part of many good citizens, "a new school law every session of the Legislature, always doing and undoing, making changes and experiments, producing nothing but confusion, and accomplishing no real and lasting good."

The limitation of twenty scholars, (section 8,) proved an insuperable difficulty to some boards of trustees, in the establishment of schools. Ignorance, apathy in regard to education, generally, manifested chiefly by those not feeling personally interested; obstinacy and unconquerable prejudice on the part of a few, and an unpardonable selfishness in many, who would not have a school, but where they would have it, and the consequent disagreement as to locations, may be reckoned as contributing their full share of the difficulties to be overcome.

2. GOOD EFFECTS OF THE LAW.

If the law of 1848 has failed to accomplish all the good which was contemplated, and desired by its friends, it has not failed to awaken public attention, in a degree unprecedented in this latitude, to the immeasurable importance of popular education. I do not hesitate to say, that more has been thought and said in Hinds county, on this subject, during the last year, than has been thought and said in any twenty years preceeding.

The funds belonging exclusively to the township, arising from the lease of 16th sections, have been more carefully looked after.

The township trustees, generally, with an earnestness and an energy altogether new, in this department, and highly benefitting the sacred responsibilities of their station, have gone to work like men, waked up the sleeping holders and debtors, and startled them from their hiding places. The most stringent measures have been adopted, for forcing payment and securing funds. In this regard, the board of trustees are worthy of all praise.

I think we may safely reckon, as one of the happiest results of this law, the practical demonstration which, as an experiment, it has furnished, that a system of common schools, aiming to carry the means of instruction to all, can live in this State.

3. SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL FUNDS.

The Exhibit accompanying these sheets, is based chiefly upon the reports of trustees, rendered in April, 1849, and shows :

Number of children, between the ages of six and twenty, as per assessor's report, Sept., 1848,	2,540
Number of common schools,	47
Number attending common schools, including Jackson Free Schools,	1,361
Number of private schools,	11
Scholars attending township, or sixteenth section fund, principal belonging to the townships severally, a portion not due,	$45 00
Common school fund arising from tax licenses, fines, penalties, etc., and distributed to the townships in proportion to the number of children in each,	$4,876 34

This common school fund gives to the whole number of children—2540—each, ... 1 92

But as those only actually at school are entitled, we have $4,876—1360—per child $3 60

The amount per scholar in townships having available 16th section funds, was more or less, in proportion to the value of those funds, and is not exhibited. Supposing these funds all due and yielding an interest of ten per cent., and distributed, we would have, aggregate 16th section funds, $4,500—2540—per child, ... 1 79

The Exhibit furnished is necessarily imperfect, and probably inaccurate, and is by no means as satisfactory as could be desired. The time of the attendance of scholars is not given. The average time is about — months. The average salaries of teachers is about $40 per month.

The funds set down to each township, indicate the assets of each, amount in the aggregate, to about $4,500. These funds, though generally safe and good, are in some instances, unavailable at present; and in some townships a portion of the notes is not due. In others, the 16th section, remains unsold, and is worth but little. In one township, the 16th section is rented annually, and yields about $350. Another, in like manner, yields about $40 per annum. These are indicated in the Exhibit, as being assets, severally amounting to $3,500 or $500.

In several fractional townships, the school section lies wholly, or in part, in an adjacent county.

The common school fund distributed, is the nett amount. Thus,

Tax equal to 25 per cent. of the State tax,	$4,670 34
Fines, penalties, &c.	23 00
Licenses,	900 00

Total common school fund,	$5,800 00
---------------------------	------------

Deduct Treasurer's commissions 3 per cent.	134 00
Superintendent's salary,	600 00
Assessor,	150 00
	924 00
Common school fund distributed,	4,876 34

4. ESTIMATES.

In comparing the number of scholars with the number of children in the county, it is important to notice, that the legal school age is from six to twenty. Many thus enumerated, are young men engaged in business; others are young ladies whose education is finished, and not a few are mistresses of families. The number of such as do not need, and cannot be expected to go to school, must be at least 500. If so, then we have.

The number of children that ought to go to school,	2000
To the 1,360 attending common schools, add the number at private schools, 1,360—264	1624

Leaving the number at school, ... 376

Again; we may safely assume 1,800 as the highest number of scholars that can be expected, under any circumstances, to attend the common schools in any one year, without a very considerable increase of the population of the county.

Now, supposing the township funds all due and yielding an annual income, and the school tax to remain as at present, (the licenses will fall short several hundreds) we have the following:

Township fund—aggregate of the county	$4500
Common school fund 25 per cent. of the State tax,	4600

Making total school fund $9170

This would give to 1,800 scholars 9,170—1800 scholars, 509
 Making the tax equal to 50 per cent, of the tax, and then we have—

Common school fund. $9340—4,500 — 13,840 — 1,800
 per scholar, ... 7 68

Making the school tax equal to 75 per cent. of the State tax. Then, common school fund, $14,010 — 4,500—
 18,510—1,800 per scholar 10 28

Making the school tax equal to 100 per cent. of the State tax, and we have—

Common school fund, $18,680—4,500—23,180—1,800
 per scholar, ... 12 87

In the above estimates the funds of the several townships are consolidated and made common with the tax fund, and show the average per capitem, school fund of the county, that would be produced by the several rates of taxation.

On the basis of a school tax, equal to 75 per cent. of the State tax, each township retaining its own 16th section fund, as at present, those townships having no exclusive fund, would receive per scholar $7 78. And township three, range four west, (Utica,) one of the wealthier townships, may be considered thus:

Township 3 range 4 west, (Utica,) 16th section fund, $5,056, interest 10 per cent., ...	505 00
Number of scholars reported, 96, $500—96, per scholar	5 25
Portion of common school fund	7 78
Total fund. per scholar	13 03
This would pay for teachers' salaries, ...	1,250 88

5. MODIFICATIONS OF THE LAW SUGGESTED.

Section 1, amend so as to avoid misconstruction.

Section 2, make the tax equal to— per cent. of the State tax.

Section 5, require the superintendent to appoint three voters of the township inspectors of the election, and to make their returns to him. Also, define who are "voters." Elect trustees for two years.

Section 6, provide that the clerk shall not issue execution until advertised by the trustees, or for thirty days.

Section 7, provide for the appointment of a treasurer.

Section 8, strike out the limitation of twenty scholars, in both the instances in which it occurs. Also provide that the superintendent shall apportion the common school fund to the townships, by submitting to the county treasurer, annually, a statement showing the amount that each township is entitled to by law.

Section 9, provide for a suitable compensation to the collector of township or district tax, and for forcing the collection.

Section 12, require the superintendent to report to the board of police, annually.

Section 17, strike out the limitation of twenty youths, and say, a sufficient number to make a school.

Section 18, provide that pupils may be sent to schools across the township lines, with the consent of the boards of trustees concerned.

Also define the terms "so situated," to mean as to distance, and access to the school-house.

Section 19, define "all the powers and all the duties," so as to refer only to the management of schools, employment of teachers, &c., and not to the control of the township funds, lands, &c.

Also, repeal the special laws giving to the city of Jackson, exclusively, the funds arising from licences, &c., in the city.

Also, define, clearly, the relation of the Jackson free schools to the county system.

Require reports to superintendent, and either require teachers to obtain, or exempt them from obtaining certificates from the superintendent.

Section 22, repeal all the old laws regulating 16th section funds, election of trustees, &c.

Section 8, define when the year begins and ends.

Provide, distinctly, that the existing boards of trustees shall be authorized to make titles to lands sold or leased by previous boards, or by the commissioners under the law of 1846.

Provide for those townships or fractions of townships, whose 16th sections lie wholly or in part, in adjacent counties.

Provide for the disposal of the fund now in the county treasury, which accrued from licenses, fines, penalties, &c., under the law of 1846, and for the payment of certain teachers employed by said commissioners.

Define, expressly, upon whose warrant the county treasurer shall pay over the sums apportioned to the several townships, from the common school fund.

TEACHERS. I have found myself happily disappointed in the number of competent and faithful practical teachers offering themselves to our schools. As the licensing system was entirely new, it was thought best to deal gently at first. And, besides, I was fearful a sufficient number of well qualified teachers could not be had, and under this impression, gave certificates to too many applicants who, to say the least, were no better than they should be. A considerable number were, nevertheless rejected as utterly unendurable. I now feel satisfied, from the experience of the last few months, that with a fund such as would accrue from a tax equal to 75 per cent. of the State tax, our county may very soon become the glory and pride of the State in respect to schools. We have now a considerable number of teachers, who are in all respects "workmen who have no need to be ashamed." Men of enlarged, liberal, cultivated, and practical minds; men who know their duty, and have hearts to perform it. This number may be increased to any desirable extent. It is true, those we have are self-sacrificing men — and labor faithfully in the great cause with very moderate salaries. But let it once be understood, that Hinds county has the means, and the right sort of teachers will not be wanting.

The people are willing; they are prepared. To say they are not yet prepared for measures so liberal, is only another way of saying they are not willing to be taxed. This may be true of a small minority. But there are a few men in every community, who are not willing to be taxed for any thing, not ever for making roads and the support of government. I do not hesitate to express my belief, however, that a large majority of our citizens are now ready and willing to pay any tax for educational purposes, ~~if~~ provided it is sufficiently high. What they want is a system of free schools. Many, who are opposed to the present law, because of the stinted amount of funds raised, are in favor of a liberal policy; such a tax as would produce four times the means we now have. This would elevate the character of common schools, so that those who seek superior advantages for their children could not find them elsewhere.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE. An association of teachers has been formed, and although its meetings are not as numerously attended as is desired, yet as a means of mutual improvement, devising and suggesting the best methods of communicating instruction, uniformity of text books, and the management of schools, it promises much good. Such an association, in the absence of any thing like a Normal school, bringing the teachers together to hear and deliver lectures upon educational topics—to consult and advise with each other—to propose and discuss modes of teaching, to form acquaintances, and cultivate good feeling and a professional spirit, may be made productive of incalculable good to teachers, pupils, and the community at large, and cannot fail greatly to enhance the value and efficiency of the common school system.

I would earnestly recommend that a small appropriation from the common school fund, say $—, to be voted by the board of police, and with appropriate restrictions, be made for defraying the expenses necessarily incurred by the members of this association, in the purchase of books, stationery, room-rent, lights, &c., and especially books on education and school teaching.

GEOLOGICAL LETTER OF DOCT. THORNTON.

RANKIN CO., MISSISSIPPI, }

To his Excellency Gov. MATTHEWS,

SIR: Although I have but a slight personal acquaintance with you, I am nevertheless induced on that acquaintance, and from a knowledge, indirectly, of the interest you have taken in the geological examinations that have been made in some portions of our State, to address you on that subject, and respectfully ask that public attention be called to it, as a subject of vast moment to all the citizens, especially the farmers of our State.

I have read, with great pleasure, the occasional notices in the papers, of these examinations, which have been made by yourself and others in Mississippi, most of which go far to confirm me in the opinion, which I have formed, as to the results of investigations, both extensive and minute.

Having had time to attend to it for several years, and having a small cabinet of minerals, well arranged for comparison, I determined, long since, to make such explorations as might satisfy my own mind, concerning the deposits in those parts of the State which I visited. Indeed, I had almost determined to make a special examination of three of our counties adjoining this, and publish the results, but felt afraid that it might interfere with some plan, which, I do sincerely hope, the Legislature will adopt, to have a geological survey of the whole State.

At the instance of several gentlemen, who know the efforts of yourself and others, to induce action on this subject, I call your attention to it, as I am requested to do, not only by them, but by personal friends which have communicated, indirectly at least, with you. I do, sir, most sincerely hope you will not leave the executive chair, without calling the attention of the Legislature to the subject; and I am sure Gen. Quitman will succeed your efforts, to have the mineralogical and geological resources of the State developed, in the only way in which it can be done effectually. You know it must have not only individual effort, but State action. In fact, sir, there has been too little legislation for the farmer. Science fully developed, aids immensely the masses, and especially the farming interests of our country. It not only developes the agricultural value of our lands, but the mineral resources thereof. East Mississippi, and Madison, Hinds, Warren, Claiborne, and Adams counties, from my own observations would be increased one hundred per cent. in value, if properly surveyed by a geologist.

Apart from the high estimate I entertain of your capability to judge correctly of the necessity for State patronage of every effort of her citizens, individually or collectively, for the promotion of education and the improvement of the sciences, which can alone lead to a developement of her resources and hidden treasures, as well as for her agricultural and manufacturing advancement, I take the liberty to address you, even upon a very slight acquaintance, because I know you to be a practical farmer, who, I have no doubt, is disposed to do all you can, to promote science and assist the laboring classes.

Though absent from the capitol of the State, I have not been altogether idle. The earth has afforded me considerable employment, and an occasional essay, generally, incognito was the result.

This important subject, will, I sincerely trust, enlist your influence with our Legislature, about to convene in Jackson. I have traveled extensively in the southern and some of the eastern counties of our State, and have seen many things to interest the geologist. Fossil remains, petrifications, phytolites, ichtholites, &c., lime and sand-stone, which might be quarried to great advantage. Some of the sand-stone not inferior to that obtained from the quarries in Stratford county, Virginia, of which the pillars in the eastern portico of the capitol of the United States are made.

Inexhaustible hills, banks, and beds of compact, or solid or porous, or soft marl, rich in calcareous matter, and which, with the hard limestone is filled with undecomposed shells of several geological series. There is marl enough of the different varieties in eastern Mississippi, to make the soil as productive and durable as the delta of the Mississippi river, or the richest prairies of the South, if properly applied, and at the same time, residents can enjoy as good health as those occupying mountainous regions. I have discovered that these natural meadows or prairies pass under the hills of lime, rock, marl, sand, and clay, making their appearance again at another place, and are to be found almost anywhere at the depth of from five to one hundred feet. When the overlying deposit of sand and clay is not deep, good water cannot be obtained without going to a considerable distance below, and then guarding against the seepings of the underlying prairie. There is, to me, a mystery about the formation of these prairies, which I think has never been solved by our best geologists. It has generally been the impression that trees will not grow on them. This is altogether a mistake. Fruit and ornamental trees and shrubbery will grow as luxuriantly on them, or more so than other soils; and there is nothing in the nature of the soil, nor too much lime to prevent their growth; nor have these been destroyed from frequent burnings by the aborigines as was supposed.

In every part of the poorest pine woods region, if we go deep enough, we come to this prairie soil, sometimes rich in calcareous matter; and my own experience has proved, that some portions obtained, at the depth of sixty-six feet, made excellent manure for a garden. Frequently, however, they contain too much magnesia, and a carbonate of lime, similar to chalk, which only becomes a fertilizer, after long exposure to the air and moisture, and when combined with vegetable matter. When these are exposed, they are unproductive, and in the hollows or depressions, after continued rains, succeeded by hot dry spells, they form incrustations of sulphate of lime and alumina, and chloride of soda, etc.

I have understood that there are fossil foot-prints, and I can obtain the bones or skeleton of a huge animal, no doubt of an extinct species or genera.

My investigations and observations have been confined mostly to the surface, as you may well suppose, not being fully prepared for a geological survey. Yet, there cannot be a doubt, but that here hoary Neptune and hot Pluto, have had a desperate struggle. The evidences of volcanic action are numerous and strong, and the upheaving of many places once submerged, is most apparent.

I have added something to my former collection, and may have an opportunity of laying them before the geological society. In these hills, valleys, and swamps, the botanist may find additions to our floral and medical botany; the mineralogist many specimens to enrich his cabinet, and the conchologist innumerable shells, the truest types, when well set, to explain the transitions of antediluvian ages; and it is not impossible, that many resources and hidden treasures of importance to the State, yet remain to be discovered by the geologist.

I well recollect that Virginia was thought to be poor in mineral resources, and without the means or material to recuperate her exhausted soils, until Prof. Rogers made his first geological survey and report to the legislature, and so it has been with most of the States. The immense coal-fields, marl-beds, &c., were brought to light in Maryland by Prof. Ducatel.

Prof. Mathers, by his geological survey, greatly enhanced the prosperity of Ohio, and a survey is now going on in Kentucky; and many of our sister States have had and are now, encouraging surveys of this kind; and shall Mississippi, which has taken a stand among her sister States, for energy and bravery in war, industry in peace, and her patronage of institutions for learning, with an overflowing treasury, be inactive? Will her great men and legislators remain indifferent on a subject of such vital importance to her wealth and fame?

It is a theory, the truth of which we cannot doubt, that as we descend into the earth, the temperature increases until all is in a state of liquification or fusion, and that it is only by an unchangeable law or process in chemistry, that in proportion as evaporation takes place from the surface of a body, that body is cooled, that we are thus furnished with a crust or shell over the earth on which to stand and act. When we seriously reflect that we are only a short days journey from an ocean of fire, it becomes us to be on the alert to investigate our condition, and as far as practicable, the changes which have taken place, and the results of the past upheavings and submergings which have occasioned these changes, and how they may be turned to profit. For this purpose, can a better or more necessary office be created than that of a State geologist, with a moderate annual appropriation, to begin and carry on a geological survey?

Prof. T. C. Thornton and the professors having kindly proffered all the assistance they can give in geological surveys, and the examinations of material in a laboratory. I have been sometimes almost persuaded to commence this vast work myself, by taking a county at a time, believing that the reports of such surveys would go far towards discharging the expenses of such a work, if not sufficient to remunerate me for my time and labor. But my means being limited, I fear to commence without the ability to complete. Moreover, by extending as a base a geological line through the State, and working with reference to it; all the work could be done in a more uniform and less expensive manner. That which tends to the interest of all, ought to be done under legislative action and patronage.

I discovered enough from my limited examinations, to know that a thorough geological survey of Mississippi would add to the actual value of the lands, on the lowest calculation, one hundred per cent. To designate the places where the lime, the building stone, the marl, the gypsum, the iron, would be found of vast importance to our citizens; and I know there are to be found in our State, clays and earths for paints, and many mineral substances, that are not supposed to have an existence in this State. It is, sir, time for action; who shall set this ball in motion? Shall politics and subjects merely local, occupy all the attention of our Legislature, and the great interests of education and science, in times of peace and plenty, when we have abundant means, be laid on the shelf? I hope not! This good work must be done, and it will be done by private and voluntary munificence, if not otherwise. Pressed as I am, to use my efforts for its accomplishment, I authorize the use of this letter or any information, I can impart for the attainment of this desirable object. Indeed, I would have addressed it to the editors of the Mississippian, but that I had understood from others, the interest Gov. Matthews had taken in the establishment of a geological society at the capital of our State.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

JAMES B. C. THORNTON.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi :

GENTLEMEN: At the second meeting of "The American Association for the Advancement of Science," held at Cambridge, in August last, the following resolution, reported by the standing committee, was unanimously adopted :

Resolved, That the American Association, for the advancement of science, cordially approves of the establishment of societies for the developement of geology and natural history of the several States, and that a committee be appointed to memorialize the State governments, which have had no geological surveys, or which have had them suspended, on the importance and necessity of establishing or resuming them.

In accordance with this resolution, the undersigned committee respectfully ask the attention of your honorable body to the object of the memorial.

The importance and necessity of geological surveys have long since been settled in the communities of the old continent; and in our own favored land, wherever the great interests of education have seriously occupied the public mind, the utility of such explorations has been properly appreciated. In many of the States of the Union, partial surveys have been commenced—amounting, in some to a mere reconnoissance of the prominent features of the formations, and in others to more elaborate investigation. Among the latter, New York has set an example of liberality, public spirit and high appreciation of this useful work, worthy of all praise; and in addition to the great local interests which have been developed as the fruits of her bounty, she has the proud satisfaction of having erected a scientific monument in the published reports which may well serve as a model for her sister States. Prof. Hall's work is considered by European geologists as "a standard work on palæontology of so high a character, that it will be equally essential to European and American students."

Massachusetts has done much, and the result have been given in valuable publications, which do honor to the State; but there remain yet to be accomplished objects of large scientific interest, which, no doubt, will be effected. In other States, the published reports may be considered as only preliminary to more extended and elaborate productions. In several of the States, surveys have been completed, but an unaccountable tardiness exists in giving to the public their valuable fruits.

In relation to the great agricultural interests of the country, the value of geological investigation cannot be too highly estimated. The origin and formation of soils—their fixed and transient properties—their chemical and mechanical composition—their mineral constituents—the presence of lime—of iron—of magnesia, of elements essential or injurious to vegetation—the means of improving or of correcting their qualities—of adding to or reducing certain constituents—their adaptation to particular culture—all these are dependant on principles which geology and its associate sciences point out.

In anticipation of having our land overrun in all directions by railroads, such surveys are of lasting importance, and the choice of location may often be influenced to the saving of large amounts of money, by the knowledge of the topographical geology of their proposed course.

To the civil engineer and architect, the knowledge of practical geology is all important, that they may adapt their plans and estimates to the condition of the country in which they are employed, and in the selection of materials present, which, from local circumstances, may be most available, and in many cases more suitable than what may be brought from a distance. It is but recently that the new houses of Parliament of Great Britain have been constructed of a stone which was selected by a geological commission appointed for the purpose, as better adapted than what was in ordinary use, thus applying a new portion of nature's masonry to valuable purposes of architecture.

Our capitol at Washington is a prominent and familiar example of the want of such knowledge and foresight in the selection of a perishable material for its construction. What is it that enables Egypt and Greece and Rome, now to enjoy the sympathy of other nations, but the grandeur of their architectural remains? Fortunately, these great works of antiquity were of durable materials, and instead of crumbling and unmeaning masses of decomposing matter, we have models presenting beauty of design and architectural elegance, as the memorials of perfected skill of a refined people, who enjoyed all the luxuries of improved taste.

In the progress of the mechanic arts, a knowledge of geology contributes largely in furnishing constant materials for their various processes.

In Europe, mining is a special branch of education, and the development of our extensive mineral resources is rendering geological investigation a matter of necessity, and the want of educated miners is seriously felt. Silver, copper, lead, manganese, zinc, and other ores, exist in abundance in many parts of our land, but skill is essential to appreciate their convertibility to use, and to work them to advantage.

A bare allusion to the inestimable value of iron ores is sufficient to bring to your minds the utility of geological investigation for their discovery and developement. A reference is scarcely necessary to the commercial wealth of those sections of our land which are blessed with the presence of coal, so essential in its application to the useful arts and to the domestic comforts of life. As a source of mineral wealth, its extent is incalculable. Scientific geology has settled with so much precision the boundaries of its local position, that the errors of expending £10,000 and even £20,000, as has happened in Great Britain, for a single experimental search without the aid of geology, will never again occur.

Artesian wells are becoming objects of interest in many sections of the Union, and without geological knowledge, their location is as much a matter of uncertainty as the search after coal.

In an educational point of view, geological surveys are part and parcel of true progress in knowledge, and are calculated to rouse a spirit of inquiry among our people, and to stimulate the young to investigate the phenomena of Nature's work, and their relations in the great economy of the universe. The observation of the results of geological study, requires so extensive an application of other departments of learning, that it may be, in fact, considered as embracing the whole circle of the positive sciences. In all our collegiate institutions, it is now considered a branch of science necessary to every well educated gentleman. Surveys of the several States are of great value to them individually, in comparison with the small amount of expenditure required in effecting them—and as contributing to develop the scientific resources of the whole country are an important consideration.

In conclusion, the committee respectfully, but earnestly, recommends the publication of reports with proper illustrations, as the intimate connection of the associated sciences is such, that plates of the fossils are essential to a proper understanding of the geological results.

The dependence of geology on palæontology, or the history of the ancient beings which inhabited the earth, is so important for its illustration, that zoology must be understood to enable us to elucidate the most valuable results of geological investigation. In laying the foundations of comparative anatomy, the illustrious Cuvier has settled its principles on the bony framework of the whole animal kingdom, and extended them to the restoration of the frames of thousands of forms that once "lived and moved and had their being," in bygone ages. The utility of this knowledge is appreciable when it is remembered, that by the presence of the organic contents of the various strata, they are now recognized and arranged in a geological series. They are identified by their fossils, hence the value of illustrating, for comparison, all such characteristics.

The science of the Union is beginning to be represented. The high position of its representatives is acknowledged and respected in the older communities, in the seats of learning which have long held supremacy in philosophical investigation. Genius and learning and zeal are now diligently engaged in developing the great truths of science—and the abilities of naturalists are constantly and successfully employed in contributing to their advancement. The scientific character of the several members of the Union, is an object of anxious interest with all, and the association which is here represented, has been established to aid in bringing together and combining the labors of individuals who are widely scattered into an institution that will represent the whole. The purpose of the association being “the advancement of science,” the committee represents its earnest hope in praying the State governments, who have suspended or imperfectly carried out geological surveys, to renew them until fully completed, and such as have not yet engaged in them, to have them instituted.

Trusting that your honorable body will appreciate this expression of opinion of the Association, here briefly expressed, we are, with great respect,

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MAJOR GENERALS:

JACKSON, January 1, 1850.

His Excellency,

JOSEPH W. MATTHEWS,

Governor of the State of Mississippi:

SIR:—In obedience to an order from general head-quarters, four out of the five Major Generals of the State, detailed by your order to review the present military organization of the State, and to suggest improvements therein, met in pursuance thereof, in the city of Jackson, in the spring of last year. The undersigned was named in your order as the President of the Board, being the senior Major General of the State.

After much deliberation, the Board determined to adjourn to a later day, and on that day no quorum was present.

At the first meeting, however, various views were presented by the undersigned, which met the approval of the Board, and he was desired to draw them up in proper shape for further consideration at the second meeting, which, however, was never held. It was designed, then, to send them to the various members, but this design, for want of time, was never accomplished.

Believing that the following outline meets the expressed views of the Board, it is respectfully submitted to your Excellency.

— O U T L I N E .

1st. There shall be substituted, for the present system of military organization, a new one, composed of companies of volunteer militia in each county; battalions and regiments, formed from such companies, in each division; and, as far as may be practicable, the regulations of the regular army shall be observed, in matters of drill, camp duty, discipline, and military law.

2d. The present divisions of the State may be continued, or any other more convenient arrangement established; and general officers only shall be elected, by the qualified voters at large, as now provided by law.

3d. There shall be an Adjutant General and Quartermaster General stationed at general head-quarters, to be appointed by the Governor; their duties to be similar to those discharged by like officers in the regular army, save that the Adjutant General shall be required, at proper periods, to inspect the troops, and give the officers, especially, military instruction.

4th. The companies within a division shall be formed into a regiment, if not more than ten; if more than ten and not less than twenty, into two regiments ; and any number of companies remaining, after an entire regiment, or more regiments than one are formed in a division, shall be formed into a battalion. The Major and Brigadier Generals of each division shall be a board to designate the companies composing the regiments or battalions in each division, regard being had to the residence of the companies.

5th. Each Major General shall appoint, subject to approval at head-quarters, an Assistant Adjutant General, whose duty it shall be to attend company meetings and drills, for the purpose of instruction in tactics, and also to attend his chief on all proper military occasions.

6th. All regiments and battalions shall elect their own field officers ; a regiment to be commanded by a Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel and Major, and a battalion by a Lieutenant Colonel ; the regiments and battalion staff to be appointed, as in the regular service.

7th. Seniority of commission shall give command, and determine rank, regard being had to continuous service under successive commissions.

8th. It is proposed, as the two or three principal reasons why volunteer companies have always decayed and disbanded are, that they cannot buy uniforms, procure music, and pay for the care of their arms, and meet the expenses of regular encampments—things all indispensable to their vigor and usefulness ; that ways and means be devised sufficient to keep up, in the large counties, two or three companies, and in the smallest at least one ; and it is submitted that this may be done by appropriating the poll-tax, and a small commutation in each county—first, to uniforms, which are to be the property of the company, and the procurement of arms, should not the general government supply us ; and, after each company is thus equipped, to the yearly expenses of music and the care of arms in park, and to those of a grand division encampment, to be formed annually in some place to be selected by the Major General of each division, varying yearly, if practicable. It is further suggested that stringent means should be adopted to force the collection of such means as may be appropriated to the service, and that the moneys, when collected, shall be paid to a paymaster or treasurer of each company, in proportion to the active men of the different companies reported to the Board of Police by the officers, which board shall distribute the fund among the company paymasters, or pay it to the paymaster of the company, if there be only one. The funds to be collected by the sheriff, and deposited with the county treasurers, to be covered by their bonds. The paymasters of the companies to give sufficient bonds, and to draw money from the county treasurer upon the requisition of the commissioned officer of his company.

9th. All members of volunteer companies shall take an oath faithfully to serve five years, unless honorably discharged, and faithfully to observe the laws of the State, and the military regulations to be prescribed.

10th. All active members of volunteer companies shall be exempt from road and jury duty.

11th. Provision shall be made for courts martial, for the government and protection of rank and file, as well as commissioined officers.

All which I have the honor to submit, imperfect as it is, for the reasons above mentioned.

J. M. DUFFIELD,
Major General, and Pres't of the Board.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
September 29, 1849..

SIR:—Your letter of the 15th inst., enclosing a newspaper article, headed: "The Round Island Expedition," has been received.

The request made in your letter, that a copy of the instructions under which Commander Randolph and Lieutenant Totten acted, be furnished you, is respectfully declined.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. BALLARD PRESTON.

His Excellency,

J. W. MATTHEWS,

RESOLUTIONS OF THE STATE OF VERMONT.

STATE OF VERMONT, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Montpelier, November, 13, 1849:His Excellency the Governor of Mississippi:

SIR:—I have the honor to transmit to you the accompanying resolutions, relating to the subject of slavery, recently adopted by the General Assembly of this State, to the end that your excellency may cause them to be laid before the Legislature of the State over which you preside.

I have the honor to be, with considerations of high respect, your obedient servant,

CARLOS COOLIDGE,

Governor.

By the Governor:

GEORGE F. HOUGHTON, Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS RELATING TO THE SUBJECT OF SLAVERY.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, That slavery is a crime against humanity, and a sore evil in the body politic, that was excused by the framers of the federal constitution as a crime entailed upon the country by their predecessors, and tolerated solely as a thing of inexorable necessity.

Resolved, That the so called "compromises of the constitution" restrained the federal government from interference with slavery only in the States in which it then existed, and from interference with the slave trade only for a limited time, which has long since expired; and that the powers conferred upon Congress by the constitution to suppress the slave trade, to regulate commerce between the States, to govern the territories, and to admit new States—powers conferred with an express intention "to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity"—may all rightfully be used so as to prevent the extension of slavery into territory now free, and to abolish slavery and the slave trade wherever either exists under the jurisdiction of Congress.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to resist, by all and every constitutional means, the extension of slavery in any manner, whether by the annexation to slaveholding Texas of territory now free, or by the admission to the Union of territory already acquired, or which may be hereafter acquired, without an express prohibition of slavery, either in the constitution of each new State asking admission, or in the act of Congress providing for such admission.

Resolved, further, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to support every just and prudent measure for the exclusion of slavery from the District of Columbia; for the entire suppression of the slave trade on the high seas, and wherever else Congress has jurisdiction; and generally to relieve the federal government from all responsibility for the existence, maintenance, or tolerance of slavery, or the traffic in slaves.

Resolved, further, That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested, to use their exertions for the speedy organization of a territorial government for New Mexico and California, with a provision forever excluding involuntary servitude, except for crime, therefrom.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to furnish a copy of the foregoing resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and to the Governor of each State in the Union.

Approved, November 12th, 1849.

STATE OF VERMONT, SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE,
Montpelier, November 14, 1849.

I hereby certify that the foregoing are correct copies of resolutions on file in this office. F. F. MERRILL, Sec' of State.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE STATE OF OHIO, RELATIVE TO THE ACQUISITION AND CONTROL OF FOREIGN TERRI-TORY BY THE UNITED STATES.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That, whatever difference of opinion may exist as to the power of Congress to prohibit the formation of slave States out of territory belonging to the federal government, and entitled to admission into the Union, there cannot be any rational ground for such difference of opinion as to territory that may be hereafter obtained by conquest or by purchase; that foreign territory, purchased by the national treasure, or conquered by the national army, is, and in the nature of the case must be, subject to national control, to be occupied only upon such conditions, and governed by such institutions, as the national will may dictate.

Resolved, That the present war with Mexico was neither sought nor advised by the State of Ohio; and, while its ends and results are, and have been, beyond her control or foresight, her citizens have been with the national flag, and have attested their devotion to it on many fields and through divers perils; that the State of Ohio neither seeks nor advises the acquisition of further territory, by conquest or by purchase; nor is the power of shaping the national policy in her hands; but she hereby protests, by every drop of blood that has been spilt by her citizens—by every flag that has been unrolled from her borders—by the spirit of her sisterhood with the American States—that any territory, acquired either by purchase or by conquest, as the result of this war, shall be national territory; and the State of Ohio must be heard, and will have a share in determining the character of the institutions by which such territory shall be governed.

Resolved, That the Governor be directed to transmit a copy of these resolutions to our Representatives and Senators in Congress, and to the Governors of the several States of the Union.

JOSEPH S. HAWKINS, Speaker, H. of Rep.

RESOLUTION,

DECLARING THAT SO MUCH OF THE ORDINANCE OF 1787 AS RELATES TO SLAVERY, SHOULD BE EXTENDED TO THE TERRITORY ACQUIRED FROM MEXICO.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That the provisions of the ordinance of Congress of one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, so far as the same relates to slavery, should be extended to any territory that may be acquired from Mexico by treaty or otherwise.

The Address of Southern Delegates in Congress, to their Constituents.

We, whose names are hereunto annexed, address you in discharge of what we believe to be a solemn duty, on the most important subject ever presented for your consideration. We allude to the conflict between the two great sections of the Union, growing out of the difference of feeling and opinion in reference to the relation existing between the two races, the European and African, which inhabit the Southern section, and the acts of aggression and encroachment to which it has led.

The conflict commenced not long after the acknowledgment of our independence, and has gradually increased until it has arrayed the great body of the North against the South on this most vital subject. In the progress of this conflict, aggression has followed aggression, and encroachment encroachment, until they have reached a point when a regard for your peace and safety will not permit us to remain longer silent. The object of this address is to give you a clear, correct, but brief account of the whole series of aggression and encroachments on your rights, with a statement of the dangers to which they expose you. Our object in making it, is not to cause excitement, but to put you in full possession of all the facts and circumstances necessary to a full and just conception of a deep-seated disease, which threatens great danger to you and the whole body politic. We act on the impression that in a popular government like ours, a true conception of the actual character and state of a disease is indispensable to effecting a cure.

We have made it a joint address, because we believe that the magnitude of the subject required that it should assume the most impressive and solemn form.

Not to go further back, the difference of opinion and feeling in reference to the relation between the two races, disclosed itself in the Convention that framed the Constitution, and constituted one of the greatest difficulties in forming it. After many efforts, it was overcome by a compromise, which provided in the first place, that Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the States according to their respective numbers; and that, in ascertaining the number of each, five slaves shall be estimated as three. In the next, that slaves escaping into States where slavery does not exist, shall not be discharged from servitude, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom their labor or service is due. In the third place, that Congress shall not prohibit the importation of slaves before the year 1808; but a tax not exceeding ten dollars may be imposed on each imported. And finally, that no capitation or direct tax shall be laid, but in proportion to federal numbers; and that no amendment of the Constitution, prior to 1808, shall affect this provision, nor that relating to the importation of slaves.

So satisfactory were these provisions, that the second, relative to the delivering up of fugitive slaves, was adopted unanimously, and all the rest, except the third, relative to the importation of slaves until 1808, with almost equal unanimity. They recognize the existence of slavery, and make a specific provision for its protection where it was supposed to be most exposed. They go further, and incorporate it, as an important element, in determining the relative weight of the several States in the Government of the Union, and the respective burden they should bear in laying capitation and direct taxes. It was well understood at the time, that without them the constitution would not have been adopted by the Southern States, and of course that they constituted elements so essential to the system that it never would have existed without them. The Northern States, knowing all this, ratified the constitution, thereby pledging their faith, in the most solemn manner, sacredly to observe them. How that faith has been kept, and that pledge redeemed, we shall next proceed to show.

With few exceptions of no great importance, the South had no cause to complain prior to the year 1819—a year, it is to be feared, destined to mark a train of events, bringing with them many, and great, and fatal disasters, on the country and its institutions. With it commenced the agitating debate on the question of the admission of Missouri into the Union. We shall pass by for the present this question, and others of the same kind, directly growing out of it, and shall proceed to consider the effects of that spirit of discord, which it roused up between the two sections. It first disclosed itself in the North, by hostility to that portion of the constitution which provides for the delivering up of fugitive slaves. In its progress it led to the adoption of hostile acts, intended to render it of non-effect, and with so much success, that it may be regarded now as practically expunged from the constitution. How this has been effected, will be next explained.

After a careful examination, truth constrains us to say, that it has been by a clear and palpable evasion of the constitution. It is impossible for any provision to be more free from ambiguity or doubt. It is in the following words: “No person held to service, or labor, in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another State, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.” All is clear. There is not an uncertain or equivocal word to be found in the whole provision. What shall not be done, and what shall be done, are fully and explicitly set forth. The former provides that the fugitive slave shall not be discharged from his servitude by any law or regulation of the State wherein he is found ; and the latter, that he shall be delivered up on claim of his owner.

We do not deem it necessary to undertake to refute the sophistry and subterfuges by which so plain a provision of the constitution has been evaded, and, in effect, annulled. It constitutes an essential part of the constitutional compact, and of course, of the supreme law of the land. As such it is binding on all, the Federal and State Governments, the States and the individuals composing them. The sacred obligation of compact, and the solemn injunction of the supreme law, which legislators and judges, both Federal and State, are bound by oath to support, all unite to enforce its fulfilment, according to its plain meaning and true intent. What that meaning and intent are, there was no diversity of opinion in the better days of the Republic, prior to 1819. Congress, State Legislatures, State and Federal Judges and Magistrates, and people, all spontaneously placed the same interpretation on it. During that period, none interposed impediments in the way of the owner seeking to recover his fugitive slave ; nor did any deny his right to have every proper facility to enforce his claim to have him delivered up. It was then nearly as easy to recover one found in a Northern State, as one found in a neighboring Southern State. But this has passed away, and the provision is defunct, except, perhaps, in two States.*

When we take into consideration the importance and clearness of this provision, the evasion by which it has been set aside, may fairly be regarded as one of the most fatal blows ever received by the South and the Union. This cannot be more concisely and correctly stated, than it has been by two of the learned judges of the Supreme Court of the United States. In one of his decisions† Judge Story said : “Historically it is well known that the object of this clause was to secure to the citizens of the slaveholding States the complete right and title of ownership in their slaves, as property, in every State of the Union, into which they might escape, from the State wherein they were held in servitude.” “The full recognition of this right and title was indispensable to the security of this species of property, in all the slaveholding States, and, indeed, was so vital to the preservation of their interests and institutions, that it cannot be doubted, that it constituted a fundamental article without the adoption of which the Union would not have been formed. Its true design was to guard against the doctrines and principles prevalent in the non-slaveholding States, by preventing them from intermeddling with, or restricting, or abolishing the rights of the owners of slaves.”

Again. “The clause was therefore of the last importance to the safety and security of the Southern States, and could not be surrendered by them without endangering their whole property in slaves. The clause was accordingly adopted in the constitution by the unanimous consent of the framers of it—a proof at once of its intrinsic and practical necessity.”

*Indiana and Illinois.

†The case of Prigg vs. the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Again. “The clause manifestly contemplates the existence of a positive unqualified right on the part of the owner of the slave, which no State law or regulation can in any way regulate, control, qualify, or restrain.”

The opinion of the other learned judge was not less emphatic as to the importance of this provision, and the unquestionable right of the South under it. Judge Baldwin, in charging the jury, said :* “If there are any rights of property which can be enforced, if one citizen have any rights of property which are inviolable under the protection of the supreme law of the State, and the Union, they are those which have been set at nought by some of these defendants. As the owner of property, which he had a perfect right to possess, protect, and take away—as a citizen of a sister State, entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of any other States—Mr. Johnson stands before you on ground which cannot be taken from under him—it is the same ground on which the Government itself is based. If the defendants can be justified, we have no longer law or government.” Again, after referring more particularly to the provision for delivering up fugitive slaves, he said : “Thus you see, that the foundations of the government are laid, and rest on the right of property in slaves. The whole structure must fall by disturbing the corner-stone.”

These are grave, and solemn, and admonitory words, from a high source. They confirm all for which the South has ever contended, as to the clearness, importance, and fundamental character of this provision, and the disastrous consequences which would inevitably follow from its violation. But in spite of these solemn warnings, the violation then commenced, and which they were intended to rebuke, has been fully and perfectly consummated. The citizens of the South, in their attempt to recover their slaves, now meet, instead of aid and co-operation, resistance in every form ; resistance from hostile acts of legislation, intended to baffle and defeat their claims by all sorts of devices, and by interposing every description of impediment—resistance from judges and magistrates—and finally, when all these fail, from mobs, composed of whites and blacks, which, by threats or force, rescue the fugitive slave from the possession of his rightful owner. The attempt to recover a slave, in most of the Northern States, cannot now be made without the hazard of insult, heavy pecuniary loss, imprisonment, and even of life itself. Already has a worthy citizen of Maryland lost his life* in making an attempt to enforce his claim to a fugitive slave under this provision.

But a provision of the constitution may be violated indirectly as well as directly ; by doing an act in its nature inconsistent with that which is enjoined to be done. Of this form of violation, there is a striking instance connected with the provision under consideration. We allude to secret combinations which are believed to exist in many of the Northern States, whose object is to entice, decoy, entrap, inveigle and seduce slaves to escape from their owners, and to pass them secretly and rapidly, by means organized for the purpose, into Canada, where they will be beyond the reach of the provision. That to entice a slave, by whatever artifice, to abscond from his owner, into a non-slaveholding State, with the intention to place him beyond the reach of the provision, or prevent his recovery, by concealment or otherwise, is as completely repugnant to it, as its open violation would be, is too clear to admit of doubt, or to require illustration. And yet, as repugnant as these combinations are to the true intent of the provision, it is believed, that, with the above exception, not one of the States, within whose limits they exist, has adopted any measure to suppress them, or to punish those by whose agency the object for which they were formed is carried into execution. On the contrary, they have looked on, and witnessed with indifference, if not with secret approbation, a great number of slaves enticed from their owners, and placed beyond the possibility of recovery, to the great annoyance and heavy pecuniary loss of the bordering Southern States.

When we take into consideration the great importance of this provision, the absence of all uncertainty as to its true meaning and intent, the many guards by which it is surrounded to protect and enforce it, and then reflect how completely the object for which it was inserted in the constitution is defeated by these two-fold infractions, we doubt, taking all together, whether a more flagrant breach of faith is to be found on record. We know the language we have used is strong, but it is not less true than strong.

There remains to be noticed another class of aggressive acts of a kindred character, but instead of striking at an express and specific provision of the constitution, aims directly at destroying the relation between the two races at the South, by means subversive in their tendency of one of the ends for which the constitution was established. We refer to the systematic agitation of the question by the abolitionists, which, commencing about 1835, is still continued in all possible forms. Their avowed intention is to bring about a state of things that will force emancipation on the South. To unite the North in fixed hostility to slavery in the South, and to excite discontent among the slaves with their condition, are among the means employed to effect it. With a view to bring about the form er, every means are resorted to in order to render the South, and the relation between the two races there, odious and hateful to the North. For this purpose, societies and newspapers are everywhere established, debating clubs opened, lecturers employed, pamphlets and other publications, pictures and petitions to Congress, resorted to, and directed to that single point, regardless of truth or decency ; while the circulation of incendiary publications in the South, the agitation of the subject of abolition in Congress, and the employment of emissaries are relied on to excite discontent among the slaves. This agitation, and the use of these means, have been continued with more or less activity for a series of years, not without doing much towards effecting the object intended. We regard both object and means to be aggressive and dangerous to the rights of the South, and subversive, as stated, of one of the ends for which the constitution was established. Slavery is a domestic institution. It belongs to the States, each for itself to decide, whether it shall be established or not ; and if it be established, whether it should be abolished or not. Such being the clear and unquestionable right of the States, it follows necessarily, that it would be a flagrant act of aggression on a State, destructive of its rights, and subversive of its independence, for the Federal Government, or one or more States, or their people, to undertake to force on it the emancipation of its slaves. But it is a sound maxim in politics, as well as law and morals, that no one has a right to do that indirectly which he cannot do directly, and it may be added with equal truth, to aid, or abet, or countenance another in doing it. And yet, the abolitionists of the North, openly avowing their intention, and resorting to the most efficient means for the purpose, have been attempting to bring about a state of things to force the Southern States to emancipate their slaves, without any act on the part of any Northern State to arrest or suppress the means by which they propose to accomplish it. They have been permitted to pursue their object and to use whatever means they please, if without aid or countenance, also without resistance or disapprobation. What gives a deeper shade to the whole affair, is the fact, that one of the means to effect their object, that of exciting discontent among our slaves, tends directly to subvert what its preamble declares to be one of the ends for which the constitution was ordained and established : "to ensure domestic tranquility," and that in the only way in which domestic tranquility is likely ever to be disturbed in the South. Certain it is, that an agitation so systematic—having such an object in view, and sought to be carried into execution by such means—would, between independent nations, constitute just cause of remonstrance by the party against which the aggression was directed, and, if not heeded, an appeal to arms for redress. Such being the case where an aggression of the kind takes place among independent nations, how much more aggravated must it be between confederated States, where the Union precludes an appeal to arms, while it affords a medium through which it can operate with vastly increased force and effect? That it would be perverted to such a use, never entered into the imagination of the generation which formed and adopted the constitution, and, if it had been supposed it would, it is certain that the South never would have adopted it.

We now return to the question of the admission of Missouri into the Union, and shall proceed to give a brief sketch of the occurrences connected with it, and the consequences to which it has directly led. In the latter part of 1819, the then Territory of Missouri applied to Congress, in the usual form, for leave to form a State constitution and government, in order to be admitted into the Union. A bill was reported for the purpose, with the usual provisions in such cases. Amendments were offered, having for their object to make it a condition of her admission, that her constitution should have a provision to prohibit slavery. This brought on the agitating debate, which, with the effects that followed, has done so much to alienate the South and North, and endanger our political institutions. Those who objected to the amendments, rested their opposition on the high grounds of the right of self-government. They claimed that a territory, having reached the period when it is proper for it to form a constitution and government for itself, becomes fully vested with all the rights of self-government; and that even the condition imposed on it by the Federal constitution, relates not to the formation of its constitution and government, but its admission into the Union. For that purpose, it provides as a condition, that the government must be Republican.

They claimed that Congress has no right to add to this condition, and that to assume it, would be tantamount to the assumption of the right to make its entire constitution and government; as no limitation could be imposed, as to the extent of the right, if it be admitted that it exists at all. Those who supported the amendment, denied these grounds, and claimed the right of Congress to impose, at discretion, what conditions it pleased. In this agitating debate, the two sections stood arrayed against each other; the South in favor of the bill without amendment, and the North opposed to it without it. The debate and agitation continued until the session was well advanced; but it became apparent, towards its close, that the people of Missouri were fixed and resolved in their opposition to the proposed condition, and that they would certainly reject it, and adopt a constitution without it, should the bill pass with the condition. Such being the case, it required no great effort of mind to perceive, that Missouri, once in possession of a constitution and government, not simply on paper, but with legislators elected, and officers appointed, to carry them into effect, the grave questions would be presented, whether she was of right a Territory or State; and, if the latter, whether Congress had the right, and, if the right, the power, to abrogate her constitution, disperse her Legislature, and to remand her back to the territorial condition. These were great, and, under the circumstances, fearful questions—too fearful to be met by those who had raised the agitation. From that time the only question was, how to escape from the difficulty. Fortunately, a means was afforded. A compromise (as it was called) was offered, based on the terms, that the North should cease to oppose the admission of Missouri on the grounds for which the South contended, and that the provisions of the Ordinance of 1787, for the government of the Northwestern Territory, should be applied to all the territory acquired by the United States from France under the treaty of Louisiana, lying north of 36 30, except the portion lying in the State of Missouri. The Northern members embraced it; and, although not originating with them, adopted it as their own. It was forced through Congress by the almost united votes of the North, against a minority consisting almost entirely of members from the Southern States.

Such was the termination of this, the first conflict under the constitution, between the two sections, in reference to slavery in connection with the territories. Many hailed it as a permanent and final adjustment that would prevent the recurrence of similar conflicts; but others, less sanguine, took the opposite and more gloomy view, regarding it as the precursor of a train of events which might rend the Union asunder, and prostrate our political system. One of these was the experienced and sagacious Jefferson. Thus far, time would seem to favor his forebodings. May a returning sense of justice, and a protecting Providence, avert their final fulfilment.

For many years the subject of slavery in reference to the territories ceased to agitate the country. Indications, however, connected with the question of annexing Texas, showed clearly that it was ready to break out again, with redoubled violence, on some future occasion. The difference in the case of Texas was adjusted by extending the Missouri Compromise line of 36 30, from its terminus, on the western boundary of the Louisiana purchase, to the western boundary of Texas. The agitation again ceased for a short period.

The war with Mexico soon followed, and that terminated in the acquisition of New Mexico and Upper California, embracing an area equal to about one-half of the entire valley of the Mississippi. If to this we add the portion of Oregon acknowledged to be ours by the recent treaty with England, our whole territory on the Pacific and west of the Rocky mountains, will be found to be in extent but little less than that vast valley. The near prospect of so great an addition, rekindled the excitement between the North and South in reference to slavery in its connection with the territories, which has become, since those on the Pacific were acquired, more universal and intense than ever.

The effects have been to widen the difference between the two sections, and to give a more determined and hostile character to their conflict. The North no longer respects the Missouri compromise line, although adopted by their almost unanimous vote. Instead of compromise, they avow that their determination is to exclude slavery from all the territories of the United States, acquired, or to be acquired; and, of course, to prevent the citizens of the Southern States from emigrating with their property in slaves into any of them. Their object, they allege, is to prevent the extension of slavery, and ours to extend it, thus making the issue between them and us to be the naked question, shall slavery be extended or not? We do not deem it necessary, looking to the object of this address, to examine the question so fully discussed at the last session, whether Congress has the right to exclude the citizens of the South from immigrating with their property into the territories belonging to the confederated States of the Union. What we propose in this connection is, to make a few remarks on what the North alleges, erroneously, to be the issue between us and them.

So far from maintaining the doctrine which the issue implies, we hold that the Federal Government has no right to extend or restrict slavery, no more than to establish or abolish it; nor has it any right whatever, to distinguish between the domestic institutions of one State, or section, and another, in order to favor the one and discourage the other. As the federal representatives of each and all the States, it is bound to deal out, within the sphere of its powers, equal and exact justice and favor to all. To act otherwise, to undertake to discriminate between the domestic institutions of one and another, would be to act in total subversion of the end for which it was established—to be the common protector and guardian of all. Entertaining these opinions, we ask not, as the North alleges we do, for the extension of slavery. That would make a discrimination in our favor, as unjust and unconstitutional as the discrimination they ask against us in their favor. It is not for them, nor for the Federal Government to determine, whether our domestic institution is good or bad; or whether it should be repressed or preserved. It belongs to us, and us only, to decide such questions. What, then, we do insist on, is, not to extend slavery, but that we shall not be prohibited from immigrating, with our property, into the territories of the United States, because we are slaveholders; or, in other words, that we shall not, on that account, be disfranchised of a privilege possessed by all others, citizens and foreigners, without discrimination as to character, profession, or color. All, whether savage, barbarian, or civilized, may freely enter and remain, we only being excluded.

We rest our claim, not only on the high grounds above stated, but also on the solid foundation of right, justice and equality. The territories immediately in controversy—New Mexico and California—were acquired by the common sacrifice and efforts of all the States, towards which the South contributed far more than her full share of men,* to say nothing of money, and is, of course, on every principle of right, justice, fairness, and equality, entitled to participate fully in the benefits to be derived from their acquisition.—But as impregnable as is this ground, there is another not less so. Ours is a Federal Government—a Government in which, not individuals, but States, as distinct sovereign communities, are the constituents. To them, as members of the Federal Union, the territories belong; and they are hence declared to be territories belonging to the United States. The States then are the joint owners. Now it is conceded by all writers on the subject, that in all such Governments their members are all equal—equal in rights and equal in dignity. They also concede that this equality constitutes the basis of such Government, and that it cannot be destroyed without changing their nature and character. To deprive, then, the Southern States and their citizens of their full share in Territories declared to belong to them, in common with the other States, would be in derogation of the equality belonging to them as members of a Federal Union, and sink them, from being equals, into a subordinate and dependent condition. Such are the solid and impregnable grounds on which we rest our demand to an equal participation in the territories.

But as solid and impregnable as they are in the eyes of justice and reason, they oppose a feeble resistance to a majority, determined to engross the whole. At the last session of Congress, a bill was passed, establishing a territorial government for Oregon, excluding slavery therefrom. The President gave his sanction to the bill, and sent a special message to Congress assigning his reasons for doing so. These reasons pre-supposed that the Missouri compromise was to be, and would be, extended west of the Rocky Mountains, to the Pacific ocean. And the President intimated his intention in his message to veto any future bill that should restrict slavery south of the line of that compromise. Assuming it to have been the purpose and intention of the North to extend the Missouri compromise line as above indicated, the passage of the Oregon bill could only be regarded as evincing the acquiescence of the South in that line. But the developments of the present session of Congress have made it manifest to all, that no such purpose or intention now exists with the North to any considerable extent. Of the truth of this, we have ample evidence in what has occurred already in the House of Representatives, where the popular feelings are soonest and most intensely felt.

Being nearly two on the part of the South to one on the part of the North. But taking into consideration that the population of the North is two-thirds greater than the South, the latter has furnished more than three times her due proportion of volunteers.

Although Congress has been in session but little more than one month, a greater number of measures of an aggressive character have been introduced and they more aggravated and dangerous, than have been for years before. And what clearly discloses whence they take their origin, is the fact, that they all relate to the territorial aspect of the subject of slavery, or some other of a nature and character intimately connected with it.

The first of this series of aggressions is a resolution introduced by a member from Massachusetts, the object of which is to repeal all acts, or parts of acts which recognise the existence of slavery, or authorise the selling and disposing of slaves in this District. On question of leave to bring in a bill, the votes stood 69 for and 82 against leave. The next was a resolution offered by a member from Ohio, instructing the Committee on Territories to report forthwith bills for excluding slavery from California and New Mexico.* It passed by a vote of 107 to 80. That was followed by a bill introduced by another member from Ohio, to take the votes of the inhabitants of this District, on the question whether slavery within its limits should be abolished.

The bill provided, according to the admission of the mover, that free negroes and slaves should vote. On the question to lay the bill on the table, the votes stood, for 106, against 79. To this succeeded the resolution of a member from New York, in the following words: "Whereas the traffic now prosecuted in this metropolis of the Republic in human beings, as chattels, is contrary to natural justice and the fundamental principles of our political system, and is notoriously a reproach to our country, throughout Christendom, and a serious hindrance to the progress of republican liberty among the nations of the earth. Therefore,

"Resolved, That the committee for the District of Columbia be instructed to report a bill, as soon as practicable, prohibiting the slave trade in said District." On the question of adopting the resolution, the votes stood 98 for, and 88 against. He was followed by a member from Illinois, who offered a resolution for abolishing slavery in the Territories, and all places where Congress has exclusive powers of legislation, that is, in all forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings, purchased by Congress with the consent of the legislature of the State.

*Since reported to the House.

This resolution was passed over under the rules of the House without being put to vote.

The votes in favor of all these measures were confined to the members from the Northern States. True, there are some patriotic members from that section who voted against all of them, and whose high sense of justice is duly appreciated; who in the progress of the aggressions upon the South have, by their votes, sustained the guarantees of the constitution, and of whom we regret to say many have been sacrificed at home by their patriotic course.

We have now brought to a close a narrative of the series of acts of aggression and encroachment, connected with the subject of this address, including those that are consummated and those still in progress. They are numerous, great and dangerous, and threaten with destruction the greatest and most vital of all the interests and institutions of the South. Indeed it may be doubted whether there is a single provision, stipulation, or guaranty of the Constitution, intended for the security of the South, that has not been rendered almost perfectly nugatory. It may even be made a serious question, whether the encroachments already made, without the aid of any other, would not, if permitted to operate unchecked, end in emancipation, and that at no distant day. But be that as it may, it hardly admits of a doubt that, if the aggressions already commenced in the House, and now in progress, should be consummated, such in the end would certainly be the consequence.

Little, in truth, would be left to be done after we have been excluded from all the territories, including those to be hereafter acquired; after slavery is abolished in this District and in the numerous places dispersed all over the South, where Congress has the exclusive right of legislation, and after the other measures proposed are consummated. Every outpost and barrier would be carried, and nothing would be left but to finish the work of abolition at pleasure in the States themselves. This District, and all places over which Congress has exclusive power of legislation, would be asylums for fugitive slaves, where, as soon as they placed their feet, they would become, according to the doctrines of our Northern assailants, free, unless there should be some positive enactments to prevent it.

Under such a state of things the probability is, that emancipation would soon follow, without any final act to abolish slavery. The depressing effects of such measures on the white race at the South, and the hope they would create in the black of a speedy emancipation, would produce a state of feeling inconsistent with the much longer continuance of the existing relations between the two. But be that as it may, it is certain, if emancipation did not follow, as a matter of course, the final act in the States would not be long delayed. The want of constitutional power would oppose a feeble resistance. The great body of the North is united against our peculiar institution. Many believe it to be sinful, and the residue, with inconsiderable exceptions, believe it to be wrong. Such being the case, it would indicate a very superficial knowledge of human nature, to think that, after aiming at abolition, systematically, for so many years, and pursuing it with such unscrupulous disregard of law and constitution, that the fanatics who have led the way and forced the great body of the North to follow them, would, when the finishing stroke only remained to be given, voluntarily suspend it, or permit any constitutional scruples or considerations of justice to arrest it. To these may be added an aggression, though not yet commenced, long meditated and threatened : to prohibit what the abolitionists call the internal slave trade, meaning thereby the transfer of slaves from one State to another, from whatever motive done, or however effected. Their object would seem to be to render them worthless by crowding them together where they are, and thus hasten the work of emancipation. There is reason for believing that it will soon follow those now in progress, unless, indeed, some decisive step should be taken in the meantime to arrest the whole.

The question then is, will the measures of aggression proposed in the House be adopted ?

They may not, and probably will not be this session. But when we take into consideration, that there is a majority now in favor of one of them, and a strong minority in favor of the other, as far as the sense of the House has been taken ; that there will be in all probability a considerable increase in the next Congress of the vote in favor of them, and that it will be largely increased in the next, succeeding Congress under the census to be taken next year, it amounts almost to a certainty, that they will be adopted, unless some decisive measure is taken in advance to prevent it.

But, if even these conclusions should prove erroneous—if fanaticism and the love of power should, contrary to their nature, for once respect constitutional barriers, or if the calculations of policy should retard the adoption of these measures, or even defeat them altogether, there would be still left one certain way to accomplish their object, if the determination avowed by the North to monopolize all the territories, to the exclusion of the South, should be carried into effect. That of itself would, at no distant day, add to the North a sufficient number of States to give her three-fourths of the whole ; when, under the color of an amendment of the constitution, she would emancipate our slaves, however opposed it might be to its true intent.

Thus, under every aspect, the result is certain, if aggression be not promptly and decidedly met. How it is to be met, it is for you to decide.

Such then being the case, it would be to insult you to suppose you could hesitate. To destroy the existing relation between the free and servile races at the South would lead to consequences unparalleled in history. They cannot be separated, and cannot live together in peace or harmony, or to their mutual advantage, except in their present relation. Under any other, wretchedness, and misery, and desolation would overspread the whole South. The example of the British West Indies, as blighting as emancipation has proved to them, furnishes a very faint picture of the calamities it would bring on the South. The circumstances under which it would take place with us, would be entirely different from those which took place with them, and calculated to lead to far more disastrous results. There the Government of the parent country emancipated slaves in her colonial possessions—a government rich and powerful, and actuated by views of policy, (mistaken as they turned out to be,) rather than fanaticism. It was besides, disposed to act justly towards the owners, even in the act of emancipating their slaves, and to protect and foster them afterwards. It accordingly appropriated nearly $100,000,000 as a compensation to them for their losses under the act, which sum, although it turned out to be far short of the amount, was thought at the time to be liberal. Since the emancipation, it has kept up a sufficient military and naval force to keep the blacks in awe, and a number of magistrates, and constables, and other civil officers, to keep order in the towns and on plantations, and enforce respect to their former owners. To a considerable extent, these have served as a substitute for the police formerly kept on the plantations by the owners and their overseers, and to preserve the social and political superiority of the white race. But, notwithstanding all this, the British West India possessions are ruined, impoverished, miserable, wretched, and destined probably to be abandoned to the black race.

Very different would be the circumstances under which emancipation would take place with us. If it ever should be effected, it will be through the agency of the Federal Government, controlled by the dominant power of the Northern States of the confederacy, against the resistance and struggle of the Southern. It can then only be effected by the prostration of the white race; and that would necessarily engender the bitterest feelings of hostility between them and the North. But the reverse would be the case between the blacks of the South and the people of the North. Owning their emancipation to them, they would regard them as friends, guardians, and patrons, and centre, accordingly, all their sympathy in them. The people of the North would not fail to reciprocate and to favor them, instead of the whites. Under the influence of such feelings, and impelled by fanaticism and love of power; they would not stop at emancipation. Another step would be taken—to raise them to a political and social equality with their former owners, by giving them the right of voting and holding public offices under the Federal Government. We see the first step toward it in the bill already alluded to—to vest the free blacks and slaves with the right to vote on the question of emancipation in this District. But when once raised to an equality, they would become the fast political associates of the North, acting and voting with them on all questions, and by this political union between them, holding the white race at the South in complete subjection. The blacks, and the profligate whites that might unite with them, would become the principal recipients of federal offices and patronage, and would, in consequence, be raised above the whites of the South in the political and social scale. We would, in a word, change conditions with them—a degradation greater than has ever yet fallen to the lot of a free and enlightened people, and one from which we could not escape, should emancipation take place, (which it certainly will if not prevented,) but by fleeing the homes of ourselves and ancestors, and by abandoning our country to our former slaves, to become the permanent abode of disorder, anarchy, poverty, misery, and wretchedness.

With such a prospect before us, the gravest and most solemn question that ever claimed the attention of a people is presented for your consideration ; what is to be done to prevent it ? It is a question belonging to you to decide. All we propose is, to give you our opinion.

We, then, are of the opinion that the first and indispensable step, without which nothing can be done, and with which everything may be, is to be united among yourselves, on this great and most vital question. The want of union and concert in reference to it has brought the South, the Union, and our system of Government to their present perilous condition. Instead of placing it above all others, it has been made subordinate, not only to mere questions of policy, but to the preservation of party ties and ensuring of party success. As high as we hold a due respect for these, we hold them subordinate to that and other questions involving our safety and happiness. Until they are so held by the South, the North will not believe that you are in earnest in opposition to their encroachments, and they will continue to follow, one after another, until the work of abolition is finished. To convince them that you are, you must prove by your acts that you hold all other questions subordinate to it. If you become united, and prove yourselves in earnest, the North will be brought to a pause, and to a calculation of consequences ; and that may lead to a change of measures and the adoption of a course of policy that may quietly and peaceably terminate this long conflict between the two sections. If it should not, nothing would remain for you but to stand up immovably in defence of rights, involving your all—your property, prosperity, equality, liberty and safety.

As the assailed, you would stand justified by all laws, human and divine, in repelling a blow so dangerous, without looking to consequences, and to resort to all means necessary for that purpose. Your assailants, and not you, would be responsible for consequences.

Entertaining these opinions, we earnestly entreat you to be united, and for that purpose adopt all necessary measures. Beyond this, we think it would not be proper to go at present.

We hope, if you should unite with any thing like unanimity, it may of itself apply a remedy to this deep seated and dangerous disease; but, if such should not be the case, the time will then have come for you to decide what course to adopt.

RULES AND REGULATIONS TO BE OBSERVED IN THE LIBRARY OF MISSISSIPPI.

ARTICLE 1. The Library shall be open every day during the session of the Legislature, Sundays excepted, from nine o'clock in the morning till three o'clock in the afternoon.

ART. 2. In the recess of the Legislature, it shall be open three days in the week, viz: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 9 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and on no other day. But during the sessions of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, the Court of Chancery, and the Circuit Court of the United States, the Judges of those Courts shall have access to the Library every day in the week, Sundays excepted, from 9 o'clock in the morning till 5 o'clock in the afternoon; subject, however, to rules and regulations herein prescribed.

ART. 3. It shall be the duty of the Librarian, to make a convenient classification and arrangement of the books in the Library, and such as may be added from time to time; to have the books labelled or designated in such manner as he may prefer, and to preserve due lists and catalogues of the same. He shall also keep due account and register of all issues and returns of books, as the same may be made.

ART. 4. Books issued by the Librarian, pursuant to law, or the regulations of the library, shall be returned as follows:

A folio, within three weeks.

A quarto, within two weeks.

An actavo, or duodecimo, within one week.

And no person shall receive more than one folio, one quarto, or two octavos or duodecimos, within the terms aforesaid, unless so connected as to be otherwise useless; except that when any of the Judges may find it necessary to examine and refer to any greater number of law books, he or they shall have a right, if he desire, to take out the law books so deemed necessary by him or them, subject to the rule hereby established.

ART. 5. For all books issued to any person, a receipt or note shall be given, payable to the Trustees of the Mississippi State Library, and their successors in office, for double the value thereof, if in one volume only, but if it be one of a set, then double the value of the set to which it may belong, as nearly as the Librarian can ascertain the same, conditioned to return the book undefaced, within the time above mentioned, or to forfeit the amount of such note: at the expiration of which time, unless application has been made by another person for the same book, and the Librarian requested to make a memorandum thereof, the said Librarian, upon the books being produced to him, may renew the issue for the same, for the time and upon the conditions aforesaid; Provided, that every receipt or note shall contain a further forfeiture or penalty, for every day's detention of a book beyond the specified time; that is to say:

For a folio, one dollar per day.

For a quarto, fifty cents per day.

For an octavo or duodecimo, twenty-five cents per day;

Which forfeiture or penalty may, for good cause, be remitted by the Executive, in whole or in part, as the case may require.

ART. 6. When any person entitled to the use of the Library, shall prefer to take a book for the limited time without removing it from the Library, he shall be allowed to do so, and preserve his priority for the use of such book, for the time limited, in like manner as if he had withdrawn the book from the Library; and the Librarian shall keep due account and entry of all such cases.

ART. 7. No book shall be taken from the Library for the purpose of being loaned to persons who are not entitled, as members or functionaries of the Government, to their use.

ART. 8. Books returned shall be delivered to the Librarian, to be examined whether damaged or not.

ART. 9. If a book be returned damaged, the party returning it shall not be entitled to receive another, until the damage for the first be satisfied; nor shall any person who has incurred any fine or forfeiture, be entitled to receive a book from the Library, until such fine or forfeiture be satisfied.

ART. 10. No book shall be issued within eight days of the termination of any session of the Legislature, to any member thereof.

ART. 11. All books issued to the members of the Legislature, shall be returned five days before the close of the session, whether the time allowed for the use thereof be expired or not.

ART. 12. No person shall be allowed to take down from the presses or shelves in the Library (without permission granted by the Librarian), or in any manner to derange or misplace any of the books or other property belonging thereto.

ART. 13. No person or persons shall be allowed to hold conversation in loud voice in the Library room, or in any manner to hinder, molest, or disturb any others who may be disposed to read there.

ART. 14. There shall be retained in the Library, all charts, maps, plans of buildings, or other designs in manuscript; volumes of plates or engravings; books accompanying charts, plates, or engravings; tables of chronology; volumes of newspapers, and other periodical political publications; encyclopedias, or dictionaries of the arts; all geographical works, gazettes and dictionaries of language. Of the above, none shall be taken from the Library by any person, without special requisition in writing, from the Speaker of either House of the Legislature, when the same may be required for the immediate use of the House.

ART. 15. It shall be the duty of the Librarian, six days before the termination of any session of the Legislature, to present to any member thereof, a list of the books which he has received from the Library, and not returned.

ART. 16. The Librarian shall, four days before the termination of any session of the Legislature, furnish the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate, with a list of the names of such of the members thereof, as shall not have returned the books received from the Library, together with a description and value of such books, and also of the value of the set to which they may belong, and the amount of fines with which they may stand charged.

ART. 17. The Librarian shall collect all fines and forfeitures accruing upon notes given for books taken from the Library, for which he shall account with the Trustees of the Library, from time to time, as may be required.

ART. 18. A printed catalogue of the books, with the rules annexed, shall be furnished to each person entitled to the use of the Library.

ART. 19. All persons shall be entitled to the use of the Library on the days during which the same shall be open, pursuant to the foregoing rules ; * * * * *

ART. 20. The Librarian shall enter into bond with two securities, in the penalty of two thousand dollars, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his appointment according to law and the rules and regulations which may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Trustees for said Library, and that he will deliver over to his successor, all books, maps, charts, papers, manuscripts, engravings, and whatever else properly belongs and appertains to said Library.

Resolved, That books shall not hereafter be taken from the Library by any person except a member of the Board of Trustees, or one of the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States, the State Treasurer, or Adjutant General ; Provided, that this resolution shall not extend to members of either House of the Legislature during the session of the same ; and the 19th article of the rules and regulations for the government of the Library, so far as it authorises books to be taken from the Library, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Resolved, That persons who have filled the office of Governor of this State, of Chancellor, or of Judge of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, or who have been members of the Senate of the United States from this State, shall be entitled to take books out of the State Library, whilst they may be in the City of Jackson, in the same manner, and upon the same condition with the members of the Board of Trustees.—[Nov. 3d, 1848.]

CLERK'S OFFICE, MISS. PENITENTIARY,
December 15th, 1848.

*To his Excellency, J. W. Matthews,
Governor of the State of Mississippi :*

SIR:—I have been instructed to hand you the Annual Reports of the officers of this Institution for the year 1848, accompanying the same with the annual account and statements respecting the convicts received and discharged from the prison during the year.

I am, Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
D. N. BARROWS, Clerk.

To the Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary.

GENTLEMEN:—In the discharge of a duty assigned me by the 40th section of the Penitentiary Code, I would respectfully call your attention to the following subjects for your consideration, some of which require your immediate action.

Before entering on a detailed account of the operations of the prison for the past year, it becomes us to make our acknowledgements to the Great Ruler of a kind Providence for the many special blessings we have enjoyed during that time: we have had but little sickness during the past year. About the 1st of July, a very malignant fever made its appearance among the prisoners, and prevailed two or three weeks, during which time, two of the prisoners died ; one of them had for several years lived the life of a sincere Christian, and died enjoying the full confidence of his minister, and all the officers of the Institution, that he was sincere in his Christian profession.

It cannot be expected of me at the present time, and under the circumstances that I am placed, to make many new suggestions on the subject of prison discipline. Our present system is the result of many years experience, and much labor of wise and good men ; from this consideration, and the very short time that has elapsed since I have taken charge of the Institution, I forbear recommending any change at this time, and leave it for a future report, in which it will more properly come, at the close of the next year, which will be just before the meeting of the legislature, the proper and only body to make important changes in the laws for the regulation of the Penitentiary.

In conducting the operations of the Institution, I have pursued the most rigid course of industry and economy. I have endeavored to keep all the hands employed in the different shops at such work as would be of most general use—making such articles as would meet with ready sale—always consuming the smallest possible amount of raw material, and at the same time producing the largest amount of work, thereby I have rather diminished the amount of the old stock, which has been on hand for many years, passing from one superintendent to another at a mere nominal value, and have largely increased the stock of raw material. I have now a large stock of dry lumber of various kinds. I have collected a large amount of wool, coarse country-tanned leather, for negro shoes, and other material in the way of barter, embracing every opportunity of converting the old stock of manufactured articles into raw material, suited to the wants of the Institution.

I have encouraged, as far as I possibly could, a bartering trade with the planting community, giving them what we manufactured at fair prices, and paying fair prices for what they have for sale, always observing great liberality in transactions of barter.

I wish to call your attention particularly to the dilapidated and decayed condition of most of the Penitentiary buildings. Some of the work-shops are almost without roofs, and wanting very extensive repairs in other respects. The blacksmith and shoemakers shops are in such bad condition, that it is almost impossible to work in them in cold and wet weather. The main front building is also in a dangerous condition, and requires your immediate attention. The foundation of the front wall is leaning over about five inches at the top. I have erected a strong prop at each of the front corners, but they have not prevented the breach from widening; if it is not attended to very soon, it will eventually fall: there can be but one successful remedy applied, and that is to take down the entire front, and extend it about twenty-five feet further out; the foundation will then be good—we can then secure two large additional rooms, which will answer for store rooms, where all the business can be transacted without interfering with the internal arrangements of the Institution. We shall, in this way, effectually repair the present building, and secure a favored project of many members of the last legislature, that of having stores outside the walls, and transact all the business by a proficient salesman at the stores.

I would, in this connection, call your attention to the necessity of providing, as soon as possible, a good fire-engine for the protection of the public property connected with the Penitentiary. We have here a large amount of property, and have no efficient way of arresting a fire, if one should break out; and where there is such an accumulation of combustible matter, we are liable, at any time, to have all destroyed by fire.

The last legislature required that the prisoners should make the brick for the Lunatic Asylum; during the last summer, I have had about thirty-five hands engaged in making brick and cutting wood; we have nearly one million ready for use; the hands have had to walk out one mile and a half, for the purpose of making the brick on the ground where they are to be used; this has, of course, consumed much time, and has added to the risk of losing prisoners by escapes, and very much increased the expense of the Institution in the necessary additional guards to render it safe in taking so large a number of prisoners so far from the Penitentiary. The propriety of this policy admits of doubt; my experience the last summer has convinced me that it is improper; we have had five men to make their escape from the brick-yard during the last summer, and though we have recovered them all, and lodged them securely in the Penitentiary again, it cost us five or six hundred dollars that we shall never recover; if it could be so, it would be better that they should never, under any circumstances, go outside the walls of the prison. This would be one of the great advantages that would result in carrying out the change of labor which was contemplated by a most worthy and respectable portion of our citizens, the mechanics of our State, in converting all the labor of the convicts into the manufactory of such articles as would not interfere with their regular business. Our progress in this change has been as rapid as our limited means would justify, and as successful as the most sanguine mind could have expected. It was some time last February that we commenced spinning in a very imperfect way; we continued to manufacture cotton yarn in a small way for two months, at which time I suspended the spinning operation, and put the factory hands in the brick-yard; the cause of this change was, we were not provided with looms to convert the yarn into cloth, and there being a large stock of imported yarns in the country, we found ours dull sale, until the stock of imported yarns was measurably exhausted.

About the 1st of July, I ordered eight power-looms, one dressing frame, and one set warping bars, from Patterson, New Jersey, all of which have been received except the warping bars, which we are daily expecting. As soon as that arrives, we shall be prepared to put all the machinery in successful operation; we shall then be prepared to make about six hundred yards of good osnabergs per day, and consume one bale of cotton every day. We have been spinning very successfully for two months, during which time I have sold a considerable quantity of cotton yarn, the demand for which is daily increasing. I have inquired particularly of persons who have used both our yarn and the imported, which is best, and they all give ours the decided preference. This may be accounted for in this way; I buy the best cotton for our consumption; the yarn of course is of the best quality—very far superior to yarn made of short and inferior staple cotton.

I have no doubt about the ultimate success of the manufactory of coarse osnabergs and linseys; it will afford the best employment that can be furnished the convicts, and can be conducted with less trouble than the ordinary mechanical branches. One great advantage in favor of the manufacturing business is, there is no difficulty at any time in obtaining a ready supply of raw material; another advantage is, it does not take new prisoners, who were not mechanics before they are sent here, as long to become profitable; these, with others, preponderate greatly in favor of the manufacturing business change contemplated by the mechanics.

The steam-engine now employed in driving the machinery for the manufactory of cotton goods, is entirely insufficient ; we find when all the machinery is running, the speed is so reduced we cannot produce a good article of either yarn or cloth ; it will, therefore, be necessary to make some provision to obtain an engine with more power ; this should be done as early as possible.

We have this year been very much interrupted in our operations for want of a sufficient supply of water to keep our engine running ; there are not a sufficient number of cisterns in the yard at the Penitentiary. I would suggest that four additional cisterns be built by the next summer. We have had to haul water three months this year.

In taking an inventory of the stock and tools on hand at the commencement of my administration, I have not altered the price of former inventories, though many of the tools are worn out and useless, they are put down at what they originally cost, and so with much of the stock ; it is put down at too high a price. I have put them at their former prices, and not at their real value.

All the stock and tools that have been added since I took charge of the Institution, are estimated at their real value.

I take this occasion, gentlemen, of expressing my obligations to you for the efficient aid you have rendered me in the discharge of my duties during the past year, by your counsel, which has been so fully and freely given upon all subjects connected with the interests of the Penitentiary.

I feel highly gratified that it is my privilege, in alluding to the subordinate officers of the Institution, I can say with great candor, we have men that are eminently qualified for their respective duties.

It is only necessary for me to refer you to the books and papers of the Institution, for evidence of the highest character of the qualifications of the Clerk. In Mr. Barrows, the present incumbent, we have a combination of qualifications, which are rarely found in any man, if ever surpassed. Dr. Langley has been the physician of the Institution for many years ; his success in the treatment of diseases, has been almost without a parallel—the small number of deaths annually reported, may, in a great degree, be attributed to his ability as a physician.

In Mr. Price, my assistant, I find an energetic, efficient man, always ready to discharge any duty, and prompt in the execution of every command.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. MOSELEY, Superintendent.

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE, MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY,
Jackson, December 15th, 1848.

*To his Excellency, Joseph W. Matthews,
Governor of the State of Mississippi :*

SIR :—The period has arrived when, in conformity to the law, it becomes the duty of the undersigned Inspectors to make their annual report. In the discharge of this duty, they will briefly state the condition of the Institution, respectfully referring your Excellency to the report of the Superintendent, and the accompanying documents furnished by the Clerk, and taken from his books, which give correctly and in detail, the particulars in relation to the operations of the prison, in the various departments, for the year ending on the 30th ultimo.

It will be perceived on investigation, that in carrying out the provisions and designs of the law in relation to the change of labor of the convicts, much has been done during the past year in the purchase and erection of suitable machinery to employ the convicts in the manufacture of coarse cotton goods.

Enough has been accomplished in this department already to convince your Board, that it was a wise provision in the legislature to make this change, and that it only requires a year or two longer to satisfy the minds of the most incredulous, that in this country particularly, this is the only legitimate channel into which convict labor should be directed.

The successful operations of the Institution, in this particular, have of course been greatly impeded for want of means to carry them out to an extent to make them profitable. The appropriations of the legislature being wholly inadequate to the necessities, it remained for the Institution to complete the necessary purchase of the machinery out of its own funds, or continue to operate with a partial supply, showing no practical good results at the end of the year, if it did not prove a necessary loss. Under this view of the case, your Board directed the purchase of power-looms and other machinery, and rely upon the receipts of the Institution to meet the payments. This was done, and by proper vigilance in the other departments of labor, we are happy to say that the bills were promptly met at maturity, and we now have eight efficient power-looms in operation. It is desirable that as many more looms be purchased, and put in operation during the ensuing year, which with an engine of sufficient power to drive them, together with the other machinery, will confine most of the convicts to the necessary labor of the manufactory; and while it avoids the evil (as we esteem it to be) of employing the convicts without the walls of the Penitentiary, will render their labor most profitable to the State.

The products of their labor in this department, will always find a ready market at fair prices, without any of the losses necessarily attendant upon their former labor, in the large amount of manufactured articles left on hand to be sold at a great sacrifice, if sold at all.

It is proper to state, that while these important acquisitions of machinery have been made out of the funds of the Institution, there has, at the same time, been a large withdrawal of the labor from the shops, in order to comply with the requisitions of the State in the making of brick for the State Lunatic Asylum. In the execution of this duty, we are happy to say, that the Superintendent has so directed the management of the convict labor, as to most fully meet the expectations of the Inspectors, and to promise the completion of the number required during the next year.

Your Excellency will notice on examination, that while so much of the labor has been diverted from its former channels to the manufactory and the brick-yard, there has been an increase in the cash receipts of $4,460 03 over last year; and it is a gratifying fact to state, in connection with this, that the large amount of comparatively worthless articles and materials on hand last year, has been considerably reduced, while, at the same time, the stock of new and valuable materials has greatly increased.

In addition to what has been accomplished as above stated, another very important and necessary improvement has been in progress, and is now nearly completed; we allude to the erection of a residence for the Superintendent. Your Excellency is aware that a Bill passed both branches of the legislature at its last session, appropriating one thousand dollars for the purchase of machinery, and also providing for the building of a house for the Superintendent; and that in the hurry and pressure of business on the last day of the session, the Bill was overlooked, or in some way failed to receive the signature of the proper officers to become a law. Believing it our duty to carry out the spirit and intention of the legislature, the Inspectors, after mature deliberation, although dependent upon the resources of the prison, undertook the work, and have within the means of the Institution, added to the State property a valuable and substantial brick residence, on the Penitentiary grounds, at a cost, in its present state of completion, of $4000.

The Inspectors would probably have deferred this work on account of the Bill alluded to above failing to become a law, but from the necessity of the case. The main front, and that portion of the prison designed for and formerly occupied as a residence for the Superintendent, in consequence of the foundation giving way, was rendered wholly unsafe to occupy, and it remained for us either to rent a house, remote from the prison, for the Superintendent, at a high rent, or build as contemplated by the legislature. We chose the latter alternative, and feel persuaded that your Excellency and the legislature will approve the step.

In conclusion, we would express our gratification of the management of the prison under its head, and, at the same time, give it as our confident opinion, that, with the direction of labor to manufacturing according to the present design, the Penitentiary will in a short time, instead of being a burden upon the State, be able to sustain itself wholly, if not become a source of revenue.

In support of this correction, we beg to refer your Excellency to the fact, that during the year just closed a large number of convicts have been withdrawn from the shops, and employed in the brick-yard, and in the building of the Superintendent's residence, for which there was no cash income, and yet the proceeds of the Institution have been much greater, while, at the same time, the drafts upon the treasury have been $3,781 08 less than they were last year. In regard to the health of the convicts, we respectfully call your attention to the Physician's Report accompanying this. During a portion of the year his labors have been arduous, and much is due to him for the promptness with which he arrested what seemed to threaten an epidemic.

We cannot close this report without expressing our thanks to those clergymen who have kindly administered to the moral and spiritual wants of the convicts, and trust their labors have not been in vain; for we have to attribute the general disposition to subordination and good order which has prevailed, in part to the moral influence which has been exerted, as well as to the well regulated discipline which has characterized the administration of the present incumbent.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. CARPENTER,	} Inspectors.
CHARLES SCOTT,
G. C. SMITH,

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

GENTLEMEN:—Since my last annual report, terminating October, 1847, the health of the prisoners has been good, with the exception of the months of May and June. About the 1st of June, a malignant form of fever made its appearance among the convicts occupying the cells on the ground floor, but gradually it extended to the second story, and threatened at one time to involve the whole prison. Finding all my efforts to arrest its progress unavailing, the plan of removing the sick (as on a former occasion) to more airy and spacious apartments in another part of the building was adopted, and after the cells in which it had originated had been thoroughly cleansed and ventilated, the disease slowly disappeared.

On a careful investigation of the cause of this formidable disease, I became satisfied it had its origin in the decayed condition of the wood work in the cells on the ground floor; and I took the liberty, at that time, as you will doubtless remember, of suggesting to your body the propriety of removing the plank floors, and substituting brick, well covered with a coat of cement. This suggestion has in part been carried out, but I feel confident the health, comfort, and security of the prison would be greatly advanced by dispensing altogether with wooden floors in the lower cells. But two deaths have occurred among the prisoners in the present year, and they were the first cases that were attacked by the fever to which I have just alluded. I may here remark, that these two are the only cases of fever that have terminated fatally since the establishment of the prison.

I feel it my duty again to call upon the Board to provide suitable apartments for the sick. The reasons for such a provision are sufficiently obvious, and have so often been adverted to in my previous reports, that I think it unnecessary to reiterate them.

Very respectfully,
WM. S. LANGLEY.

JOSEPH MOSELEY, Superintendent.

Attest: D. N. BARROWS, Clerk.

MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF CENTRAL MISSISSIPPI.

At a meeting of the citizens of Central Mississippi, held in pursuance of previous notice, without distinction of party, in the Representative Hall, in the city of Jackson, on Monday, the 7th day of May, 1849, for the purpose of taking into consideration the course now being pursued by many of the northern States, through their Representatives and Senators in Congress and State Legislatures, upon the subject of the extension of slave labor to the newly acquired territories, and its existence in the District of Columbia :

Upon motion of D. W. Adams, Esqr., his Excellency Joseph W. Matthews, was unanimously chosen President of the meeting.

Upon motions of W. P. Anderson, Esqr., and Hon. Anderson Hutchinson, Messrs. George T. Swann, Esqr., and Col. T. W. Dabney, were elected Vice-Presidents.

Upon motion of Hon. A. Hutchinson, D. W. Adams, Esqr., was appointed Secretary of the meeting.

The meeting being organized, upon request, the President proceeded to explain the objects and intentions of the meeting, in a brief and appropriate manner.

The Hon. William L. Sharkey then addressed the meeting, in further explanation of the objects for which it had assembled ; and urged the propriety of making this a preliminary meeting to a convention at some future period, of the citizens of the respective counties of the entire State ; and concluded his remarks by offering the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted :

Resolved, That a committee of be appointed to draft resolutions, and prepare an address explanatory of the objects of this meeting.

W. P. Anderson, Esqr., moved that the blank in the resolution, be filled with the number ten.

A. C. Baine, Esqr., moved that it be filled with the number seven.

Col. C. S. Tarpley moved that it be filled with the number thirty ; and addressed the meeting in support of his motion, urging the great importance of the subject before them, as a reason for his proposing such a number.

Hon. John I. Guion moved that the blank be filled with the number fifteen, and supported his resolution with some remarks.

The motions being put in their order, the blank was directed to be filled with the number fifteen.

The President then appointed the following gentlemen to comprise said committee :

Hon. Wm. L. Sharkey, chairman—Hon. John I. Guion, Hon. A. Hutchison, G. Yerger, Esqr., Gen. J. D. Freeman, Gen. Wm. R. Miles, Col. D. C. Glenn, G. W. L. Smith, Esqr., Gen. A. B. Wooldridge, Col. Wm. R. Hill, Hon. Jefferson Davis, Caswell R. Clifton, Esqr., Col. C. S. Tarpley, H. T. Ellett, Esqr., Charles Scott, Esqr.

Hon. W. L. Sharkey then moved, that in order to give the committee time for due deliberation, in the preparation of their report, this meeting do now adjourn until 8 o'clock this evening ; which motion was adopted, and the meeting adjourned until eight o'clock, P. M.

8 o'clock, P. M.

The meeting was called to order by the presiding officer.

The report of the committee being called for, the Hon. Wm. L. Sharkey, in behalf of the committee, and as chairman of the same, presented and read to the meeting the following

ADDRESS AND REPORT.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of controversy between the Northern and Southern States of the Union, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report the following as an address to the citizens of Mississippi, together with the accompanying resolutions.

The subject was approached by them, as it should be by this meeting, in full view of its solemnity and importance. Not as a common-place topic—not as a mere question of expediency on a matter of secondary consideration, but as one in which our dearest rights are involved—rights which we possessed as citizens of independent States, and which are reserved to us by the constitution of the United States. In our action on this important subject, it is the dictate of prudence that we should place ourselves on that foundation which may be furnished us by the aid of calm and deliberate reason. The time seems to be propitious to dispassionate deliberation. The excitement which was aroused by the efforts of our Northern brethren, in the last Congress, has passed away, and a temporary calm has succeeded. The poignant sting of fresh wounds has subsided. Reason has swept away the turbulence of passion, and resumed its accustomed dominion. We approach the subject, not in anger, but in sorrow. We venerate the Union—we venerate the memory of the illustrious men who cemented us as a family of nations—as one people; and we would hold out as an example to their sons, the recollection of the spirit of forbearance—of moderation—of compromise—of equal justice and true patriotism which governed them in their great work. Would that the same spirit could now prevail in the different portions of our Union.

Nor do we agitate, unnecessarily, this alarming question. We cannot be justly charged with such agitation. Gladly would we see it put to rest forever. But we are admonished by the past what we may expect in the future. On former occasions, we have been told, in the recess of Congress, that all cause of alarm had ceased—that the question was at rest, but as often have we been disappointed. At every succeeding session it has been revived with renewed energy and vigor, and with increased friends. We cannot be indifferent to the warning furnished by these examples. We see no abatement of energy in the pursuit of what seems to be a settled design to encroach upon our rights until they shall be destroyed. In the prospect of approaching danger, it becomes us to avert it if possible, but to prepare to meet it if it must come. The true patriot will endeavor to ward off the catastrophe which threatens to be fatal to his country, before it does its work of destruction. We have met, not only in defence of our individual rights, but in defence of our common country; and we would fondly hope that our timely warning may save our Union unimpaired. We meet not to agitate—not to act, but to prepare for action when the occasion may be forced upon us. We invade not the rights of any.

This much we have deemed it proper to say in vindication of the objects and motives of the present meeting. We would briefly turn our attention to the principles upon which we place our reliance.

As early as 1783, Virginia ceded to the confederation the territory which has since become Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, on condition that it should be laid off into States which should be admitted into the Union with “the same rights of sovereignty, freedom, and independence as the other States.” In the ordinance of 1787, passed by Congress, for the government of the Northwestern Territory, was inserted, in direct infraction of the deed of cession, a proviso which prohibited African slavery in the ceded territory. The rights of the citizens of that territory were thereby abridged, and a principle engrafted into the territorial government at war with the principles of government which prevailed in the States, and which prevented even the citizens of the ceding State from emigrating to the new territory with their property. Although slavery then existed in all the States, the southern States were more vitally interested in the question, and the proviso was more oppressive to them. But in the hope of peace, security, and prosperity, under a more stable government, (then being formed) by which equality of right should be better secured, they too generously yielded to that proviso.

In the convention which formed the Constitution, the question which is now convulsing the country, was a second time raised; it was then fully discussed and understood. The pre-existing rights of the Southern States in their slave property, were acknowledged and specifically guarded by that constitution, which became at once the solemn covenant of the Union of these States, and the potent cause, under Divine Providence, of their subsequent prosperity. The second section of the first article declares that representation and direct taxes shall be apportioned according to numbers, to be determined by adding to the number of white persons, three-fifths of all other persons including slaves. Slaves, then, constitute a basis of representation, not confined in its application, to any particular portion of the Union, but as a general rule. Can Congress alter or abolish that basis, or limit its operation to the old States? We think not. Slaves were regarded in a double aspect—as persons and as property. We ask to be referred to the clause of the constitution which gives Congress any control over the property held by the citizens of the States. In the States where slavery exists, we suppose that no one, with ordinary understanding, who knows any thing of the structure of the Federal Government, whose mind is unobscured by the polluting clouds of prejudice and bigotry, can believe for a moment that Congress has any power over any description of property. We may surely take this position for granted. But if any should be so rash as to doubt it, a glance at the previous condition of the States, and the purposes and objects of the constitution, must satisfy every candid mind. Each State was a separate sovereignty, whose government was organized for the protection of life, liberty, and property, and having, as every sovereignty must, the exclusive protection of these important subjects. By the constitution, no powers were given away, except such as might be necessary to give us a national character, and a national existence, in our intercourse with foreign nations, and such as might serve to bind us together as a family of republics. The States did not surrender their control over persons and property within their limits; that would have destroyed their identity; and all power not delegated by the constitution is reserved to the States.

The constitution of the United States does not create a government with sovereign power, and property is subject alone to the control of a government having such power. Such control is an important attribute of sovereignty. Indeed, the protection to property is the strongest ligament of government. The government created by the constitution is limited. It must look to the constitution alone as the charter of its power, and all its action must be confined within the limit there prescribed. Then no power of interference with property within the States is to be found. This was not one of the evils of the articles of confederation, which gave rise to the formation of the constitution.

But it has been contended, and doubtless will be urged again, that although this be true as regards the States, still Congress has unlimited power to legislate for the territories. We shall not now controvert the claim of power; it is no part of our present purpose. But suppose it be possessed, the question is, how may it be exercised? We answer, it must be in strict subservience to the principles of the constitution. Congress cannot, by any legislation, defeat, qualify, enlarge, or subvert, one principle contained in that instrument, because they are cardinal principles in our Union. They constitute the being or essence of Congress, as an organized body, and limit its official power. The principles of government, embraced in the constitution pervade the whole Union; they are universal. Every man in every State has a common interest in having them faithfully observed.

The territories are common property, subject to be occupied by the people from any portion of the Union, in the same freedom they enjoyed in the States, both as to their persons and their property. If power to legislate for the territories to the extent claimed is possessed, it may be exercised without limit, unless that limit be found in the constitution. Legislative power, within the meaning of the constitution, is a limited power, confined to particular subjects, which can only be exercised in subordination to certain great principles. That is the extent to which legislative power is conferred on Congress; all beyond it is usurpation. Suppose there should be slaves in any of the new territories, would an act of Congress prohibiting slavery produce immediate emancipation? Such would be the effect of unlimited power to legislate.

Has Congress the power to say what is or what is not property in the territory belonging to the people of the United States, or to regulate the amount they may acquire, or to take from the citizens there that which they really possess? Such a power does not belong to any regular government on earth. We repeat, that no power has been given to Congress, over property within the States, and no power can be exercised over it in the territories, detrimental to the unqualified rights of their owners. As well might Congress prescribe an established religion for the territories, and require every citizen and emigrant to conform to it. That is legislative power in its largest sense, but it is not the description of legislative power conferred by the constitution.

Thus stands, as your committee think, the claim of right asserted for Congress. Nor are these ill-founded pretensions in the least strengthened by the asserted equality of the African with the white man, and the consequent conclusion that he is not, nor should be regarded as property. No one, whose will and voice entered into the Declaration of Independence, or the national constitution, believed that the Africans in service, were born the equals of the Caucasian race. The people of the northern States do not now believe it. They treat the negroes amongst them not as equals, in any sense, but as degraded beings, far below them in the scale of creation.

Slavery has existed in all ages of the world, and amongst all nations, savage and civilized, with very few exceptions. It originated, not in a positive or statute law, as has been said it must exist, if it exist at all, but by a universal law of conquest, which the God of nature gave to his highest work, to hold dominion and power over the inferior things of his creation. Where, we ask, is the municipal, or positive law, as it has been called, that authorized the founders of the Jewish empire to hold slaves? By what law was it that the African was bought and sold, and held in perpetual bondage in classic Greece and imperial Rome? And by what authority was it that the modern nations of continental Europe engaged so largely in the slave trade? It was by that universal principle of dominion which constitutes an element in the nature of man, impressed on him by his Creator.

Even England, which now boasts that to touch English soil, is to break the shackles of slavery, was once a dealer in slaves. Where did her favorite virgin queen find an act of Parliament, which authorized her to share the profits of an expedition in the slave trade? There was no positive law which authorized it, nor did a law of prohibition originate in the Parliament house. British judges usurped the power of the legislature, and declared that universal freedom pervaded English soil; and we have reason to fear that their example will find followers in our own land. The right of property in slaves has met a universal recognition. We deny that the service to which the negro is subjected with us, is an injury to him or a detriment to us. To clothe, feed, and protect them, and compel them by moderate labor, to earn such subsistence and care, is to do for them what they would not do for themselves. All experience has shown that their best, their happiest, and most elevated condition is in servitude. Out of it, they degenerate into vice and ignomy which degrade the form they wear. It is the place assigned them by the God of nature in the great scheme of creation.

But the people of the northern States do not stop at asserting a right to abolish slavery in the territories. They seem to hold in utter disregard, that the provision in the constitution which authorizes the owner to recapture his fugitive slaves wherever he may be found. This is a provision which can admit of no dispute, and its violation can admit of no excuse. This is not fidelity to their government, which is one of the duties of christianity, in the name so which they profess to act. How unlike the example set them by the apostle Paul, in sending home to Philimon, his runaway slave, imploring for him forgiveness. We lament their misguided zeal, their false philanthropy, and in the name of our common country we implore them to beware, lest they drive us to extremities which will be fatal in their results. It is not for them to determine whether slavery is a blessing or a curse to us. That question we reserve to ourselves. And whilst they may profess not to interfere with it here, yet we cannot be mistaken as to the ultimate end which they desire to accomplish.

The delegation from this State, in the last Congress, with entire unanimity, have given the history of the progressive encroachments on our rights, and have pointed out the evils to be apprehended. As faithful sentinels, they have warned us of approaching danger, and are entitled to our approbation. As citizens of a southern State, it becomes us to vindicate the sovereignty of that State, and it is proper that the whole South should act with unanimity.

The legislature of Virginia, in March, 1847, passed resolutions condemning the Wilmot Proviso, and asserting the rights of the southern States; and again in January, 1849, by an overwhelming vote, re-affirmed the resolutions of 1847, and passed others, protesting against any action of Congress on the slave trade and slavery in the District of Columbia. Those resolutions clearly and forcibly set forth the constitutional rights of the South, and we would give them our most unqualified concurrence.

We cannot but regard any legislation, by Congress, either past or to come, which in any degree, either directly or remotely, may seem to give sanction to the authority of that body over the subject, as void for want of power, and in its tendency destructive of the principles of the Union, which should be held inviolable in every feature. But whilst we thus broadly assert our constitutional right, it will be with our people to say whether they will meet our brethren of the North in good faith, should it be tendered, in carrying out the Missouri compromise; not as a matter of intrinsic obligation, but by common consent of the people. We deny, most positively, its legal validity as an act of legislation. A constitutional principle admits of no compromise by Congress. To compromise was to assert and exercise the right to do so, and the consequent right to legislate on the subject, which we utterly deny.

Your committee have thus endeavored to point out and maintain our rights, and to show the extent of the injury threatened, but do not feel authorized, representing, as they do, but a small portion of the State, to prescribe the course which should be pursued by the people of the whole State. It is a question of State sovereignty on which the people of the whole State should speak; and let their voice be heard, also, through the Legislature, the organized representative of State sovereignty. We, therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolutions :

Resolved, That it is most important to obtain a general expression of the will, understanding, and voice of our fellow citizens of Mississippi, upon the issue presented, in relation to the territories of the United States, and the question of domestic slavery.

Resolved, That to that end, we respectfully, but solemnly recommend to them to hold, immediately, in each and all of the counties, a primary meeting of the citizens respectively, for the choice of delegates, to meet in convention at the Capitol, on the first Monday in October next, in order to express, in a more explicit and concentrated form, the will, understanding, and voice of the whole people of this State.

Resolved, That as the controversy involved, is one on which it is impossible that any party differences in this State can exist, and in order to prevent any undue assumption, or suspicion on this score, we urge it as proper and necessary, that there should be an equal number of each of the great political parties in the delegates so to be chosen, and that to effect that object, the delegation ought to be double that of the representation of the State, in the House of Representatives.

Hon. John I. Guion moved that the report be received, and address and resolutions adopted; which motion being put by the chair, the report was received, and the address and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Geo. S. Yerger, Esqr., then addressed the meeting, in explanation of his views of the report and resolutions; and was followed by Hon. John I. Guion, and Messrs. John Marshall and John M. Chilton, Esqrs.

On motion of the Hon. A. Hutchison, the Hon. Jefferson Davis was respectfully invited to address the meeting.

In compliance with the invitation, the Hon. Jefferson Davis addressed the meeting at some length, and in an appropriate and impressive manner.

On motion of the Hon. John I. Guion,

Resolved, That the address and resolutions and proceedings of the meeting be published in the "Mississippian" and "Southron," and that all the public papers in the State be also requested to publish them.

On motion of Col. C. S. Tarpley, the meeting then adjourned.

SOUTHERN STATE CONVENTION.

Minutes of the Convention of Delegates appointed by the people of the State of Mississippi, convened in the city of Jackson, on Monday, October 1, 1849.

On motion of Hon. T. H. Williams, of Pontotoc, Hon. George Winchester, of Adams, was appointed President, pro tem. of the Convention.

On motion of Hon. John I. Guion, Col. G. R. Fall, of Hinds, was requested to act as Secretary; and on motion of Gen. T. N. Waul, of Yallobusha, J. A. Orr, of Chickasaw, was appointed assistant Secretary.

The delegates from the various counties came forward and registered their names.

On motion of Gen. Waul, Hon. D. Wallace, of South Carolina, was invited to a seat within the bar.

On motion of Hon. T. H. Williams, a committee of ten was appointed to recommend officers for the Convention.

The following gentlemen were appointed said committee, by the Chair.

T. H. Williams, of Pontotoc; J. I. Guion, of Hinds; Saml. Jayne, of Lawrence; T. N. Waul, of Yallobusha; G. G. Skipwith, of Issaquena; James Whitfield, of Lowndes; H. C. Chambers, of Rankin; R. T. Archer, of Claiborne; J. M. Chilton, of Warren; J. M. Sharpe, of Yazoo.

The committee retired and through their chairman, Hon. T. H. Williams, reported for President, Hon. W. L. SHARKEY; Vice-President, His Excellency JOS. W. MATTHEWS.

Secretaries, J. A. ORR, of Chickasaw, W. A. PURDOM, of Holmes; which report was received and adopted.

The Hon. W. L. Sharkey was conducted to the chair, and addressed the Convention in a lucid and forcible manner, explanatory of the objects for which they had convened. The following are his remarks:

Gentlemen of the Convention—Whilst I sincerely thank you for the honor you have conferred on me, I regret that the important duty was not assigned to some one more competent than myself. I dissemble not, in declaring that this honor was not expected by me, and hence feel more embarrassed in addressing you.

The subject of your contemplated deliberations is an important one. Nothing less than a question involving in its consequences, the liberty of this people—perhaps directly or remotely the liberty of other nations. I trust that you will approach it dispassionately—that you will lay aside your party predilections, and meet it, not as politicians, but as patriots—as statesmen. We had flattered ourselves that the capacity of man for self-government was no longer a subject of doubt. We have boasted of ours as an example of a free government, based on an enduring foundation. I trust it may prove so, but events of recent occurrence seem to forebode danger. The convocation of this assembly—the intense interest manifest in every countenance here, are proofs that there is cause of alarm. For a time, we have been prosperous and happy under a free government; but that time, in the great history of man, is but a brief space, a mere point. The page of history is yet fresh which records our existence as a nation of freemen. Scarce has the stain of revolutionary blood, shed for liberty, faded from the face of the land, before it has been found necessary for the people of the South to prepare to check threatened aggression. And whence this danger? No foreign foe threatens us. Our countrymen, our brothers, are arrayed against us in civil strife. They seem to forget that they are allied to us by the most sacred ties, and to forget the value of the Union. Blinded by the poison of fanaticism, they seek to abridge our constitutional rights in the enjoyment of our property, under the mask of false humanity. If the right to do so was unquestionable, in christian charity, it should be asserted without inflicting remorseless stings to our sensibilities. The entire independence of the States was achieved by the most memorable struggle that history records. They were separate and independent sovereignties, and first united under articles of confederation. These articles were defective, mainly in not having provided proper means for raising a revenue, and in not giving Congress sufficient power to regulate commerce. These defects gave rise to our present constitution. In the convention which formed it, the States met as equals in political power. The small States were unwilling to relinquish their equality of power; the slaveholding States were unwilling to confederate, unless their slaves should be made a basis of representation, and the owners secured in their right. These were exciting subjects. After great difficulty they were compromised. The second section of the first article provides that representatives and direct taxes should be apportioned according to numbers, to be ascertained by adding three-fifths of the slaves to the number of whites. The second section of the fourth article provides for the recapturing of slaves escaping into those States where slavery did not exist. In these provisions we have an acknowledgment of the existence of slavery, and a guaranty for its production as the basis of representation, and as property. The constitution did not create property in slaves. Such right existed anterior to, and above the constitution. As slaves were owned in many of the States, they would not of course have entered into the confederacy on such terms as would weaken the right of the owner to his slave, or diminish the value. One of the great objects of the constitution was, that it should, in its consequences, protect property by giving protection and strength to the several States. But as the States were sovereign, they could not surrender to Congress the right to control, by legislation, the property of their citizens. Such a grant of power would have been a complete surrender of sovereignty. A great consolidated government would have risen up, which was an evil, of all others, most dreaded, and most rigidly guarded against, by declaring that all power not expressly granted to Congress, was reserved to the States or to the people. Hence no power can be exercised unless it has been granted by the constitution. The safety of the States and of the people is best preserved by holding Congress strictly within the limit of the delegated powers. No rule of construction can be safe which encroaches upon individual rights. The right to hold slaves as property became a fixed principle, inseparable from the other provisions of the constitution. Indeed, that description of property seems to have been thought worthy of specific and special protection. The constitution must exist and harmonise in all its parts. Every principle it contains is inseparably connected together. It is an entire thing, being the great frame work of the government, indissolubly united in all its parts; it would not have been formed without the insertion of every feature; it is an infraction to violate any of them; the symmetry is broken.

Notwithstanding this unqualified recognition of property in slaves, and the protection provided for its enjoyment as such, still it is contended that Congress may prohibit and abolish it in the territories of the United States. The territories are common property, and cannot be appropriated by Congress to the use of one portion, the common owners, to the exclusion of another. Equality of right must then prevail, and any act which would destroy that equality cannot be valid. It is a principle in the law of nations, that "all the members of the community have an equal right to the use of their common property." Rules may be prescribed by the sovereign power, regulating the manner of its use, provided they are not inconsistent with that entire equality which ought to be preserved. If the sovereign authority in a State or nation can do nothing which shall produce inequality in the enjoyment of the public domain or property, surely such authority is not possessed by the Federal Government, which has but a limited power. The attempt by Congress to prohibit slavery in the territory of California, has caused this meeting. That territory is common property. There each citizen of the United States has equal rights, is entitled to equal freedom in the enjoyment of the territories. I am proud to say, that in acquiring it, Mississippians displayed as much valor as any other portion of their brethren in arms, and shed as much blood, in proportion to their numbers, as the citizens of any of the States. They were distinguished for their prowess in many a hard fought battle, but now they are to be told that restrictions must be imposed on their right to enjoy the conquest. Can we, should we yield the fruits of our valor, and surrender with it our constitutional right of equality? Congress cannot deprive us of it, and ought not if it could; cannot say, that if we go, we must leave our property behind us. Property constitutes the means of enjoyment, and to exclude the property of the people of the Southern States, is in effect to exclude the people, and appropriate the country to the Northern States. Such a power is not possessed by a government possessing sovereignty; it could not be rightfully exercised even by a monarchy. The property of the South consists mostly in slaves, and to interdict its use on our own soil, would not only be unjust, but an arbitrary violation of the constitution. It is vain to talk of our right to the territories, if we may be deprived of the means of enjoying those rights. The mere soil is nothing; it is the use that we may make of it which renders it valuable. As well might Congress interdict the use of any other property there; if it can exclude a slave, it may exclude a horse or an ox. We do not derive the right to hold either from the constitution. That instrument is but subservient to their use. But why is it that we must be deprived of this privilege? Because, say our Northern brethren, slavery is a moral and political evil. Who has the right to determine that it is so? Let them eradicate moral evils from their own land; we can take care of our own morals. Is it possible it has come to this, that Congress has the right, under a limited grant of power, to travel into the wide field of ethics, and regulate our moral conduct? That is a question for our conscience. Morality is twin sister to religion; they are as inseparably allied as cause and effect; the power to regulate one necessarily implies the power to regulate the other. Is it possible, that in defiance of the guards in the constitution, Congress will encroach on so delicate, so sacred a subject? If there is anything dear to an American, it is his liberty of conscience—his right to worship God at the altar of his choice. I must admonish my Methodist and Baptist friends to be on their guard; you may soon be told that your religion is a moral evil, and must be exterminated, for if Congress has the right to legislate on the ground of moral evils, “to this complexion must it come at last.” But who has a right to say that it is a political evil? We do not find such a doctrine inculcated by the constitution. Congress may decide on questions of expediency within the range of the delegated powers; but that cannot be a political evil, within the reach of its legislative power, which is secured to the citizen and prohibited to Congress. Congress has no power to say that constitutional rights are political evils. To that body, nothing is a political evil which is secured to the States or to the people. Moral and political evils are themes which open wide fields for investigation, and if Congress may occupy them as the ground work of its action, the constitution is worthless. Instead of a limited, we have an unlimited government. If the people, the fountain of power, should determine, that a political evil exists, they may apply the remedy, but it is not with Congress. This political and moral evil, it seems, is exclusively in the South, and those who have determined it to be so, and wish to eradicate it, reside in the North. As sovereign States we have the power to judge of, and to correct moral and political evils within our limits. We ask not the interference of the North to correct our morals or our institutions. We do not intrude upon them, but only demand to be permitted to an equality in the enjoyment of our common property. Congress, it is true, may establish a government in the territory, but that government must be founded in equality. It must protect the property of the common owner, as well as his person. Whether this power is derived under the third section of the fourth article of the constitution, or whether it is derived from the power to acquire territory, or the war and treaty making power, is not material, it must be exercised so as to preserve inviolate every principle of the constitution.

But, in the efforts to exclude our property from that territory, another false doctrine is promulgated which is equally disastrous to us. We are told that as slavery was prohibited by the laws of Mexico, we cannot take slaves there without the authority of a law permitting it. This is the doctrine of a class of politicians in our country, who look no further than the surface of the law. If this error were confined to politicians, it might be passed over as harmless, but it is also the doctrine which has been unceremoniously promulgated by a member of the supreme bench. We could overlook the groundless falacies of a few politicians, but when the sanctity of the bench is perverted, and its influence thrown as an element into the exciting cause of malcontent and strife, there is just ground of complaint. If this could be a judicial question in any shape, that was the tribunal before which it might come. With the decision, the American people would have rested satisfied. Quiet would have been restored. It was a great constitutional question, and on such questions, the people of the United States have been taught to look to the decisions of the Supreme court with veneration; but they have not been accustomed to having them promulgated in advance, and are startled at thus seeing them. The effect is almost as injurious to us as a decision regularly pronounced, because it has deterred the South from an equal participation in the territories, whilst it has emboldened the North to persist in its efforts. It has caused one party to believe that it was right, and the other to fear that it was wrong. From position, it has made "the worse appear the better cause." It is not true, that slavery does not exist in California, although it may have been prohibited by the laws of Mexico. True, the conquering country may permit the municipal laws of the conquered country to remain in force, but this is only true of private or strictly municipal laws; it is not true as regards political laws. By elementary writers, laws are divided into public and private; or political and municipal. Political laws are such as are organic, and confer power and form on the government. They give it vitality as an organized body. These political laws are sometimes reduced to the form of a constitution, which becomes supreme and paramount to all other laws, either public or private. Our constitution is the law of our being—it is the essence of our government; it is the combination of certain great principles, between each one of which there is a connexion and dependency, and the aggregate constitutes a unit. To withdraw or destroy any one of them would break the entire fabric. It would lop off an essential part of our political power. When we acquired California, it became subject to our constitution—our whole constitution—our constitution as an entire thing. The territory did not become subject to a part of our government only, but every principle of the constitution prevailed there as an active principle, and superseded of necessity whatever was repugnant to any one of them. No abridgement of the rights of the new owners could be permitted. The vested rights of the citizens there, at the time we acquired it, may be protected by a principle not inconsistent with this position. The consequence is, that we have a right to take our slaves there, because they are our property, secured to us as such by the principles of our paramount political law. If it were true, that because slavery was then prohibited by the laws of Mexico, and could not be established there without positive law, then the constitution went there a mere cripple. But not so. Wherever the stripes and stars float over a territory, as an emblem of political dominion, they rest upon a perfect pedestal, formed by every principle of the constitution indissolubly cemented together. As well may it be said that our constitution must give place to the established religion of Mexico.

How strange it is, that whilst Congress has no power over the subject of slavery, in consequence of an inhibition, that it should be contended that the laws of the conquered country should secure a prohibition, and thus triumph over our constitutional rights.

Thus, as I conceive, stands the question of right; but if it were a question of expediency merely, how ungenerous the conduct of the North. We are united as a family of nations. We may have different local interests, but our obligations to each other, require an observance of good faith, of good feeling, of mutual support and forbearance. With them, it is matter of feeling only—with us, it is a question of interest. Are they not prepared to yield their feelings and their prejudices for the sake of protecting our interest? If not, they have forgotten the objects of the Union—mutual safety, prosperity and happiness dictated it. Are they willing to risk all these for the gratification of a mere imaginary philanthropy? It would seem so. The Wilmot Proviso is but the entering wedge. That accomplished, and the rest will follow. Emancipation in the States is doubtless the ultimate object, and we have reason to fear that at no point short of this, will the effort cease. The Union must be dissolved, and the blessings which we enjoy under our government must become a sacrifice on the altar of fanaticism. We must become a degraded people, or abandon our country to the African race. We would say to them, beware ! You but rush on your own destruction.

It is a subject of deep regret, that the powerful engine of prejudice, is arrayed against us. Enormities are falsely ascribed to us, with a view to excite indignation. They add insult to injury. We are held out as destitute of common mercy—degraded at home and abroad. The means employed, are calculated to excite our slave population and endanger our lives. We hope and believe that there are still a few at the North, who value the Union, and do not engage in this unnatural warfare. Our Union should be social as well as political ; amity should prevail between the different divisions. But the ties that bind us, are being daily weakened, and the love of the Union diminished. We have remonstrated, but in vain. We yield to none, in a deep and abiding love for the Union. We wish not to sever it, but to re-cement it. We can vindicate it, only by keeping it inviolate. We would preserve it in all its purity. We want it as our fathers gave it to us, and must defend it against infraction as a sacred duty we owe to their memory. The South has borne with these encroachments, under a hope that a sense of justice would ultimately correct the evil, but of this, there seems now to be but little hope. We must take our stand. Let us survey the ground well, and occupy that position, on which we can stand within the pale of the constitution ; and when taken, let us maintain it, like men who know their rights, and are determined to protect them. We are not the aggressors, and if the result should prove disastrous, let the blame rest on those who have provoked the quarrel.

Thus, gentlemen of the convention, I have endeavored to point out what I regard as our constitutional rights. The evils you know. The great and serious inquiry is, shall we submit to further degradation, or shall we seek redress ? If the latter, how is it to be obtained ? Let me again allude to the importance of the subject—again entreat you to weigh it well, calmly and dispassionately. We meet not here to discuss an ordinary topic. Here we can have no party preferences. We are joint owners of this great estate. It is our birthright—our inheritance. We may have our honest differences of opinion about its management by our agents, but when the whole is about to be swept from us, we cannot differ as to the necessity of its preservation. Let us confer together as patriots. Our country is above our party. Such feelings I trust and believe you all entertain, and hope that they may lead to wise and happy results.

Col. G. G. Skipwith moved that the counties be represented in the Convention, in the same numbers as in the lower House of the Legislature.

Hon. A. Hutchinson asked the gentleman to amend his resolution, by inserting double the number of the representatives in the lower House—a large number of delegates having been elected under this rule.

The amendment was accepted, and on motion, the resolution so amended was adopted.

Judge Winchester said, that in view of the fact, that the Convention would likely draw up an address and resolutions on the subject for which they had convened, it was proper that there should be a previous understanding of their scope and character. The great point to be kept in view, was the preservation of the Union, as well as to sustain the rights of the South; and the latter, he conceived, could only be done by the preservation of our slave institutions. Here the Judge read a long exposition of his peculiar views.

Judge Guion and Col. T. H. Williams, presented their credentials as alternates from Tishemingo.

The Hon. E. C. Wilkinson gave notice, that on to-morrow, he would introduce a resolution to appoint a committee of — members, of whom the President of this Convention shall be Chairman, to prepare and report such resolutions or address as they may deem expedient.

On motion, the Convention adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

TUESDAY MORNING, Oct. 2, 1849.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment. Hon. W. L. Sharkey, President, addressed the Convention in amplification and further elucidation of the positions assumed by him on yesterday.

On motion of Gen. Waul, a call of the roll was had.

On motion of John I. Guion, the journal of yesterday's proceeding was read.

Theodore Fitler and George R. Fall appeared as delegates from the county of Hinds, to fill the vacancies of Gen. Jefferson and Dr. Catchings.

Gen. Patrick Henry, a delegate from the county of Madison, appeared and registered his name

A. C. Baine and A. Hutchinson, appeared and took their seats as delegates from the county of Winston.

E. C. Wilkinson, in accordance with the notice given yesterday, introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of — be appointed by the President, to prepare and report to the Convention, definite matter for its action; and that the President of this Convention be requested to act as Chairman of said committee.

Dr. Yandell moved that the blank in said resolution, be filled with the word ten.

Pending said motion, Dr. Yandell yielded to a call for a division of the question, and thereupon, the first clause of the resolution was adopted.

A. Hutchinson moved that the blank be filled with the number thirty.

T. H. Williams moved, as an amendment, that the blank be filled with the word sixteen, four from each Congressional District, which was adopted by the Convention.

The President announced the names of the following gentlemen, as constituting the committee, under the first clause of the resolution introduced by E. C. Wilkinson, to-wit :

First District.—His Excellency, Gov. Matthews, Hon. John I. Guion, Hon. Thos. H. Williams and W. H. Smith.

Second District.—Gen. T. N. Waul, G. N. Gordon, E. R. Burt and A. C. Baine.

Third District.—Hon. E. C. Wilkinson, J. M. Chilton, A. Hutchinson and Thos. A. Dabney.

Fourth District.—Hon. Geo. Winchester, R. T. Archer, S. H. Johnson and Gen. D. H. Cooper.

T. N. Waul moved that in addition to four members from each Congressional District, that four members from the State at large, be added to the committee, which was adopted.

Gen. Patrick Henry moved a reconsideration of the vote last taken, which was lost.

The President announced the following named gentlemen, as appointed for the State at large on the committee, to-wit :—John J. Smith, J. C. McAlpin, M. Blalack and H. C. Chambers.

Geo. Winchester asked and obtained leave to introduce certain propositions, which, on motion, were received and referred to the committee, raised under the resolution of E. C. Wilkinson.

E. C. Wilkinson asked and obtained leave to withdraw the latter clause of the resolution offered by him, relative to the appointment of the committee.

On motion, the Convention adjourned until 4 o'clock, P. M.

6 o'clock, P. M.

The Committee not having reported at 6 o'clock, the Convention adjourned until this (Wednesday) morning, 9 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, 9 o'clock.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment.

The committee appointed to prepare and report to the Convention, definite matter for its action, through its Chairman, Hon. E. C. Wilkinson, reported a preamble and resolutions, which, on motion, were received.

John I. Guion presented a minority report of the committee, which was subsequently withdrawn.

After discussion, James Whitfield moved that each of the reports be printed for the use of the Convention. One hundred copies were ordered.

On motion, the Convention adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock, P. M.

3 o'clock, P. M.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment.

On motion of James Whitfield, the names of Chief Justice Sharkey, John I. Guion, Gen. W. R. Miles, Hon. Jeff. Davis, Gen.

John D. Freeman and Gov. J. W. Matthews, alternates from the county of Lowndes, were spread upon the journals.

Dr. H. A. G. Roberts appeared and took his seat in the Convention, as the proxy of W. S. Jones, from Hinds county.

Gen. Quitman and Col. Davis were invited to seats within the bar.

The report of the majority of the committee was taken up for consideration; and the minority of the committee having withdrawn their report, the majority report was put upon its passage.

After various amendments, it was unanimously adopted, as follows :

REPORT :

We, the delegates to a convention, called by the people of the State of Mississippi, to deliberate on the means to prevent the unfounded pretension, that Congress has power to legislate on the subject of domestic slavery, and to prohibit its introduction and existence in the territories of the United States, have duly considered the important subject committed to our charge, and make the following report as expressive of the voice of Mississippi.

It is boldly asserted, that Congress possesses an unlimited power of legislation over all the territories belonging in common to the people of the United States—that it, consequently, has power to prohibit slavery in these territories—that the exercise of such power is expedient and necessary, inasmuch as slavery is an evil which must be eradicated from the land. With a few patriotic and honored exceptions, the people of the Northern States seem determined to adopt the Wilmot proviso, or the principle it contains. Every succeeding year brings forth new expedients for the accomplishment of this object. The press, the pulpit, and the ballot-box, have all become tributary to this fanatical hostility to the South. It is vain to hope for an abandonment of this settled design. Submission to our wrongs, provokes perseverance on the part of the aggressors; and it is wise in States, as it is individuals to resist encroachment. Unfortunately, we have been but too passive under former encroachments. Our opponents exult in the passage of the Oregon Bill, as a full acknowledgment of the principle, and build their hopes of further success on that. In this unfortunate controversy, there are but two alternatives—the one is submission, the other resistance. To the one we cannot—we will not consent; the other, we are reluctant to adopt.

In the name of our constituents, we solemnly deny the existence of the power claimed, and protest against its exercise. We assert that it will violate the constitution, and will lead to a dissolution of the Union.

We have not met to discuss the question of power or expediency; they have been argued and re-argued, in and out of Congress, by our statesmen and by our people. We have reasoned and remonstrated in terms of conciliation with our Northern brethren, until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue. We have warned them of the consequences of perseverance. They have disregarded our remonstrances, and our warnings; they have disregarded the most solemn compromises, in which we yielded too much. They have refused to submit to judicial determination, preferring to decide by the force of numbers. There is no common arbiter; and we, too, must decide for ourselves. That decision is made. We take our stand on the plain principles of the constitution, and intend to maintain it, or sink in the effort.

We assert that Congress has no power over the subject of slavery, within the States, or in the territories. That these states by the revolution; by the Declaration of Independence, and by the treaty of peace, became separate and independent sovereignties, with all the political power of separate and distinct nations; that they are still so, except so far as they may have expressly delegated part of their power to the General Government; that they have not delegated their sovereignty; the Federal Government is not a sovereignty, but a limited federative system, possessing only such powers as have been expressly granted to it by the constitution, with such implied powers as may be indispensably necessary as incidents to the express grant. It follows that it can legislate only on the subjects confided to it; and, on them, only in strict subordination to every principle of the constitution. As power is constantly tending to the legislative department, it is inexpedient that Congress should encroach on the liberties of the people and the sovereignty of the States by exercising doubtful powers.

We maintain that the system of slavery was recognized by the constitution—slaves were recognized as property, the full enjoyment of which was guarded and protected; guaranteed by that compact; that Congress has no power over such property. The right of property preceded the constitution—it is co-eval with the history of man; it exists by a paramount law of nature; it is the subject of control by State sovereignty only. This Union never would have been formed, without the full and entire recognition of slavery, and property in slaves, and the guaranty to the owner which is contained in the constitution.

We assert that the territories acquired by the late war with Mexico, are the common property of the United States; that the people of the States have a right to move to it, and enjoy it; to take with them their property, their religion and their liberty. Congress did not create property in slaves, nor can it say they shall cease to be property. To abolish slavery in the territories, is to diminish their value, and limit their usefulness in the States. It is appropriating the whole of the territory to the use of one portion of the people of the United States, to the exclusion of another. The power of Congress to legislate for the territories is a power to protect the citizen and his property, not to declare what is property. Therefore, 1st Resolved, That we continue to entertain a devoted and cherished attachment to the Union, but we desire to have it as it was formed, and not as an engine of oppression.

2. That the institution of slavery in the southern States is left, by the constitution, exclusively under the control of the States in which it exists, as a part of their domestic policy, which they, and they only, have the right to regulate, abolish or perpetuate, as they may severally judge expedient; and that all attempts, on the part of Congress, or others, to interfere with this subject, either directly or indirectly, are in violation of the constitution, dangerous to the rights and safety of the South, and ought to be promptly resisted.

3 That Congress has no power to pass any law abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, or to prohibit the slave trade between the several states, or to prohibit the introduction of slavery into the territories of the United States; and that the passage by Congress of any such law, would not only be a dangerous violation of the constitution, but would afford evidence of a fixed and deliberate design on the part of that body, to interfere with the institution of slavery in the States.

4. That we would regard the passage, by Congress, of the "Wilmot Proviso," (which would, in effect, deprive the citizens of the slave-holding States of an equal participation in the territories acquired equally by their blood and treasure,) as an unjust and insulting discrimination—to which these States cannot without political degradation, submit; and to which this convention, representing the feelings and opinions of the people of Mississippi, solemnly declare they will not submit.

5. That the passage of the Wilmot Proviso, or of any law abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, by the Congress of the United States, would, of itself, be such a breach of the federal compact as, in that event, will make it the duty, as it is the right of the slave-holding States, to take care of their own safety, and to treat the non-slave-holding States as enemies to the slave-holding States and their domestic institutions.

6. That the legislature is hereby requested to pass such laws as may, in their opinion, be best calculated to encourage the emigration of citizens of the slave-holding States, with slaves, to the new territories of the United States.

7. That, in view of the frequent and increasing evidence of the determination of the people of the non-slaveholding States, to disregard the guarantees of the constitution, and to agitate the subject of slavery, both in and out of Congress, avowedly for the purpose of effecting its abolition in the States; and, also, in view of the facts set forth in the late "Address of the Southern Members of Congress," this convention proclaims the deliberate conviction, that the time has arrived when the southern States should take counsel together for their common safety; and that a convention of the slaveholding States should be held at Nashville, Tenn., on the 1st MONDAY IN JUNE next, to devise and adopt some mode of resistance to these aggressions; and that this convention do appoint twelve delegates and twelve alternates—being double the number of our Senators and Representatives in Congress—to attend such convention, and that the other slaveholding States be invited to appoint delegates agreeably to the same ratio of representation.

8. That in the language of an eminent northern writer and patriot, "The rights of the South in African service, exist not only under but over the constitution. They existed before the Government was formed. The constitution was rather sanctioned by them than they by the constitution. Had not that instrument admitted the sovereignty of those rights, it never would have been itself admitted by the South. It bowed in deference to rights older in their date, stronger in their claims, and holier in their nature, than any other which the constitution can boast. Those rights may not be changed—even by a change of the constitution. They are out of the reach of the nation, as a nation. The confederacy may dissolve and the constitution pass away, but those rights will remain unshaken—will exist while the South exists—and when they fall, the South will perish with them."

9. That to procure unity and promptness of action in this State, this convention recommends that a Central or State Association be formed at the Capitol, and affiliated county associations within the several counties of the State.

10. That we recommend to the legislature of this State, that at its next session, a law be enacted, making it the duty of the governor of the State, by proclamation, to call a general convention of the State, and to issue writs of election based upon the ratio of representation in the State legislature, upon the passage by Congress, of the "Wilmot Proviso," or any law abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, or prohibiting the slave trade between the States, to take into consideration the act of aggression, and the mode and measure of redress.

11. That a committee of six be chosen by the convention to prepare an address to the people of the slaveholding States.

The delegates appointed under the seventh resolution for the State at large, were:

W. L. Sharkey, A. M. Clayton, H. T. Ellett, and G. T. Sturges.
Alternates—John I. Guion, A. Hutchinson, W. R. Cannon and J. T. Harrison.

First Congressional District—Joseph W. Matthews and T. J. Word. Alternates—H. R. Miller and J. D. Bradford.

Second District—T. N. Waul and J. B. Cobb. Alternates—Reuben Davis and Charles B. Shepperd.

Third District—H. C. Chambers and E. C. Wilkinson. Alternates—W. R. Hill and Patrick Sharkey.

Fourth District—Geo. Winchester and D. H. Cooper. Alternates—David Hurst and Henry Mounger.

The committee appointed under the last resolution, to prepare an address, is composed of W. L. Sharkey, A. Hutchinson, George Winchester, C. R. Clifton, W. R. Hill, Jno. I. Guion and E. C. Wilkinson.

On motion of John I. Guion, a committee of three was appointed to collect the proceedings leading to the convening of the Central Meeting, the proceedings of said meeting, and the proceedings of all the county meetings appointing delegates to this convention, as far as practicable, and the proceedings of this convention, and to have them transcribed into a book, and deposited for safe-keeping with the President of this Convention. Jno. I. Guion, A. Hutchinson and D. Shelton, were appointed said committee.

On motion of James Whitfield, it was Resolved, That the President of this convention be hereby requested to furnish a copy of the address delivered by him on his induction to the chair, for publication with the proceedings of this body.

On motion, the President and Secretaries were instructed to sign the proceedings of this convention, and that the papers of this State, and the papers of the Southern States, be requested to publish them.

On motion of T. H. Williams, the thanks of the convention were tendered to the President and Secretaries, for the ability and industry with which they had discharged their duties.

On motion of T. N. Waul, the convention adjourned sine die.

ADDRESS OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE MISSISSIPPI CONVENTION TO THE SOUTHERN STATES.

To the People of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, Florida and Texas, comprising—with Mississippi—in respect to the institution of Negro-slavery, the Southern States.

The people of Mississippi, by their Convention of October last, whose proceedings have been published, have required of us, as a committee, to address you on the subject which called them into that convention—the past and impending aggressions of the northern section, consisting of the present fifteen non-slaveholding States of the confederacy, with the declared view of subverting that institution of the South. The State of Delaware is here included in the southern section, because her polity in reference to the assailed institution, as yet, remains unchanged. The convention truly, and as explicitly as the period of its deliberations allowed, expressed the will of the people of this State concerning those aggressions, leaving to us the duty of illustrating and urging its views and resolves as to us should seem most conducive to the grand end of preserving and transmitting the Union upon the bases of the constitution which created it.

The Slavery which is the object of the prolonged agitation assailment and encroachment, is not any modification of political subjection to which men, capable of social, civil and political equality and self-government are exposed, but is the patriarchal dominion of the free white citizens of the southern States over the negroes among them that are held to service. It is a domestic relation, in which the masters have invested more than a thousand millions of dollars of capital in the labor and service of their slaves. They are the descendants of the negroes transported by Britain to our country during her colonial dependence, for whose sale, prior to the Revolution, Boston, Providence, Newport and New York were the principal marts. All the States declaring independence held slaves; and at the adoption of the constitution, all held them but Pennsylvania. Gradually the northern owners sold their slaves to the southern, and the products have passed down from the Pilgrim sires to their sons as capital. The relation, then, existed prior to and at the adoption of the constitution; and by that compact of the States adopting it, the relation was recognized as an inviolable institution, Pennsylvania concurring that it was a legitimate object of guaranty. By its antiquity, customs and habits; by the reciprocal duties and obligations it imposed; and beyond all, from the physical, intellectual, moral and social inequalities between the white and black races, and the consequent dependence of the latter, the relation had become so incorporated in the communities in which it existed, that, independent of the capital invested, the service became identified with and indispensable to the existence of the States connected with and sustained by it.

Although the constitution was ratified by the conventions of the original States adopting it, and accepted in like conventional solemnity by the States subsequently admitted; and although thus it was established, and has ever been embraced as the compact of the Union; yet the non-slaveholding States claim the powers through their superior representation in Congress, to prevent the extension of slavery into territories belonging to the United States, and to abolish it in the District of Columbia, and in all places over which Congress may exercise exclusive legislation. They assert that when, by the admission of new States, they shall obtain three-fourths of all, they can amend the constitution and give to Congress a new power to abolish the service even in the States where it may be sanctioned by the local polity. They denounce it as a great moral, social and political evil, for the extension or continuance of which, they became morally responsible by the ratification of the constitution, because, as they say, that instrument delegated to the United States, in Congress assembled, the power to abolish it everywhere within the confederacy.

These opinions of their powers under the constitution, and of the moral responsibilities they assumed by becoming parties to the compact of Union, are certainly not in accordance with the understanding of the patriots who adopted the constitution. They were not enlightened with the deep discoveries of the social-reform-philosophy—with the modern development, that all men are born free and equal—that all inequality is moral, social and political evil, produced by laws of marriage, wardship, apprenticeship, education and property, as sustained by existing society and government! They were patriots. They framed the constitution to perpetuate, and not dissolve the Union. They assumed no responsibility under it to destroy the States, in which negroes should be held to a just and necessary service, as a great moral, social and political evil! They were christians, and believed no authority higher evidence of the laws of the Creator than the bible. They read in it the commandments—"Thou shalt keep holy the Sabbath day—thou and thy man servant and thy maid servant." "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man servant nor his maid servant." "Thou shalt not steal." "Both thy bondmen and thy bondmaids, which thou shalt have, shall be of the heathen round about you ; of them shall ye buy bondmen and bondmaids. Moreover, of the children of the strangers that do sojourn among you, of them shall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begat in your land, and they shall be your possession : and ye shall take them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them for a possession : they shall be your bondmen forever."

They did not believe that Christ came to destroy domestic relations, private property or civil government ; to supersede Moses and the prophets ; to establish an earthly government by denying to Cæsar the things which are Cæsar's ; but that He came to establish a spiritual kingdom by emancipating mankind from the bondage of heathenism and corruption, and teaching them their duties to God in all their domestic, social and political relations in this world, whether of husband and wife, parent and child, master and servant, capitalist and laborer, rich or poor, ignorant or learned, ruler or ruled.

His apostles taught : " Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether it be the king as supreme, or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evil deeds, and for the praise of them that do well." " Servants be subject to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward." " Exhort servants to be obedient to their own masters, and to please them well in all things, not answering again, not purloining, but showing all good probity, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things." " Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their masters worthy of all honor, that the name of God and His doctrine be not blasphemed." " Masters give unto your servants that which is just and equal, knowing that ye also have a Master in Heaven." " Servants obey in all things your masters according to the flesh ; not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singleness of heart, fearing God : and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men ; knowing that of the Lord, ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance ; for ye serve the Lord Christ." " Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free." " And ye masters, do the same thing unto them, forbearing threatening : knowing that your Master also is in Heaven ; neither is there respect of persons with him."

If the Bible be good authority of the revealed law, slavery, or the domestic relation of master and slave, as it exists in the southern States, is not a moral evil ; and if the constitution delegated a power to Congress to prevent its extension, or to abolish it anywhere, the existence of such a power imposed no moral obligation upon the non-slave States, to assume the responsibility of its existence, and to abolish or prevent its extension, as a moral, social, or political evil.

Suppose such a power existed under the constitution ; of what benefit would it be to the non-slave States to abolish slavery or to prevent its extension ? Would it benefit the free white laborers of those States to place the four millions of slave laborers of the slave States on a social equality with them ? The free white and black laborers of the non-slave States would not then be on a social equality with the rich capitalists of those States. If free black laborers are to be socially equal to free white laborers ; if they are to associate as equals ; to intermarry and amalgamate, and enter into an equal competition to be employed by capitalists of the non-slave States ; will not such a social equality place the free white laborers of the non-slave States, in a lower grade of social rank, with the wealthy capitalists of those States ? Are free laborers ready to submit to this degradation, and to give up the Union to effect it ? And would this benefit the rich capitalists of the North ? Would not the principle of socialism be carried out, by a combination of the free white and black laborers, to abolish the laws of property, and of all the domestic relations ; and to place all on a social and political level of equality by a universal amalgamation of black and white, and a general communism of property and wealth ; overthrowing all existing social communities, destroying all laws, as the cause of social inequalities, and overturning all governments, which support them, according to the social philosophy, that " all men are born free and equal ?"

For such a consummation of the new social organization of society throughout the Union, are the people of the non-slave States prepared to dissolve the Union, in order to commence the system of social equality in the slave States, by destroying the domestic relation of master and slave, and with it the existence of those States, as social communities, and political States ?

The only clauses in the constitution, which can be construed into a power to prevent the extension of slavery into territories belonging to the United States, or to abolish it in the District of Columbia and other places within the slave States, are these clauses :

"The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the Territory or other property belonging to the United States." "To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States ; and to exercise the like authority over all places, purchased by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings ; and to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof."

It is by construction of these clauses of the constitution, that the power to prohibit the extension of slavery into Territories belonging to the United States, and to abolish it, in the District of Columbia, and in all places over which Congress may exercise exclusive legislation, is based.

To ascertain whether these clauses admit of such a construction, compare them with the spirit, meaning, and general intent of the whole instrument. It will be found upon such comparison that this construction is at war with the entire constitution; and that no such power can be derived by any construction of these merely subordinate clauses, by any sound and honest rule of interpretation.

1st. The constitution was established by the ratification of conventions of six of the now slave States, and seven of the non-slave States. In all its aspects—of a compact of union between the slave and non-slave States, who ratified it; of a delegation of power from the several States to the United States, to create a federal government; of a delegation of limited, express and implied or derived powers, for carrying into execution express powers, executive, legislative and judicial, delegated by the State conventions to the federal government, when created by the United States; of a reservation of all powers not delegated to the United States, or prohibited to the States, to the States respectively, or to the people; of a magna charta of inviolable private rights, guarantied by the conventions of the several States to their citizens, and of the entire constitution, and all laws and treaties made pursuant to it; as a supreme law in each State, by the sovereign will of the people, in convention, in each of the several States, so ordaining and establishing it, by their ratification; it nowhere admits, but, on the contrary, it expressly excludes, the power to prevent the extension of, or to abolish slavery anywhere, under the authority of the constitution.

The constitution was ratified by conventions of the people in six of the existing slave States, and seven of the present non-slave States—though, at the date of its ratification, twelve out of the thirteen were slave States. This ratification was the act of mutually independent, sovereign States, who thereby formed the compact of union, authorized the United States to create a federal government, clothed that government with express powers for express purposes, declared the inviolability of certain natural rights, and ordained and established the whole a supreme law.

Such was the character and relation of the sovereign and sole parties to this compact of union, as confessed by the ratifying clause of the constitution itself. “The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the States so ratifying the same.”

At the first Congress under the constitution but eleven States had ratified it. The refusal of any three of these eleven, ten of whom were then slave States, to ratify it, would have prevented the establishment of the constitution. Plain on the face of the constitution as is the sovereign character of the States, and their independent relation to each other in the ratification of it, as a compact of union ; plain, too, as it is, that, in its establishment as a constitution, it was ordained the supreme law by the sovereign will of conventions of the people in each State, yet even this has been denied. But, that it was so universally understood before the constitution was ratified, is proved by the Federalist, written by three of the most influential politicians and powerful writers in the Union, expressly to induce the States to ratify the constitution. It did influence the States to ratify it ; and these arguments, therefore, are to be taken as high evidence of the understanding of the parties to the compact, before they ratified it.

Alexander Hamilton wrote: "The fabric of American empire ought to rest on the solid basis of the consent of the people. The streams of national power ought to flow immediately from that pure, original fountain of all legitimate authority."

This was an argument addressed to conventions of the people in the several States, to induce them to ratify the constitution, and not to a convention of the people of the United States. By "the consent of the people," the "pure, original fountain of all legitimate authority," he meant the conventions of the people in the several States, who, by their ratification of the constitution, were to establish it, each for itself, between the States so ratifying it, if nine could be induced to do so.

Mr. Madison is still more explicit and particular. He says : "It is to be the assent and ratification of the several States, derived from the supreme authority in each State, the authority of the people themselves. The act, therefore, establishing the constitution, will not be a national act, but a federal act. That it will be a federal, and not a national act, as these terms are understood by the objectors, the act of the people, as forming so many independent States, not as forming one aggregate nation, is obvious from this single consideration : that it is to result neither from the decision of a majority of the people of the Union, nor from that of a majority of the States. It must result from the unanimous assent of the several States that are parties to it, differing no otherwise from their ordinary assent than in its being expressed, not by the legislative authority, but by that of the people themselves. Were the people regarded in this transaction as forming one nation, the will of the majority of the whole people of the United States would bind the minority ; in the same manner as the majority in each State must bind the minority ; and the will of the majority must be determined either by a comparison of the individual votes, or by considering the will of the majority of the States as evidence of the will of the majority of the people of the United States. Neither of these rules has been adopted. Each State, in ratifying the constitution, is considered as a sovereign body, independent of all others, and only to be bound by its own voluntary act. In this relation, then, the new constitution will, if established, be a federal, and not a national constitution."

Such was the understanding of the conventions of the original twelve slave States, and of the one non-slave State, of the sovereign character and independent relation they bore to each other in ratifying, and thereby establishing, the constitution.

And what was the condition of the slave States, in relation to this subject of slavery, when they ratified the constitution, and ordained it, and all laws and treaties made pursuant to it, the supreme law in each State? Slavery was so interwoven with their social and political existence, that it could not be abolished without destroying them as States.

The people of no slave State would, by their sovereign will, have ordained and established the constitution, and all laws and treaties made pursuant to it, a supreme law of such State; if it had contained a power to destroy slavery in the slave States, or to prevent its extension into the territories belonging to the United States. Not one of them would have ratified it if it had contained any such power, and it never would have been established as a supreme law in any State. As a compact of union, and as a supreme law by the independent, sovereign will of the people, in conventions of the slave States, whose social and political existence, as well as their equal federal rights to the territories belonging to the United States, were to be secured by it, the constitution, by its establishment by the ratification of nine States, stands opposed to a construction of these subordinate clauses of the constitution which shall give Congress a power to prevent the extension of slavery, or abolish it, anywhere.

Such, too, was the understanding of the conventions of the non-slave States when they ratified it, or they practiced fraud and deception upon the slave States, which would render the constitution a nullity, for want of the aggregatio mentium essential to all compacts. But the generation of honest revolutionary patriots who ratified it in conventions of the non-slave States, are liable to no such imputation. They neither believed slavery a sin, nor did they mean to assume the responsibility of removing it, as a moral, social and political evil, by a covert, concealed power, to prevent its extension or abolish it anywhere.

2d. All the declared purposes for which the constitution was framed, ratified and established, are in conflict with such a construction. None of the eleven States who sent delegates to the convention in Philadelphia to frame the constitution, in any of their legislative acts, appointing or commissioning delegates, hinted or expressed it as one of the purposes for framing a new constitution, that the United States should become responsible for the extension or existence of slavery, anywhere, as a moral, social or political evil, and should provide a power to prohibit or abolish it anywhere. No such purpose was expressed by any proceeding or debate in that convention. None such was urged by the writers of the Federalist, as an argument to induce the conventions of the non-slave States to ratify and establish it. Had any such purpose been avowed, the constitution would not have obtained the assent of the convention of a single slave State, and never could have been established between the slave States and non-slave States.

The purchase of the ten miles square for a seat of government, and of places for the erection of needful buildings within the States, and the exclusive legislation over such places, were not among the purposes for which the constitution was formed, but were only subordinate, as a means used for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the constitution was established; and by no principle of sound and honest interpretation can this subordinate power be construed beyond the purposes for which the constitution was ratified and established, and to which those powers were made subordinate, as a means.

3d. As a delegation of power from the conventions of the States to the United States, to create a federal, representative government, it stands opposed to this construction of these subordinate clauses. The federal government was created by the election of Senators and Representatives to Congress by the States, and the election of a President by the States. Congress, and the President and Senate, under the authority of the constitution, created the judiciary. In the share of representative power preserved to each State, or delegated to it by the other States, in creating and organizing the legislative and executive departments, each State had an equal share of representation in the Senate. In the House, population was adopted as the basis of their respective shares of representative power. Coupled with this principle was another, of serving the nation in war. About two-fifths of the entire population of the free States were liable to serve in war; but it was not so with the population of the slave States. Slaves were property, as well as population. This was adjusted by providing that Representatives, and direct taxes, should be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The equity and fairness with which this principle of representation and taxation was arranged, in regard to slave population, as persons and property, between States, is strikingly in contrast with the injustice and inequality by which it is now attempted to deprive the slave States of their joint share in territories acquired by the arms and treasure of all the States!

But this incorporation of slavery, both as persons and property, into the great principles of representation and taxation, in the creation of the House of Representatives, and also in the election of a President, conclusively shows that the non-slave States did not hold property in the labor and services of a slave to be a moral, social, or political evil; nor did they intend to make the United States responsible for its existence, by conferring a power to prohibit or abolish it anywhere. The thousand million of dollars invested as capital in the labor and services of slaves in the slave States, is recognized by the constitution as private property, and, as such, subjected to direct taxation; while, as domestics in the families of their masters, they are recognized as part of the population of those States, as much so as women and children. To destroy this property, or to abolish this domestic relation, was not a purpose for which the several States delegated to the United States the power to create a federal representative government.

4th. None of the express powers delegated to the federal government by the conventions of the States, to accomplish the great purposes for which the constitution was ratified and established, extend to the prohibition or abolition of slavery anywhere.

The power to provide a territorial government, or to govern the territories, and the exclusive legislation delegated over places purchased within the States for the necessary public buildings, with the consent of the States, are not special powers expressly delegated to accomplish any of the general purposes for which the Union was formed. They are mere subordinate powers, for subordinate purposes, as a means to carry into execution the express powers delegated. Their nature is plain upon their face, even if they were not explicitly shown by the clause—"and to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers," &c.

It was foreseen, that the United States, by their war and treaty making power, would acquire territories and other property; that such territories would be settled by the people of the States, and, when sufficiently populous, would apply for admission into the Union.

For these purposes, express power "to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations concerning the territories," so that settlers might become the private owners of the public lands, when surveyed into proper divisions and subdivisions, for public and private sales to individual purchasers, and a power "to admit new States into the Union," was delegated to Congress. To carry these express powers into execution, some government of the territory, during the progress of its sale, settlement, and admission into the Union, is absolutely necessary, for the protection of the rights of the United States in the territories,—of the commissioners, surveyors, and registers in the disposal of the public lands—of settlers and purchasers, in their titles and possession of their lands, and in their domestic relations, and rights of life, liberty, and property, as guaranteed by the Magna Charta of the constitution.

This power to govern is, therefore, merely derivative and subordinate to the express powers delegated over the territories, and extends no farther than to make such laws for the territories, as may be necessary and proper for these purposes of protection. It cannot be construed to extend to destroy domestic relations or title to property validly acquired under laws of the slave States, by setting up territorial laws to destroy such rights; and thus to deprive the slave States of their equal right to settle the territories with their slave property, and to have a voice in the formation of the constitution, to be adopted by the people upon their admission into the Union as States.

The power of exclusive legislation over the ten miles square, purchased for a seat of Government, and over places purchased for needful public buildings, so far from being given to enable Congress to abolish slavery in those places, was given to prevent a State by State laws, interfering with the constitutional right of slave holders taking their slaves into such places, as an example of its purpose.

A State legislature, if the legislation were not exclusive in Congress, might interfere with the domestic relations and private rights of a President, or of members of the Senate and House of Representatives, or of any of the other officers of the federal government, whose duties required their attendance or residence at the seat of government; and especially so, when coming from the slave States with their family domestics, if the seat of government should happen to be located in a non-slave State. "And," as Mr. Madison argued in the Federalist, "as it is to be appropriated to this use, with the consent of the State ceding it; as the State will no doubt provide, in the compact, for the rights and the consent of the citizens inhabiting it; as the inhabitants will find sufficient inducements of interest to become willing parties to the cession; as they will have had their voice in the election of the government, which is to exercise authority over them; as a municipal legislature for local purposes, derived from their own suffrages, will of course be allowed them, and as the authority of the legislature of the State, and of the inhabitants of the ceded part of it, to concur in the cession, will be derived from the whole people of the State, in their adoption of the constitution, every imaginable objection seems to be obviated. The necessity of a like authority over forts, magazines, &c., established by the general government, is not less evident." "All objections and scruples are here also obviated, by requiring the concurrence of the States concerned in every such establishment."

So of the power "to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory. Mr. Madison remarks, "this is a power of very great importance, and required by considerations similar to those which show the propriety of the former."

What slave State would have consented to the purchase of these places within its limits, had it been understood this power of exclusive legislation could be extended to prohibit the introduction of their slaves, as domestic servants or property, into these places?

5th. As a magna charta guarantying life, liberty, and property and securing equality of rights and privileges to the citizens of all the States, the constitution is directly opposed to such a construction of the clauses in question. As we have already shown, in the principle adopted for fixing the share of each State of representative power in the federal government, and of liability to direct taxation; slavery is recognised in the constitution, both as a private, domestic relation of persons, and as property in the labor and services of these domestics. Congress, then, is here positively prohibited by the Bill of Rights, from passing any law to destroy this domestic relation, or destroy this property any where. It can never be taken from the owner, but by due course or process of law, and by trial in court by his peers. Neither the legislative nor executive power can deprive him of it, but for public use, and then only upon due compensation. Nor can the judiciary deprive him of it, but at the instance of some one claiming by superior title under the laws, where the property or title was acquired—no matter whether the trial of such right be in a State, or in a territory, or the District of Columbia, or in any other place.

Congress has as much power to abolish the domestic relation of husband and wife, parent and child, guardian and ward, master and apprentice, in the District of Columbia, as the domestic relation of master and slave. It would be as easy to show, that a law abolishing the former, is as necessary and proper for carrying into execution their powers, as a federal government, at the seat of government, as a law abolishing the domestic relations of master and slave.

6th. The constitution, and all laws and treaties made pursuant to it, have their force and effect, as a supreme law in each of the States, by the sovereign will of the people of this State, in convention, declared by their ratification of the constitution. It is impossible the convention of any slave State could have understood, that in ordaining and establishing this supreme law, they were providing a law to prohibit the extension of slavery, by forbidding the removal of their own citizens with their families and property, as purchasers and settlers, into territories belonging to the United States, or to prevent their citizens from residing or entering the ten miles' square, purchased for a seat of government; or places purchased for needful public buildings within the slave States, but only with their consent. They could not have understood or intended that the non-slave States, alone, should settle and purchase lands in the territories, and be admitted into the Union as non-slave States, until the number of the slave States should become three-fourths of the States; and then, by an amendment of the constitution, delegate a new power to Congress to abolish slavery in the States themselves. They never thought of it, as an objection to their ratification of the constitution, that a law could ever be made under it, abolishing slavery in the slave States; and that such law would have the force and effect of a supreme law in each slave State, as if by the sovereign will of the people of such State ordained in convention. The slave States were morally incapable of entering into any binding constitutional compact of Union, thus providing for their self-destruction as communities and States.

The delegation of such a power, by three-fourths of the States, would not be an amendment, but a fundamental change of the constitution. As much so as a change of the federal representative government of the United States into an omnipotent sovereignty of king, lords, and commons, like the king and parliament of Great Britain, with no other restraint upon its unlimited sovereign will, than the checks and balances and magna charta of private unalienable rights, which alone controls the sovereignty of the British government; thus destroying all the fundamental principles of sovereignty in the people of the States; of the Union of the States as independent sovereignties; of the representative character of the federal government; of the delegated nature of its powers; and, of its existence as supreme law by the will of the sovereign people in each State, upon which the constitution is founded.

These clauses of the constitution, for the disposal of the public lands, and for the exclusive legislation of Congress, in the 10 miles square, purchased for a seat of government, and places acquired for needful public buildings, being wholly subordinate, as means proper and necessary to carry into execution the express powers delegated to accomplish the general purposes for which the Union was framed, cannot, by any legitimate interpretation, be construed beyond these express powers and purposes, so as to create a power and a purpose, never contemplated by the parties to the constitution, wholly at war, too, with the sovereign character, the safety, and existence of a large majority of these parties to the compact at the time the constitution was ratified; and a construction, also, in direct conflict with the inviolability of the private rights of the citizens of the States, who established the constitution, and all laws and treaties made pursuant thereto, a supreme law in each of the States.

But it has been asserted, that the constitution of the United States does not extend to the territories; and an argument in support of this strange assertion is founded upon the fact; that the judiciary, created by an act of Congress, is not extended over the territories.

But all the legislative and executive powers of the federal government, within or without the limits of the United States, over property or citizens of the United States, wherever such powers extend or can be exercised, exist wholly by the constitution; and the constitution necessarily extends, as a delegation of powers, wherever the powers delegated extend or can reach, to secure rights protected by the constitution throughout the world.

Having no constitutional power to prohibit or abolish slavery any where, the people of the northern States are wholly irresponsible, under the compact of Union for its existence as a moral evil any where.

But what is the moral effect of this doctrine, that property in the labor and services of a slave, is against natural law, and cannot exist out of a slave State?

It teaches people in the non-slave States, that it is no crime to covet a neighbor's man servant or maid servant, and that it is no moral or legal crime to steal a slave from his master. Slaves are not only stolen from their masters, when travelling through or visiting the non-slave States, but stealers of slaves have even come from Ohio into the interior of Mississippi to commit these depredations. Men cannot easily discern the distinction that it is any more an offence to steal a slave in a slave State, than to steal him when out of a slave State, if by the laws of God there can be no property in a human being as a slave. But if there can be no property in the labor and services of a human being, as a slave, how is it that there is such a property in a human being, as a wife, a child, a ward, or an indented servant?

How is it that it is any more the crime of theft to rob or steal from a slave owner a sum of money of the value of his slave, than to steal the slave purchased with such sum of money?

Yet this is permitted with impunity, or rather with approbation, by the people of the non-slave States, by the influence of this doctrine that there can be no property in slaves; a doctrine wholly at variance with the ten commandments, and the practice and teachings of Christ and his apostles. So far from stealing a slave, Paul taught runaway slaves to return to their masters; but the people of the non-slave States, although under a constitutional obligation to restore runaway slaves to their masters, steal them from their masters when retaken, and some of them have passed penal laws preventing reclamation under the constitution and acts of Congress requiring it. But property in slaves is recognised in all the non-slave States. It is recognised, and titles to it pass under the laws of distribution, and of hotchpot in all cases where a master of slaves, owned in the slave States, which make slaves personal property, dies domiciled in a non-slave State. It is recognised where the sale of slaves constitutes the consideration of contracts, which are to be paid and performed in the non-slave States. Innumerable titles to slaves have been acquired from the United States by sales under direct tax laws, and under judgments obtained by the United States in all the slave States.

The enslavement of the savage, brutal, heathen African, by placing him in this domestic relation of obedience labor and service to a christian and civilized master, of the highest superior race in a land of liberty, seems to be the only means by which that degraded race could be elevated to a condition of civilized humanity. Slaves in the slave States are vastly elevated in the rank of human beings above their race now existing in Africa. Slavery has effected this improvement to a greater extent in a shorter period than any other means which the charitable ever have devised or will devise, for the redemption of the black race from the worse bondage of heathenism and barbarity. When its wise ends are fully accomplished, and slaves are improved by examples around them, to maintain and support themselves, and to be their own masters, and when the condition of society is such as to render their emancipation both safe and expedient, it will doubtless disappear without the aid of laws, and without violence and disorder, as it has, in its own natural course, disappeared in other countries. But laws to confine slavery to narrow limits, hemming it in, and surrounding the slave States with a cordon of assailing States on all sides, seeking their destruction, by preventing its extension into the territories, tend to render it always unsafe and forever impossible to emancipate slaves in the slave States. Such extension does not add to the number of slaves, it only spreads the same number over a greater surface, dispersing them among a greater number of free white inhabitants, lessening the danger of emancipation from proximity of numbers.

Before the next generation (some of whom are born) shall pass away, the free white population of the United States will probably number not less than one hundred and sixty or two hundred millions. Wealth, luxury, the multiplication and division of employments, and among them of inferior and menial offices fitted for emancipated slaves, which will attend upon this vast increase of free white population, would afford an easy means of employment and support, sufficient for all our emancipated slaves, if placed among this white population.

The employment of slave labor in agriculture, or in any employment in which capitalists would be likely to employ them, may become unprofitable, and masters scarce realise an income from the labor of slaves, more than sufficient for their support. It will then become their interest to emancipate them; and if they can do so with safety to their social and political existence, slavery will soon cease to exist. If slaves should be scattered over half the territory of the Union, when this time arrives, they will be surrounded with and in the midst of an overwhelming superiority in numbers of free whites, among whom they will find an abundance of employment in such menial offices as would yield to emancipated slaves an easy support, and slavery may disappear as silently and as unnoticed as in its character of vassalage it has done in England.

In asserting that, by ratifying the constitution, they acquired a power, and assumed a moral responsibility to destroy the slave States, as a great moral, social and political evil, the non-slave States can have no conceivable purpose but a dissolution of the Union. How well it would read in history that the Union was dissolved upon so extraordinary a dispute between the assailing and the assailed States! A controversy, whether the non-slave States became bound by their constitutional compact to destroy the slave States, as a great moral, social and political evil; !!! to overthrow their social and political existence, by laws of Congress against slavery, as a sin, when the very organization of that Congress itself, is fundamentally based upon that sin of slavery! But why do the non-slave States, by such strange indirection, seek a dissolution of the Union with the slave States?

For years, petitions have been addressed to Congress by women, who claim a social, civil and political equality with men, and by men who admit this equality, demanding the abolition of slavery, as a great moral, social and political evil. And although Congress has no more powers over the subject, and no more right to receive such petitions than if they were petitions to abolish the laws of marriage as a great moral, social and political evil, or than the supreme court of Massachusetts would have, if such petitions were addressed that respectable tribunal; yet a refusal to receive them has raised an outcry, that the great right of petition has been violated. It has also been yielded to by Congress, thereby asserting power to abolish slavery.

State legislatures of the non-slave States have addressed Congress by resolutions asserting their power to prevent the extension of slavery into the territories, and to abolish it in all places over which they have exclusive legislation; denouncing it is a moral evil.

Party conventions of every political complexion have resolved that slavery is an evil which Congress has the power to prohibit in the territories, and abolish in the District of Columbia, on board of all national and merchant vessels, and in all places over which Congress can exercise exclusive legislation, and that the United States are responsible for the longer existence of this evil.

This controversy is a most alarming one to every lover of the Union—its blessings and glories. It is a dispute between fourteen States on the one side, and sixteen States on the other side, or of fifteen on each side, if Delaware should fraternize with the South. Threats or force on either side, can never settle the controversy by intimidation. The passions of the parties may be good servants, but are bad masters. Interest, justice, humanity, patriotism—the love of the Union, a sense of its great advantages, and of the evils of disunion; the spirit of a past generation of our common ancestors, who achieved our independence, framed the constitution, ratified it, and formed the Union, must come to the settlement of this question in all the States. It is certain the slave States, with the Bible in their hands, while they claim to be christians, and have the prophets, Moses and Christ and his apostles for authorities, can never admit that slavery is a moral evil—a violation of the laws of God. They can never admit they have ever delegated a power to prohibit its extension into territories belonging to the United States, or to abolish it anywhere as a moral, social, or political evil. They can never admit that the non-slave States assumed a constitutional responsibility for its existence anywhere, because they have power to elect a President and send a majority of Senators and Representatives to Congress, to pass laws to prohibit or abolish it in any place. They cannot yield upon these questions, because their social and political existence as States, as well as their domestic relations and a thousand million of dollars of capital in the property of their slaves as laborers and servants, depend upon their successful resistance of such laws.

If, on the other hand, the non-slave States combine together in the assertion of their power to abolish or prohibit slavery, by electing a majority of Congress and a President to pass such laws; if they persist in the assertion of a moral responsibility to use their power to destroy slavery in the United States, because it is a sin against the law of God, a great moral, social and political evil, it is difficult to perceive how this controversy can otherwise end than in a dissolution of the Union.

If the social philosophy has so far superseded and overthrown the authority of the Bible in the minds of the majority of the people, in each and all of the non-slave States, that against its plain teachings, they insist upon it as their moral duty to make the federal government an instrument to destroy slavery; a duty which they must and will perform, or release themselves from this obligation by a dissolution of the Union, then the malady is incurable; the Union cannot be preserved, however desirable to the South. But surely this Union will not thus be dissolved. When the question is fully and fairly understood, the people of the northern section will come to the rescue of their religion, of their constitution, of the Union, of the fame and good name of their fathers, who ratified that constitution, from the imputation of intending such a fraud and injustice upon the slave States; or from the imputation of passing to their graves, with the sin upon their souls of having permitted slavery to extend to the territories, and of admitting new slave States into the Union, and of not abolishing it in the District of Columbia, and in all places over which Congress has exclusive legislation, when they had the constitutional power to do so. The free laborers of the non-slave States can have no desire to have four millions of slaves made free laborers, to reduce the price of labor, and to degrade them to a level with black laborers, by increasing their dependence, and removing them to a greater social distance from the wealthy capitalists of the non-slave States. Capitalists cannot desire to see the laws of property rendered insecure, by an example of a violation of them on so large a scale. Men in general will be unwilling to witness the christian religion undermined; all divine and human laws of marriage, and of the whole circle of social and domestic duties and relations abolished; unwilling to witness the whole fabric of existing laws, institutions and governments, this glorious Union of free Republics itself, tumbling into ruins, to give place to this new social organization of perfect equality and liberty, by this first experiment in the slave States.

The Union must and will be preserved. The slave States, in resisting such dangerous and destructive usurpations of the federal government, are defending the constitution and Union. Their position is wholly defensive; defensive of their domestic relations and their private rights of property; defensive of their laws, upon which these domestic relations and rights of property are founded; defensive of their social and political existence as States; defensive of the constitution and Union; defensive of law, order and good government, of the right of the people to govern themselves by governments and laws of their own making, throughout the world. It is a cause which cannot fall before the social philosophy.

But should the non-slave States combine, to enforce anti-reclamation acts, and continue to pass laws to prevent the extension of slavery into the territories; should they further, also attempt to abolish it in the District of Columbia, and in all places purchased for needful buildings in the slave States; should they also attempt, by an amendment of the constitution, to abolish it in the slave States themselves; what protection have the slave States against these aggressions, and these dangerous usurpations of undelegated power under a constitution by which they ought to be enabled both to protect themselves and possibly save the Union? In discussing this subject with a view to urge the States to ratify and establish the constitution, both Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Madison argued that the States, as organised communities, could successfully resist all such aggressions. Mr. Hamilton said in the Federalist: "The separate governments in a confederacy, may aptly be compared with the feudal baronies, with this advantage in their favor, that from the reasons already explained, they will generally possess the confidence and good will of the people, and with so important a support, will be able, effectually, to oppose all encroachments of the federal government." "So long as the separate organization of the members be not abolished; so long as it exists by a constitutional necessity for local purposes, though it should be in perfect subordination to the general authority of the Union, it would still be in fact, and in theory, an association of States, or a confederacy. The proposed constitution, so far from implying an abolition of the State governments, makes them constitutional parts of the national sovereignty, by allowing them a direct representation in the Senate, and leaves in their possession, certain exclusive and very important portions of the sovereign power. This fully corresponds, in every rational import of the terms, with the idea of a federal government." "It may safely be received as an axiom in our political system, that the State governments will, in all possible contingencies, afford complete security against invasions of the public liberty. Projects of usurpation cannot be masked under pretences so likely to escape the penetration of select bodies of men, as of the people at large. The Legislature will have better means of information; they can discover the danger at a distance; and possessing all the organs of civil power and the confidence of the people, they can at once adopt a regular plan of opposition, in which, they can combine all the resources of the community. They can readily communicate with each other in the different States, and unite with their common forces for the protection of their common liberty."

Mr. Madison said: "But ambitious encroachments of the federal government on the authority of the State governments, would not excite the opposition of a single State, or of a few States only. They would be signals of a general alarm. Every government would espouse the common cause. A correspondence would be opened; plans of resistance would be concerted; one spirit would animate and conduct the whole; the same combination, in short, would result from an apprehension of the federal, as was produced by the dread of a foreign yoke; and unless the projected innovations should be voluntarily renounced, the same appeal to a trial of force would be made in the one case, as was made in the other. But what degree of madness could ever drive the federal government to such an extremity?" If the sixteen non-slave States, (if Delaware be included) because by accident, they now exceed the number of the slave States by two, and can send a majority of four Senators to Congress, although the slave States, at the ratification of the constitution, out numbered them by eleven; and because also, they accidentally, by their population, have a larger share of representative power, to enable them to secure a majority in the House of Representatives and to elect a President; if from these accidental advantages they determine by a sectional combination, to elect a majority of free-soil and abolition Senators and Representatives, and a free-soil and abolition President, and thus to make the federal government an engine, step by step, to destroy slavery in the fourteen slave States; first, by excluding slavery from the territories, in order that by admitting new States into the Union, they may increase the number of the non-slave States to three-fourths; second, to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, or in all places where Congress may exercise exclusive legislation; and lastly, to consummate the course of tyranny and usurpation, by a change of the constitution, and the delegation of an express power to abolish slavery in all the slave States—what means of resistance have the fourteen slave States to secure their domestic relations, their property, their equality of rights, guaranteed to be inviolable by their constitutional bill of rights, and their existence and independence as sovereign States and equal members of the confederacy? If the alternative, presented by the non-slave States, be a dissolution of their union with the slave States, or the abolition of slavery in the slave States, either side of this alternative is a dissolution, because, if the slave States submit to it, they cease to exist as States and as sovereign parties to the Union. Resistance to such usurpations is their moral, social and political duty. But the usurping States declare all resistance to such laws on the part of the slave States, rebellion, treason, revolution and disunion. But these are terms which properly apply to the usurpers of unauthorised power, however cunningly they may seek concealment by an outcry against those who resist the usurpation to support and sustain the constitution and the Union. Are the sixteen non-slave States sole judges of their constitutional power to destroy slavery, and may they use the executive arm, and the army, the navy, and the treasury of the Union, to force fourteen sovereign States to submit to laws abolishing slavery, because it is the right of a majority to judge of the extent of their constitutional powers? or, by their majority in Congress, may they repeal the judiciary act, and re-organise the federal judiciary, and fill the bench with free-soil and abolition judges to sustain their usurped legislation over slavery; and would that court have jurisdiction to bring before it, the fourteen slave States and the sixteen non-slave States, and to try, and judicially decide between them, as parties, the question of constitutional power? Could that court render a decree or judgment between the parties, upon the subject in controversy, which should have the binding effect of res judicata? Could the federal government enforce such judgment against the slave States? Such was not the understanding of Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Madison, or the Legislatures of Virginia, Kentucky, and indeed of all the slave States, and of a large majority of the people of the United States when the alien and sedition laws were passed, laws of far less questionable authority than laws prohibiting slavery in the territories. If this Union is to be saved, which is the hope of every patriot throughout our country, and of every philanthropist throughout the world, it is to be saved by the people of all the States, fully understanding each other upon this dangerous subject of controversy, which mad enthusiasts, mistaken socialists, and aspiring politicians have, during the last thirty-five years, used for purposes of national discord and disruption, and pressed to extremity.

Beside and beyond a popular Convention of the Southern States, with the view and the hope of arresting the course of aggression, and, if not practicable, then to concentrate the South in will, understanding and action, the Convention of Mississippi suggested, as the possible ultimate resort, the call, by the Legislatures of the assailed States, of still more solemn Conventions—such as should be regularly elected by the people of those States—to deliberate, speak and act with all the sovereign power of the people. Should, in the result, such Conventions be called and meet, they may lead to a like regularly constituted Convention of all the assailed States, to provide, in the last resort, for their separate welfare by the formation of a compact and an Union that will afford protection to their liberties and rights. In such a crisis, in the language of Mr. Madison, "one spirit will animate and conduct the whole."

This is an important era, not only in our own history, but in the history of the world. Great events are at their birth. By the improvement of steamboats railways and ship canals, a revolution in the commerce and intercourse of the world is struggling into existence. The connexion of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, if not defeated by European governments, must soon give to the United States, a months advantage in commerce and intercourse with the nations of India and the Pacific ocean, an advantage Europe has hitherto had over the United States, and which will reluctantly be relinquished. Already has England endeavored to sow discord between the States of our Union, by declaring the abolition of slavery to be the policy of her government, which she will promote by all fair means throughout the world. This unfriendly policy declared in a diplomatic correspondence with our government, with a full knowledge that our Union is a confederacy of slave and non-slave States, could have had no other purpose, but to weaken us as a nation by dissolving our Union and embroiling us in civil and servile wars. Our strength as a nation ; our success in gaining the commerce of the world; our future growth in wealth and population ; the cause of human liberty and the people's rights throughout the world, depend upon our Union as it is. Let us be true to our trust. Let us preserve the Union and leave slavery to the natural course of events.

We have thus discussed some of the most prominent considerations involved in the fearful controversy, without attempting a consecutive history of the origin, progress and present aim of the crusade. That history has been sufficiently given in the Address of the Southern Delegation in the last Congress, to which the resolutions of the central and primary meetings in this State and the proceedings of the Convention, which followed them, may be regarded as the response of Mississippi. What we have here offered, in obedience to the order of our appointment, is respectfully submitted, in connection with those resolutions and proceedings, to you as our brethren of the South,* who, with us, are driven to the alternative of resistance or submission. We urge them upon your, serious, paternal and patriotic examination—indulging the confident expectation that you will perceive the propriety and necessity of meeting our people in the General Southern Convention proposed for the first Monday of June next—and resting assured that, whatever may be the action of the federal government at the present session of Congress, the South will be consolidated in vindication and defence of the constitution, and will not prove "recreant to her honor, her right, her interests, her history and her destiny."

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the Clerk was instructed to inform the Senate that the Hall of the House of Representatives was in readiness for their reception, for the purpose of electing a Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Senate having been informed that the Hall of the House of Representatives was in readiness for their reception, preceded by the Doorkeeper, entered the Hall and took the seats assigned them.

The President having explained the object of the joint assemblage, the following nominations were made :

Mr. McAfee, of the Senate, nominated J. McDanold, of Copiah.

Mr. Pettus, of the Senate, nominated Wm. Herbert, of Neshoba.

Mr. Torrey, of the Senate, nominated J. C. Smith, of Jefferson.

Mr. Barton, of the House, nominated J. R. Collins, of Tippah.

Mr. Brooke, of the Senate, nominated Robert Cook, of Hinds.

Mr. Catching, of the Senate, nominated R. Leech, of Copiah.

Mr. Kennedy, of the Senate, nominated C. A. Stovall, of Carroll.

Mr. Golladay, of the Senate, nominated W. H. Duberry, of Yalobusha.

Mr. Stewart, of the House, nominated E. S. Farish, of Hinds.

Mr. Nelson, of the House nominated Thos. Spencer, of Copiah.

Mr. Guion, of the Senate, nominated John H. Ball, of Hinds.

Mr. Greer, of the Senate, nominated G. C. Smith, of Hinds.

Mr. Singleton, of the Senate, nominated Mr. Pegram of Tippah.

The House then proceeded to ballot, Messrs. Barry and Alcorn, of the Senate, and Neill, of the House, acting as tellers.

Upon counting the votes, it appeared that J. McDanold received 5 votes ; Wm. Herbert 17 ; J. C. Smith 11 ; J. R. Collins 24 ; R. Cook 18 ; R. Leech 3 ; C. A. Stovall 9 ; W. H. Duberry 4 ; E. S. Farish 3 ; T. Spencer 2 ; J. H. Ball 12 ; G. C. Smith 4 ; Mr. Pegram 4.

Neither candidate having received a majority of all the votes cast, the two Houses proceeded to a second balloting, and upon counting the votes, Mr. Collins received 27 ; Mr. Cook 27 ; Mr. Herbert 20 ; J. C. Smith 10 ; Mr. Ball 11 ; Mr. Stovall 9 ; G. C. Smith 1 ; Mr. McDanold 3 ; Mr. Duberry 2 ; Mr. Pegram 1 ; Mr. Leech 1 ; Mr. Farish 2 ; Mr. Spencer 2.

Neither candidate having received a majority of all the votes cast, the two Houses proceeded to a third ballot, the names of Messrs. McDanold and Spencer having been withdrawn, and upon counting the votes, Mr. Collins received 41 votes ; Mr. Cook 35 ; Mr. Herbert 22 ; J. C. Smith 5 ; Mr. Ball 5 ; Mr. Stovall 3 ; Mr. Leech 2 ; Mr. Farish 1.

Neither candidate having received a majority of all the votes cast, the two Houses proceeded to a fourth ballot, the names of Messrs. J. C. Smith, Stovall and Leech having been withdrawn, and upon counting the votes, Mr. Collins received 49 votes ; Mr. Cook 51 ; Mr. Herbert 14 ; Mr. Ball 1.

Neither candidate having received a majority of all the votes cast, the two Houses proceeded to a fifth ballot ; pending the ballot, the following gentlemen presented themselves to the Chair and took the oath of office, to-wit :

From the county of Chickasaw—W. K. Harrison.

From the county of Monroe—T. T. Armstrong.

From the county of Noxubee—Geo. H. Foote.

From the county of Issaquena—J. J. Hughes.

The fifth ballot was then taken for Sergeant-at-Arms, and resulted as follows : Mr. Collins received 56 votes ; Mr. Cook 61 ; Mr. Herbert 6.

Neither candidate having received a majority of the votes cast, the two Houses proceeded to a sixth ballot, the name of Mr. Herbert having been withdrawn, and upon counting the votes, Mr. Collins received 55 votes ; Mr. Cook 66.

Whereupon, the President declared that Mr. Cook, having received a majority of all the votes cast, was duly and constitutionally elected Sergeant-at-Arms ; Mr. Cook presented himself, took the oath of office, and entered upon the discharge of its duties.

The two Houses having accomplished the business for which they had convened, the Senate retired.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, of Yazoo, the House proceeded to the consideration of the Governor's Message, which being read in part.

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the further reading was dispensed with, and, on motion of Mr. Suratt, 2500 copies were ordered to be printed, and the Message made the special order of the day in Committee of the Whole House, for Thursday the 10th inst., at 12 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Buford, the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives was granted to the Hon. George Poindexter, for the purpose of delivering an address on to-morrow evening.

Mr. Collins offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, The Senate concurring, that the Door-keepers of the two Houses be instructed to illuminate the Capitol from the hours of six to eleven o'clock, P. M., in commemoration of the 8th of January.

On his further motion, the rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table was dispensed with, and the resolution adopted forthwith.

On motion of Mr. Smedes, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and was opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Johnston of St. Andrews' Church, of the City of Jackson.

The Chair announced to the House, the appointment of the following Standing Committees:

On Accounts—J. C. Hinds, J. J. Hughes, Jacob Barden, E. G. Marble, Wm. Regan.

On Enrolled Bills—Wm. T. Barry, F. M. Aldridge, Wm. H. Baker, C. H. Mott, J. V. Welsh.

On the Penitentiary—T. J. Catchings, T. J. Malone, James Trussell, W. W. Martin, M. M. Brooks.

On Federal Relations—Roger Barton, C. F. Hemingway, P. B. Starke, W. K. Harrison, C. R. Crusoe.

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives, that the Senate has passed a resolution of the following title: "A resolution in relation to the assessment rolls of Harrison county for 1841"—In which, I am instructed to desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives; which resolution was read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Seal, the rule was suspended and the resolution read the second and third time, forthwith, and adopted.

Mr. Catchings asked, and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Farrar.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, }
CITY OF JACKSON, January 7th, 1850. }

SIR: Allow me, through you, to transmit herewith to the House of Representatives, the separate sealed returns of the votes cast for Governor at the last November election, and which have been received by,

Very respectfully, SAMUEL STAMPS,
Secretary of State.

HON. J. J. McRAE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, }
CITY OF JACKSON, January 7th, 1850. }

SIR: I have the honor to inform the House of Representatives through you, that in obedience to the eighth section of an act entitled "An act to provide for a Committee for the examination of the books of the Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer and Executive Department of the State and for other purposes, approved March 4th, 1848"—I have transmitted to the Senate, the report of the said Commissioners, which was deposited by them in the Secretary's office.

Very respectfully, your ob't. serv't.,
SAMUEL STAMPS, Secretary of State.

HON. JNO. J. McRAE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Ellis offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That the two Houses meet in the Hall of Representatives on this day, at 12 o'clock, for the purpose of counting the votes for Governor.

On his motion, the rule was suspended and the resolution adopted forthwith.

Mr. Lynch offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That this House will, by appropriation, allow the Postmaster at Jackson, the usual rate of postage on public documents sent by the members of this House to their constituents.

Mr. Young moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was lost ; the question was then taken on the adoption of the resolution, and was decided in the affirmative, by ayes and noes as follows :

In the affirmative—Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Anderson, Arthur, Aldridge, Armstrong, Baker, of Hinds, Baker, of Pontotoc, Cassidy, Catchings, Clement, Crews, Chisholm, Calhoun, Day, Durham, Ellis, Echols, Griffin, Gatlin, Harrison, Huie, Hinds, Hughes,

The Speaker of the House announced that Gen. John A. Quitman having received the highest number of votes polled at the late November election, for Governor, is duly and constitutionally elected Governor of the State of Mississippi for the time prescribed by the constitution.

The two houses having accomplished the business of their assemblage, the Senate retired.

Mr. Stewart, of Marion, offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) that a committee on public buildings be appointed, consisting of five on the part of the House, and ——— on the part of the Senate, to examine the Governor's Mansion and other State buildings, and report the amount of appropriation, necessary to repair and furnish the same.

On his motion, the requiring joint resolutions, to lay one day on the table, was dispensed with, and the resolution read a second time forthwith, and adopted.

The speaker appointed as said committee, Messrs. Stewart, of Marion, Marble, Kelly, Vaiden and White.

The following message was received from the Senate :

MR. SPEAKER: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that they have adopted the following resolution, to-wit :

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring,) That a joint committee of three on the part of the Senate, and five on the part of the House, be appointed to wait on the Governor elect and know of him when it will suit his convenience to be inaugurated.

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the House concurred in the above resolution of the Senate.

The Speaker appointed as said committee, on the part of the House : Messrs. Talbert, Foote, Calhoun, Hinds and Ellis.

Mr. Marble moved that the House adjourn, until to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock, which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the House adjourned until 3 o'clock, P. M.

3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Catchings presented the petition of Lewis S. Jones, accompanied by a bill to be entitled "An act for the relief of Lewis S. Jones," which was received, and the bill read the first time.

Upon his motion, the petition and bill was referred to a select committee of three.

The Speaker appointed as said committee : Messrs. Catchings, Day and Kimball.

Mr. Lynch offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That a joint select committee of five, on the part of the House, and — on the part of the Senate, be appointed, whose duty it shall be to investigate the books, papers, minutes, accounts and correspondence of the Board of Commissioners appointed under "An act entitled an act to extend the Railroad eastwardly beyond Jackson, approved February 24th, 1848 ;" and that said committee shall have power to send for persons and papers that may, in their opinion, be necessary to a full investigation of the affairs and condition of said road.

On his motion, the rule was dispensed with, and the resolution read the second time forthwith, and adopted.

The Speaker appointed as said committee, on the part of the House : Messrs. Lynch, Noble, Arthur, Welsh and Thomas, of Marshall.

Mr. Metcalf offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That a joint committee, consisting of three, on the part of the House, and —, on the part of the Senate, be appointed to contract with the "Mississippian," or "Southron," or both, to furnish each member of this Legislature during the present session, with copies of their Daily and Tri-weekly papers.

Mr. Metcalf moved a suspension of the rules, which was lost, and by rule, the same lays one day on the table.

Mr. Talbert, from the joint select committee, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER : I am instructed by the joint select committee of the two Houses, appointed to wait on his Excellency, John A. Quitman, Governor elect, and know when it would suit his convenience to meet them in convention and be inaugurated, to say to the House of Representatives that he will be pleased to meet the two Houses on to-morrow, at 11 o'clock for that purpose.

Mr. Foote offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That a joint committee of five, on the part of the House, and —, on the part of Senate, be appointed to examine the report of the committee, made under an act of the last Legislature, requiring said committee to examine in the Executive, the Auditors, Treasurers office and the office of the Commissioner of the Sinking Fund, and to report what action should be taken on the report of said committee.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the resolution read the second time forthwith, and adopted.

The Speaker appointed as said committee, on the part of the House : Messrs. Foote, Blythe, Gatlin, Hemingway and Malone.

Mr. Regan, of Claiborne, presented the petition of widow, Louis Culomb, a resident of the State of Louisiana, praying compensation from this State, for the detention of a certain slave, detained as a witness in a criminal prosecution on behalf of this State against another slave, which being read, was, on his motion, referred to the committee on propositions and grievances.

Mr. Webb offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That hereafter, this House will meet at half-past 9 o'clock instead of at 10, which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Matthews, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and opened its deliberations with prayer, by the Rev. Joshua Russell of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Talbert offered the following joint resolution :

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That a joint select committee of five on the part of the House, and — on the part of the Senate, be appointed to receive and wait on John A. Quitman, (Governor elect) at the Executive office of the State of Mississippi, on this day at 11 o'clock, A. M., escort and introduce him into the Representative Hall, before the conventional meeting of the two Houses of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, for the purpose of his installation into office, as Governor of Mississippi, for and during the term of two years.

On his motion, the rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table, was dispensed with, and the resolution adopted forthwith.

The Speaker appointed as said committee, on the part of the House, Messrs. Talbert, Barry, Welsh, Thomas and Matthews.

The following message was received from his Excellency, the Governor, through his private Secretary, Mr. Gibbons :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, January 9, 1850.

To the House of Representatives :

GENTLEMEN—I herewith transmit to the House of Representatives, a letter of Maj. Gen. Quitman, donating to this State two pieces of cannon; and the reply of the Executive thereto;

Also a letter of General Jackson, presented to the State by Maj. David Haley;

Also a report of the State Librarian, accompanied by a catalogue of the additions to the library during the last two years, together with the account showing the number of books purchased for the library, and the amount paid for the same;

Also a letter of W. W. Weiss, the agent of the Planters' Bank bond-holders, together with the reply of the Executive thereto;

Also the report of the Commissioners of the Southern Rail Road;

Also a letter of Alexander Vatiman, in relation to internal exchanges with a copy of his address:

JACKSON, May 8th, 1848.

Sir: Through the kindness of Commodore Perry, with whom I had the honor to be associated in the joint movement of the land and naval forces upon Alvarado, last Spring, I have become possessed of the two fine Mexican guns of the calibre of 18 pounds. Supposing that the good people of our State would be pleased to have among them some permanent trophies of a war in which the State of Mississippi has been so distinguished for her patriotism, the gallantry of her brave volunteers, I have concluded to present them to the State as a slight testimonial of my devotion to her honor, and as an humble token of my gratitude for the many favors I have received from the people.

I have the honor to be, with the highest respect, your friend and fellow-citizen,

Maj. Gen. JOHN A. QUITMAN.

His Excellency, JOSEPH W. MATTHEWS,

Governor of the State of Mississippi.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, Jackson Miss., May 23, 1848.

Maj. Gen. John A. Quitman:

DEAR SIR—In behalf of the people of Mississippi, I have received with pride and the most lively emotions, the two splendid pieces of artillery which you have presented to the State. Long, I trust, will they remain as mementoes of your patriotism and gallant deeds in the service of your country; and while these trophies of victory remain, shall the gallant men who wrested them from the enemy, lie hallowed in the remembrance of a grateful people. In the possession of these evidences of your chivalrous conduct in your country's service, I rejoice that the name of the descendant of the immortal PERRY, and that of our beloved QUITMAN, are associated as the donors; and I consider our State, from this circumstance, doubly honored by the present which you have made it.

Accept my grateful acknowledgments for the honor thus conferred upon our beloved State, and the assurances of my most ardent wishes for your prosperity and happiness.

I have the honor to remain your devoted friend and obedient servant,

J. W. MATTHEWS.

Mr. Stewart of Wilkinson, by leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act providing an appropriation to the Washington National Monument; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule requiring bills to be read on three several days, was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the bill was made the special order of the day in committee of the whole, on to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Matthews, by leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act to change the time of holding the Probate court of Pike county, and for other purposes; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On motion of Mr. Stuart of Marion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the third time and passed, with its title as stated.

On motion of Mr. Stuart,

Resolved; That the Keeper of the Capitol be required to get some suitable person to repair the chandalier and lamps of the Representative Hall.

Mr. Catchings, from the select committee, to whom was referred the petition of Lewis C. Jones, and the bill accompanying the same, reported the same back to the House, and recommended the passage of the bill.

On his motion, the report was received and agreed to, and the bill read the second time.

Mr. Lynch offered an amendment by additional section, which was adopted.

Mr. Cassidy offered an amendment by way of additional section, to which Mr. Wilcox offered an amendment, which was adopted.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment as amended, and decided in the affirmative.

Several amendments being offered, on motion of Mr. Young, the bill with the several amendments, was referred to the committee of the whole House, and made the special order of the day for to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

The following message was received from the Senate, through Mr. Orr, their Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by the Senate, to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate have concurred in the following resolution adopted by the House, to-wit :

Resolved, That a joint select committee of five on the part of the House, and ——— on the part of the Senate, be appointed to wait on John A. Quitman, Governor elect, at the Executive office of the State of Mississippi, on this day, at 11 o'clock, A. M., escort and introduce him into the Representative Hall, before the conventional meeting of the two Houses of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, for the purpose of his installation into office, as Governor of Mississippi, for and during the term of two years; and have appointed on the part of the Senate, Messrs. Stone, Bell and Brooke.

Mr. Baker of Hinds, from a joint select committee, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER—The committee appointed to prepare for publication with the rules of the House and joint rules, an index thereto, have instructed me to report that they have performed that duty, and have placed said index in the hands of the Clerk, to be printed as directed.

Mr. Smedes gave notice that he would, on Friday next, introduce a bill to be entitled an act to amend the levee laws of Washington county.

The hour having arrived for the inauguration, on motion of Mr. Stewart, the House took a recess of twenty minutes.

The recess having expired, the Clerk was instructed to inform the Senate that the Hall was in readiness for their reception.

The Senate having been informed that the Hall was in readiness for their reception, entered, preceeded by the Sergeant-at-arms, and took the seats assigned them.

The Sergeant-at-arms then announced the Governor elect, who being conducted to the Clerk's desk, accompanied by Ex-Governor J. W. Matthews, and the Judges of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, delivered the following inaugural address, to-wit :

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi :

The Constitution of the State, to secure individual fidelity in the execution of public trusts, prescribes that every officer, before entering upon his duties, shall take an oath faithfully to discharge the duties of his office. Elected by the people of this State to be their Chief Executive Magistrate, I now come before you, Senators, Representatives and fellow citizens, publicly, in the presence of the guardians of the commonwealth, to take upon myself the solemn obligation which the constitution enjoins upon me.

I shall enter upon the discharge of my official duties with a firm determination to assume no powers refused, and to shun no responsibilities required by the constitution and laws, and to spare no effort, by a faithful performance of my duty, to deserve the high confidence which the generous people of this State have reposed in me.

Among a free people, addresses from a public servant to his constituents, should be frank and without disguise. When his opinions may affect the public welfare, they should not be concealed. I feel it my duty, therefore, in this first official address to the sovereign people of Mississippi, briefly to express my opinions upon some of the prominent questions which now appear to occupy the public mind. They will furnish the best indication of the course of policy I shall study to pursue, in my official action upon all subjects.

In our union of sovereign States, there are few questions, however they may appear strictly Federal, which do not sometimes demand the consideration of the respective States of the confederacy.

The members of our national union consist of equal co-ordinate sovereignties, whose interest for good or for evil, may be affected by the Federal government. They are not only entitled to exercise a watchful care over its proceedings, but when the constitution, or the reserved rights of the States, or the people are threatened, upon the State governments especially, devolves the duty of taking proper measures to defend the one, and protect the other. National questions are, therefore, necessarily a part of State politics.

My views of the original structure of our government, and my interpretation of the constitution, are strictly democratic. Regarding the Federal constitution as a compact between independent political communities, acting in their character as sovereigns, it follows, that the government erected by it, is one of delegated powers. Over all political powers not delegated, the States retained an absolute and exclusive control, with all the rights and powers necessary to maintain and preserve their sovereignty. Over these they are as supreme, as if the constitution had never been adopted. Various causes, among them, national glory—because it feeds our self-esteem—are continually operating to incline the public mind towards centralism and consolidation. This is the tendency of our government ; and, as our country grows in wealth, power and importance, the contrast between the State and Federal governments will become wider, and increase the danger. A frequent recurrence to the history and character of our federal system is, therefore, essential to the preservation of the State governments. In my opinion, a little jealousy on the part of State officers is commendable. The assumption of power by the Federal government, has already more than once produced convulsions which have shaken the strong pillars of our political temple ; the failure to exercise a doubtful power, has never caused alarm. The danger is from assumption, not inactivity. Construing the Federal government as one of limited delegated powers, I deny its right to supervise the manufactures or the agriculture of the country, or to take under its charge and control, the highways and the harbors of our broad land.

If such power be not delegated, it is a fraud upon the constitution, to attempt these objects indirectly under color of the power granted "to lay and collect duties and imposts," "to establish post-offices and post roads," or "to regulate commerce."

I am opposed to the establishment of a United States Bank, or to the conversion of the National treasury, by ingenious modifications, into any other similar fiscal agent. The plan of collecting and disbursing the revenue by the simple machinery of the Independent Treasury, seems to me best suited to the simplicity of our republican institutions, and best calculated to preserve honesty and purity in the administration of the public finances. I have thought fit to allude to these questions, because they are again agitated.

Connected with our Federal relations, is another subject of deep and vital interest to us, in common with a large portion of our sister States of the Union, a question which in the last few years, has assumed a momentous and startling aspect.

One half of the sovereign States of this glorious confederacy, in the exercise of the undoubted right of self-government, have chosen to retain as a part of their elementary social system, the institution of the domestic slavery of an inferior race. This institution is entwined in our political system, and cannot be separated from it, without destruction to our social fabric. It has existed here since the cavaliers of Jamestown and the puritans of Plymouth Rock, first built their pilgrim fires upon the shores of America. It was recognized in the formation of the Federal constitution, and to its existence among us, as much as to any other single cause, is attributable the rapid advance of our country in its career of prosperity, greatness and wealth.

That Supreme being, whose all-seeing eye looks down upon the nations of the earth, has beheld and tolerated its existence among us for more than two centuries, and has poured out upon us the choicest blessings of his providence.

We do not regard it as an evil, on the contrary, we think that our prosperity, our happiness, our very political existence, is inseparably connected with it. We have a right to it above and under the constitution of the United States. We cannot give up that right. We will not yield it. We have a right to the quiet enjoyment of our slave property. We cannot and will no longer permit that right to be disturbed. It is of those essential rights which cannot be yielded up without dishonor, and self-degradation. None who believe that we have inherited the free spirit of our fathers, can doubt our determination at all hazards to maintain these positions so essential to our security.

The statesmen in the non-slaveholding States, who attempt to trample upon our rights, either mistake the intelligence and spirit of the Southern people, or knowingly hazard the integrity of the Union. They should know that the South is now aroused to the magnitude of the danger. We are no longer permitted to doubt that a systematic and deliberate crusade against our sacred rights is now in progress, and has assumed a character which requires us to act.

Distinguished Northern statesmen have not only avowed their determination to exclude the slave interest from the protection of the constitution, but to use all the powers, which by a broad construction of that instrument, they can assume, to effect its ultimate extermination.

Some of the non-slaveholding States have, by resolutions of their Legislatures, re-echoed these pernicious doctrines, and many of them, in palpable violation of their constitutional compact, have enacted laws effectually to prevent the reclamation of fugitive slaves.

These insulting and offensive measures have not been confined to individuals or to the State governments. The halls of Congress, where Northern and Southern men should meet as brethren, have become the theatre of this war upon slavery. Already has the attempt been made, as is threatened to be renewed, I fear with prospects of ultimate success, to exclude the slaveholding States from an equal participation in the common territory of the States—to confine the slaveholder and the slave for all time to come to the States in which the institution now exists—to abolish negro slavery in the Federal District, and to suppress the internal slave trade between the States.

These measures not only threatened, but actually introduced in Congress, too plainly speak the deliberate intention of their instigators, to wage a war of extermination against our most valued rights. Whether they originate in fanaticism, affected philanthropy, or calculations of political power, they can have no other object than the ultimate destruction of our domestic institutions, or the dissolution of the Union. The advocates of these destructive measures seek to perpetrate wrongs to which the people of Mississippi, of all parties, recently assembled in convention, have solemnly declared that they cannot and will not submit. They cherish the Union, constituted by the wisdom of our fathers; they will defend the constitution, which established and alone maintains that Union, but they have no love or veneration for any other union than that which is written and defined in the constitution. They are not to be deceived and robbed of their constitutional rights by men, who, uttering hollow professions of attachment to the Union, are deliberately severing the ties that bind us together. Should this glorious Union perish, let the indignant patriot heap curses upon the traitors, who, by destroying the compromises of the constitution, sapped the foundations of

"The realm,
The last and the noblest of time."

I may have dwelt too long upon this subject, but I regard it as the great, the absorbing question of the day; one which must now be met deliberately, calmly, and boldly. The South has long submitted to grievous wrongs. Dishonor, degradation and ruin await her, if she submits further. The people of Mississippi have taken their stand, and, I doubt not, their representatives will maintain it, by providing means to meet every probable contingency. I here pledge myself firmly to execute their will, to the extent of my constitutional powers.

We live, fellow citizens, in a progressive age, marked by some of the boldest improvements in the sciences, and the most remarkable discoveries and inventions in the arts. It is the part of the political power of the State to apply these improvements to the increase of the wealth, and the promotion of the happiness of the people. If we cannot reach perfection, we may approach it. The struggle, at least, is worthy the highest exertion of the human intellect. The immense resources of our yet infant State, are not fully developed. A wide field for internal improvements is still open. A system of common school education, suited to the character and condition of our country, may be established. Our jurisprudence and judicial systems are open to great reforms. The abuses of petty corporations may be corrected. Our military establishment may be rendered more efficient. Some wise and efficient provision, based upon the consent of the people, gradually to extinguish the public debt, may be matured. The revenue system may be made more equal and just, and the burden of self-government be thus alleviated. All these objects are worthy the consideration of the best talents of a State, which has taken the lead among her sister States in great constitutional reforms.

With sentiments of the deepest gratitude to my fellow citizens for the confidence reposed in me; with sincere distrust in my abilities, yet with a proud consciousness of the elevated station to which I have been chosen, as the chief magistrate of a State, distinguished for the talents of her statesmen, in council, and the intrepid gallantry of her sons in war, I am now ready, in this presence, and before Almighty God, to take my solemn oath of office.

Chief Justice Sharkey then administered to the Governor elect, the oath of office.

The Sergeant-at-arms having made the usual proclamation, the President of the Senate announced that the two Houses had accomplished the business for which they had convened: the Senate retired.

On motion of Mr. Myers, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. P. B. Starke, member elect from the county of Bolivar, presented himself to the Speaker and took the oath of office.

Mr. Stephen Adams, member elect from the county of Monroe, presented himself to the Speaker and took the oath of office.

Mr. Seal presented the petition of sundry citizens of the town of Biloxi, in the county of Harrison, praying the passage of a law incorporating said town, accompanied by a bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the town of Biloxi in the county of Harrison; which was read the first time; on his motion, the rule requiring bills to be read on three several days was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the petition and bill were referred to a select committee of three. The Chair appointed as said committee, Messrs. Seal, Lewis and Metcalf.

Mr. Vaiden presented the petition of sundry citizens of the town of Shongalo, Carroll county, praying the passage of a law incorporating said town, accompanied by a bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the town of Shongalo in the county of Carroll.

On his motion, the petition and bill was referred to a select committee of three. The Chair appointed on said committee, Messrs. Vaiden, Bynum and Smith.

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the President of the Senate has made the following announcement of standing and joint standing committees:

Mr. Cassidy moved to fill the blank in the report by inserting the third Monday in February next, which was decided in the negative, by yeas and nays as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative are—Messrs. Bynum, Bell, Cassidy, Gatlin, Hinds, Huie, Matthews, Stuart, of Marion, Tison and Weathersby—10.

Those who voted in the negative are—Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Anderson, Adams, Armstrong, Arthur, Aldridge, Ashe, Barton, Brown, Buford, Byrn, Barry, Barden, Blythe, Brooks, Beene, Baker, of Hinds, Baker, of Pontotoc, Collins, Crews, Clement, Calhoun, Catchings, Crusoe, Chisholm, Durham, Dunlap, Estelle, Ellis, Ford, Foote, Guy, Griffin, Hemingway, Hughes, Harrison, Henry, Jenkins, Johnston, Kelly, Kirkland, Kimball, Lynch, Lewis, Mott, Magee, Martin, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Nabors, Nelson, Noble, Nash, Neill, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Rawls, Rogers, Suratt, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Smedes, Seal, Smith, Thomas, of Marshall, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Trussell, Talbert, Thurmond, Vaiden, Webb, Wall, White, Wilcox, Welsh, West and Young—82.

On motion of Brown, the blank in the report was filled with 12 o'clock to-morrow.

The question was then taken on agreeing to the report as amended, and decided in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the vote taken on agreeing to the report on the petition of Robert Josselyn, was reconsidered and the report agreed to; on his motion, the petition, with a bill accompanying the same, was referred to the Judiciary committee.

The following message was received from the Senate by Mr. Orr, their Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have passed a bill of the following title: A bill to be entitled an act to change the time of holding the Probate Court of Coahoma county, and for other purposes; in which I am instructed to desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

The Senate have concurred in the amendment made by the House to the Senate resolution ordering a certain number of copies to be printed of the proceedings of the State Convention, instructing the Governor to furnish a copy of said proceedings to the Executive of all the States in the Union, and to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Mr. Ford gave notice that he would on to-morrow introduce the following bills :

A bill to amend an act entitled an act to increase the compensation of the District Attorneys of this State, approved March 4th, 1848 ; also, A bill to amend the existing laws in relation to Free Negroes ; also, A bill to suppress Hawkers and Peddlars in this State ; also, A bill to abolish all laws now authorizing imprisonment for debt.

Mr. Baker, of Hinds, by leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the rivers of the State of Mississippi ; which was read the first time.

Mr. Suratt moved the rejection of the bill.

Pending the question on the motion to reject, on motion of Mr. Durham, the House adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17th, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and its deliberations were opened with prayer by the Rev. Joshua T. Russell, of the Baptist Church.

The House took up the unfinished business of yesterday, being the motion of Mr. Suratt to reject the bill to be entitled "An act to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the rivers of the State of Mississippi."

Mr. Ford moved the previous question, which being sustained, the main question was then taken by yeas and nays, and decided in the negative, as follows :

Those who voted in the affirmative are—Messrs. Bell, Crews, Clements, Crusoe, Dunlap, Echols, Gatlin, Hemingway, Jenkins, Johnston, Martin, Nelson, Neill, Suratt, Tison, Vaiden, Webb and West—18.

The following special message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, through Mr. McDonald, his private Secretary :
To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I return to the House of Representatives, without my signature, the bill entitled “An act to incorporate the Wilkinson county Manufacturing Company.”

On ordinary questions of policy, where no constitutional objections exist, I shall be ready to defer to the opinion of the Legislature, but there are cases where, from the magnitude of the evil apprehended, I feel it my duty to withhold my approval. Such is the character of the bill now presented to me. It seems to me that the very extensive privileges granted to this Company, might result in serious injury to the public. The past history of the State should admonish us to guard with jealous care, the grant of extensive powers to private corporations. It should be remembered that where once given, they are, by the decisions of our courts, beyond the reach and control of the Legislature.

My objections to the bill are—First : That the corporation erected by it, is perpetual ; second : That although declared to be established for the laudable purpose of manufacturing cotton and woollen yarns, and fabrics, and also for the making of all machinery necessary for manufacturing purposes, there are no words restraining its business, nor the capacity to hold property to those objects ; and lastly : That there is no limitation to the amount of personal and mixed property, which it may acquire, hold and possess. Although the leading purpose of the incorporation is stated in the bill, yet the substantial provision of the latter clause of the first section, which makes the Company “capable of purchasing, holding and alienating all kinds of property, whether real, personal or mixed,” is too broad to be considered as restraining its operations to the purpose first expressed. If so, what is to prevent the Company from employing their associated capital and its accumulation in extensive mercantile operations, or controlling the market by the monopoly of any article of necessity, of consumption, or, if the business should promise higher profit, by discounting notes, buying, selling, and dealing in exchange, and by the power of associated wealth, driving off individual competition, and by that means, regulating the value of exchange.

It is no answer to these objections, that the character of the very respectable corporators named in the act, forbid the idea of such abuse of their powers. The right of the assignment of the stock may soon place the direction of the corporation in unknown, or even foreign lands, and the corporate powers used for mere purposes of gain, without any regard to the original purposes of the grant.

For these reasons and objections, I respectfully return the bill, for the further consideration of the Legislature.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Jackson, January 22d, 1850.

} JOHN A. QUITMAN.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act amendatory of the laws relative to divorces, reported a new bill as a substitute, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the bill was considered as engrossed, read the third time and passed, with its title as stated.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act regulating the rule of evidence as to notarial protests, reported the same back to the House without amendment, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the third time.

The question was then taken on its passage, and decided in the negative.

On motion of Mr. Huie, the House adjourned.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 25th, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Day presented the petition of Sam'l. B. Newman, Sheriff of Adams county, accompanied with a claim against the State; which was referred to the committee on Claims.

Mr. Cassidy presented two memorials from sundry citizens of the county of Franklin, in relation to the improvement of the navigation of the Homochitto River; which was referred to the select committee heretofore raised on that subject.

A bill to be entitled an act to declare Old Fort Bayou a navigable stream;

Also a bill to be entitled an act to change the time of holding the Vice Chancery Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, with an amendment; in which I am instructed to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the House concurred in the amendment of the Senate, to the bill to be entitled an act to change the time of holding the Vice Chancery Court for the Southern District of Mississippi.

Mr. Barry, from the committee on Enrolled Bills, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—The joint standing committee on Enrolled Bills, have this day examined bills of the following titles, viz:

An act to extend the time of holding the Probate Court of Noxubee county;

An act for the relief of James Gilmore Anderson and Augusta R. Anderson;

An act to change the time of holding the Probate Court of the county of Covington;

An act to enable the Board of Police of Jefferson county, to levy a special tax for the erection of Bridges in said county;

An act to prevent injuries to the Telegraph lines in this State; and have found the same correctly enrolled.

Mr. Guy presented the petition of sundry citizens of Yallobusha county, in relation to the formation of a new county; which was referred to the committee on County Boundaries.

Mr. Rozell, by leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act to authorize J. N. C. Robinson and Simeon Oliver, or their assigns, to build a Turnpike Road through the swamp of Cold Water, in DeSoto county; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time; and, on motion of Mr. Wilcox, it was referred to the committee on Corporations.

The House resumed the consideration of its special order to-wit: The bill in relation to the Planters' Bank Bonds, in committee of the Whole, Mr. Hemingway in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again on to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

A division being called for, the question was first taken on receiving, and decided in the affirmative.

Was then taken on agreeing, and decided in the affirmative.

The House then adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and its deliberations were opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Walker, of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Huie, from the committee on Propositions and Grievances, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens, of the county of Jefferson, praying the passage of a law compelling the members of the Board of Police to review the public roads; reported the same back to the House, as having been improperly referred, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration; which was received and agreed to; and on his motion, was referred to the Judiciary committee.

Mr. Huie, from the same committee, to whom was referred the claim of James M. Cook, reported the same back to the House, with a bill to be entitled "An act for the relief of James M. Cook," and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended and the bill read the second time.

The House resolved itself into committee of the Whole forthwith, for the consideration of said bill, Mr. Bynum in the Chair; after some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House without amendment, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Buford, the rule was suspended, the bill considered as engrossed, read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Clement, from the committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled "An act to incorporate the Mississippi Mutual Insurance Company," reported the same back to the House, recommended its reference to the committee on Corporations, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Clement, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled "An act making it a felony to move mortgaged and other property from this State, reported a new bill, as a substitute, back to the House, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the substitute bill read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second time, laid on the table, and 100 copies ordered to be printed.

Mr. Wilcox, from the committee on Corporations, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to authorise J. N. C. Robertson and Simeon Oliver or their assigns, to build a turnpike road through the swamp of Coldwater, in De Soto county," reported the same back to the House and recommended its passage. The committee also reported that they do not feel authorised, by the terms of their appointment, to redraft bills committed to them, or to propose amendments, where no matter of principle, or public policy is involved, nor are they willing to be held responsible for the verbiage of the bills they may report back to the House, with a recommendation that they do pass.

Mr. Wilcox moved that the report be received and agreed to ; a division being called for the report was received.

The question was then taken on agreeing to the report—decided in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, the bill was referred to a select committee of three.

The Chair appointed as said committee, Messrs. Johnson, Webb and Rozell.

Mr. Foote, from the Judiciary committee, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled "An act to authorise guardians to resign their trust," reported the same back to the House without amendment and recommended its passage ; which was received and agreed to.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill considered as engrossed, read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to allow the defendant's counsel in criminal cases in this State, the right of opening and closing the argument," reported the same back to the House and recommended that it do not pass ; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to prevent malicious prosecutions," reported the same back to the House without amendment and recommended its passage ; which was received and agreed to, the bill considered as engrossed, read the third time and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to authorise married women to dispose of their separate estate," reported the same back to the House and recommended that it do not pass; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Foote, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to amend an act entitled an act to provide for cases where no executor or administrator will qualify under a last will and testament and undertake to carry it into effect," reported back to the House a substitute for the bill, and recommended its passage ; which was received and agreed to, and the substitute read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the bill was considered as engrossed, read the third time and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Adams, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to repeal an act entitled an act for the benefit of the Aberdeen Female Academy and for other purposes," reported the same back to the House without amendment and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on Monday next.

Mr. Adams, from the same committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled "An act to dispense with demand and notice in certain cases," reported the same back to the House without amendment and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on Monday next.

Mr. Catchings, from the joint standing committee on the Penitentiary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:—The joint standing committee on the Penitentiary have completed their investigations, and beg leave to report:

That they have made a complete and thorough examination of the books and accounts, beginning at the period to which the investigation of the committee appointed by the last session of the legislature extended; and after scrutinizing every item in said books and accounts, and comparing each item with its proper voucher, have found the same to be perfectly accurate and correct. The books are kept after the most approved mode of book-keeping; all the vouchers are regularly numbered and filed, so that your committee had not the least difficulty in pursuing their investigations, and arriving at a knowledge of the financial condition of the institution.

Your committee beg leave to submit a statement made from a strict analysis of the report of the Superintendent, from which it will be apparent that the institution has paid all its proper expenses, and made a clear profit of nine hundred and thirty-six dollars and ninety-four cents for the last year.

The State has advanced to the institution during the year 1849, the sum of $9,731 42.

Against this sum, the institution is entitled to the following credits for work done for the State, &c. viz:

Amount paid for new machinery.....	$239 24
“ “ on Superintendent's new house.....	1,246 14
“ of cost of making brick for Lunatic Asylum...	4,500 00
“ of cost of building cisterns on State grounds...	500 00
“ of cost of pavement on do.....	200 00
“ of cost of repairs in Auditor's office.....	5 00
“ of cost of a table furnished Treasurer's office..	30 00
“ of making 450 feet brick gutters for the State..	112 50
“ of cost for making brick floors in 50 cells....	500 00
“ of 4 pumps made for prison.....	48 00
“ of fitting 2 cisterns and tops in prison.....	30 00

Amount of making steps to prison.....	10 00
“ of new frame for cylinders in factory.....	5 00
“ of difference in cash on hand at the beginning and close of the year.....	149 63
“ of cash paid into the State Treasury.....	3,092 85

$10,668 36

In this statement, your committee have credited the institution only with such labor and improvement as have added a permanent value to the property of the State, and with the cash paid into the treasury.

The law makes it the duty of the Superintendent to pay to each discharged convict a small sum of money, to enable him to support himself until he can find employment in some honest vocation. Under this provision of the law, the Superintendent has paid to discharged convicts during the year 1849, the sum of four hundred and fifty-four dollars and eighty-eight cents, for which the prison is fairly entitled to a credit, inasmuch as it does not properly come under the head of expenses, but is a bounty bestowed by the State from motives of humanity and policy.

The institution is also entitled to a credit for the expense of keeping prisoners waiting for new trials, which amounted in the year 1849 to $109. This charge properly falls upon the State, because prisoners sent to the Penitentiary for safe-keeping, while waiting for the decisions of the High Court of Errors and Appeals are not subject to labor, and of course can earn nothing.

Your committee cannot too strongly recommend the manufacturing department of the institution to the fostering care of the legislature. This branch of industry seems to be peculiarly adapted to Penitentiary labor, for the following reasons:

1st. The attention of the machinery affords constant employment to the minds of the convicts, and in this way has a tendency to prevent thoughts on plans of escape.

2d. It prevents them from being exposed to the weather, as must be the case in out-door work of all kinds, and in this way, promotes the health of the convicts.

3rd. It cuts off all chance of escape, and requires a less number of guard.

4th. It withdraws the miserable competition with the honest mechanics of the country, which has been so destructive to their prosperity.

5th. It is not only the most profitable branch of industry that has ever been pursued in the institution, but it furnishes a ready market for a large quantity of cotton, and all the wool that can be furnished by the surrounding country.

Your committee have examined the yarns, linseys and osnaburgs manufactured at the institution, and do not hesitate to pronounce them equal to similar articles produced at any manufactory in the Union.

Your committee attribute the prosperous condition of the institution to the manufacturing department, although the engine and machinery now in use are only sufficient to employ about twenty-two hands; and the opinion is confidently expressed, that with a moderate and judicious appropriation of money, its operations will become a source of revenue to the State.

Your committee feel constrained, with a view to the comfort and proper medical treatment of the sick, and with a view to the convenient storage of goods manufactured in the prison, to recommend that the main front building, which is in a dilapidated and dangerous condition, be taken down and rebuilt so as to afford suitable and convenient rooms for the storage and sale of goods, and for hospital purposes.

Your committee believe, that in order to fix the entire responsibility of the prison upon the Superintendent, as well as to give greater energy to its operations, the Assistant-Keeper should be appointed by the Superintendent, by advice of the Board of Inspectors, and be entirely subordinate to his orders.

Your committee believe, that more frequent meetings of the Inspectors would increase the efficiency of the operations of the prison, and afford more satisfaction to the people.

Your committee have noticed, that there is in the institution a large amount of manufactured articles, such as wagons, &c., which have been on hand for some time, and are transferred from year to year, to the stock on hand, at a nominal value. They recommend that the Superintendent be authorised to sell such articles at public auction, after giving sufficient notice, as they are constantly decaying and decreasing in value, and that the proceeds be paid into the State treasury.

The committee cannot bring this report to a conclusion without earnestly recommending that suitable provision be made for the moral and religious instruction of the convicts.

The attention of your committee was called; at an early period of their labors, to an apparent discrepancy in the accounts of the Superintendent and State Treasurer. The communications of the Auditor and Treasurer, herewith submitted, will show that no discrepancy exists in fact.

In order to carry out the views of the committee, the following bill is respectfully submitted. THO'S J. CATCAINGS, Chairman House Committee.

A BILL

To be entitled "an act to provide for the purchase of additional machinery for the manufacture of cotton and wool in the Penitentiary, and for other purposes."

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That it shall be the duty of the Superintendent, under the direction of the Inspectors, at as early a period as possible, to purchase an engine of sufficient power to propel three times the amount of machinery now in use, for the manufacture of cotton and wool.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That the Superintendent shall, under the direction of the Inspectors, purchase at the same time, such additional amount of machinery, to be used in the manufacture of cotton and wool, as will give employment to fifty hands.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted, That the Superintendent, under the direction of the Inspectors, shall sell at public auction, all manufactured articles which have been on hand for a longer time than six months, except such articles as the Inspectors may think it advisable to retain.

Sec. 4. Be it further enacted, That as soon as the new engine shall be received and put in operation, the Superintendent shall, under the direction of the Inspectors, sell the old one at private sale.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, That the proceeds of the sale of the old engine, and of the manufactured articles to be sold at auction, shall be paid into the State Treasury.

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted, That the sum of fourteen thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated for the purchase of the engine and machinery required to be purchased under this act.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That the Superintendent shall, under the direction of the Inspectors, take down so much of the main front building as may be deemed unsafe by the Inspectors, and rebuild the same, so as to afford suitable and convenient rooms for the storage and sale of goods manufactured in the prison, and for hospital purposes.

Sec. 8. Be it further enacted, That hereafter, the Assistant Keeper shall be appointed by the Superintendent, by and with the advice and consent of the Inspectors, for the term of two years; he shall be entirely subordinate to the Superintendent, and shall be actively engaged in the business of the prison according to his directions; and he shall not be discharged from office without a fair trial before the Inspectors, and by their consent.

Sec. 9. Be it further enacted, That a Chaplain for the prison shall be appointed annually by the Inspectors, for the term of one year, who shall hold divine service in the prison every Sunday, and devote a portion of that day to the moral and religious instruction of the convicts; visit the sick during the week, and shall receive a salary not exceeding three hundred dollars per annum.

Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Inspectors to visit the prison once in each week; to make a thorough examination of the manufacturing and other departments, and to transact such other business as may be deemed necessary, and they shall be allowed to compensate their secretary for his services in keeping their minutes, papers, &c., in a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars per annum, according to the amount of services rendered.

Sec. 11. Be it further enacted, That the 34th section of article 17th, of an "act to amend the Penitentiary Code, and for other purposes," approved February 24th, 1844, shall not be so construed as to prohibit the officers of the Penitentiary from purchasing provisions, drugs, paints, &c, from any Inspector or other officer of said prison.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, JACKSON, }

Hon. R. S. Greer, Chairman Penitentiary Committee :

Sir—Your note of yesterday is received. Discrepancies will unnecessarily exist in the reports of the officers of the Prison, from those of the Auditor and Treasurer. It grows partly out of the fact, that the fiscal year in the prison is counted between different dates from those in which our balances are reported, and partly from the fact, that although their fiscal year closes on the 30th day of November, in each year, and the accounts due on that day are then allowed, yet the Superintendent's orders on this office bear date on the first days of December, 1848 and '49. With the exception of this difference in dates, growing out of the reason stated, there is no substantial difference in the statements of the monies actually drawn.

My books, from 1st January to 31st December, 1849, show a disbursement of $10,106 42 on Penitentiary account. The Prison report, from 1st December, 1848, to 30th November, 1849, show $9,631 42, received of the State during that period—difference $375. This am't was disbursed by my warrant on 10th Jan., 1849, but the voucher from the Prison was dated 1st December, 1848, and was for a quarter's salary due on the 30th Nov'r, 1848. Hence the difference in the statements, though there is no real difference in the cash drawn. Though the Penitentiary account is closed on the 30th November, the drafts for the amounts are not, in fact, drawn until the 1st day of December, and yet the Penitentiary charges itself with the amounts so drawn. My report of disbursements has reference to the day on which my warrant is drawn; that of the Treasurer, to the day on which it is presented to and paid by him. If you will examine their receipts, as dated in their reports, with the vouchers on file in my office, bearing in mind the difference in dates as stated, you will perceive that there is no real difference as to the money actually drawn. I will exhibit them in detail to your committee with pleasure.

Very respectfully,

GEO. T. SWANN,
Auditor Pub. Acct's.

 Jackson, Miss., Jan. 19, 1850. }

Hon. R. S. Greer, Chairman Penitentiary Committee :

Sir—I am in receipt of your favor of yesterday, relative to “a difference in the amounts reported as drawn from the Treasury in the reports of the Superintendent and those of the Auditor and Treasurer,” and requesting me “to state how it happens that these differences in the reports exist.

This discrepancy referred to, is only apparent, as may be seen upon an examination of the vouchers filed in those departments. The report of disbursements at the Treasury, and that of the issue of pay warrants from the Auditor’s office, cannot agree in any one year, except from the merest accident. This arises from the fact, that holders of warrants do not always present them for payment during the year they were issued, and I have no means compelling them to do so. Again : the warrants of former years’ issue, (many of which are outstanding on various departments) are paid on presentation, and, of course, are reported in the Treasury disbursements of the year in which they are paid ; and hence the Auditor’s and Treasurer’s reports of disbursements will not annually agree.

The report of the Superintendent of the Penitentiary I have not seen ; but I have no reason to believe that “any errors exist in the statement of warrants reported in the Penitentiary account.” That report, however, could not agree with mine, because the two run for different periods,—one closing with November, and the other with December, in each year.

Trusting a further examination will make this satisfactory to the committee, I have the honor to remain, very respectfully,

Your ob’t serv’t,

RD. GRIFFITH,
 State Treasurer.

Which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Blythe, the report was laid on the table, and 1000 copies ordered to be printed.

The following special message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, through Mr. McDonald, his private Secretary :
To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I transmit to the House of Representatives, two letters from J. D. Beers, of New York, in relation to the bonds given for stock in the Planters’ Bank. As the subject is before the Legislature, in the message of my predecessor, I deem it improper to accompany these letters with any recommendations of my own.

J. A. QUITMAN.

NEW YORK, December 27th, 1849.

To His Excellency, John A. Quitman,

Governor of the State of Mississippi :

Having been the only person who first made the arrangement to negotiate the Mississippi Bonds for the Planters’ Bank in this and the London market, I feel it a duty I owe others, as well as myself, who are still interested in those Bonds, to apply to your Excellency to lay before the Legislature, and recommend the passage of a law, which will provide for the payment of these Bonds with the interest due thereupon. With that view, permit me to suggest the following, as a law, which, I think, the Bond-holders would be willing to accept, and your Legislature would pass, provided you should recommend the same to that honorable body—

First: That all the back interest due upon the Bonds and all Bonds already due, shall be funded into six per cent. Bonds, in the same form and manner as they were originally, and payable, both interest and principal in New York, and that it shall be optional with the State to renew the Bonds hereafter to become due from year to year, for the next ten years, payable at such time and times as they choose, having not over twenty years to run. I was at Jackson in 1848, when the Legislature passed the law to pay a portion of the back interest on these Bonds, and appropriated lands for the extinguishment of these Bonds on certain conditions, neither of which, has been available to much extent, neither will be, so long as the greater part of the Bonds are held in Europe, by persons, who do not want lands, and are not willing to sell their Bonds at so great a sacrifice, as they would be obliged to do, to realize for them. Now as the State received all their pay in New York in specie, or its equivalent, and for the first half million, a small premium, and for the one and one-half million, ten and three-quarters per cent., it is right and proper that the original agreement with the State Commissioners should be carried out, and the money, both interest and principal be paid in New York when it is ever paid, unless those holding the Bonds choose to accept of lands on the terms you have offered, or may hereafter offer to them. I therefore, as one of the Bond-holders, respectfully request you to recommend to your honorable Legislature such a law, fully believing all the Bond-holders will accept of the terms and conditions.

As your treasury is full and overflowing, and the State one of the most wealthy of the Union, I doubt not but that the Bond-holders would concur in such an arrangement, if entered into by the Legislature of the State; moreover the constitution of your State recognises these Bonds, and on that account, the State, and the officers of the State, are more solemnly bound to carry out such arrangement than they would otherwise be. It is probable that others, interested in the Bonds, will petition and request payment of these Bonds and the interest due thereupon. I have therefore taken some trouble to ascertain that the terms I have proposed, would be satisfactory to them, without exception.

I also believe, that if the Legislature pass such a law, authorising you and the proper officers to execute and exchange the Bonds, and pay the interest out of the treasury, that the whole matter will be settled, although it may, at times, be necessary for the Legislature to authorise an increase of taxes, that there may be always sufficient in the treasury, to pay the semi-annual interest.

I am, sir, most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. D. BEERS.

NEW YORK, January 9th, 1850.

To his Excellency, John A. Quitman,

Governor of the State of Mississippi:

DEAR SIR: On the 27th of December last, I addressed you on the subject of the Planters' Bank Bonds, and requested you to recommend that a law be passed to fund the bonds now due, and the back interest, and to pay the same annual interest hereafter as it becomes due, and the right of the State to fund the other bonds as they become due, for the next ten years, at such time as the State pleases, not over twenty years, and to make the bonds in the same form, and payable in New York, both interest and principal.

I yesterday received a letter from a friend in your State, informing me that there are many projects suggested in regard to the payment of these bonds, and one is to offer the stock of a railroad to be built by the State, from Jackson to Montgomery, Alabama. Now, as every such scheme as this, in my opinion, the bondholders would reject, I think it my duty to inform you, because it would turn out like the plan to pay in lands. I therefore, suggest, that in order to meet the proposition that may be made to pay in stock of the railroad, or in lands, that it may be optional with the bondholders to take new bonds on the terms above, railroad stock, or lands, according to the last law to pay in lands. I think this would obviate the objections that may be raised in regard to any plan proposed to defeat the plan I proposed of renewing the bonds, and funding those due and the back interest; and this plan would give the State the use of the money in the Treasury $500,000 00 to $600,000 00, at this time, except a dividend of six months or one year, which the last Legislature ordered paid, but was not, owing to the fact that the Attorney of the State reported the law unconstitutional, and therefore, the money in the Treasury was not paid out as the law directed. Now, allow me to suggest, that in case any one objects (as some have done,) to pay in lands, as the law provided, on account of these lands being given for the internal improvement funds, have the law so altered that the bonds so taken for lands or for railroad stock, be transferred over to such funds for the same purpose as the lands were given for, and the State continue to pay interest and principal to such fund or funds, as it is applicable. Such is the case in this State, in regard to our canal fund and school fund, or any other having occasion for investment or expenditure. If you pass such a law, the Planters' Bank Bonds will be a current bond in Europe and in this country, and the small amount of semi-annual interest will never be felt by your State, which is, and will be one of the most wealthy of any in the Union, from the uncommon richness of its soil. I therefore beg you to have these laws passed.

I am, sir, most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. D. BEERS.

The following message was received from the Senate:

The following message was received from the Governor, by his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR—By request, I lay before the legislature the enclosed copy of a preamble and resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, “in relation to the slave trade,” together with the letter of J. Mitchell, agent, &c., calling attention to the same. If the resolution of the General Assembly of Indiana be intended to procure the appropriation of money by Congress towards “the settlement of the coast of Africa with colored men from the United States,” I cannot give it a favorable recommendation.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Jackson, Jan. 28th, 1850. }

J. A. QUITMAN.

The State of Indiana, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred fifty.—A joint resolution in relation to the Slave Trade.

WHEREAS, The policy of suppressing the "African slave trade" by an armed blockade, has upon the whole, proved an entire failure, said trade being as vigorous now as it was before the blockade was attempted. And whereas, it is likely that England will soon make overtures to our General Government demanding a release from all treaty stipulation, whereby she is obliged to keep her expensive fleet upon the African coast for the suppression of the slave trade. And whereas, both the Government of the United States and England are convinced that some other plan must be adopted to check that traffic. And whereas, the settlement of the African coast with colonies of civilized colored men is the cheapest and best plan of suppressing said traffic, being likewise calculated to further the work of colonizing our people of color, which plan of suppressing the trade, is true American policy; therefore,

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and they are hereby requested, in the name of the State of Indiana, to call for a change of national policy on the subject of the "African slave trade," and that they require a settlement of the coast of Africa with colored men from the United States, and procure such changes in our relations with England, as will permit us to transport colored men from this country to Africa with whom to effect said settlement.

GEORGE W. CARR,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

JAMES H. LANE,

President of the Senate.

Approved Jan. 16, 1850, JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

State of Indiana, to-wit:

I, CHARLES H. TEST, Secretary of State for the State of Indiana, do hereby certify that the foregoing Joint Resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, is a true, full and complete copy of the Joint Resolution therein cited.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the seal of the State of Indiana, this day of 1850.

Secretary of State.

The African Slave Trade and Colonization.

Honored and Dear Sir—Doubtless you are apprised of the horrors of the "African slave trade," by which, over 80,000 Africans are exported from Africa annually, and sold into bondage; and how ineffectual the policy pursued for many years by the United States, England and France, has been to effect its suppression, and likewise their fruitless expenditure of money to the amount of over one hundred millions of dollars; and likewise, we suppose you knew how much good has been accomplished by colonization. A few benevolent men in this land having settled and erected the Republic of Liberia, for the sum of not more than one million dollars, which sum would not support the American squadron on the African coast three years.

And further, we suppose that you are acquainted with the doings of the British Parliament on this subject, from whose movements we learn that the English Government desires to change the policy of blockading the coast of Africa into that of settling said coast with colonists. After reminding you of these facts, we respectfully request that you will use your influence in securing a change of our national policy on this point, and have the thousands of dollars that are regularly voted to the support of the African squadron derected in part from that object, and applied to maintaining a line of transports, which shall carry our free people of color who desire to emigrate to Africa. In doing this, you will render a great service to the American Colonization Society, which is now unable to meet the glaring demand for means of transportation.

Yours respectfully,

J. MITCHELL,

Indianapolis, Dec. 13, 1849.

Agent A. C. Society.

P. S. Please secure the passage of similar resolutions by your General Assembly, and thus you will give greater influence to the friends of conservative measures. You and I are strangers, but I suppose you to be a lover of the Union, and therefore, we ask this favor at your hands.

To His Excellency, the Governor of Mississippi.

A message from the Senate :

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

The following message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, through Mr. McDonald, his Private Secretary :

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—As the Ex-Officio President of the Board of Trustees of the State Library, I have the honor to transmit to the Legislature their Biennial Report of "the manner in which the money by them received, during the two preceeding years has been expended," together with a catalogue of the Books, &c., in the State Library.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Jackson, Jan. 31, 1850. }

J. A. QUITMAN.

The Trustees of the State Library respectfully report, that since the 1st January, 1848, to the 11th January, 1850, they have expended out of the annual appropriation of $500, for the gradual increase of the State Library, the aggregate sum (as per list No. 1,) of $572 62.

Which leaves subject to appropriation, for the objects designed by the statute of 1839, the sum of $427 38. Short of the annual appropriation of $200 to defray the contingent expenses of the Library arising since said 1st January, 1848, there have been expended (per statemet No. 2,) $163 01. Which leaves an unexpended balance of the Contingent Library Fund of $236 99.

A general catalogue of the Books, &c., in the State Library, is transmitted with the report. By order of the Board, Jackson, Jan. 31, 1850.

J. A. QUITMAN,

An act for the relief of Robert Mitchell, a revolutionary soldier.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the House concurred in the reference made by the Senate, appointing a committee of conference on the bill to incorporate the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad Company.

The Chair appointed as said committee on the part of the House, Messrs. Barry, Nabors, Arthur, Wall and Weathersby.

Mr. Hughes introduced a bill to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to increase the fees of certain officers in the county of Coahoma ; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

Mr. Byrn moved to amend the bill by inserting the county of Tunica after Issaquena ; which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Hughes, the rule was suspended, the bill as amended considered as engrossed, read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Foote, from a joint select committee, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER—The joint select committee, appointed by the Senate and House of Representatives, to examine the report of the committee made under an act entitled “an act to provide for a committee for the examination of the books of the Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, and Executive Department of the State, and for other purposes,” approved March the 4th, 1848, and to report what action should be taken thereon, have had the report and books of said committee under consideration, and have instructed me to report the general results of the examination, so far as it was made by said committee. They have given a detailed statement of every thing connected with the papers and books of the offices examined. James R. Young is found to be due the State a balance of \$2 45, on account of the sinking fund. The sum total paid into the Treasury on account of this fund, up to March 3d, 1849, is \$144,177 41 $\frac{2}{3}$. The statement shows that H. D. Mandeville, Esq., has received out of this fund, for fees and commissions, \$13,417 88. James R. Young received on account of the literary fund, the sum of \$346 00, which was appropriated to the payment of his salary. He also received on final dividend of stock of the State in the Bank of the State of Mississippi, \$300 00, which was appropriated to the payment of his salary. The report gives full statement of James R. Young's account with the town lot fund, showing a debit of \$24,547 85, and a credit of \$24,547 86 $\frac{1}{2}$. The report shows that Morgan McAfee, commissioner of the seminary fund, purchased out of that fund 1107 acres of land lying in Hinds and Yazoo counties. James R. Young, State Commissioner, appears to be charged with \$8,973 82 $\frac{2}{3}$ on account of the seminary fund, and credited with that amount. Thomas F. Collins appears to have received notes for collection, principal and interest, \$8,332 06 $\frac{1}{2}$, belonging to the town lot fund. He is credited with \$6,379 29 $\frac{1}{3}$, leaving a balance in his hands in favor of this fund, of \$1,952 77, which was settled by an act of the Legislature, approved January 26, 1846. The firm of Mason & Shelton, it appears received for collection notes belonging to this fund, principal and interest, amounting to \$53,617 10. They are credited with \$40,473 97, leaving a balance due by them of \$13,143 12 $\frac{1}{2}$. John N. Drake, Esq., it appears, received for collection, notes belonging to the same fund, principal and interest amounting to \$4,561 39. He is credited with \$2,510 14 $\frac{2}{3}$, leaving a balance due the fund by him, of \$2,051 24 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Messrs. Dunlap and Hughs are charged with $8,380 98 amount of notes received for collection on account of this fund—they are credited with $3,668 06—leaving a balance due by them of $4,712 92.

Messrs. Patton and Collins received of this fund for collection, notes with interest, amounting to \$6,656 08, they are credited with \$4,781 38, leaving a balance against them of \$1,874 70, which the statement of the committee shows, was settled by an act of the legislature, approved 26th January, 1846. Said committee have made a statement of notes received by H. G. Runnels, when Governor, and by him deposited in the Planters' Bank at Natchez, as collateral security for a note of \$10,000 00, discounted by said Bank, July 28th, 1835, for the use of the State; amount of said notes is \$10,362 33, credited with \$1,243 14, leaving a balance of \$9,119 19, of which, the committee say "it appears that these notes were placed in the hands of Eli Houston for collection by the Planters' Bank, that he died soon thereafter, and the suits were prosecuted and money collected by Robert Hughes, esq., and suit is now pending against him for the same." It appears that T. J. Coffee received of this fund, notes for collection, to the amount of \$3,282 00, and is credited by \$3,083 60, leaving a balance of \$198 40, which appears by endorsement of J. H. Mallory, to have been subsequently paid. D. Greenlief received a note of \$185 for collection, and is credited with that amount. George Work, esq., received notes for collection on account of said fund, amounting to \$152,057 66 $\frac{2}{3}$. The statement shows that of that amount, he collected \$17,042 14, out of which was allowed or reserved \$12,051 63, for commissions, and he also paid C. M. Price for publishing notices \$383 50, making his credits \$12,435 13, leaving a balance due the State of \$4,607 01.

The committee have made out a full and complete statement, contained in a book marked 3, showing the condition of each and every note belonging to the Sinking Fund, and not paid into the State Treasury. This statement is so voluminous that your committee could not examine it and give the information detailed in it, without great and unnecessary labor. The said committee have made a statement of notes received by A. G. McNutt, when Governor, and discounted in the Union Bank, amounting to \$25,106 66 $\frac{2}{3}$, with which amount he is credited. They have also given a statement of the sale of lots in the city of Jackson, made by the State Treasurer and Auditor of Public Accounts, on the 1st of July, 1844, amounting to \$10,533 00, and which amount is accounted for by said officers. George Work, esq., it appears, has received notes belonging to the Seminary Fund, amounting to \$151,800 70, he is credited by amount of notes accounted for, &c., \$43,429 07, the statement shows that he collected \$32,169 39 $\frac{1}{2}$, and received by him from Morgan McAfee, commissioner, \$3,214 92, amounting to \$35,384 31, after deducting his commissions for collecting, there will be left in his hands \$1,608 46, the whole amount of which he has appropriated to his own use as fees for his professional services, and "has now in his hands notes, amounting to \$108,371 63." It appears from "slips of paper found in the Auditor's office, purporting to be accounts between the State and individuals, and companies who had redeemed land from the State," as seen by the statement of said committee, that James E. Matthews, late Auditor, received on the account of redemption of lands \$20,670 77 $\frac{1}{4}$, he is credited with amount paid into the Treasury \$17,871 84, leaving due the State \$2,798 93.

It appears by a book kept by said late Auditor, that he received on the same account, \$1,139 76; there is also an error in favor of the State of \$47 19 $\frac{1}{2}$, making the aggregate amount of James E. Matthews' default to the State, \$3,935 88 $\frac{3}{4}$. The said committee have furnished a detailed statement of the examination of the Auditor's office, up to the 25th of January, 1844; also, a statement of the errors detected; which statement your committee will not be able to examine minutely, or to report upon fully and accurately, and therefore will not attempt it.

The statement of the examination of the books and accounts, and vouchers, belonging to the Penitentiary, shows that an error existed in Joseph Mosely superintendent's account, of moneys received by him, of $10 00, which has been since accounted for by him.

J. W. Wade, late superintendent, is ascertained to be in default, $97 03, being errors and omissions in reporting the various monthly sales of the various shops in the institution.

B. G. Weir, a late superintendent, is also reported, as being in default $68 31.

The receipts of the Penitentiary, from its own resources, from the year 1842, to the 30th November, 1848, appear to have been $88,849 58½; and the disbursements during the same period, out of its own resources, $88,635 29 showing the amount of receipts over disbursements, of $214 29½. During the same period the sum of $80,716 17½ was drawn from the State Treasury, for the use of the Penitentiary.

Said committee examined the vouchers and entries in the journal of the Treasurer's office, of the administration of William Clark, late Treasurer, and he was found to be due the State $180 74; which arose from errors in his accounts, and which amount was immediately paid by him into the State Treasury.

I am further instructed by the joint select committee, to state, that the said examining committee continued their examination of the offices, specified in the act, under and by which they were appointed; for six months, as appears by their books and report, and that they failed to complete the entire work required by said act, in the Auditor's and Treasurer's office; and also did not enter on an examination of the Executive office for the want of time.

The joint committee of the two Houses can see no public good to be effected, by a continuation of the investigation, which will be commensurate with the expense it will be to the State. They know no action that the Legislature can take, with reference to the disclosures and information, contained in the books and report of said committee, as the laws of the State now provide ample remedies for the injuries herein shown to have been inflicted upon the State.

They therefore recommend, that the books and report of said committee, be deposited for safe keeping and future reference, in the Auditor's office, and that this report be spread upon the journals, and that 500 copies of the same be published, for the use of the Senate. A similar report has been made to the House of Representatives. All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. H. FOOTE, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. Collins, the House adjourned.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7th, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and its deliberations opened with prayer by the Rev. Joshua T. Russell of the Baptist Church.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. White, Regan of Yazoo, McAfee, Barton, Day and Baker of Pontotoc.

Mr. Thomas of Marshall, from the committee on Ways and Means, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act regulating the payment of the fees of clerks and returning officers of Presidential elections, and grand jurors and baliffs, in the Circuit courts, and for other purposes, reported the same back to the House, without amendment, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on to-morrow.

Mr. Durham from the committee on County Boundaries, to whom was referred a bill to create a new county, called Quitman, accompanied by sundry petitions, reported the same back to the House, and recommended that the bill do not pass; which was received.

Mr. Griffin, from the same committee, offered the following minority report, to-wit:

The undersigned members of the committee on County Boundaries, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act to create a new county in this State, to be called the county of Quitman, beg leave to make the following minority report: We have carefully examined into the propriety of forming said new county, from the territory in said bill specified, and are fully satisfied that it is both practical and expedient. The minority of your committee would further report, that the counties from which said territory is proposed to be taken, are too large; that they will still have more than a constitutional amount of territory, in the event said new county shall be created; that it will not interfere with, or cause the removal of public buildings, of any of said new counties; that the people immediately interested, are almost unanimously in favor of the creation of said new county; that owing to the distance at which they live from their county seats, and the nature of the territory over which they have to travel, in going to and from their court houses, it will be always an inconvenient and expensive county; that on this account, their property will depreciate to some extent in value. The minority of your committee, would therefore recommend, that the report of the majority be not agreed to, and that the bill do pass.

Signed,

J. T. GRIFFIN.

Pending the question to agree to the report of the majority, on motion of Mr. Aldridge, the further consideration of the same was postponed until the 15th inst.

On motion of Mr. Wilcox, the report of the minority was laid on the table.

The following message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, by his private Secretary, Mr. McDonald:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by his Excellency, the Governor, to inform the House of Representatives, that he has approved and signed bills of the following titles, to-wit:

An act to amend an act entitled an act to provide for cases where no executor or administrator will qualify under a last will and testament, and undertake to carry it into effect, approved March 5th, 1846;

An act to reduce the costs of criminal proceedings.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, the Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have passed House bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act for the benefit of Yazoo Female Academy;

A bill to be entitled an act for the benefit of Elihu Nooner;

A bill to be entitled an act to amend the several laws of this State in relation to common schools, so far as the same relates to Chickasaw county;

A bill to be entitled an act to authorize the respective clerks of the Vice Chancery court of the Northern District of the State of Mississippi, to perform all acts appertaining to the office of clerk, until their successors in office shall be duly qualified;

A bill to be entitled an act to amend the practice in the court of Probates;

A bill to be entitled an act to change the time of holding the Circuit courts in the counties of Harrison and Hancock;

A bill to be entitled an act for the benefit of the sheriff of Washington county;

A bill to be entitled an act to authorize the school trustees of township 4, range 3 west, in Hinds county, to execute a lease to Henry D. Gibbs, for 99 years, for certain portions of sixteenth section therein.

Also Senate bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act to amend and reduce into one the several acts in relation to the revenue of this State, and for other purposes, approved 5th March, 1846;

A bill to be entitled an act for the benefit of Jonathan T. Simms, Clerk of the Superior Court of Chancery;

A bill to be entitled an act for the relief of Jas. W. Wade; and have instructed me to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Baker of Pontotoc, from the committee on Enrolled Bills, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—The joint standing committee on Enrolled Bills, have this day examined bills of the following titles, viz:

An act to incorporate the Mississippi Mutual Insurance Company;

An act to incorporate the Yazoo and Big Black Plank Road Company, and for other purposes;

An act to incorporate the Columbus Mutual Insurance Company; and have found the same correctly enrolled.

Mr. Regan of Claiborne, moved to call from the orders of the day, the bill to be entitled an act to amend an act reducing the fees of certain officers therein named, so far as relates to the county of Claiborne; which was lost.

Mr. Wall, from the standing committee on Education, to whom was referred a bill to promote common schools, reported that said committee have had the same under consideration, and a majority have instructed me to report a new bill, as a substitute, and recommend its passage; which was received.

Mr. Stewart of Wilkinson, from the same committee, offered the following minority report:

MR. SPEAKER—A minority of the committee on Education, have instructed me to report unfavorably upon the bill referred to the committee on Education, for the establishment of a general system of common schools in the State of Mississippi, and beg that the majority report of said committee be not agreed to. The minority respectfully submit the following reasons, in justification of this, their report:

1st. That the bill submitted for the consideration of your committee, is seriously defective and objectionable. The amount of one hundred thousand dollars to be appropriated, as contemplated in the bill, is too small to effect the objects in view, and in the opinion of the minority of said committee, it would require not less than five hundred thousand dollars per annum, to establish this general system of common schools, upon firm and efficient basis.

2d. That the principle contended for in the bill for the establishment of a general system of common schools, is impracticable and inexpedient, inasmuch as a large additional tax must be imposed for the establishment of this system, and the rate of taxation being at present, as high as will be submitted to.

3d. That a general system of common schools would not operate equally upon the different counties. There are a few counties in the State paying a large amount of taxes into the State Treasury, which have but a small number of free white inhabitants, compared with the counties in the State paying but a small amount of taxes into the Treasury, and having a vastly larger number of free white inhabitants, making, therefore, the burthen of taxation fall more heavily, and almost exclusively, upon the larger tax paying counties.

4th. That a general system of common schools, would have the immediate effect of breaking down the local system, which is operating so successfully and so beneficially in many of the counties of the State.

Lastly. That the faith and character of the State, demand that her liabilities should be at once provided for, out of the present surplus in the Treasury, and out of the revenue accruing from year to year, and that no funds should be inexpediently diverted from this object, until she shall re-errect her public credit and good name, which have so long been burried.

Signed,

J. D. STEWART, Chm'n.
P. HENRY.

Also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the memorial of the Trustees of the Mississippi Military Institute, accompanied by a letter from the Hon. Jefferson Davis, reported the same back to the House favorably, as to the objects of the petition, but did not feel authorized to recommend any appropriation for the support of said institution; which was received and agreed to, and the report laid on the table.

Also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the petition of citizens of Madison county, in behalf of the Camden male academy, reported the same back to the House, and recommended that the prayer of the petitioners be not granted; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Stuart of Marion, presented the petition of W. H. Graham and P. W. Holloway, praying for relief; which was referred to the committee on Claims.

The unfinished business was then considered, to-wit: the question on agreeing to the latter clause of the instructions of the committee of the Whole to the Judiciary committee, in reference to reporting a bill appropriating the nett proceeds of the sale of the public lands to the use of common schools, to be distributed for that purpose, among the counties of the State.

Mr. McNabb offered the following amendment to the report:

Amend by additional resolution:

Resolved further, That said committee be further instructed to report and incorporate in said bill, the levying and collecting annually, a special per capita tax of three dollars upon every free white male citizen in the State, of twenty-one years of age, for like purposes of common schools; which, on motion of Mr. Wall, was laid on the table.

The question was then taken on agreeing to the latter clause of the report, and decided in the affirmative by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Armstrong, Buford, Bynum, Bell, Barden, Beene, Baker of Pontotoc, Crews, Cassidy, Collins, Clement, Chisholm, Durham, Dampier, Echols, Ellis, Guy, Gatlin, Griffin, Hinds, Jenkins, Johnson, Kelley, Kirkland, Kimball, Lewis, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Matthews, Metcalf, Myers, McInnis, Nabors, Nelson, Nash, Regan, Rawls, Rogers, Suratt, Stuart of Marion, Seal, Smith, Thames, Trussell, Talbert, Tison, Weathersby, Wall, Welsh and West—51.

An act for the benefit of Oscar Glanvalin Wadsworth, of Simpson county;

A resolution of the State of Mississippi in relation to celebrating the 22d February inst.;

An act to incorporate the town of Bankston, in the county of Choctaw; and have found the same correctly enrolled.

Mr. Smith, from the committee on Propositions and Grievances, to whom was referred the petition of Mary L. Skinner, accompanied by a bill for her relief, reported the same back to the House, and recommended that the bill do not pass: which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Clement, from the Judiciary committee, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message, as relates to the administration of justice in our Circuit Courts, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:—The Committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to "the administration of justice in our circuit courts," have given the subject a careful examination, in connection with various other propositions looking to a reform in the practice and proceedings of the several courts of this State, and beg leave to report:

The constitution provides that "justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay." The wisdom of this provision is so obvious that it has been embodied, in substance, in the organic law of nearly every free government since the time when the great charter of English liberty, was wrested from the grasp of the most despotic of monarchs. Yet, wise as the maxim is, it is now, and has ever been, measurably defeated by that complication of judicial remedies, which we have drawn from the same source. With the trial by jury we have adopted the common law, and, to relieve the administration of justice from its rigid rules, we have also adopted the system of equity jurisprudence. There exists, then, two separate and distinct systems of remedial justice—the one, known as the practice and pleadings at common law, and the other, as the procedure in equity. It should be borne in mind that the common law and equity jurisprudence are only different modes of administering justice. Both systems are equally fixed, in all their essential principles, and in the arbitrary rules, which, under the general name of law, regulate men's conduct and determine their rights. The difference consists in their mode of redressing the wrongs and establishing the rights of parties litigant.

As might be expected, these two systems of remedies run into each other by steps so gradual, and their boundaries are so indistinct and uncertain, that the best legal minds are sometimes puzzled to determine, where the one ends or the other begins. From this it results, that the suitor is often tossed from court to court, at a great expense and unnecessary delay, and, perhaps, a positive loss of the substantial fruits of a victory, without having the merits of his case once touched. It frequently happens that a party is turned out of the court of last resort, not because his case is bad, but because his counsel selected the wrong remedy. Not unfrequently parties are compelled to go from one court to another to obtain a complete remedy in a single case. Surely, it must be an extremely defective system of remedial justice, which sends a party to two courts for his remedy in a single cause of action, or which compels him to come twice to the same court, and obtain redress by piece-meal, when it might be granted him in a single proceeding. Unfortunately, however, that portion of remedial justice, which is administered by courts of equity, is entrenched behind a constitutional barrier, which places it beyond the power of legislative reform, no matter how oppressive its operation, or what impediments it throws in the way of a cheap and speedy administration of justice. It remains for the people to abolish this obstacle, before a complete and radical change in legal proceedings can be effected.

But another prominent cause of "delay," is the use in our courts of the ancient and cumbrous pleadings and practice of the common law. They originated at an early period, and in an extremely imperfect state of jurisprudence, and at a time when learning was confined to monastic establishments, and the priesthood were at once the schoolmasters and lawyers of the age. In this general darkness sprang up the elements of what has been since dignified with the name of the science of pleading. Originally it was in Norman, or law-French; then it received a classical impress, and spoke in Latin; finally, it dropped its foreign garb, and spoke in English, albeit very bad English at that. It has been urged in its favor, that it reduced the matters of difference between the parties to a single point, so as to enable ignorant jurors to arrive at the true issue. If this were so, it is strange that the pleadings should have been composed in a language not understood; and, although pleading purported to be a logical statement of the cause of action or defence, the language of the narration was a sealed book to the jury, until translated by the court or counsel. The most natural conclusion would be, that they were invented for the benefit of courts and lawyers, rather than parties or juries. So far from instructing the jury as to the true issue, it is the constant practice, at the present day, among the profession, to read, or perhaps omit the pleadings altogether, and then verbally to explain to the jury what the cause of action or defence is.

Again; the forms of action had their origin in a state of society widely differing from the present. Of course the forms of action were adapted to the particular character of the wrongs to be redressed, or the rights to be enforced. Hence the common law forms are limited to a small number, very technical, wordy, and to a mind not trained to legal investigations, not a little mystifying, and sometimes, supremely ridiculous. As they were framed in the outset to meet only a few special cases, when the wants of society increased, and the subjects of litigation multiplied, they were gradually expanded by the ingenious fictions invented by courts, to meet cases never contemplated, and where the facts sought to be adjudicated, bore only a conventional relation to their legal statement.

For example, the action of ejectment is the legal form for trying the possessory right to real property. But in its origin it was designed simply for the recovery of damages done to a lessee for a term of years. By means of what Blackstone calls "a string of legal fictions," or what common sense would call a tissue of legal falsehoods, it is made to subserve a use little dreamed of by its inventors. It proceeds upon the ground that a nominal plaintiff, called John Doe, leased the premises in question of the real party in interest, and that Richard Roe, another man of straw, entered and ousted him of the possession. Richard notifies his loving cousin, the real defendant, of the claim thus made, and assures him, that he, Richard, will let judgment go by default, unless he comes and defends his right. Thus warned, the possessor of the property comes into court, and is compelled, that he may become a party, to enter into what is facetiously termed the consent rule; that is, in order to become defendant, he is forced to acknowledge a lease that never existed, an entry, which never occurred, and an ouster that was impossible.

Such are the straits to which parties are now driven, to try their rights to real property.

One more example of the slight relation, which the form of action bears to the facts sought to be established, will suffice, although it would be easy to multiply them to an indefinite extent.

If a man were robbed of his watch, he might waive the force, and bring an action for the value of his watch, as upon a purchase. In his declaration, he would state that the defendant was indebted to him in a certain sum, for a certain watch, and in consideration thereof, undertook and promised to pay him that sum. The defendant would assert, and assert the truth, by his plea, that he did not so undertake and promise.

Now, although the proof would show, that so far from having promised to pay him for his watch, the thief had actually knocked him down and stolen it, yet the court would instruct the jury, that by a certain legal intendment, the facts proven constituted a good cause of action, and the plaintiff had a right to recover, notwithstanding he had not stated a single truth in the declaration.

With such specimens of fictions and falsehoods are the law books, and the records of our courts filled. In practice, the legal profession feel their absurdity, as is evident from the fact, that they generally tell the jury, what they seek to recover or avoid in that plain language, which they are conscious is not used in their formal pleadings. It is not a wonder, then, that the law is looked upon with suspicion, when so much is contained to provoke the mirth, or challenge the contempt of every reflective mind.

It is true, that by various legislative enactments, and perhaps, still more by a persevering cause of judicial legislation, the forms of common law pleading have become more flexible, and better adapted to the administration of justice. But the defects of quaintness of language, tedious prolixity, and fictitious statements, remain to cumber the records of the courts, perplex the administrators of the law, and draw after them an unnecessary expense and delay. It is, therefore, proposed to abolish them, at once and forever.

In their place, we recommend the adoption of a simple and natural system of pleading, by which every party shall be compelled to state his case in a plain, concise manner, such as any man of good common sense, and fair intelligence would use in stating a claim or narrating a grievance.

That the system we propose, will effect the object we have in view in a complete and perfect manner, at once, is not to be expected. Undoubtedly it will encounter the prejudices of many, who from education or natural bias, abhor anything that savors of innovation. Others will honestly distrust its capacity to accomplish the ends proposed, and all will treat it with the suspicion, which a change, from an old, to an untried system, is apt to engender. And while experience may from time to time suggest improvements to the system, rather than arguments against the change, yet we cannot doubt its ultimate success.

Satisfied that the time has arrived to take the first step in the great subject of judicial reform, and that it is alike demanded by the wishes and best interests of the people, we have reported the accompanying bill with the recommendation that it do pass.

J. M. CLEMENT.

On motion of Mr. Wilcox, the report and accompany bill to be entitled an act to change the forms of pleading in the Circuit Courts of this State, was laid on the table, and 200 copies of each ordered to be printed.

Mr. Stewart, of Wilkinson, from the committee on Education, to whom was referred the petition of trustees of schools and school lands, and resident heads of families in township eleven and range one east, in the county of Claiborne, reported the same back to the House and recommended that the prayer of the petitioners be not granted; which was received and agreed to.

The following message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, by his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi:

I avail myself of the earliest opportunity, to lay before the Legislature, copies of a communication received on yesterday, from our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

The subject of which it treats, and the extraordinary means taken to evade the direct question of the Wilmot proviso, and yet, by the summary introduction of California as a State, to exclude the institution of domestic slavery from the richest portion of our newly acquired territory, have already been forcibly and ably presented to your consideration in the annual message of my predecessor.

The semi-official announcement in the letter now presented, of the probability of the consummation of this unjust measure by Congress, is calculated to arrest our most profound attention.

Considered in connection with all the attending circumstances, and the refusal of Congress, at their last session, to provide territorial governments for California and New Mexico, without restrictions against the introduction of slavery, we must regard this measure as an indirect mode of excluding slavery from the territories. The enemies of our institutions, checked in their mad career of direct aggression, by the firm position taken by the slaveholding States, now seek to accomplish the same ends by means less palpably unconstitutional, but equally subversive of our rights.

The violent agitation of the slavery question, which commenced even before the treaty with Mexico was ratified, and which has been kept up ever since, served the purpose of deterring the citizens of the southern States, whose best blood had been shed in the acquisition of this rich territory, from hastening to share the fruits of our golden conquest.

In the midst of this agitation, and within twelve months after the final ratification of the treaty with Mexico, a special agent is dispatched accredited with all the influence of the Federal Cabinet, and with instructions to urge the floating population of that newly acquired territory, composed of persons of all nations, to form a constitution and claim admission into the Union as a sovereign State. The flattering proposition was accepted. An unorganized community of adventurers, some of them, it is true, bold and hardy pioneers from our own country, but many of them aliens and strangers to our institutions, hastily assembled, and, as was anticipated by the planners of the movement, adopted as a part of their organic law, a provision excluding forever the slave property of a large portion of the States from the extensive and rich territory thus usurped.

And now, while yet the broad and deep stream of emigration is still flowing into that country, the admission of California into the Union as a sovereign State, with a restriction against slavery is demanded!

We do not deny to the people of an organized territory, the right to assemble and deliberately frame for themselves, a State Constitution with such republican features as they may prefer. We shall not be found opposing the calm and deliberate expression of the will of the people of any of the territories, on the subject of domestic slavery within their borders, when their full period of maturity for admission as a State, shall have arrived, but the clear principle of equal justice to all the States, demands, that the common territory of the States should be open for emigration and settlement to the citizens of all the States. Has this been permitted in the case of the territory of California? Is it not evident that her hasty admission is now demanded for no other purpose than to exclude slavery from her limits? Is it just, that a handful of adventurers, who shall first set foot upon any of our distant acquisitions, shall be permitted virtually to exclude the citizens of one-half of the States of the Union from the privileges of settlement and occupation?

But I forbear further comment upon this extraordinary and unprecedented measure. The motives for this hot haste are but too apparent.

I devoutly trust that yet the Congress of the United States will not consent to perpetrate this gross act of injustice upon the slaveholding States. To leave no means untried to avert it, I recommend a firm remonstrance against the present admission of California as a State with the restriction against slavery.

Should this measure be consummated, we may expect to see link by link, a chain of States encircling our Southwestern border, who, if they should imbibe the hostile spirit displayed in the resolutions and acts of some of the Northern States, would become more dangerous to our prosperity and repose than foreign States. Such an event would in my opinion render it the duty of the Southern States to consult together, and in concert, to adopt such measures as shall effectually protect their rights and secure their safety; and give to the citizens of the slaveholding States some assurance of transmitting to their children an inheritance of peace and prosperity, and not of war and bloodshed. This opportunity will be afforded by the convention about to assemble at Nashville, to the deliberations of which we may safely submit this very interesting subject.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Jackson, Feb. 11, 1850. }

WASHINGTON, January 21, 1850.

His Excellency,

JNO. A. QUITMAN, Governor, &c., &c.:

Sir—We the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Mississippi, feel it incumbent upon us to advise you and through you our common constituents, that we have a well defined opinion, that California will be admitted as a State of this Union, during the present session of Congress. The President earnestly recommended it, and we cannot be mistaken, in supposing that a majority of both Houses of Congress will be found to vote for it—our individual positions have undergone no change.—We regard the proposition to admit California as a State under all the circumstances of her application, as an attempt to adopt the “Wilmot proviso” in another form. But separated, as we are, from our constituents, and having no convenient means of consulting them as to their views on the new phase of this perplexing question, we desire, through you, to submit the single fact to the people and the legislature, that California will most likely obtain admission into the Union with her constitutional prohibition of slavery—and we beg leave to add, that we shall be greatly pleased to have such expression of opinion by the legislature, the Governor, and if practicable, by the people, as shall clearly indicate the course which Mississippi will deem it her duty to pursue in this new emergency.

Very respectfully, your ob't. serv'ts,
[Signed,]

JEFF. DAVIS,
H. S. FOOTE,
J. THOMPSON,
W. S. FEATHERSTON,
WM. McWILLIE,
A. G. BROWN.

Mr. Patton having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared by the President to be duly and constitutionally elected Librarian and Keeper of the Capitol, for the term prescribed by law.

The two Houses having accomplished the business of their joint assemblage, the Senate retired.

On motion of Mr. Starke, the House adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and its deliberations were opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Walker, of the Methodist Church in this city.

Mr. Hinds moved that the orders of the day be suspended, to enable him to call from the table a bill to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the Rivers in the State of Mississippi; which was lost.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the several messages from the Senate, to-wit:

The Senate bill entitled an act to reduce into one, the several acts heretofore passed in relation to 16th sections and common schools, so far as relates to the counties of Hinds, Madison and Claiborne; was read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Catchings, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the House resolved itself into committee of the Whole on said bill, Mr. Stuart, of Marion, in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House with an amendment, by way of additional section, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Catchings, the amendment was considered as engrossed, and the bill read the third time, and passed.

On his further motion, the title was amended by inserting Yalobusha after Claiborne.

The following message was received from the Senate, through Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The President of the Senate has signed bills of the following titles:

An act for the relief of Helen S. Johnson, a minor, of Madison county; ment of common schools, in Yazoo county; which was referred to a select committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Regan of Yazoo, Wilcox and McInnis.

Mr. Hinds, from the joint standing committee on Accounts, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER: The joint Standing Committee on Accounts after a laborious and thorough examination of the books of the Auditor of Public Accounts, embracing all the vouchers and receipts on file in his office, have instructed me to report, that they found the various books, which serve as a check on each other in the office, neatly kept; the references from one to another, simple and plain, and entirely correct; and all the vouchers and receipts strictly agreeing in every respect, with the corresponding entries in the proper books. The arrangement of the office has been completed, as required by the Act of 1848, in a substantial and neat manner; the papers relating to each branch of the public business, connected with the office, have been arranged in separate drawers, with appropriate indexes, so as to render references easy and convenient. The arrangement has been made to embrace all the papers of the department, which have been found in the office.

Twenty-four suits have been instituted against defaulters, on account of the revenue, from the year 1841 to 1846, (inclusive,) for the aggregate amount of $16,074 34, exclusive of damages, of which, several amounts have been paid, according to the report of the Auditor. A few of these suits, as your Committee are informed, have been decided against the State, but most of them are yet pending. The individual journal and ledger, embracing, in detail, the accounts of all persons having dealings with the State, were opened on the first day of the fiscal year, 1848, pursuant to the act of that year. The books are very voluminous and embrace every item of disbursement in the public service, except the few accounts which were already kept in detail on the general books. This act has greatly increased the labor of book-keeping, but the books present a perfect check against double allowances of the same demands, which has doubtless long been required in the department. Your Committee are satisfied that much of the labor, now expended on these books, may be safely curtailed, as suggested in the Auditor's report.

The transmission of the lists of unredeemed lands, bought by the State at tax sales, previous to the year 1848, to the Sheriffs of the various counties, in pursuance of the Act of 1848, involved a very heavy, minute and laborious investigation into the evidence relating to such as had been redeemed. It appears from the record of the lands thus set apart for sale, that an examination of about 3,600 deeds, made in the years 1842, 1843 and 1847, together with the file books, into which they were entered, and the memoranda of redemption endorsed on them, was necessary to accomplish the design of this act. The lists in detail, were transmitted to the Sheriffs in the year 1848, and duplicates of these retained in a separate record of the unredeemed lands with the Sheriffs receipts for the same. A separate and distinct account has also been kept with each Sheriff for the proceeds of the sales and redemption of these lands. Your Committee will here remark, that from personal observation of the heavy amount of business of the office, and the accuracy and neatness required to present a full and clear view of the fiscal concerns of the State, they are of opinion that the compensation allowed by law to the head of this department is inadequate to the onerous duties now imposed upon him.

Your Committee also made a full and satisfactory examination of the disbursements from the executive contingent fund during the administration of the late governor; of the Library fund; the appropriations for the Capitol and Executive Mansion; the appropriation for furnishing the Executive Mansion, and the appropriations for the relief of the Mississippi volunteers, including the 2d Regiment of Mississippi Rifles and the Mississippi Battalion, in the service of the U. States in the War with Mexico, and found every entry and amount, accurately sustained by corresponding vouchers. Your Committee also examined receipts from the State Treasury, for $1,009 69, being the amount received by Governor Matthews on account of the two and three per cent. funds.

The examination of the offices of the State Treasurer and State Commissiener, having been assigned to other Committees, the labors of your Committee here terminated. All of which is respectfully submitted.

Which was received and agreed to; and, on motion of Mr. Hinds, laid on the table, and one hundred copies ordered to be printed.

The following message was received from his Excellency, the Governor, through his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald:

To the House of Representatives:

I return, with my objections, the bill entitled "An act to remove the civil disabilities of Lewis S. Jones, of the county of Hinds, and others."

The bill under consideration, proposes to confer all the privileges of majority upon fourteen minors, whose names are set forth in the bill.

The general policy of our laws has established the age of twenty-one, as the period of emancipation from the civil disabilities of non-age. The bill under consideration, proposes to establish another rule in these special cases. I know of no reason why there should be a departure from the general policy of our laws, in favor of these minors. There may be a sufficient reason for special legislation, in the case of the marriage of a minor, with the approbation of his parents or guardian, because in such case the law imposes upon him additional duties and responsibilities; but in ordinary cases, it is the grant to the favored few, of privileges which the great mass of the community of our youths do not possess. Our constitution does not permit such discrimination between free men, and why should it be permitted among boys?

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Jackson, 18th Feb., 1850. }

J. A. QUITMAN.

Which was read.

The question was then taken, shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor, notwithstanding? and decided in the negative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative are,

Messrs. FOUR O'CLOCK, P. M.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

The question recurred on the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Cassidy to the amendment of Mr. Ford.

On motion of Mr. Metcalf, the amendments were laid on the table.

Mr. Neill offered the following amendment:

Amend by adding to the 9th section the following:

Provided, That in carrying out the provisions of this act, the Executive shall be limited to the necessary requisitions upon the Treasury for defraying the expenses of our delegates to the Nashville Convention, and for convening the legislature of this State, so soon as in his estimation the safety of the South requires the separate or united action of the slaveholding States.

Mr. Smedes offered the following as a substitute for the 9th section:

Section 9th, Be it further resolved, That the sum of thirty thousands be, and the same is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses of the delegates appointed, or to be elected to attend the Nashville Convention, in June next; and also, the expenses of a convention of the people of this State, as contemplated under the 10th Resolution, should said convention be called by the Governor, and delegates be elected thereto; Provided, That the additional sum of fifty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated for the purpose aforesaid, should it be necessary to use the same; which was lost.

Mr. Baker, of Hinds, offered the following for the 9th section:

Resolved, That the sum of fifty thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated and reserved in the Treasury, out of any money in the Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to be used if necessary, in defraying all expenses incurred in holding a convention of the people of this State, and the adoption of necessary measures for protecting the constitutional and sovereign rights of the State ; in the event that the action of the convention of the slaveholding States, to be held at Nashville, on the first Monday in June next, shall, in his opinion, render a convention of the people necessary for the assertion and defence of their sovereign and constitutional rights, in which event, it shall be, and is hereby made his duty to convene a special session of this Legislature, at such time as he may deem proper, for the purpose of adopting such measures as the exigency of the occasion may render expedient ; which was lost.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Neill, and decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Barry offered the following amendment :

Amend 9th section, by striking out after the word "in," the following words, "defraying the expenses incurred in holding a convention of the people of the State, and,"

Mr. Nash offered as a substitute for the 9th section, the following, viz :

Section 9th, Be it further resolved, That the Governor is hereby instructed to convene the Legislature of this State, should he deem its convention necessary, in devising the proper means to be adopted in maintaining the constitutional rights guaranteed to the South ; and he shall have power to draw upon the Treasury of this State for the payment of the delegates that may be authorized to represent us in the Southern Convention, the same amount to each as is paid to members of the Legislature, and there shall be set apart in the Treasury one hundred thousand dollars to met this contingency ; which was lost.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Barry, and decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Wall offered the following amendment :

Amend 9th section by striking out two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ; which was decided in the affirmative by yeas and nays, as follows :

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the House resolved itself into committee of the Whole forthwith, on said bill, Mr. Stuart, of Marion, in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose and reported the bill back to the House, with the recommendation that it do not pass ; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Durham, from the committee on County Boundaries, to whom was referred the petitions of a portion of the citizens of the counties of Lafayette, Marshall, Desoto and Panola, reported the same back to the House, without having taken any action thereon, and asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject ; which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Buford, the petitions were re-committed to a select committee of all the members from the counties interested.

The Chair appointed as said committee : Messrs. Buford, Brown, Barton, Thomas, of Marshall, Mott, Malone, Anderson, Johnson, Rozell and Estelle ; also from the same committee, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Tallahatchie and Carroll counties, accompanied with a bill to be entitled An act to extend the boundaries of the county of Sunflower, and attach to said county portions of the counties of Tallahatchie and Carroll, reported the same back to the House, and recommended that the bill do not pass ; which was received and agreed to.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have adopted the following joint resolution:

Resolved, (the House concurring,) That the Legislature do adjourn sine die, on the 5th March, next.

The Senate have passed bills of the following titles :

A bill to be entitled An act to amend an act to regulate the mode of obtaining license to sell vinous and spiritous liquors, approved 22d February, 1842 ;

A bill to be entitled An act to authorize the Board of Police of Lawrence county, to transcribe certain records in the office of the Probate Court of said county; and have instructed me to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Gatlin, from the select committee, to whom was referred the petition of Samuel H. King, reported the same back to the House with a bill to be entitled An act to confirm to Samuel H. King, the privileges granted him by the Board of Police in Tippah county, on the 11th day of April, 1848, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second and third time forthwith, and passed, with its title as stated.

An act for the relief of the Sheriff of Newton county ;

An act for the relief of James W. Wade ; and have found the same correctly enrolled.

Mr. Mott, from the select committee, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Coahoma county, with a remonstrance from citizens of said county, reported the same back to the House, with a bill to be entitled An act to remove the county seat of Coahoma county, and recommended its passage ; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Nash, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second and third time forthwith, and passed with its title as stated.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by the Senate, to present to the House of Representatives the following bills, vetoed by His Excellency, the Governor, which have passed the Senate by the constitutional majority, notwithstanding the veto.

An act for the benefit of Elijah Dupree, Jr. and Thomas B. Lenore, Jr.;

An act to remove the civil disabilities of Telemachus S. Wyatt, a minor, of Holmes county, and of James Haley, a minor, of Madison county ;

An act for the relief of William Owens, a minor, of Madison county, and Abraham G. Allen, of Tallahatchie county ;

An act for the relief of Ira G. Killough ;

An act for the relief of Thomas Archibald Reid and Rufus B. Ragan.

The objections of the Governor are herewith transmitted.

The Senate have passed a House bill to be entitled An act to authorize John Standin to hawk and peddle within the bounds of the county of Tishomingo, without license for the same, and have adopted a substitute therefor.

The Senate have passed a bill to be entitled An act supplementary to an act to establish an Inferior Court of Chancery for the Northern District of Mississippi.

In all of which, I am instructed to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

To the Senate : I return to the Senate, with my objections, two bills entitled as follows :

1 An act for the relief of Thomas Archibald Reid and Rufus B. Ragan ;

2 An act for the relief Ira G. Killough ;

Both these bills involved the same principle, and have the same object, that of conferring the privileges of majority upon the minors named in the bills. The general policy of our laws has established the age of twenty-one as the period of emancipation from the disabilities of nonage.

The bills under consideration, propose to establish another rule in these special cases. I know no reason why there should be a departure from the general policy of our laws, in favor of these minors. There may be a sufficient reason for special legislation in the case of the marriage of a minor, with the approbation of his parents or guardians, because in such case the law imposes upon him additional duties and responsibilities ; but in ordinary cases, it is the grant to the favored few of privileges which the great mass of the community of our youths do not possess. Our constitution does not permit such discrimination between freemen, and why should it be permitted among boys. J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, Jackson, February 19, 1850.

For the reason above assigned, I also respectfully return to the Senate, without my signature, and with similar objections the following bills, this day presented to me, viz :

An act for the relief of William Owens, a minor, of Madison county, and Abraham G. Allen, of Tallahatchie county ;

An act to remove the civil disabilities of Telemachus S. Wyatt, a minor, of Holmes county, and of James Haley, a minor, of Madison county ;

An act for the benefit of Elijah Dupree, jr., and Thomas B. Lenore, jr.

February 19th, 1850.

J. A. QUITMAN.

Mr. Mott, from the select committee, to whom was referred the petition of John P. Wilson, reported the same back to the House with a bill to be entitled An act to authorize John P. Wilson to hawk and peddle in certain counties therein named, and recommended its passage ; which was received and agreed to, and the bill read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

Mr. Johnson moved to strike out the words "Desoto and Tippah ;" which was adopted.

Mr. Catchings, moved to reconsider the vote on striking out Desoto and Tippah ; which was decided in the affirmative.

The question was first taken on striking out Desoto ; which was decided in the affirmative.

The amendment to strike out Tippah was withdrawn.

On motion of Mr. Mott, the bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on to-morrow.

Mr. Durham gave notice that he would move to reconsider the vote taken on receiving and agreeing to the report of the committee on County Boundaries, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Tallahatchie and Carroll counties, with a bill to be entitled An act to extend the boundaries of the county of Sunflower, and attach to said county, portions of the counties of Tallahatchie and Carroll.

Mr. McNabb gave notice that he would move to re-commit the above bill and petition to the standing committee on County Boundaries, with instructions to amend the bill, by striking out that portion of the territory proposed to be annexed to the county of Sunflower, which lies within the present boundaries of Carroll.

The House resumed the consideration of the unfinished business:

The amendment offered by Mr. Tison, to fill the blank of sec. 9, in the report of the committee on State and Federal Relations, with $225,000.

By leave, Mr. Tison withdrew his amendment.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the amendment offered by Mr. Barden, to fill the blank with $50,000, was laid on the table.

Mr. Adams offered the following amendment :

Fill the blank of sec. 9, with $20,000, and adding that the further sum of $200,000 be reserved in the Treasury, subject to the control of the Legislature.

Mr. Metcalf moved to amend the amendment, by striking out $20,000, and inserting $10,000.

On motion of Mr. Tison, the amendment to the amendment was laid on the table.

Mr. Hinds moved the adoption of the amendment of Mr. Adams. A division being called for, the question was taken on the adoption of the first part of the amendment, and decided in the affirmative.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the second branch of the amendment, and decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows :

Those who voted in the affirmative, are, son, Kimball, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Nash, Regan of Claiborne, Regan of Yazoo, Rogers, Seal, Smith, Weathersby, Webb and White—34.

Leave of absence was granted Mr. West during his indisposition.

Mr. Mott moved that the House adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning ; which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, of Marshall, the House adjourned until 4 o'clock, P. M.

FOUR O'CLOCK, P. M.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and proceeded to the consideration of the unfinished business to-wit : The 10th section of the report of the committee on State and Federal Relations.

Mr. Barry offered the following amendment to the 10th section :

Strike out Governor, in the 7th line, and insert Legislature ; strike out "he" in the 9th line, and insert "the Governor ;" which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the 10th section as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Barry offered the following amendment :

Amend 11th section, 4th line, by striking out after the word "electing," and inserting "by the people of the State four delegates to said convention for the State at large, and two from each Congressional District, said delegates comprising an equal number from the two great political parties."

Mr. Starke offered the following amendment as a substitute to the amendment offered by Mr. Barry :

Amend the 11th section by inserting the words, "the delegates appointed by the convention held at Jackson in October last."

Pending any action thereon, on motion of Mr. Barton, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

This bill failing to receive a constitutional majority, was lost.

Mr. Clement gave notice that he would, on to-morrow, or at an early day as practicable, bring in a bill to enable Telemachus S. Wyatt, of Holmes county, to compromise and settle with the heirs of James Scott, deceased.

The following message was received from the Governor, by his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by his Excellency, the Governor, to inform the House of Representatives that he has approved and signed bills of the following titles, to-wit:

An act for the relief of the trustees of schools and school lands, in township No. ten, of range No. one, east of the basis meridian, and west of Pearl river, and for other purposes;

An act to incorporate the town of Shongalo, in Carroll county;

An act to incorporate the town of Hillsborough, in the county of Scott;

An act to amend an act entitled an act to change the times of holding the courts of the sixth Judicial Circuit Court District, approved 9th February, 1848;

An act to change the line between Lafayette and Marshall counties;

An act to provide for the payment of teachers employed under an act to establish common schools, and for other purposes, approved 4th March, 1846;

An act providing an appropriation to the Washington National Monument;

An act to amend an act to incorporate Black Hawk Male and Female Academies, in the county of Carroll;

An act to extend the terms of the Probate court, in the counties of Carroll and Tippah;

The following message was received from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have passed House bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act to limit the levying of the county tax of the county of Greene;

A bill to be entitled an act to refund certain moneys therein named, to V. Hamilton, tax collector of the county of Sunflower;

A bill to be entitled an act to legalize the sale of the sixteenth sections in the county of Jones, and for other purposes;

A bill to be entitled an act in reference to the bond of the Sheriff, as assessor and collector of taxes of Hancock county;

Also Senate bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act to provide for the completion and furnishing the State Lunatic Asylum;

A bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the town of Warrenton, in the county of Warren; and have instructed me to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

The following message was received from his Excellency, the Governor, through Mr. McDonald, his Private Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by His Excellency, the Governor, to present to the House of Representatives, two messages in writing:

To the House of Representatives:

The bill entitled an act for the relief of Moses G. Robinson, involves the same principle, and is liable to the same objections, that were presented by me to the bill entitled "an act to remove the civil disabilities of Lewis S. Jones, of the county of Hinds, and others." I therefore respectfully return it to the House of Representatives without my approval.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Jackson, Feb. 19th, 1850. }

To the House of Representatives:

The bill entitled an act to amend an act to incorporate the town of Oakland, in Yalobusha county, approved February 28th, 1848, contains a provision to confer on the acting President of said town, the powers of justice of the peace, and also to give general powers as constable, to the person chosen as such, for special purposes, under the incorporation of said town. This provision of the bill, appears to me to be in violation of the section 23d, article 10, of the constitution.

The President and special constable of the town of Oxford, now acting, have not been elected by the qualified electors, as a justice of the peace and constable, and in my opinion they cannot be invested with their offices, without an election by the qualified electors: I therefore, return this bill to the Legislature, without my approval.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, Jackson, February 20, 1850.

The following message was received from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

The Senate have passed House bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act to repeal an act entitled an act for the benefit of the Aberdeen Female Academy, and for other purposes;

A bill to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled act to amend an act to incorporate the Locopolis Rail Road Company, approved February 10th, 1848;

A bill to be entitled an act to regulate the working of public roads, and the building and repair of bridges, in the county of Adams, and for other purposes;

A bill to be entitled an act granting a charter for a turnpike and ferry at Panola;

A bill to be entitled an act to establish common schools in the county of Holmes.

The President of the Senate has signed bills of the following titles, to-wit:

An act for the relief of the sheriff of Newton county;

An act to change the name of Mrs. Judith Edwards to that of Mrs. Judith Harrison;

An act to authorize John T. Oats to establish a ferry across Big Bear Creek, near the town of Eastport, in the county of Tishemingo;

An act to authorize Richard Pipkin to hawk and peddle free of license, in the counties of Green and Perry;

An act for the relief of James W. Wade.

I am instructed to present to the House, a bill to incorporate the New Orleans and Jackson Rail Road Company, and for other purposes, which has been vetoed by his Excellency, the Governor, but passed the Senate by the constitutional majority, notwithstanding the veto of his Excellency. The objections of the Governor are herewith transmitted, which are as follows:

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate, without my approval, the bill "to incorporate the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad company, and for other purposes." Sincerely approving of the general objects and purposes of that bill, I find, with regret, that some of its details conflict with my opinion of public policy, of the equal rights of the citizens of this State, and of constitutional restrictions. The power given by the 15th section of the bill, to the boards of police of the counties through which the road may pass, to subscribe for an unlimited amount of stock in said corporation, and to levy a special tax on all the inhabitants of said counties to pay the same, although guarded by the condition that the majority of the voters of said county shall approve of the same, operates, in effect, as a compulsion upon the minority of the citizens of such county to take stock against their will, and subjects their property to summary seizure and sale for its payment. Besides, the experience of the past should warn us, that burdensome and oppressive debts upon counties, as well as States, with their disastrous consequences have sometimes arisen out of the best matured schemes, promising in the perspective the most brilliant results.

Were the objections, however, to the 15th section the only ones to the bill under consideration, I should be inclined, notwithstanding these views, to defer my opinion to that of the Legislature; but there are others of a more serious character. The 19th section of the bill provides, "that the capital stock of said company, as well as all other property belonging to it, shall be exempt from taxation of any kind whatever for fifteen years from the passage of this act;" and the same exemption is, by the 23d section of the act, extended to the Baton Rouge and Liberty Railroad company. The capital stock of these corporations amounts to three millions of dollars. Their property, when in full operation, will probably amount in value to an equal sum. By this bill alone, then, six millions of investment will be exempted from taxation, not during the pleasure of the Legislature, but for a definite period of years to come. However profitable or valuable these investments might become, the State is bound for fifteen years to protect the property of these corporations, and yet they will be exempted from the common burden of taxation. Many other important works of a similar character, are now in contemplation. I doubt not, when completed, they will promote the comfort and add to the value of the property of the citizens of the State. They should all be equally encouraged by all justifiable means. Common justice will require, that if some are exempted from taxation, all having for their object public or local advantage, should receive the same immunity. With the spirit of the bold enterprise, which now pervades the State, it will not be considered visionary to anticipate the possibility of so large a portion of the wealth of the State becoming associated with corporate privileges as materially to affect her sources of revenue. If, then, we exempt this class of property from taxation, must not the burdens of government fall more heavily upon individual property? •I can see no valid reason why these extraordinary privileges and immunities should be extended to corporations, and withheld from natural persons. The spirit, if not the letter, of the first section of our declaration of rights, is opposed to such partial exemptions.

There is another, and equally serious principle involved in exempting the property of these private corporations from taxation for a long series of years. The power of raising revenue belongs to the legislature, at all times. It is a necessary ingredient of sovereignty, delegated to that branch of the government by the constitution, which it has at all times full capacity to exercise. Have we the right to prevent a subsequent legislature from the full and free exercise of this power? If we have not, neither can we abridge that right, nor limit the subjects of property upon which it may be exercised. But, if I am mistaken in this principle, I hold it to be unadvisable, by our action, to restrict our successors from adopting what course of policy they, under altered circumstances, may see fit to pursue. Let us leave to future generations the same freedom of action which we desire for ourselves.

The last objection which I make to the bill presented, is founded on the provision of the twentieth section of the act, which provides that "the sum of two thousand dollars shall be paid from the treasury of the State, out of any money belonging to the Internal Improvement fund, not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of making the necessary survey and estimate of said road," &c.

I regard this an appropriation of money from the treasury to objects of internal improvement, and forbidden by the eighth section of the general provision of the constitution, unless approved by two-thirds of both branches of the legislature, which does not appear to have been regarded on the passage of this bill.

The language of the constitution is positive: "No money from the treasury shall be appropriated to objects of internal improvement, unless a bill for that purpose, be approved by two-thirds of both branches of the legislature. If this appropriation, then, be from the treasury to objects of internal improvement, it can only be made upon the vote of two-thirds of the members of both branches of the legislature. I am aware that it is contended by some, that this provision of the constitution was intended to be applied only to money in the treasury raised by general taxation, and not to the moneys therein designated as the Internal Improvement fund. I can see no difference. The constitution makes no distinction. The Internal Improvement fund constitutes a portion of the mass of the public moneys in the treasury. Like the Sinking fund, and other funds, it belongs to the State, and cannot be drawn out, except in appropriations made by law.

Its appropriation consists in directing its withdrawal from the treasury, and application to some specific purpose. This was obviously the intention of the convention, in using the terms "appropriation and appropriated," in the constitution. The Internal Improvement fund then existed. It had been created, and its general purposes declared, by the acts of Congress of the 1st March, 1817, and 14th March, 1826. The latter act provides, that "three-fifths of the five per cent. fund, arising from the nett proceeds of the sales of public lands within the State of Mississippi, may be appropriated by the legislature thereof, to the making of public roads and canals, and to the improvement of the navigation of rivers and bays within said State." The act of Congress does not profess to make the appropriation. It authorizes the legislature of the State to do so, and, by our organic law, the legislature is directed in what mode to execute this power. It seems to me to have been the intention of the convention to arrest the application of this, as well as any other funds, to any objects of internal improvement, unless of such general interest as to obtain the approval of two-thirds of both branches of the legislature. Again: if this fund should be held to have been appropriated by the act of Congress, the application of a portion of it to a private railroad, would not be justified by that act.

Recognizing, however, this fund as subject to the constitutional control of the State, in accordance with the great purposes of the grant, I consider it subject, as all other moneys in the State treasury, to the restrictions of the seventh and eighth sections of the general provisions of the constitution.

An imperative duty is performed in presenting these objections to the bill. I cheerfully submit them to the consideration and superior wisdom of the legislature.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

J. A. QUITMAN.

Jackson, February 16, 1850.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the foregoing message of his Excellency, the Governor, was considered; and, on his further motion, a call of the House was had.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. Hemingway, Starke and Malone.

Messrs. Anderson, Aldridge, Blythe, Ford, Collins and Seal not answering to the call, on motion of Mr. Stuart, of Marion, the Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to bring in the absentees.

The Sergeant-at-Arms brought in Messrs. Anderson, Aldridge, Collins and Seal, who were severally excused.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the further call of the House was suspended.

The question was then taken, shall the bill, entitled an act to incorporate the New Orleans and Jackson Rail Road Company pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary, notwithstanding? by yeas and nays as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Adams, Arthur, Aldridge, Ashe, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Byrn, Brooks, Baker, of Hinds, Cassidy, Collins, Clement, Calhoun, Catchings, Chisholm, Dampier, Estelle, Ellis, Ford, Foote, Farrar, Gatlin, Griffin, Huie, Hughes, Henry, Jenkins, Johnson, Kirkland, Kimball, Lynch, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Matthews, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Nelson, Noble, Nash, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Rawls, Stuart, of Marion, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Smedes, Seal, Smith, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Talbert, Thurmond, Weathersby, Wall, White, Welsh, West and Young—65.

The following message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, through Mr. McDonald, his Private Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—I am instructed by his Excellency, the Governor, to deliver to the House of Representatives a message in writing:

To the House of Representatives:

I return, without my approval, to the House in which it originated, the bill to establish a ferry across the Back Bay of Biloxi, and for other purposes. The bill presented, grants to Frederick Reynor the exclusive right of ferry for three miles on Bay of Biloxi, for the term of fifteen years, during which time, it is to be exempt from ordinary taxation.

He is only required to place upon said ferry, one large flat, or other boats, and his exclusive right is vested, so far, at least, as the bill can confer it. Opposed to all exclusive privileges, and to all discrimination between the citizens of a free country, and believing that this grant violates the spirit, if not the letter of the first section of the bill of rights, and contravenes one of the great fundamental principles of republican government, and that no legislature possesses the right to abridge the power of their successors to levy taxes upon every description of property, I cannot approve this bill.

Justice to myself, requires me to add, that the bill to authorize John T. Oats to establish a ferry across Big Bear Creek, near the town of Eastport, in the county of Tishemingo, containing some similar provisions, was approved by me, only because the privileges therein conferred, are subject to be repealed, altered or amended, at the pleasure of the legislature.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

J. A. QUITMAN.

Jackson, 21st February, 1850.

Mr. Baker, of Hinds, introduced bills of the following titles, to-wit:

A bill to be entitled an act to regulate the practice in the courts of equity of the State of Mississippi;

A bill to be entitled an act to authorize the members of the board of police to issue writs of election, and to approve bonds;

A bill to be entitled an act to amend the criminal laws of the State of Mississippi; which were severally read the first time.

Mr. Thomas, of Yazoo, by leave, called from the table, the bill to be entitled an act to change the forms of pleading in the Circuit courts of this State; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second time, and made the special order of the day for 12 o'clock, to-morrow.

Mr. Estelle, by leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act to amend the several acts incorporating the town of Panola, and for other purposes; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second time, and referred to the committee on Corporations.

Mr. Neill offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That after this day, no new business, either of a local or general character, shall be introduced, except from committees, and such bills as are founded upon petitions and memorials, except the counties that were not called on Saturday last.

Mr. Foote offered the following resolution, as a substitute:

Resolved, That all rules heretofore adopted as additional rules of this House, be rescinded, and the printed rules shall, for the future, be deemed as sufficient for the government of this House, and that hereafter no new bill shall be introduced.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the substitute was laid on the table.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the resolution offered by Mr. Neill, and decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Thomas, of Marshall, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon Col. Collin S. Tarpley, and request a copy of his speech on the life and public services of James K. Polk, delivered in the Hall of the House of Representatives, on the 22d inst.; which was adopted.

The Chair appointed as said committee, Messrs. Thomas, of Marshall, Henry and Gatlin.

Mr. Huie, by leave, called up the Senate resolution in relation to the adjournment of the Legislature sine die, on the 5th of March, next.

Mr. Huie moved to amend the resolution, by striking out the words "sine die," and insert after the word "adjournment," "the first Monday in January, 1851."

On motion of Mr. Adams, the amendment was laid on the table.

Mr. Brown moved to strike out the "5th," and insert the 11th.

A division being called for, the question was first taken on striking out, and decided in the negative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Anderson, Arthur, Ashe, Brown, Buford, Byrn, Barry, Blythe, Baker, of Hinds, Cassidy, Clement, Estelle, Gatlin, Hinds, Jenkins, Lynch, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Noble, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Suratt, Starke, Smedes, Seal, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Talbert, Tison, Welsh, West and Young—36.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Adams, Armstrong, Aldridge, Barton, Bynum, Bell, Barden, Brooks, Beene, Collins, Crews, Catchings, Crusoe, Durham, Dampier, Dunlap, Echols, Ellis, Ford, Foote, Farrar, Guy, Griffin, Hemingway, Huie, Hughes, Henry, Johnson, Kelly, Kirkland, Kimball, Lewis, Mott, Magee, Martin, Matthews, Nabors, Nelson, Neill, Nash, Rawls, Rogers, Stuart, of Marion, Stewart, of Wilbinson, Thomas, of Marshall, Trussell, Thurmond, Vaiden, Weathersby, Webb, Wall, White and Wilcox—52.

Mr. Suratt moved that the House adjourn, until 9½ o'clock, to-morrow morning; which was lost.

Mr. Blythe moved to strike out the "5th," and insert the "1st."

Mr. Gatlin moved that the House adjourn, until to-morrow morning, 9½ o'clock; which was lost.

Mr. Henry moved to amend the amendment offered by Mr. Blythe, by inserting the "9th."

Mr. Hinds moved that the resolution and amendments, be laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Wall, a division of the question was had; and taken first on laying the amendment on the table, and decided in the negative.

The question was then taken on striking out "5th," and inserting "9th," and decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Anderson, Armstong, Arthur, Ashe, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Byrn, Barry, Blythe, Brooks, Baker, of Hinds, Cassidy, Clement, Durham, Estelle, Echols, Ford, Gatlin, Hinds, Henry, Jenkins, Kirkland, Kimball, Lynch, Matthews, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Noble, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rogers, Suratt, Starke, Smedes, Seal, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Talbert, Tison, Webb, Welsh, West and Young—48.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Adams, Aldridge, Barton, Bell, Barden, Beene, Collins, Crews, Catchings, Crusoe, Dunlap, Foote, Farrar, Guy, Griffin, Hemingway, Huie, Hughes, Johnson, Kelley, Lewis, Mott, Magee, Martin, Nabors, Nelson, Neill, Nash, Rawls, Stuart, of Marion, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Thomas, of Marshall, Trussell, Thurmond, Vaiden, Weathersby, Wall, White and Wilcox—40.

The resolution was then concurred in as amended.

On motion of Mr. Kelley,

Resolved, That hereafter, no member of this House shall have the privilege of speaking more than ten minutes upon any question, which may come up for debate during the remainder of this session.

On motion of Mr. Gatlin, the House adjourned until 9½ o'clock, to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26th, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and its deliberations were opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Greaves, of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Talbert moved to suspend the reading of the Journal; which was lost.

Mr. Huie, from the committee on Propositions and Grievances, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens, of the county of Marshall, reported the same back to the House, with the recommendation that the law of 1848 is sufficient for the relief of said petitioners, and that legislation on the subject is inexpedient, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Wilcox, from the joint standing committee on Accounts, to whom was referred the duty of examining the Treasury office, made the following report, accompanied with a bill to be entitled An act further to regulate the office of the Treasury of the State of Mississippi, and for other purposes :

MR. SPEAKER—The joint standing committee on Accounts, who were charged with the examination of the Treasurer's Office, have discharged the duties assigned them, and have instructed me to

REPORT :

That your committee have examined the pay and receipt warrants, vouchers and papers, of Treasurer Griffith, compared the same with his entries upon the office journal, and found them to correspond precisely for the years 1848 and 1849.

Your committee ascertained that the pay warrants had been registered and placed upon the disbursement book of the Treasurer, according to law. All of said vouchers, up to January 1850; were cancelled by your committee.

Your committee examined and verified the additions of both the debit and credit accounts in the journal; compared the same with corresponding entries in the ledger; added up departments in the latter, and found all to correspond entirely with the report of the Treasurer.

Your committee counted the cash in the Treasury, and found, at the close of their examination, on the 9th instant, that the sum on hand in gold and silver coin and United States Treasury notes, was four hundred and fifteen thousand five hundred and eighty-eight dollars and seventy-five cents. A more detailed account of which, with the receipts and disbursements of the Treasury since the date of the Treasurer's report, is given in statement A, accompanying this report.

From said statement, it appears that the sum in the Treasury exceeds the sum for which the Treasurer is liable by the amount of four hundred and four dollars and ninety-six cents. How this excess has been accumulated, it is impossible for your committee to say. It is possible that, in the vast number of receptacles of coin in the Treasury vault, your committee may have counted some small sum twice.

Your committee find the amount of unavailable funds in the Treasury, consisting chiefly of certificates of stock in the Mississippi Railroad company, and in the notes of broken banks, to be two million three hundred and two thousand eight hundred and forty-nine dollars and eighty-three cents. In the opinion of your committee, very little will ever be realised from these funds. A detailed statement of the same accompanies this report, and is marked statement B.

Your committee cheerfully bear testimony to the efficient and admirable manner in which the duties of the office are discharged by the present Treasurer. The books are kept with the utmost neatness and accuracy; and, while the entries are so full and implicit as to exhibit each transaction in a way to be comprehended by every examiner, the system embraces all that is valuable for brevity and certainty, in the most scientific modern book-keeping.

Your committee are of opinion that further legislation is necessary for the proper regulation of the department, for facilitating its operations, and for the convenience of and in justice to the Treasurer. The proposed legislation embraces the following objects:

1. The providing a seal for the Treasury.
2. Establishing office hours for the department.

3. Destroying the bonds issued on account of the Union Bank, amounting to ten million dollars, but which have been cancelled, and remain as useless lumber in the Treasury vault.

4. Providing for the purchase of money boxes for the Treasury.

These objects are all embraced in a bill to be entitled "an act further to regulate the office of the Treasury of the State of Mississippi, and for other purposes," which accompanies this report; the passage of which, your committee earnestly recommend.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GUS. H. WILCOX, Chairman,
On the part of the House.

Which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Wilcox, the report was laid on the table.

Mr. Estelle moved that 1000 copies of the report be printed; which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Brown, 500 copies were ordered to be printed; the bill was then read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Wilcox, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the House resolved itself forthwith, into committee of the Whole on said bill, Mr. Ford in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House, with an amendment, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to, and the amendment adopted.

On motion of Mr. Wilcox, the rule was suspended, the bill with the amendment considered as engrossed, read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Brown, from the joint standing committee on Internal Improvements, to whom was referred the petition for a road from Columbus, Mississippi, by Carrollton, through Sunflower and Bolivar counties, to the Mississippi River, by an appropriation out the sale of the 500,000 acres of land, reported the same back to the House, and recommended that it would be inexpedient to grant the prayer of the petitioners, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration; which was received and agreed to.

A message was received from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have passed bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled An act to incorporate Eudocia Female College, in the town of Black Hawk, Carroll county;

A bill to be entitled An act to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the town of Kosciusko, in the county of Attala.

Also Senate bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled An act to amend an act for the relief of John Patterson, approved January 22d, 1848;

A bill to be entitled An act for the benefit of Mary Davis, a minor of John R. Davis, deceased;

A bill to be entitled An act to provide for the purchase of additional machinery for the manufacture of cotton and wool, in the Penitentiary, and for other purposes;

A bill to to be entitled An act for the benefit of L. L. Bridges, Sheriff, of Coahoma county;

A bill to be entitled An act to reduce the rate of license to retail vinous and spirituous liquors, in certain counties therein named. In which, I am instructed to desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Brown, from the joint standing committee on Internal Improvements, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled An act to authorize the Boards of Police, in the counties of Issaquena and Franklin, to assign hands to work on navigable streams, reported the same back to the House, without amendment, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Wilcox offered an amendment, by way of additional section; which was adopted, the bill read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Also from the same committee, to whom was referred the Senate memorial to Congress, to grant lands and make mail contracts, and to make military transportations, in aid of the Southern Railroad Company, reported the same back to the House, without amendment, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, the memorial read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Also from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled An act to change the mode of selecting Commissioners to superintend the construction of the Southern Railroad, reported back to the House, a substitute, and recommended its passage; which was received and agreed to, and the substitute bill read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Lynch, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the rule was suspended, the bill considered as engrossed, read the third time and passed, with its title as stated.

Mr. Welsh, from the joint standing committee on Enrolled Bills, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—The joint standing committee on Enrolled Bills, have this day examined bills of the following titles, viz :

An act to change the name of the Aberdeen Female Academy, and for other purposes;

An act for the relief of Jefferson J. Hughes;

An act to legalize the lease of certain school lands, therein mentioned.

An act to amend an act entitled an act to amend and reduce into one, the several acts in relation to the revenue of this State, and for other purposes, approved March 5th, 1846; and have found the same correctly enrolled.

Mr. Buford, from the select committee, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled an act to further endow the University of Mississippi, reported the same back to the House, with a new bill as a substitute, and recommended its passage.

Mr. Baker, of Hinds, from the joint select committee, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to a geological survey of the State, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—The committee to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to a geological survey of the State, the petition of C. S. Tarpley and others, a committee on behalf of the Mississippi Geological and Historical society, praying an appropriation to be made for the purpose of such a survey.

The subject referred to them, they deem of vital importance.—

So sensible have other States been of the advantages to result from surveys of this character, that they have been ordered by twenty-five out of thirty States that now compose this great confederacy. Some of these have been completed, as in New York, Massachusetts, and perhaps in other States; and will stand as noble monuments of the scientific faith and enlightened liberality of their people, while others are still in progress, and the results have been such, in every instance, as to far more than justify the expenditures attending them, and have already given an impulse to the development of the resources of our country, agricultural and mineral, which, without them, ages in practical experiment would have scarcely produced.

The grain growing regions of Ohio and New York, were thus pointed out to the agricultural geologist, who saw in their soils the elements of future production, to an almost unlimited extent. They pointed out to the owner of the impoverished lands of Virginia, New Jersey and the Carolinas, the rich and precious marl beds, from which may be drawn inexhaustible treasures for ages yet to come. The only States in which no geological surveys have been yet commenced, are Delaware, Illinois, Florida, Texas and Mississippi.

In recommending a State Geological Survey of Mississippi, your committee would do so with direct reference to her great agricultural interests. Her's is, and ever must remain permanently a planting community. Other important, but subordinate objects, it is true, may be gained, but the great object to be contemplated, is agriculture. The advantages which others have derived from geological surveys, may be gained by us with this difference in our favor, that the topographical peculiarities of our State are such as to render a survey easier, and far cheaper, than in most of the other States.

Connected as our race is, with the earth, and dependent upon its productions, not only for life itself, but for everything physically, which can make it a blessing, and an object of desire, it would seem to require but little argument to induce us to avail ourselves of every aid which science can give in examining the structure, properties, and predominant characteristics of every region of our habitation. The truths of geology are now regarded as certainly fixed and stable in their nature, as those of geography. While the external appearances and sensible properties of the various minerals constituting the earth's exterior crust, present almost an interminable variety, geology has given us demonstration that near 95 per cent. of these materials are reducible to six elements; and these again, under the analytical powers of Chemistry, are still reduced to a simpler form. Of these few elements, together with vegetable and animal remains, are composed every species of soil now the subject of agricultural labor. Hence it is a matter of deep interest, to every agriculturalist in the State, that its soils should be thoroughly explored, and its geological characteristics fully developed.

In a region of country similar to ours, where no primitive formations are found, except in disintegrated fragments, far removed from their original stratum, and whose surface presents only marine, diluvial and alluvial deposits, it is highly important that these deposits should be rigorously examined, with all the intelligence which geology can supply. A slight examination has already disclosed the fact that we have in the bosom of our State, in particular localities, large accumulations of lime, both in the form of gypsum and limestone. Large beds of marl are also known to exist, but their extent is yet unexplored; and sulphuret of iron and sulphate of magnesia, are ascertained to be extensively diffused through a portion of our State, and are probably the supplying sources of the medicinal qualities of our numerous mineral springs and wells.

A Geological survey of the State, may also result in discoveries of valuable minerals of which we now know nothing, highly valuable to the lapidary and artist; for it is a fact well known to geologists, that the nature and materials of diluvial deposits cannot be known until they are fully examined by competent scientific persons. It must therefore appear obvious, to the most careless observer, that a rigid scientific survey of our State would most probably result in a discovery of facts deeply interesting to all, and highly useful to the interests of agriculture, domestic economy and the arts. But Mississippi owes something to the cause of science. If she has valuable minerals concealed in her bosom, something more should stimulate the emulation of her citizens, than mere pecuniary gain, or considerations of immediate utility. To contribute something to the mineralogical and geological collections of our common country, to excite a taste for the natural sciences, by thus opening a vast unexplored field to their votaries, to foster and encourage their efforts to discover and bring forth new and valuable truths to our people, and to give to our State a name for scientific enterprise and scientific success, are objects, in the opinion of your committee, possessing high claims on the consideration of every State in the Union, and especially on those of our own.

Your committee are informed that a bill is already before the House of Representatives, providing for the establishment of a chair of agricultural Chemistry in the State University, and making it the duty of that department, to conduct and superintend a geological and agricultural survey of the State, and approving of the objects contemplated, do recommend the passage of the same. All which is respectfully submitted.

G. BAKER, Chairman.

The report of the select committee was received and agreed to. On motion of Mr. Buford, the report of the joint select committee was received and agreed to, and the substituted bill reported by the select committee, read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Buford, the rule was suspended, and the bill read the second time.

On his further motion, the House resolved itself into committee of the Whole forthwith, on said bill, Mr. Hinds in the chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House with an amendment, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Durham offered the following amendment:

“Provided that the survey shall be made in every county in this State; which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Catchings, the rule was suspended, the bill considered as engrossed, and read the third time.

The question was then taken on the passage of the bill, and decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Anderson, Aldridge, Ashe, Barton, Brown, Buford, Byrn, Barry, Beene, Baker, of Hinds, Collins, Crews, Calhoun, Catchings, Crusoe, Dunlap, Estelle, Ellis, Ford, Farrar, Gatlin, Griffin, Hinds, Huie, Hughes, Harrison, Henry, Johnson, Kimball, Lynch, Mott, McAfee, Magee, Matthews, Marble, Myers, McNabb, Nabors, Noble, Nash, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Smedes, Seal, Smith, Thomas, of Marshall, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Trussell, Vaiden, Webb, White and Wilcox—57.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Armstrong, Bynum, Bell, Barden, Brooks, Baker, of Pontotoc, Cassidy, Clement, Dampier, Durham, Echols, Guy, Hemingway, Jenkins, Kelley, Kirkland, Lewis, Martin, Metcalf, McInnis, Nelson, Neill, Rawls, Rogers, Suratt, Stuart, of Marion, Talbert, Thurmond, Tison, Weathersby, Wall, West and Young—33.

Ordered, That the title stand as stated.

Leave of absence was granted Mr. Foote.

Mr. Bynum moved a suspension of the regular orders of the day, to enable him to call up the bill to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the rivers in this State; which was lost.

The following messages were received from the Governor, by his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald:

TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

I return to the House of Representatives, without my approval, the bill entitled an act granting a charter for a turnpike and ferry at Panola.

The bill grants to William C. Rayburn, his heirs, executors and administrators and assigns, for fifty years, the exclusive privilege against all other persons, of establishing and keeping up a ferry across the Tallahatchie, at the town of Panola, and within the space of two miles on each side of said ferry, thus precluding any other citizen, and even the board of police, from establishing a ferry for the space of four miles on this river.

The first section of our Declaration of Rights forbids the grant of exclusive privileges, except in consideration of public services. By public services, are evidently meant such as are rendered without other compensation, sacrifice of labor or money made by a citizen for the public welfare, not labor performed or money expended for private gain. If such is not the intention of our organic law, it can have no application, inasmuch as all well directed labor, all industrial pursuits, all money rightly expended, although for the object of private advantage, in one sense of the word promotes the public good.

In the case under consideration, there are no such considerations. Some temporary advantages may accrue from the construction of this turnpike and ferry; but it is far more probable, that long before this extensive charter shall expire, the most serious circumstances may flow from the possession, by an individual, of the sole right of ferry across the Tallahatchie for four miles. The neighboring county is yet sparsely peopled—its resources yet undeveloped—its future wealth uncounted.

We cannot know what railroads, plank roads, highways, ferries or bridges, the convenience of the people, of all the adjoining counties may in the next half century require. Shall we, then, by the grant of exclusive privileges, for so long a time to come, block out all improvements from the interdicted district? Experience and observation have long since convinced me of the great impolicy of thus vainly attempting to regulate the future wants of the country. The hereditary privilege, also granted by this bill, is exceptionable, and seems to me, not in accordance with the 26th section of the bill of Rights.

I will not express a positive opinion, that the Legislature cannot establish and regulate a turnpike or private road wholly within the limits of a county in derogation of the constitutional powers conferred upon the board of police; but I do question the right in this case of infringing upon the powers of the board of police of Panola county, to establish ferries wherever in their jurisdiction they may deem them necessary. [See Sec. 20, Art. II, of the Constitution.]

Opposed to the grant of all exclusive privileges, whether to corporate bodies or natural persons, I am compelled by my sense of duty, to return this bill to the House, for the further consideration of the Legislature.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Jackson, 26 February, 1850.

MR. SPEAKER—His Excellency, the Governor, has this day approved and signed bills of the following titles, to-wit:

An act for the relief of the widow Lomax Commack;

An act to provide for the education of the poor children in the county of Lawrence;

An act to authorize Richard Pipkin to hawk and peddle, free of license, in the counties of Green and Perry.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the special order, to-wit:

The unfinished business on the report of the committee on State and Federal Relations:

The question being on the amendment offered to Mr. Starke, to the amendment of Mr. Barry, to the 11th section of the report.

On motion of Mr. Barry, the amendment to the amendment was laid on the table.

The question then recurred to the amendment offered by Mr. Barry.

Mr. Barry, by leave, withdrew his amendment, and offered the following:

Amend the 11th section, by striking out after the word "that," down to the word "provision," and amend by adding after the word "convention," "and that four delegates from the State at large be elected by this Legislature, in joint convention.

Mr. Adams offered the following amendment, as a substitute to the amendment:

"Strike out 11th section, and insert, "that the delegates and alternates appointed by the Southern Convention, be, and they are hereby confirmed as the delegates from this State.

On motion of Mr. Barry, the amendment as a substitute, offered by Mr. Adams, was laid on the table.

The question then recurred on the amendment offered by Mr. Barry.

Mr. Starke offered the following amendment to the amendment:

"Amend by adding that four members shall be appointed for the State at large, and two from each Congressional District, and each delegate, so appointed, reside in such Congressional District."

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the amendment to the amendment was laid on the table.

The question was then taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Barry, and decided in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Barry, the 11th section as amended, was adopted.

The 11th section was read.

Mr. Barry offered the following amendment to the 12th section:

"Amend by striking out all after the word "resolved," to the word "that," in said section; which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the 12th section as amended, was adopted.

The 13th section was read; and on motion of Mr. Tison, was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Neill, the 14th section, after being read, was adopted.

Mr. Ford offered an amendment by way of additional section:

Resolved, That against all acts of Congress, which may be alleged to transcend the constitutional power of the government, or which may be inconvenient or oppressive in their operation, the constitution itself has prescribed the mode of redress. That it is the acknowledged attribute of free institutions, that under them the empire of reason and law is substituted for the power of the sword, and to no other source can appeals for supposed wrongs be made consistently with the obligations of a State, and to no other can such appeals be made with safety at any time, and to their decisions, when constitutionally pronounced, it becomes the duty, no less of the public authorities than of the people, in every case, to yield a patriotic submission.

Mr. Stuart, of Marion, moved to lay the resolution on the table; which was decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Adams, Anderson, Armstrong, Aldridge, Ashe, Barton, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Byrn, Bell, Barry, Barden, Blythe, Brooks, Beene, Baker, of Pontotoc, Cassidy, Collins, Crews, Clement, Calhoun, Catchings, Crusoe, Durham, Dampier, Dunlap, Estelle, Echols, Ellis, Foote, Farrar, Guy, Gatlin, Griffin, Hinds, Hemingway, Huie, Harrison, Henry, Jenkins, Johnson, Kelley, Kirkland, Kimball, Lynch, Lewis, Mott, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Matthews, Metcalf, Marble, Nabors, Nelson, Noble, Neill, Nash, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Rawls, Rogers, Suratt, Stuart, of Marion, Starke, Smèdes, Seal, Thomas, of Marshall, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Trussell, Thurmond, Tison, Vaiden, Weathersby, Webb, Wall, Wilcox, Welsh, West and Young—83.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Baker, of Hinds, Ford, Hughes, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Regan, of Claiborne, Talbert and White—9.

Mr. Starke offered the following amendment, by way of additional section:

Sec. —. Be it further resolved, That immediately after the passage of these resolutions, the Governor of this State shall issue his proclamation to the sheriffs of each of the counties of this State, requiring elections to be holden in pursuance to the provisions of these resolutions, fixing the time for holding said elections, and requiring the returns to be made to the office of the Secretary of State, as in other elections, and the certificate of the said Secretary of State, to those having a majority of votes under the provisions of these resolutions, shall be evidence of the election of said delegate or delegates; which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Hinds, the amendments were considered as engrossed, the resolutions as amended, read the third time, and unanimously adopted.

Mr. Welsh moved that the House adjourn until 4 o'clock, p. m.; which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Nabors, the House adjourned until 3½ o'clock, p. m.

3½ O'CLOCK, P. M.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

The following message was received from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The President of the Senate has signed bills of the following titles:

An act to legalize the lease of certain school lands therein mentioned;

An act for the relief of Jefferson J. Hughes;

An act to change the name of the Aberdeen Female Academy, and for other purposes;

An act to amend an act entitled an act to amend and reduce into one, the several acts in relation to the revenue of this State, and for other purposes, approved March 5th, 1846.

The Senate have passed bills of the following titles:

A bill to be entitled an act to amend an act to incorporate the Canton and Jackson Rail Road Company, approved February 1st, 1841, and passed 7th February, 1848;

A bill to be entitled an act for repairing the Capitol; and have instructed me to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Young, by special leave, introduced a bill to be entitled an act to authorize the Auditor of Public Accounts to issue certain warrants therein named; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, the bill read the second and third time forthwith, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Catchings, by leave, called from Senate messages, the Senate bill to be entitled an act to reduce into one, the several acts heretofore passed, in relation to sixteenth sections and common schools, so far as relates to the counties of Hinds, Madison and Claiborne.

On motion of Mr. Catchings, the House receded from their amendments to said bill.

The House resolved itself into committee of the Whole on its special order, to-wit:

The bill to be entitled an act to promote common schools in the several counties of this State, Mr. Arthur in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again at 7½ o'clock; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Baker, from the committee on Enrolled Bills, made the following report:

An act to change the name of James Vance;

An act for the benefit of William Henry and John Anderson Derald;

An act for the benefit of Oscar Glenalvin Wadsworth, of Simpson county;

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have passed House memorials to the Congress of the United States, of the following titles:

A memorial of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi to the Congress of the United States, praying a change in the system of transporting the mail and the establishment of stage routes in this State;

A memorial to the Congress of the United States, in relation to a stage route from Jackson to Baton Rouge;

A memorial and resolution to establish a light house on the sea coast of the State of Mississippi.

Also a House bill of the following title:

A bill to be entitled an act for the suppression of the game of Rondo, and for other purposes.

On motion of Mr. Byrn, the House adjourned until 7½ o'clock, p. m.

7½ O'CLOCK, P. M.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, and resumed the consideration of the special order, to-wit:

The bill entitled an act in relation to common schools, in committee of the Whole, Mr. Arthur in the chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House, with sundry amendments, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the House adjourned until 9½ o'clock, o-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1850.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

On motion of Mr. Rozell, the reading of the journal was suspended.

Mr. Brooks, by leave, from the joint select committee, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled an act to provide for the payment of the bonds of the State of Mississippi, sold on account of the Planters' Bank, reported that they had gone through with the same, and had submitted a substitute for the same to the Senate, and ask to be discharged from its further consideration; which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Clement, by leave, from the Judiciary committee, to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act to suppress trade with slaves, and for other purposes; reported the same back to the House, with an amendment, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to, and the amendment adopted.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the rule was suspended, the bill and amendment, considered as engrossed, read the third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Lynch, by leave, from the joint select committee, to whom was referred the duty of examining the books, vouchers, correspondence and accounts of the Commissioners of the Southern Railroad, appointed under an act approved 24th February, 1848, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—The committee raised to investigate the books, correspondence, accounts, acts, &c., of the Commissioners of the Southern Railroad, created under an act approved 24th February, 1848, have had the same under consideration, and instructed me to make the following Report:

The committee, on examining the books of said commissioners, find that Benjamin G. Weir and James E. Watts, both members of the Board of Commissioners, were appointed agents to repair to Virginia to purchase slaves, and received $60,774 81 from the Board, without requiring them to give any additional security, or fixing their compensation for such service; which sum is accounted for, in part, as follows:

Cost of eighty-four slaves, as per bills of sale.....	$47,297 50
Expenses incident to the purchase, such as traveling expenses, salary of sub-agents and principal agents, horses, wagons, &c.. as allowed by the Board of Commissioners.....	7,897 86
After allowing all the charges made by Weir and Watts, many of which were without vouchers, and many, in the opinion of your committee, very extravagant, we find a balance due by Weir and Watts of.....

5,673 45

On further examination, we find that James E. Watts has accounted to the Board for his portion of indebtedness, the Board of Commissioners adopting his settlement with B. G. Weir, and allowing him his traveling expenses, taking the route from Richmond, Virginia, by the Northern Lakes, and paying him full time for such trip. After allowing these charges, J. E. Watts was still indebted to the fund $933 40, which he did not pay back until twelve months after his return.

James E. Watts received, as agent, for five months, at $80 per month.....

458 33½

Amount received by J. E. Watts.....

$1,140 73½

Your committee, upon full investigation, believe that

J. E. Watts is justly indebted to the Two per cent.

Fund the following sums :

To five months, paid as commissioner, while absent in Virginia.....

$100 40

Interest on $933 40, for twelve months, at 6 per cent.....

56 00

To bringing out four negroes from Richmond to Brandon, his private property, the expenses of which were paid out of Indebtedness of J. E. Watts.....

$184 40

Leaving, as appears from all the papers still in the hands of Benjamin G. Weir.....

$4,679 05

To which sum your committee would add the cost of bringing out thirty-one negroes, belonging to private individuals, at $7 a head.....

$217 00

Reduction of extravagant bill, for which there was no voucher.....

135 00

352 00

To be credited by $100, undervalue of two slaves.....

$100 00

Six and a half months' service as agent, at

520 00

Three and a half months' service as Com.

missioner, at $250 per annum.....	72 80
		224 80

Indebtedness of Benjamin G. Weir.....	$4,338 25
---------------------------------------	------------

Your committee, on further investigation, find that S. J. Denson, another Commissioner, was appointed General Superintendent of the Southern Railroad, at a salary of $75 per month, together with house rent, fuel, and provisions for his family. Your committee further find that said Denson, without authority from the Board, has retained in his private employment one of the negroes belonging to said road, since the 22d day of July, 1848, and are of opinion that said Denson is justly chargeable with the hire of said negro, up to the present time; which, at $100 per annum, for seventeen months, amounts to.....

The committee, in consideration of his want of knowledge of the business in which he was employed, as appeared from the testimony of the chief engineer, and in consideration of his receiving the appointment from a Board of five, of which he was himself a member, do consider him well paid for his services as General Superintendent at $300 per annum; amounting, since the 15th day of June, 1848, to 1st January, 1850, to.....	462 50
Added to which, services as Commissioner since 4th day of March, 1848, to 1st day of January, 1850, at $250 per annum.....	458 33½

Amounting, in all, to.....	$920 83½
Said Denson received $75 per month as Superintendent, from 15th June, 1848, to 31st Dec.,	$488 50
From 1st January, 1849, to 1st January, 1850, at $75 per month.....	900 00
Hire of boy Scipio, since 22d July, 1848, to 1st day of January, 1850, at $100 per annum.....	141 66
Salary as Commissioner, since 4th March, 1848, to 1st January, 1850.....	458 33½

Total.....	$1,988 49½
Deducting amount allowed.....	920 83½

Leaving S. J. Denson indebted to the Two per cent. Fund.....	$1,067 66½
--	-------------

On further examination, we find Mr. W. C. Harper, another member of the Board of Commissioners, acting in the fourfold capacity of Commissioner, Secretary, Agent and Attorney, and receiving pay, at the same time, for all. He was appointed Secretary of the Board 4th April, at a salary of \$60 a month, in addition to his salary as Commissioner, which, with charges as Agent and Attorney, together with traveling expenses, amounts to the sum of..... 2,199 73 $\frac{1}{4}$

Your committee are constrained, from all the information before them, to believe, that the services of said Harper did not occupy, on an average, more than four days of each month; and we further believe that the services of Secretary of said Board could have been rendered for half the amount, by any person having no connection with the Board; but when it is remembered that Mr. Harper received a salary, as commissioner, for attending the meetings of the Board, the committee believe he could have performed the duties of Secretary for less than any other individual. We therefore recommend that Mr. Harper be allowed, for his services as Secretary, $30 per month; which, with his salary of $250 per annum as commissioner, amounts to $610 a year—which, with his traveling expenses allowed, most of which are not sustained by vouchers, amounts, since the time of his appointment, to the sum of..... $1,283 73

Which amount, taken from..... 2,199 73 $\frac{1}{2}$

Leaves Mr. Harper indebted to Two per cent. Fund... $916 00

Your committee would here state, by way of explanation, that nothing in this report in relation to the action of the commissioners, is applicable or intended to apply to C. M. Price, James Roach, or Dr. D. O. Williams; the last named gentleman having, as president of the board, disapproved of the appointment of commissioners to offices in the gift of the board, and urged those who held such offices, to resign; and their resignations were tendered, and refused by the board on the ground that it was only thirty days to the meeting of the Legislature.

From an examination of the books of the commissioners, it appears they have been fairly and correctly kept, and show, that exclusive of the purchase of the slaves, and the labor performed by them on the road, the commissioners have expended something over one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars.

The reasons that have influenced the committee to go behind the action of the board of commissioners, and recommend a reduction of the salaries of the several members of said board, employed by them to conduct the operations on the road, are these: That the commissioners, as appointed by the act of 1848, were mere trustees for the State, and they either mistaking the true meaning and construction of the act of the Legislature creating them a board of commissioners, or totally disregarding its provisions, have appointed each other to the several offices of agents for the purchasing of negroes, general superintendent, and secretary. And for reasons still unknown to your committee, the compensation of these officers was not fixed for many months after their appointment, (i. e. six or seven) and believing they have transcended their authority, their acts should not be considered binding; we therefore recommend that the legislature should revise their action and fix their compensation at a fair and equitable equivalent for the services rendered. And should the Legislature agree to the recommendations herein made, your committee are satisfied the commissioners will receive a full equivalent for any services they have rendered.

The progress made in the construction of this road has not, in the opinion of the committee, been such as might reasonably have been expected from the means employed. Much of this delay may be justly chargeable to a want of experience and skill in those commissioners directing the operations, and some to the unusual amount of rain in the summer of 1849. From the amount of labor done many years ago, and from the report of the commissioners appointed by the act of 1846, showing that seven miles of this road was graded and ready for laying down the iron, the people immediately interested in this road, confidently expected that by this time the road would have been completed several miles beyond Brandon. Their reasonable expectations have been disappointed; the road is not yet completed to Brandon by three fourths of a mile. And your committee are convinced, that the disappointment in this matter is mainly owing to a want of energy and skill on the part of the commissioner conducting this work.

Your committee deem it inexpedient to trouble the House with a lengthy account of the great importance of this road to the State of Mississippi and the southern States of this Union; we would, however, present a few reasons for recommending its continuation to the Alabama line, with a full conviction that it would at no distant day be continued through the State of Alabama to Montgomery, thus completing a continuous line of railroad from Vicksburg to Charleston.

That portion of our State through which this road is proposed to be constructed, is enormously burthened by the cost of transporting their crops to market, amounting in many instances to more than five dollars per bale, thus rendering almost valueless a large portion of the lands in East Mississippi. The passage of this road through this portion of the State would greatly enhance the value of land now cultivated, and promote the speedy settlement and cultivation of much that is now unproductive woods, thus adding greatly to the wealth and population of the State. These and the happy effects of the completion of this road on the prosperity of Vicksburg, one of our most important commercial points, might alone be sufficient to recommend the continuation of this road to the favorable consideration of the Legislature; but when to these reasons is added the vast importance of this work as a means of drawing more closely together the southern States of this confederacy, not only to facilitate their commerce and friendly intercourse, for their mutual protection and defence, should protection or defence be needed from insurrection within or invasion without, your committee feel bound to recommend this road to your favorable consideration as one of the most important and necessary works of internal improvement in the South.

All which is respectfully submitted.

FRANCIS J. LYNCH,
Chairman on the part of the House.

Which was received and agreed to.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi:

I deem it my duty to call the attention of the Legislature to the condition of the ordnance, public arms, and military equipments belonging to the State. For want of a proper place of deposit, and some appropriation to preserve them from rust and decay, they are liable to become entirely unserviceable and useless. I submit to the Legislature the report of the Adjutant General on this subject, and respectfully recommend that some provision be made by law for the erection, upon the public grounds, in this city, of an arsenal or place of deposit of the public arms, &c., and that some appropriation be made for their repair and preservation.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Jackson, March 2, 1850.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
City of Jackson, February 16, 1850. }

His Excellency, J. A. QUITMAN,

Sir: I beg leave to call your Excellency's attention to the condition of the public Arms belonging to the State. During the term of my predecessor, there was received by the State her quota of arms from the General Government, and there being no place provided by law in which to store them, the arms were distributed and placed in various rooms in the State House.

The great weight of the arms thus deposited, is greatly injuring the floors of the Capitol.

I respectfully submit this information for the action of your Excellency. The room set apart as the Quarter Master's Department, is too small to hold any of the arms last received.

Respectfully, your ob't. servant,

GEO. W. L. SMITH,
Adjt. General of State of Miss.

I hereby certify that the foregoing letter is a true copy of the original as filed in this office.

JAMES McDONALD,
Private Secretary.

Executive Office, March 2d, 1850.

Which being read,

On motion of Mr. Neill, was referred to the committee on Military Affairs.

The following special messages were received from the Governor, by Mr. McDonald, his private secretary:

To the House of Representatives:

I return to the House, in which it originated, without my approval, the bill entitled "an act to enable Telemachus S. Wyatt, to settle and compromise with the heirs of James Scott, deceased."

Respectfully referring to my objections accompanying similar bills, for conferring special privileges upon certain minors, I will merely add, that if the policy of the general law, be intended to protect minors from the effects of their own contracts, it applies with the greatest force to settlements; agreements and contracts entered into in the anticipation of immediately obtaining the control and enjoyment of their own estates.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Jackson, March 5, 1850.

The above message being read, the question was taken, shall this bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding, and decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Armstrong, Arthur, Ashe, Byrn, Bell, Brooks, Baker, of Hinds, Baker, of Pontotoc, Cassidy, Collins, Clement, Catchings, Dampier, Day, Estelle, Ellis, Ford, Farrar, Gatlin, Hemingway, Hughes, Harrison, Henry, Jenkins, Johnson, Kirkland, Kimball, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Smith, Thomas, of Yazoo, Vaiden, Weathersby, Wall, Wilcox, West and Young—48.

Those who voted in the negative are,

Messrs. Barton, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Barden, Beene, Crews, Durham, Echols, Guy, Kelly, Lewis, Malone, Mott, Metcalf, Nash, Rogers, Suratt, Thomas, of Marshall, Trussell, Talbert, Tison and Webb—24.

This bill having received the majority required by the constitution, was declared to have passed, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

To the House of Representatives:

I return, with my objections, the bill entitled "an act for the benefit of the Southern Guards." This bill exempts that volunteer company from all military duty, except such as is required of them by their constitution and by laws.

This provision would constitute, within the State, a separate and independent military body nor amenable, nor subject to any superior officer, not even to the constitutional orders of the Commander-in-Chief.

I feel well assured that such an exemption, as the language of the bill would appear to warrant, was not contemplated by the legislature, nor do I think it is desired by the patriotic young men who have thus voluntarily associated themselves for the service of their country.

I therefore return the bill for the further consideration of the legislature.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Jackson, March 7, 1850.

The above message being read, the question was then taken, shall this bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding, and decided in the negative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Arthur, Ashe, Catchings, Chisholm, Ford, Gatlin, Henry, Kimball, Regan, of Claiborne, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Seal, Smith and Tison—14.

Those who voted in the negative are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Bell, Byrn, Barden, Brooks, Beene, Baker, of Pontotoc, Cassidy, Collins, Crews, Clement, Durham, Echols, Ellis, Guy, Hinds, Hemingway, Jenkins, Johnson, Kelley, Kirkland, Lynch, Lewis, Malone, Mott, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, Noble, Neill, Rozell, Rawls, Rogers, Suratt, Thomas, of Marshall, Thomas, of Yazoo, Trussell, Talbert, Thurmond, Tison, Vaiden, Webb, Wilcox, West and Young—53.

This bill not having received the majority required by the constitution, was declared to have not passed, the objections of the Governor to the contrary, notwithstanding.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—As requested, I lay before the Legislature, a letter from W. W. Weiss, the representative of a portion of the holders of the bonds of the State, given in payment of stock in the Planters' Bank.

This communication, if not too late in the session of the Legislature to be acted on, appears to me to offer a favorable opportunity of presenting to the consideration of the people of this State, some well digested scheme for the gradual and eventual liquidation of this debt. In this point of view, I recommend the subject to the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

J. A. QUITMAN.

Jackson, March 5th, 1850.

The above message being read, was, on motion of Mr. Hinds, laid on the table.

Also a Senate bill to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to provide for erecting levees on the banks of the Mississippi river, in Warren county, approved 23d February, 1846; and have instructed me to request the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Starke, by leave, introduced a resolution in relation to the Nashville Convention; which was read the first time.

On his motion, the rule was suspended, and the resolution read the second time.

Mr. Hemingway offered the following amendment:

"Amend by striking out so much of said resolution as relates to the State of Tennessee;" which was lost.

On motion of Mr. Starke, the rule was suspended, the resolution read the third time and passed with its title as stated.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Orr, their Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER—The Senate have receded from their 2d amendment made to the House bill to be entitled an act to confirm to Samuel H. King, the privileges granted him by the board of police of Tippah county, on the 11th day of April, 1848.

Mr. Barry offered the following joint resolution:

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That the two Houses will meet in the Hall of Representatives, on Friday, the 8th inst., at 10 o'clock, a. m., to elect a reporter of the decisions of the High Court of Errors and Appeals of this State.

The rule requiring joint resolutions to lay one day on the table, was suspended, and the resolution forthwith adopted.

Mr. Ford, from the committee on Ways and Means, to whom was referred the correspondence between his Excellency, J. W. Matthews, and W. W. Weiss, the agent of the Planters' Bank Bondholders, reported the same back to the House, with the recommendation that they do not deem it expedient to take any action thereon, and asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject; which was received and agreed to.

The House resolved itself into committee of the Whole, on its special order, to-wit: a Senate bill entitled an act for the completion and furnishing the State Lunatic Asylum, Mr. Adams in the Chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, reported the bill back to the House with an amendment, and recommended its passage as amended; which was received and agreed to, and the amendment adopted.

On motion of Mr. Wall, the rule was suspended, the amendment considered as engrossed, the bill read the third time.

The question was then taken on the passage of the bill, and decided in the affirmative, by yeas and nays, as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Adams, Anderson, Armstrong, Arthur, Ashe, Barton, Brown, Buford, Bynum, Byrn, Barry, Baker, of Hinds, Cassidy, Crews, Clement, Calhoun, Catchings, Chisholm, Durham, Dampier, Day, Estelle, Echols, Ellis, Ford, Farrar, Gatlin, Hinds, Hughes, Harrison, Henry, Johnson, Kirkland, Kimball, Lynch, Malone, Mott, McAfee, Magee, Martin, Metcalf, Marble, Myers, McInnis, McNabb, Noble, Nash, Regan, of Claiborne, Regan, of Yazoo, Rozell, Rogers, Stewart, of Wilkinson, Starke, Smedes, Thomas, of Marshall, Thomas, of Yazoo, Thames, Trussell, Talbert, Thurmond, Webb, Wall, Wilcox, West and Young—65.

The following special message was received from the Governor, by his Private Secretary, Mr. McDonald:

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—I transmit to the House, to be laid before the Legislature, sundry resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, on the subject of slavery and the Nashville Convention, transmitted by his Excellency, the Governor of that State.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

J. A. QUITMAN.

Jackson, March 8, 1850.

STATE OF GEORGIA,

In the House of Representatives, January 26th, 1850.

WHEREAS, The people of the non-slaveholding States have commenced, and are persisting in a system of encroachment upon the Constitution and the rights of a portion of the people of this Confederacy, which is alike unjust and dangerous to the peace and perpetuity of our cherished Union; Be it

1. Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia in General Assembly convened, That the Government of the United States is one of limited powers, and cannot rightfully exercise any authority not conferred by the Constitution.

2. Resolved, That the Constitution grants no power to Congress to prohibit the introduction of slavery into any territory belonging to the United States.

3. Resolved, That the several States of the Union acceded to the Confederacy upon terms of perfect equality, and that the rights, privileges, and immunities secured by the Constitution, belong alike to the people of each State.

4. Resolved, That any and all territory acquired by the United States, whether by discovery, purchase, or conquest, belongs in common to the people of each State, and thither the people of each State and every State have a common right to emigrate with any property they may possess, and that any restriction upon this right, which will operate in favor of the people of one section to the exclusion of those of another, is unjust, oppressive, and unwarranted by the Constitution.

5. Resolved, That slaves are recognised by the Constitution as property, and that the Wilmot Proviso, whether applied to any territory at any time heretofore acquired, or which may be hereafter acquired, is unconstitutional.

6. Resolved, That Congress has no power, either directly or indirectly, to interfere with the existence of slavery in the District of Columbia.

7. Resolved, That the refusal on the part of the non-slaveholding States to deliver up fugitive slaves, who have escaped to said States, upon proper demand being made therefor, is a plain and palpable violation of the letter of the Constitution, and an intolerable outrage upon Southern rights, and that it is the imperative duty of Congress to pass laws providing for the enforcement of this provision of the Constitution, by Federal, Judicial and Ministerial officers responsible to the Federal Government.

8. Resolved, That in the event of the passage of the Wilmot Proviso by Congress, the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, the admission of California as a State, in its present pretended organization, or the continued refusal of the non-slaveholding States to deliver up fugitive slaves, as provided in the Constitution, it will become the immediate and imperative duty of the people of this State, to meet in Convention to take into consideration the mode and measure of redress.

9. Resolved, That the people of Georgia entertain an ardent feeling of devotion to the Union of these States, and that nothing short of a persistence in the present system of encroachment upon our rights by the non-slaveholding States, can induce us to contemplate the possibility of a dissolution.

10. Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor, be requested to forward copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to the Legislatures of the several States, (except VERMONT and CONNECTICUT,) and to the President of the United States.

Read and agreed to.

JOHN W. ANDERSON,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

[Attest.] B. K. HARRISON,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

In Senate.

Concurred in.

W. B. WOFFORD,

President of the Senate.

[Attest.] LUTHER J. GLENN, Secretary of the Senate.

Assented to 8th February, 1850.

GEO. W. TOWNS, Governor.

IN HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Resolutions to send Delegates to the Nashville Convention:

The joint committee on the State of the Republic, to whom were referred certain resolutions of the members of the Legislature of the State of South Carolina, and other resolutions introduced in the House of Representatives of this General Assembly, relative to a proposed Convention of the people of the slaveholding States, recommended the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved 1st. That this General Assembly regard most favorably, the recommendation emanating from the people of Mississippi—that the people of the slaveholding States meet in Convention, at Nashville, on the first Monday in June next, as eminently conducive to harmonious and efficient action among them, in defence of the institutions of slavery, and all the rights incident thereto, guarantied by the letter, and by the Spirit of the Constitution.

Resolved 2d. That both branches of the General Assembly will meet in the Representative Hall on Thursday next, at 11 o'clock, for the purpose of sending four delegates from the State at large, to the Nashville Convention.

Resolved 3d. That we recommend to the people of this State, to send two delegates from each of their Congressional Districts of this State, to said Nashville Convention, to be elected on the first Tuesday, in April next, by the people of said Districts, and that his Excellency, the Governor, by his proclamation to the people of this State, make known the day of election herein designated, to be held as elections are for members of the Legislature; and that the returns of the elections so held by the people, shall be made to the Governor, as elections for members of Congress by the people are, and upon the returns so made, his Excellency, the Governor, shall, by his proclamation, make known the persons so elected; and in the event any of the delegates so elected, shall refuse to accept the appointment by the fifteenth of May, or if any vacancy shall in any manner occur, then the Governor shall be, and he is hereby requested to fill such vacancy by appointment, from whichever party the vacancy shall happen.

Resolved 4th. That in the election of delegates to the Convention, we would recommend that the same be done by the election of an equal number from each political party in the several counties in this State.

Resolved 5th. That his Excellency, the Governor, be requested to forward a copy of these resolutions to the Executive of each slaveholding State, to be laid before the Legislature of each State.

Agreed to, February 4th, 1850.

JOHN W. ANDERSON,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

[Attest.] B. K. HARRISON,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

In Senate.

Concurred in, February 5th, 1850.

Mr. Ford asked and obtained leave to spread the following protest on the journal:

The undersigned respectfully ask leave to spread the following protest against receding from the House amendment providing for the election of delegates by the people to the Nashville Convention, (in which the Senate refused to concur,) upon the journal.

While we concede to the people the right to assemble in convention, or otherwise, and alter or abolish any form of government, we hold that the people alone have this right, and holding this doctrine we solemnly protest against the exercise of such power by the Legislature. It is not the province of the Legislature of a State to appoint delegates to any convention, without the limits of the State, to be accredited under the broad seal of the State, to represent either the people of the State, or the State, as a sovereignty. This we believe is expressly prohibited by the constitution of the United States, and we know of no precedent, sanctioned by the Republican usage, which justifies it.

By this proceeding, the Legislature, in effect, repudiate the action of the people, past and future. If the October Convention represented the people of the State, as is here asserted by some, why are the delegates elected by that convention repudiated by this legislature? If that convention did not represent the people, why refuse to let the people now have an opportunity to elect their own delegates. For some purposes, it seems convenient, right and proper, to regard the action of the October Convention as the action of the people, but for others, it is not. We insist that if the proceedings of that convention are, in any respect the action of the people, they must be so in every respect. If we are right in this, then full and complete action has been had by the people, and our action is gratuitous assumption. If we are wrong in either of these positions, then we say that the action of this Legislature will not be the action of the people, and THE PEOPLE will have no representation in the Nashville Convention.

The Senate have passed a bill of the following title, viz :

An act supplemental to an act entitled an act to continue an act entitled an act to incorporate the Southern Railroad Company.

The following veto message was received from the Governor, by his private Secretary, Mr. McDonald :

To the House of Representatives:

Sincerely desirous of encouraging the formation of volunteer companies in this State, it is a matter of regret that I am compelled by my sense of duty, to return without my signature, the bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the Nashville Guards, in the county of Lowndes, a volunteer company, and for other purposes.

The exemption contained in the 5th section, from all military duty, except in cases of invasion, insurrection and actual danger, is inconsistent with all military subordination, and in conflict with the 3d section of the article of the constitution under the head of Militia, as well as the general law of the land, which demand the services of all soldiers, when necessary to execute the laws.

The existence of numerous independent military bodies in the State, would produce confusion, and defeat all concert of action, in a service which every thing may depend upon union, concert and promptness.

J. A. QUITMAN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Jackson, March 9, 1850.

Resolved, That the thanks of this House are due, and they are hereby tendered to the Clerk of this House, and Assistant Clerks, for the faithful discharge of their respective duties, and gentlemanly deportment ; which was unanimously adopted.

The Clerks of the House return their thanks to the members for the compliment paid them, in the following communication ; which was ordered to be spread on the journal :

To the Members of the House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN: Permit the Clerks of this House, through our reading Clerk, to tender to you our warmest thanks, for the very flattering resolution just passed. Permit us, also, to congratulate you upon the harmony and generally good feeling that has characterized your proceedings; and may your acts meet the approval of your common constituents, and redound to the honor and glory of our great commonwealth. And permit us to wish for each and all of you, a safe and pleasant return to your homes and families, and may you be received with warm hearts and open hands—with the plaudits of your respective constituencies, “well done, good and faithful servants.”

Permit us, one and all, to tender you farewell, with the hope that your several lives may be spent in usefulness to yourselves, and profit to your country.

Mr. Young offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That Miss Dix is entitled to the thanks of this House, and of the people of Mississippi, for her noble aid in promoting the success of measures for the benefit of an unfortunate, but interesting portion of our fellow beings; and that the Speaker be requested to furnish her with a copy of this resolution; which was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, of Marshall, the Clerk was instructed to inform the Senate that the House had completed the business before them, and are now ready to adjourn, sine die.

The Speaker rose and delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

Our task is done, our work is ended. Whether it has been well or ill done, its results will determine in the future. Of these it is not our purpose to speak, nor of the incidents which have occurred in the progress of our business. We have now come to the hour of separation, and thoughts sweet and mournful crowd themselves upon our memories. Our spirits are glad with the anticipation of returning to our homes, to meet with our friends and families, and the loved ones of our hearts. They are melancholy with the thought that we are about to separate from those for whom we, in our associations here, have formed the most devoted friendship. Friendship! Oh! it has been said by some, it is but a name, a worthless thing, which we cherish but for the hour we wish to use it. Not so with me. It is the noblest feeling which animates our nature, one towards another—genuine, pure, disinterested friendship, such as grows out of the associations we have had here together. It is the bright sunshine of our existence, which flings hope's halcyon halos over all the dreary waste of life.

But why dwell upon this? The hour of our separation wanes apace, and but a moment lingers yet, between the words I utter and our heart's last farewell. Soon the stirring scenes which have been so accustomed to excite us here, will have closed, and the voices which have so often cheered us with the sweet music of their sound, and the eloquence of their instruction, will be heard no longer within these walls. Many of us will part to meet no more, and it may be truly said, that we stand as if for the last time by each others graves. Oh! may that kind Providence which cares for us all, guide and preserve us through life, and take us to Himself, when we come finally to our earthly end.

For the complimentary resolution on the Speaker's table, with which you have been pleased to honor me, as your presiding officer, and the kindness and partiality which you have extended to me, in all our official and personal relations, I return you my most heartfelt thanks. Words fail me, gentlemen, to give utterance to the emotions which swell within my bosom, and again I thank you most kindly, for this high testimonial of your esteem, in these words of last farewell.

The Speaker then announced, that in conformity with the joint resolution passed by the two Houses, this House stands adjourned, sine die.

JOHN J. McRAE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

E. P. RUSSELL, Clerk of the House of Representatives.
